19. MERIDIAN

Through RR., bus & plane (Delta Air Line) conns. Good accoms. Miss. Fair & Dairy Show, Oct.

Meridian is RR. & mfg. center for reg. producing cotton, tobacco, fruit, vegetables, poultry & lumber & has one of st.'s largest stockyards. City is situated in foothills of the Appalachians. Neighboring woodlands are broken by outcroppings of limestone. Rich. McLemore of S.C. est. plantation here in 1831 & in 1854 a junction of Vicksburg & Montgomery RR. & Mobile & Ohio Line was planned. The 1st train from Vicksburg arrived in 1861. Early settlers disputed violently over name Meridian (some wanted Sowashee—Ind., "mad river") & over the laying out of town. In 1863 st. records were moved here & for 1 month Meridian was st. capital. In 1864, Sherman came through. He wrote in his official report: "For five days, 10,000 men worked hard with a will in that work of destruction . . . Meridian . . . no longer exists." Today Meridian is 2nd largest city in Miss. It adopted city-manager form of gov. in 1949. 23rd Ave. & 11th St., Scottish Rite Cathedral, designed in manner of famous temple at Philae, Egypt. 1009 18th St., McLemore H., built around log cabin (1837) of 1st settler. 7th St. & 40th Ave., Rose Hill Cemetery with graves of Emil Mitchell (1942) & his wife, Kelly (1915), king & queen of all gypsies in U.S. The queen was buried in Roman costume strung with gold coins dating back to 18th cent. 16th St. & 38th Ave., Highland Pk. (43 as.swim.pool.arboretum). US 90—MISSISSIPPI

MISS.-ALA. LINE (30m from Mobile, Ala.) (W) to MISS.-LA. LINE (41m from New Orleans, La.). 82. US90

Via: Pascagoula, Biloxi, Gulfport, Bay St. Louis, Louisville & Nashville RR. parallels route throughout. 2-lane hy. hugs coastline. Through bus conns. Airport: Gulfport. Accoms.: All kinds. Bait, tackle, boats & guides avail. throughout. Gulf shallow in most places, beware of diving.

US90 follows Old Spanish Trl. along Miss. Gulf Coast, yr.-round resort area. Here are oldest settlements in Miss. R. Valley. Through this legendary country—1st sett. by Fr. 1699, taken over by Brit. 1763 & then by Sp. 1781—hy. passes almost continuous succession of fine houses & resort hotels which, set deep in gardens, look out upon Gulf of Mexico. Wooden piers, diving platforms, & boat landings jut out from sea wall which extends along most of coast. Live oaks hung with Sp. moss, magnolias, pines, palms. Sp. daggers, azaleas, crapemyrtles, camellias & poinsettias provide luxuriant foliage & brilliantly-colored blossoms throughout yr. Unlike the rest of Miss., which is almost entirely Anglo-Saxon Protestant, the Coast has a Latin, Cath. ancestry. A Latin gaiety is always evident. Fishing is principal industry & furnishes basis of gumbos, jambalayas, & "courts-bouillons" which, in some instances, rival fare to be had in New Orleans. In many ways "The Coast" has a greater affinity to that city than it has to the rest of Miss. The st. is dry; but all along the coast bars are open day & night & natives & tourists (whose amusements constitute 2nd industry of area) may drink & in most places, enjoy slot machines, keno, & other games of chance as well. Gulf provides such game fish as silver tarpon, Sp. & king mackerel, & sea trout. Various fishing "rodeos" are held. Inland streams offer bass, striped bass, crappie, bream & perch all year round. Whole families indulge in "crabbing," using a combination of lines & dip-nets or baited drop-nets, & on summer evenings flounders are speared by torchlight in shallow water along sea wall. Bird hunting (quail, duck, geese) along coast is excellent. Wild turkey & deer are also to be had.

At 5. J. with side Rd. (L) 2m on this Rd. is Kreole, pioneer town in mfg. kraft paper,

11. MOSS POINT at J. of Escatawpa & Pascagoula Rs.

13. PASCAGOULA (Ind. "bread people"), sett. soon after Pascagoula Bay granted to Duchess de Chaumont by Louis XIV. Brit. took over in 1763, Sp. in 1781, & settlement became part of St. of W. Florida, 1810. Zachary Taylor named some of streets after his battles in Mex. War. Practically untouched by wars from Rev. to Civil, it received 1st big boom in shipbuilding in World War I. Pascagoula luggers have become traditional. World War II saw pop. increase sixfold (5,900 to 37,836). Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp. Plant, 1st in U.S. built for exclusive use of all-welded method of constructing ocean-going vessels, has 10 ways & slips for 9 ocean-going liners in wet docks. Aircraft carriers, cargo vessels, are still being built for U.S., Brit. & S. Amer. U.S. Coast Guard has base here. Commercial fishing (deep-sea red snappers, shrimp, oysters) & paper-shell pecans are also important. Singing R. (the Pascagoula) produces mysterious music. Of hypothetical scientific explanations—fish, natural gas, hidden caves—none has been proved. Ind. legend is that Pascagoula Tribe, chanting song of death, drowned themselves rather than surrender to more powerful Biloxi. Old Sp. Ft. or Krebs H. (O.free.1717-18), built by Joseph Simon de la Pointe, a 1½ story, oyster shell & moss construction with shingled roof is, possibly, oldest bldg. in lower Miss. Valley. At E. end of Beach Blvd., Bellevue (1854.Gr.Rev.3-story frame) where Longfellow wrote "The Building of the Ship." Here Augusta J. Evans-Wilson lived while writing "St. Elmo." Just E. of Mun. Beach Pk. is Chestnut Plantation H. Local tradition says Lafitte, the pirate, was born near-by. 18. GAUTIER (guides for Pascagoula Lakes & bayous).

SIDE TRIP: Just outside of Gautier, unimproved Rd. (L) leads short distance to Old-fields, a 1,000-a. plantation fronting on Gulf. The "big house" (1849) is surrounded by smoke houses, mill houses, slave quarters. Cemetery contains graves of family slaves. There is even a room where a "governor hanged himself."

At 21. is J. with gravel Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) 2.5m, then (R) 1.5m & (R) 1m to Farragut L. & site of childhood home of Adm. David Farragut.

25. FONTAINEBLEAU. J. with St.59.

SIDE TRIP: On St.59 (R) at 16m, J. with unimproved Rd. (R) 0.5m is Live Oak Pond School, serving children of mixed Sp., Fr., Ind. & Negro bloods.

29. J. with St.80. (L) short distance is Magnolia St. Pk. on Gulf (250 as.boat.swim.f. cabins). 32. OCEAN SPRINGS. Occupies site of old Biloxi (& Ft. Maurepas), 1st European settlement in lower Miss. R. Valley, est. by Iberville (1699) as 1st capital. Near-by L. & N. RR. bridge is probably Site of Ft. Maurepas. Cannons have been dug up here & in bay. Tablet, probably cornerstone of Ft., now in Calildo, New Orleans. Capital moved to Mobile (1702). Springs in vic. known since Ind. times for healing properties. In 1880's tourists began to arrive. Like Oak Tree, one of largest in state, is named for John Ruskin who is said to have visited here in 1885. Shearwater Pottery, on East Beach, sells locally designed products.

35. BILOXI (Ind. "first people"), 1st permanent settlement in Miss. R. Valley, lies on low ridge bet. Miss. Sound (S) & Bay of Biloxi (N). Narrow streets run from bay through tunnels of oaks draped in Sp. moss to Gulf, now lined by concrete sea wall, artificial beaches, hotel resorts, amusement pks., & summer cottages. Biloxi makes playing its business. Golf is principal winter sport (tournaments Feb. & Mar.), yacht race course one of most difficult in South; regatta in July rated 2nd only to Newport in events of its kind. Biloxi is largest shrimp & oyster packing pt. in U.S. Its foreign-born pop. (Poles, Austrians, Slavs, 3.3%), largest in Miss., lives on the "Point" at E. end of Howard Ave. Large Negro pop. is primarily Cath. Settlement on present site was made c.1712, though "old" Biloxi (see above) dates from 1699 & "new" Biloxi served as administrative center for Fr. Territory from 1719 until New Orleans became capital in 1723. Chevalier Henry de Tonti, Sauvolle, brother of Iberville, & other early explorers lie buried in vic. Area was ceded to Brit. (1763), then to Sp. (1799), & in 1811 Jacques L'Adner became 1st U.S. Justice of Peace. In 1840's Biloxi became popular resort. PTS. OF INT. (easily reached from sea wall, US90): (1) E. Beach & Bellman Sts., Church of Redeemer (O.Goth.1890) contains Jefferson Davis family pew removed from orig. chapel, now parish house. (5) Beach Blvd. & Nixon Sts., Community H. & Pk., center for tourist entertain ment. In yard are cannon dredged from Back Bay & alleged to be from one of Iberville's ships. (6) Yacht Club, annual regattas & Lipton Cup Fisher-Class Races. (7) 206 W. Water St., Spanish H. (c.1790). (8) 128 Magnolia St., French H. (pre-1800). (9) Magnolia St. & W. beach, Magnolia Hotel (1847). (10) Benachi Ave., Cathedral of Live Oaks. (11) Beach Blvd. & Porter St., Lighth. (O.1848), & painted black after Lincoln's assassination. It was operated for 53 yrs. by a mother & daughter. (12) 1428 W. Beach, Father A. J. Ryan H., once home of poet-priest of Confederacy, now has palm growing through from steps, marking spot where cross formerly stood. (13) Biloxi Cemetery, Beach Blvd. (O). Unusual custom is shading graves with Sp. moss. (14) Seashore Campgrounds, Beach Blvd. beyond cemetery, summer camping grounds for Methodists. PTS. OF INT. on Back Bay, reached by turning (R) from US90 on any one of principal cross-sts.: (R) on Oak St., to J. with Howard Ave. which runs through bus. dist. Cont. on Oak to Bayview Ave. (R) on Bayview past Sea Food Canneries (O.appl.) & Boatbuilding Plants (O.appl.) to Iberville Bridge which crosses Back Bay. At opp. end (R) are Iberville Cross & Boulder comm. landing of Fr., 1699. Here ceremony of blessing the shrimp fleet takes place 2nd Sun. in Aug. Cont. on Bayview to Keesler Field, large Army Air Force training center. Field incl. what was once Naval Reserve Pk., orig. est. by gov. to preserve trees for making knees for wooden ships. Beyond Pk. is U.S. Veterans' Facility. From Biloxi to Bay St. Louis, hy. traverses new $4,000,000 sea-wall pky. 40.5. BEAUVOIR (R) home of Jeff. Davis, his wife & daughter, Winnie. Here he wrote "The Rise & Fall of the Confederate Government." Beauvoir (O.1852-54) was est. as home for Confed. veterans, but at present only wives are in residence. It is a 1½-story structure, set above raised basement with wide central hall & galleries from which square white wooden pillars, support a hip-roof. House is flanked by "guest cottages" of similar design & contains orig. furniture & many relics of Confed. & of Davis' family, incl. Winnie's skiff. Cypress in bldg. is said to have come from La. & carried to L. Pontchartrain by camels. 41.5. EDGEWATER PK. surrounds hotel, skeet range & golf course. 44. GULF COAST MILITARY ACADEMY, a War Dept. honor school. 45. ST. MARK'S CHAPEL (1855), where Jeff. Davis was vestryman.

47. GULFPORT, conceived by Gulf & Ship I. Co. as railroad outlet for the Piney Woods, is a planned mod. town with a deep-water harbor. Shipping is most important of industries which incl. creosoted timber, naval stores, seafood products, milk of magnesia, tung oil & the tourist trade. PTS. OF INT.: Bet. 26th & 30th Aves., Harbor & Ship Canal offers a panorama of freighters from all over the world. 31st Ave. & 13th St., Lutheran Ch., formerly Presb., with marked pew where Pres. Wilson sat at time of his visit (1913). 13th & 25th Sts., Hardy Mon., bronze bust to Judge W. H. Hardy who planned town, is work of Leo Tolstoy II, son of Russian novelist. E. Beach Blvd. & 25th St., small craft harbor & the Mun. Clubh. & Yacht Club. E. Beach Blvd. at Oak St., U.S. Veterans Facility.

SIDE TRIP: From Gulfport excursion boats leave daily during summer to Ship I. 12m (surf bath recr.facils.). Ship I. is one of number of low sand bars lying bet. Miss. Sound & Gulf of Mex. (others incl. Horn, Deer & Cat Is.). Natural harbor made it center, from 1699 to 1720's, of Fr. exploration & settlement of coast. Here came 1st "filles à la cassette," marriageable girls who carried their dowries from France in chests or "cassettes." In 1815, when Brit. Gen. Pakenham tried to take New Orleans, Ship I. served as base for Brit. Navy. Construction on Ft. on western tip was begun 1858. Ft. was "destroyed" by Union garrison isolated there, taken briefly by Confeds., & then by Gen. Butler, who named it Ft. Massachusetts & used it as prison for captured Confeds.

At Gulfport is J. with US49 which branches (N) through Biloxi Recr. Area of De Soto Nat. For. (a cut-over longleaf & slash pine area now being reforested) to Wiggins, Hattiesburg & Jackson.

51. LONG BEACH, home of Gulf Pk. College, jr. college for girls. Vachel Lindsay once taught here. 57. PASS CHRISTIAN, named for Christian L'Adnier, member of Iberville's crew said to have discovered deep water pass from Gulf to L. Pontchartrain, has been a popular resort for more than a cent. & claims 1st yacht club in South (org.1849). Offshore are some 30-sq. miles of shell banks producing excellent oysters. PTS. 67. SANDERSVILLE dates from 1820's. On gravel Rd. (R) 3^m is Bogue Homo Ind. School & Reserv. 76. LAUREL was a pine for. 50 yrs. ago. Lumber interests, from which town originated, while they were cutting down the pines, also cut down the laurel shrub (from which the name derived) because shrub was poisonous to cattle. Today one of largest industries is manufacture of masonite, a fibre board, by explosion process from chips of 2nd-growth timber. Laurel has, in recent yrs., also become an oil center. Among industrial plants (O) is one that manufactures starch from sweet potatoes. City Pk. has a mimosa-bordered lake. Lauren Rogers Lib. & Mus. of Art, has paintings by such artists as Constable, Inness, Millet, & Whistler; sculpture; furniture; exceptional coll. of Ind. & other baskets. Laurel Lib. Assoc. also has art mus. At Laurel is J. with US84 & St.15.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.15 (SE) from Laurel to Chickasawhay sec. of the De Soto Nat. For. with 10^m recr. area centering around Thompson Creek.

84. ELLISVILLE, where non-slaveholding farmers once selected a delegate to vote against secession ("the Planters' War," they called it). He betrayed their vote at the capital (Jackson) & they burned him in effigy. Then, under leadership of Newt Knight, they conducted guerrilla operations against Confeds. throughout war. 106. HATTIESBURG, industrial center, with 67 mfg. plants incl. naval stores, clothing factories, fertilizer mill & shrubbery farm, dates from 1880's. It was originally rail-roading & lumbering town & is now home of Miss. Southern College (a St. Teachers' college) & Miss. Woman's College (Bapt.). At Hattiesburg is J. with US49 & St.24.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) On St.24 (SE) of Hattiesburg is New Augusta, 28^m. Near-by, across Leaf R. on Site of Old Augusta, are ruins of jail that housed Jas. Copeland, leader of notorious Copeland clan, before his execution in 1857. Clan was typical of gangs that had their hqs. in this part of Piney Woods before Civil War & extended their operations to Tex., La. & Fla. The Copelands were finally defeated when citizens outshot the outlaws in the "Battle of Harvey" on Black Cr. New Augusta is on N. boundary of Leaf R. sec. of De Soto Nat. For., a cut-over area now being replanted.

(B) On St.24 (W) of Hattiesburg, 37^m, is Columbia in center of a cut-over pineland district. S. Naval Stores here produce turpentine, rosin & pine oil from pine knots & stumps of area. Columbia was St. capital briefly in 1821.

Sec. 2: HATTIESBURG to LA. LINE. 74.

15. PURVIS, where hands of the cth. clock were stopped at 4 p.m., by cyclone of 1908, which was the doom, so people of reg. believed, prophesied by preachers & reformers because of town's wickedness. Later, Will Purvis, related to town's founder, was tried & convicted of murder. But the rope slipped from his neck & again there was prophesying. His sentence was changed to imprisonment. Years later, a man dying of the poison of a snake he had allowed to bite him to prove his own immortality, confessed to the crime. Purvis was released & awarded $5,000 "for his inconveniences." 38. POPLARVILLE, home of late Sen. Bilbo. "The Man" Bilbo's "Dream House," is near-by, next to Juniper Grove Bapt. Ch. 61. PICAYUNE, named for New Orleans newspaper once edited by "Pearl Rivers" (Eliza Jane Poitevent), pioneer newspaper woman, who lived here. Picayune is now center of st.'s tung oil industry. Thousands of as. of tung trees, with heart-shaped leaves & striking white, red-centered flowers (blooming Mar.-Ap.) produce nut from which a powerful drying oil used in mfg. of paints & varnishes is made. In blooming season tourists may visit Pearl R. Cty. Tung Oil Trl. Cty. boasts largest tung groves & mills in U.S., as well as U.S. Tung Oil Experiment Sta.

Bet. SANTA ROSA, 69. & Pearl R., hy. passes through part of Honey I. Swamp, once pirate hideout. (Good f. but dangerous without guide.) 74. Hy. crosses PEARL R. (see) to enter La.

Sturgis in what has been called "the best planned & fought engagement of the Civil War" (June 10, 1864). A grave defeat for the Feds., it prevented Forrest, however, from cutting Sherman's line of communication at a critical time. But Sherman ordered his subordinate at Memphis "to make up a force & go out to follow Forrest to the death, if it costs 10,000 lives & breaks the Treasury."

54.5. TUPELO

Through RR. & bus conns. Good accoms. Miss.-Ala. Fair & Dairy Show, fall.

Tupelo, trading & mfg. center of cattle, cotton, & dairying country, dates from 1859 when Harrisburg (founded soon after cession of lands in 1832) moved over to the newly laid tracks of Mobile & Ohio RR. Station stop was first called Gum Pond & later Tupelo after Tupelo gum trees of reg. Beauregard retreated here after Shiloh & town was scene of bloody engagement (July 14, 1864) between Confeds. under Gen. Stephen D. Lee & Feds. under Gen. A. J. Smith. Here Nathan B. Forrest of the cavalry, wounded & unable to ride his horse, raced about battle lines in a carriage. Confeds. were beaten back but 2 days later Smith retreated. In the 90's a series of drainage canals made the bottom lands suitable for farming & one of St.'s 1st cotton mills was est. In 1933 Tupelo entered TVA's 1st contract for power from Wilson Dam & was advertised as the "1st TVA City." There is a large weekly cattle auction. Manufacturing companies (O.wks.) incl. the Cotton Mill, Reed Bros. (women's work dresses), Milam Mfg. Co. (children's wear), Carr-Myers Dairy Co. MISS.-TENN. LINE (13^m from Memphis, Tenn.) (S) to MISS.-LA. LINE (20^m from Amite, La.). 300. US51

Via: Senatobia, Batesville, Grenada, Winona, Jackson, Brookhaven & McComb. Illinois Central RR. parallels route. Accoms.: All types in larger towns.

This is shortest N.-S. paved route through Miss., cutting through heart of state, incl. capital at Jackson. It lacks hist. & scenic int. of US61, but in a series of brief side tours, the tourist can recapture much of ante bellum South.

Sec. 1: MISS.-TENN. LINE to GRENADA. 87.5.

12. HERNANDO, named for Hernando De Soto. At Farrington H. (1860), once home of Col. T. W. White, Civil War prisoners were exchanged. 27. SENATOBIA. On campus of Northwest Jr. College is Rowell H., one of few ante bellum homes to survive when town was burned by Feds. At Senatobia is J. with St.4.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (E) 35^m to Holly Springs, sett. by 2nd sons of Tidewater families after Chickasaw ceded land to U.S. in 1832. By 1838 town boasted 14 law offices, 6 doctors' offices, 2 banks & 5 chs. Cotton was main mt. & has remained so, though its exploitation has impoverished much of the soil, & today diversified farming, dairy products, & clay deposits are of increasing importance. Holly Springs was scene of 61 raids during Civil War, worst being by Confed. Gen. Van Dorn who took town & wrecked Grant's winter supplies, thereby considerably delaying fall of Vicksburg. Soil erosion, which has produced ravines 75' deep & covering 50 as., is now being controlled by conservation unit whose hqs. for Holly Springs Nat. For. are located in town (see below). Spring pilgrimage to old houses is held annually.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) Van Dorn Ave. & Spring St., Meth. Ch. (1849.adds.) used as court after cth. was burned by Feds. (2) Van Dorn & Randolph St., Christ Ch. (Episc.1858.Goth.).

Through RR., bus & plane conns. Accomms.: All types. Winter Carnival in Dec. Greenwood advertised as world's largest inland long staple cotton market is cut by the Yazoo R., (S) of which lies business dist., (N) the residential sec. Cotton fields extend to the very boundaries of town. In 1834 John Williams built landing here to ship cotton down Yazoo to New Orleans. Quarreling with Williams, Greenwood Leflore built rival landing. By 1844, when Williams Landing was inc., it was called, ironically enough, Greenwood. Leflore, son of Louis LeFleur (see Jackson) & Rebecca Crevat, niece of Pushmataha, was elected last chief of the Choctaw (1824) & later condemned by tribe for sponsoring Dancing Rabbit Treaty (see). Still later he became a successful planter but was again ostracized, this time by whites, when he refused to support Confeds. His palatial home Malmaison, long a show place, burned, 1942. Leflore County Cth. has chimes tuned to imitate those of Westminster. At c.3m (W) on old US82 is Site of Ft. Pemberton on narrow neck of land bet. Yazoo & Tallahatchie Rs., which here flow in opp. directions. Fed. ship "Star of the West" lies near-by in Tallahatchie R., sunk by Confeds. to block Fed. passage to Vicksburg. Cotton compresses, & cottonseed oil mills here, are not usually open to public but visits to these & cotton plantations can be arranged. Winter carnival in Dec.

114. JACKSON

Through RR., bus & plane conns. Accomms.: All types. Info.: C. of C., Lamar Bldg.; Dept. of Archives, War Mem. Bldg. Miss. St. Fair, Oct.

Jackson, on W. bank of Pearl R., is capital & largest city of Miss. In 1821 legislature, which previously met in Natchez & Washington, appointed commission to recommend site within 20m of geographical center of state in territory sold to U.S. by Choctaw at Treaty of Doak's Stand, 1820. Commission decided on Le Fleur's Bluffs (c.35m S. of center) where Fr. Canadian Louis Le Fleur (called "the flower" because of his dancing ability) had set up keel-boat business & trading post in 1792. Le Fleur was father of Greenwood Leflore (see Greenwood). New capital was named for Andrew Jackson, designed on checkerboard plan with alternate squares reserved as commons, & its streets laid out before 1st settlers arrived. In 1822 legislature met in newly erected capitol but same yr. Audubon referred to district as "a mean place, a rendezvous of gamblers & vagabonds." 1st RR. arrived in 1840. 1st bridge over Pearl R. was completed 1848 & sign posted: "For each & every person on foot 5 cents. For man or woman & horse 10 cents. For cattle, horses & mules in a drove 5 cents per head. For sheep, goats & hogs 2.5 cents per head." By 1850 Jackson had pop. of 1,881, exclusive of slaves.

Legislature passed Ordinance of Secession (following S. Carolina) in 1861. Miss Amanda Hiltzheim produced a blue silk flag with a single star for the occasion, & an Irish actor named Harry McCarthy, who was playing in town, wrote & sang 3 verses of the "Bonnie Blue Flag." Jackson was occupied 4 times by Feds. & on July 9, 1863 Sherman began siege which lasted until July 16 when Confed. Gen. J. E. Johnston evacuated. "We have made fine progress today in the work of destruction," Sherman wrote. "Jackson will no longer be a point of danger. The land is devastated for thirty miles around." Upon appeal of Mayor he arranged for 200 barrels of flour & 100 barrels of mess pork to be distributed to "people in want living in & near Jackson." An aide-de-camp of Fed. Gen. Winslow has recorded that it was while watching his troops struggle across a pontoon bridge over Pearl R. near Jackson that Sherman said, "War is Hell."

Opening of near-by gas field in 1930's began to attract industries & city enjoyed large World War II boom. In 1948 it boasted some 174 plants processing 268 products incl. lumber, cotton, filtering materials from clays, glass containers & fluorescent lamps. It is also hqs. for oil companies. A Census Bureau report lists it high among cities likely to retain wartime industrial advantages & pop. gains.

US 61—MISSISSIPPI

MISS.-TENN. LINE (12m from Memphis, Tenn.) (S) to MISS.-LA. LINE (17m from St. Francisville, La.). 325. US61

Via: Clarksdale, (Greenville), Rolling Fork, Vicksburg, Port Gibson & Natchez. Woodville. Yazoo & Miss. Valley RR. parallels route. Accom.: All types.

US61, advertised as "Old Man River Road," enters that sec. of Miss. known as "The Delta." Here Miss. R., in endless meanderings & overflows, has created land reputedly richer than the Nile valley. It has been cotton land for 150 yrs. & the cotton grows tall as a man. Plantation villages line hy. Beyond Vicksburg, high on the bluffs that Miss. R. has cut into soil, the Delta proper gives way to a loamy hill reg. Vicksburg is 1st of a series of hist. towns that preserve the feeling of the deep South of ante bellum days. Natchez is a museum piece as is, on a smaller scale, Port Gibson. Annual spring "pilgrimages" are celebrated in these towns & eventually take the tourist on to St. Francisville reg. of La. & to New Orleans.

Sec. 1: MISS.-TENN. LINE to CLARKSDALE. 63.

3. WALLS, plantation village near Ind. mounds. 8. LAKE CORMORANT, long & narrow, typical of Ls. left behind by Miss. R. 15. ROBINSONVILLE. J. with St.3.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) to Commerce 5m, where 1st levees in this sec. were built to save town, which once rivalled Memphis & is now a plantation. At 8m De Be Vois Ind. Mounds, thought to be site of Chickasaw skirmish with De Soto.

26. TUNICA. Here R. bed has changed so that what was once Miss. is now Ark. 44. J. with side Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) 2m to Lula. In vic. is Grant's Pass, dynamited by Gen. Grant in attempt to get gunboats to Vicksburg. Moon Lake (swim.boat.f.) extends (S) to Friar Point. Here, as well as at Grant's Pass, are ferries to Helena, Ark.

48. J. with gravelled Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On latter (L) 3.5m is Jonestown.

(1) From Jonestown (L) 1.5m on gravel Rd. is Matagorda, plantation home of Col. D. M. Russell, who was commissioned by Confeds. to trade with Eng. & who planned raid on the banks at St. Albans, Vt., most northerly "engagement" of Civil War. Matagorda is name of variety of long-staple cotton.

(2) From Jonestown (R) 2.5m is Eagles' Nest Plantation, home of Gen. Jas. L. Alcorn, Gov. of Miss. (1870-71) & champion of levee system. Mon. marks his grave on Ind. mound.

63. CLARKSDALE, ginning, compressing & trading center for a great cotton-growing area (lumber is next in importance), is typical Miss. Delta town. with bus-dist. of stores, gins, warehs., & loading platforms & residential sec. of comfortable frame homes with wide galleries shaded by maples & water oaks. Sunflower R. runs through town & many streets end suddenly in cotton fields. Fr. Huguenots were said to have been here at an earlier date, but founding is credited to John Clark, who bought Gov. land here in 1848 & in 1869 platted town on site of Ind. fortification. Delta Staple Cotton Festival held here Aug. NW. of Cth., Hopedale, orig. John Clark home (1858-66.remod). Carnegie Pub. Lib., coll. Ind. relics from near-by mounds.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) From Clarksdale (N) on side Rd. 10m is Yazoo Pass through which Grant attempted to get to Vicksburg. Sunken gunboats still are visible.

(B) On side Rd. (W) 14m is Sunflower Landing designated by U.S. De Soto Exposition Commission as place where Hernando de Soto discovered Miss. R., May, 1541. One of chroniclers of his party wrote that R. was "Of great depth & of very strong current . . . and if a man stood still upon the other side one could not tell whether he were a man or something else."

(C) At Clarksdale is J. with St.1 which provides int. alt. route more closely paralleling Miss. R. & rejoining US61 at Rolling Fork, 132m. It passes some of oldest Delta plantations & along a number of horseshoe-shaped Ls. (f.buffalo,crappie,perch). On St.1 (R) at 13m is Greengrove, once plantation of Confed. Gen. N. B. Forrest, 23m Delta Cooperative Farm, est. 1935 by Sherwood Eddy as social & economic experiment with both white & Negro sharecroppers. 31m Pertshire, J. with side Rd.

35m Gunnison. Near-by is Concordia Cemetery, relic of a town once so wild that many headstones merely say: "Killed in Concordia." 45m Rosedale, largest town on R. bet. Memphis & Greenville. Near-by, at Montgomery Pt., it is said that David Crockett crossed on way to Alamo. 66m Scott, hqs. of Delta & Pine Land Co. with cotton plantation, 38,000 ac., said to be largest in world. It is owned by Eng. company & worked by Negro sharecroppers. Asphalt Rd. to RR. Sta. as experiment in use of cotton textile as base to control road expansion & contraction. 76m Winterville Ind. Mounds. 82m Greenville, largest town in Yazoo-Miss. area, is a cotton, lumbering, & shipping center. There are pulp, wall board & cotton oil mills, wkly. stockyard auctions, & mun.-owned terminal. Greenville is 3rd seat of Washington Cty. (1st was destroyed by R.; 2nd was fired by the Feds. & then fell into R.). Greenville itself suffered in 1927 flood. In 1935 R. was routed to a new course several miles (W) & L. Ferguson became boundary of town. SE. cor. Percy & Broadway Sts., Percy H., home of late Wm. Alex. Percy, author of "Lanterns on the Levee," son of Sen. LeRoy Percy. Greenway Cemetery; grave of Sen. Percy with figure by Malvina Hoffman. Pub. Lib.; Starling Coll. of old & rare vols. in many languages.

106m Hy. runs along L. Washington (f.& duck h.excellent). Area is nesting place for variety of birds incl. great blue heron, snowy egret, & Amer. egret. Alligators are hunted in L. Jackson which lies bet. L. Washington & Miss. R. 112m Glen Allan. On side Rd. 1.5m (R) are Ruins of St. John's Church (1857.Eng.Goth.), 1st Episc. Ch. in Delta reg. & grave of Negro sexton, Jesse Crowell, who carved altar. 113.5m Richland (L), a raised cottage built by Jim Richardson, son of Edmund Richardson, "Cotton King of the World," who cleared swamps & fors. of central Delta with convict labor. 131m Rolling Fork, at J. with US61 (see below).

Through RR. & bus conns. Toll bridge across Miss. R. to La. Accomms.: All types. Info.: C. of C. & Vicksburg Hist. Soc. Spring Pilgrimage, Feb.-Ap. Nat. Assembly of Participants of Campaign of Vicksburg, Spring.

Vicksburg, on Miss. R. at mouth of Yazoo, is shipping center for cotton, cattle & various manufactures & is a leading hardwood market of the South. Built on bluffs that rise 350' above sea level, architecture presents transition from ante bellum through Amer. Goth. to mod. concrete structures, mostly of 4 or 5 stories, erected on natural terraces that rise up from R., which is bordered by concrete sea wall. On the land side, the city is surrounded by Vicksburg Nat. Military Pk. Fr. were here in 1719 (see Ft. St. Peter above) & Sp. in 1791 est. Ft. Nogales (Sp. "walnuts") which was taken over by U.S., 1798. About 1812 Meth. Rev. Newitt Vick arrived & he & his followers planned city that was inc. 1825. Vicksburg expanded rapidly in spite of usual river-town difficulties with gamblers, flatboatmen, & other tough characters. (The 1st 5 editors of "Tri-Weekly Sentinel," est. 1837, met violent deaths.) Strategic importance of city in control of Miss. R. made it important target in Civil War. In June 1862 Adm. Farragut bombarded Vicksburg. In Nov., Gens. Grant & Sherman made another unsuccessful attack. In Ap. 1863 Grant, aided by Adm. Porter, was more successful. Port Gibson, Raymond, & Jackson fell. Siege of Vicksburg (defended by Gen. John C. Pemberton) lasted 47 days—while mule meat sold for $12 a pound, flour $200 a barrel, rum $100 a gallon, & newspapers were printed on back of wall paper. During siege some 3,000 civilians lived in caves. Mark Twain quoted one of the survivors: "It got to be Sunday all the time. . . . Seven Sundays & all of them broken up at 1 time or another in the day or in the night, by a few hours of the awful storm of fire & thunder & iron. . . . Twice we had 16 in our cave. Pretty suffocating in there then. We always had 8. Eight belonged there. Hunger & misery & sickness & fright & sorrow, & I don't know what all got so loaded into them that none of them were ever rightly their old selves after the siege." "When Vicksburg fell," said Grant, "the fate of the Confederacy was sealed." The "Gibraltar of the Confederacy" went through usual Reconstruction difficulties. In 1876 Miss. R. changed its course, leaving city high & dry; but Gov. engineers later diverted waters of Yazoo R. into old R. bed. Today hqs. of Miss. R. Commission & U.S. Waterways Experiment Sta. (see below) are located at Vicksburg which is now 3rd largest city in Miss.

There are also Confed. balls & tableaux & Negro spirituals.

Natchez, on bluffs that rise some 200' above the Miss. R., won approval even from the acid Mrs. Trollope (1827): "Natchez is beautifully situated . . . The contrast that its bright green hill forms with the dismal line of black forest that stretches on every side, the abundant pawpaw, palmetto, & orange, the copious variety of sweet-scented flowers that flourish there makes it appear like an oasis in the desert." Natchez has remained an oasis (you still can't get there by RR.) & has become the most extraordinary museum of ante bellum houses & Miss. R. culture in the South. "Never have I seen a community like this," John Gunther said ("Inside USA"—1947) but added, of this center of a reg. where the Negro pop. is greater than 50 per cent, here, "more than anywhere else in the South or the Nation, I heard expressed in their most extreme form the basic issues of the white-black conflict."

Natchez is named for Natchez Inds., a tribe of Muskogean linguistic stock who practiced head flattening & indulged in complicated form of sun-worshiping. La Salle visited area in 1682. In 1716 Bienville est. Ft. Rosalie, named for Duchess of Pontchartrain, & in 1729 the Natchez massacred entire settlement. Fr., with aid of Choctaw, drove Natchez from reg. following yr. At close of Fr. & Ind. War, area was taken over by Eng. (1763) & remained a kind of 14th colony, more or less neutral during Rev. In 1779 Galvez took settlement for Spain. Much of previous bldg. had been along R. banks & Sp. engineer, Collel, designed town on the bluffs, so that today the Sp. influence still remains in heart of city. In 1798 U.S. took over in accordance with Treaty of Madrid (1795).

Then, with opening of Miss. R. & the Natchez Trace (see below), the great days of Natchez began. Down the R. came flatboats & keelboats, their crews boasting of being "half alligator & half horse," & in 1811, the 1st steamboat, Nicholas J. Roosevelt's "New Orleans," arrived (Mrs. Roosevelt making the trip). Down the Trace came pioneers hungry for the newly opened lands. With them all came the adventurers, gamblers, prostitutes, & bandits who were to make "Natchez-under-the-Hill" infamous. "For the size of it there is not, perhaps, in the world a more profligate place," wrote John Bradbury in 1810 & in 1836 Tyrone Power, the actor, spoke of establishments "more obscene in their appointments than the lowest of the itinerant hells found at our races." In the meantime, Natchez on the bluffs grew rich & elegant. Indigo & tobacco had failed but cotton was to make Natchez as great a concentration of wealth as existed in U.S. The famous houses began to go up & the great & the near great to pass through. Aaron Burr & Harmon Blennerhassett used town as a base. Here Lorenzo Dow preached on "the latest news from Hell," & both Andrew Jackson & Jeff. Davis got married. In War of 1812, Inds. threatened town on various occasions & "Natchez Rifles" fought in Battle of New Orleans. In July 1863 town was attacked by USS "Essex" & taken over by Feds. under Ransom. After the Civil War, steamboating continued to bring some prosperity to town. Capt. Tom Leathers had lived here at Myrtle Terrace & built a series of steamboats called "The Natchez," one of which was to run the famous race with "The Lee" (1870). Yet Natchez never regained its importance, its pop. hardly increased in 3 generations & it was saved from the depths of the depression by the ladies who organized its 1st pilgrimage to old houses. The pilgrimages became so popular & the "ante bellum" in such demand that a Natchez child, asked the breed of her dog, is said to have replied: "Oh just a little ole ante bellum dog." Just before World War II rival pilgrimage clubs were suing each other; now peace reigns. But the recent use of large tire & roofing mfg. plants, the discovery of oil near-by, & the use of the flame cultivator & mechanical picker in the cotton fields would indicate great social & economic changes in store even for Natchez.

Among other houses open during Pilgrimage are Mistletoe (1808), Pleasant Hill (1809), Twin Oaks (1813) & The Burn (1832).

NATCHEZ TRACE PARKWAY, extending from Natchez to Nashville, Tenn., memorializes series of Ind. trails that became a wilderness by binding the Old SW. to the Union. Perhaps paths were 1st beaten by buffalo in search of salt licks. Later they linked together the Natchez, Choctaw, Chickasaw &, possibly, Cherokee tribes. Fr., Sp. & Eng. explorers, traders & missionaries traveled the Trace, worn with time deep into the earth (25' & more in some places) & overshadowed by ancient trees. In 1800 a post Rd. was est. between Natchez & Nashville & in 1801 Gen. James Wilkinson, commander of U.S. Army in the West & in charge of improving hy., wrote: "This road being completed I shall consider our Southern extremity secured, the Indians in that quarter at our feet, & the adjacent Province laid open to us." In 1st half of 19th cent., pioneers journeying to the rich lands of the S. & merchants & boatmen returning (N) were preyed upon by notorious bands of outlaws incl. the Harpes, the Murrell gang (whom Mark Twain called "a colossal combination of robbers, horse thieves, Negro stealers & counterfeiters"), Hare & Mason. More than one of the bandits ended with his head ornamenting a pole on the side of the Trace. Mason's own head was 1st "rolled in blue clay to prevent putrefaction" by former associates, including "Little" Harpe, who brought it to Natchez for the reward, were recognized & themselves beheaded. The Natchez Trace played an important rôle in the development of at least 4 states: Miss., La., Ala. & Tenn. Parkway will feature a hy. of advanced design some 450-500^m long (commercial vehicles excluded), preserve & mark various hist. sites, & provide pic. & other facils. At present (1949) it is only open for short distances, including sec. entered from US61, 12^m (N) of Natchez, & another entered from US51, 6^m (N) of Jackson, Miss. Make local inquiries.

Sec. 4: NATCHEZ to LA. STATE LINE. 43.

From Natchez (S), US61 runs bet. banks overhung with ancient live oaks. 3. (R) ELMSCOURT (O. sm. fee. c. 1810. remod.), known as "House of a Thousand Candles," has iron lacework reminiscent of New Orleans. Jenny Lind, Thackeray, Jackson & Lafayette were among the guests. 3.5. (L) GLENWOOD (1830's), in a sad state of dilapidation, achieved national notoriety in 1932 as "Goat Castle" when its owner, Rich. Dava & his guardian, Miss Martha Dockery, were arrested (& later acquitted) after the murder of Miss Jennie Merrill. 14. J. with gravel Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) bet. banks covered by Cherokee roses to a reg. that marked one of 1st Protestant settlements in st. (1772), when Capt. Amos Ogden claimed his grant of 25,000 as. from the Brit. Gov.

At 18.5. US61 crosses Homochitto R. 36. WOODVILLE, seat of Wilkinson Cty., holds annual spring pilgrimage. Post Office was once sta. of W. Feliciana RR. (chartered 1831), 1st RR. Co. in Miss., 2nd in Miss. Valley, & 5th in U.S. Rails were made of wood & financed by Judge Edward McGehee who figures in Stark Young's "So Red the Rose." Meth. Episc. Ch. S. (1824) has slave gallery. Bapt. Ch.; 1st meetings of congregation were held in secret because of Sp. est. of Cath. as state religion. St. Paul's Ch. (Episc. 1824); bell was sent to Gen. Beauregard to be melted into cannon. Office of "Woodville Republican," oldest extant newspaper in St. (1812). At Woodville is J. with Ft. Adams Rd. & St. 24.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) Take Ft. Adams Rd. 15^m (R) to J. with gravel Rd.

On this Rd. (L) 7^m is Pinkneyville, once home of Oliver Pollock, witness in investigation of Wilkinson-Burr conspiracy, & hideout of Kemper brothers, leaders of Amers. when land claims were being challenged by Sp. Among int. Hs. are Arcole (after 1790), Desert (1800), & Coldspring.

At 21^m is Ft. Adams. Father Davion conducted mission here in 1698 & Ft., afterwards named for Pres. John Adams, was erected in 1798. It was locale of Ed. Everett Hale's "The Man without a Country." Only traces of Ft. remain.

40.5. (L) ASHWOOD, once plantation of Geo. Poindexter, Gov. of Miss. (1819-21) & chiefly responsible for "The Revised Code of the Laws of Miss." 43. US61 crosses LA. LINE.

US 80—LOUISIANA

LA.-MISS. LINE (3m from Vicksburg, Miss.) (W) to LA.-TEX. LINE (21m from Marshall, Tex.). 205. US80

Via: Tallulah, Delhi, Rayville, Girard, Monroe, Ruston, Arcadia, Gibsland, Minden, Bossier City, Shreveport, Greenwood. RRs. parallel route. Accoms.

Sec. 1: LA.-MISS. LINE to RUSTON. 112.

US80 cuts through N. La.'s fertile cotton plantations, skirts some of its most productive oil & gas fields, & climbs from Miss. basin into hilly farmland on its way to the Red R. valley. Hy. crosses St. line in center of a steel bridge (toll) across Miss. R. De Soto I. (N) was created in 1876 when R. broke through De Soto Pt. In 1863, when Gen. U. S. Grant's forces were besieging Vicksburg, Union engineers tried unsuccessfully to dig a canal across the pt. so that gunboats could by-pass Vicksburg & escape fire of Confed. shore batteries. The R. later accomplished the feat in less than a day. Part of Grant's Canal remains on La. side, just (W) of DELTA, at 2.

19. TALLULAH is typical Delta cotton town, lying on the banks of Roundaway Bayou in River Basin Swamp, often flooded by the Miss. Town grew up after 1870 around J. of the Iron-Mountain & the Vicksburg, Shreveport & Miss. RRs. & was named for the Georgia sweetheart of a V., S. & M. RR. engineer. Tallulah is at J. with US65 (see). Reg. (W) abounds in bayous & Ls. known for good fishing.

38.5. DELHI, sett. before Civil War, was so named supposedly because its founder had just read Thos. Moore's poem, "Lalla Rookh," the story of a journey from Delhi to Cashmere. Sawmills & cotton gins are principal industries. 54. RAYVILLE grew up after Civil War around J. of Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific (now Ill. Central) & New Orleans & Northwestern (now Mo. Pac.) RRs. Gas field (S). 57. Hy. crosses BOEUF R. (good f.), near GIRARD (sett.1821). 62. CREW L., in Bayou LaFourche reg. (f.). 73. NE. CENTER OF LA. STATE UNIV., jr. college opened in 1931; modern bldgs., athletic fields & stadium. 76. J. with US165, which is united with US80 to Monroe (see below).

SIDE TRIP: On US165 (N) & (E) 26m to Bastrop. 7m J. with Rd. leading 0.5m (W) to Monroe Fish Hatchery. 15m J. with St.815, which runs (NW) 2m to Sterlington, operating base for natural gas industry; its Thermatomic Plant utilizes recently developed process for breaking down superheated natural gas molecules into hydrogen & carbon. Sterlington Lock & Dam regulate flow of Ouachita R. US165 cont. through Perryville, 18m, site of gas-pumping stations & carbon plant, to Bastrop, 26m, an industrial town with plentiful supply of natural gas for paper, brick, lumber & carbon-black industries. Although laid out in 1846, the town has acquired an up-to-date urban air, reflecting its prosperity. In vic. (N) 10m on St.204 is 500-a. pine-forested Chemin-a-Haut St. Pk. (f.boat.pic.camp.), with bayous providing good fishing.

79. MONROE

RR. & bus conns. Airport. Good accoms. & recr. facils; f. & h. in vic. Info.: C. of C. Monroe is on Ouachita R., which separates cotton-growing lowlands from the timber, small-farm & cattle-raising hill lands (W). It is La.'s 4th-largest city. In 1785, Don Juan Bautista Filhiol, appointed commandant of Poste des Washitas, founded a settlement here, soon afterward fortified against Ind. attack. Big land grants were made in vic., & arrival of 1st steamboat in 1819 opened prosperous era of cotton trading. The RR. came in 1860. Monroe in 1916 suddenly became an industrial center following discovery of gas fields near-by. PTS. OF INT.: (1) 301 S. Grand St.. Ouachita Parish Cth., a colonnaded stone bldg. In courtroom is the

(4) Forsythe Ave. & N. 6th St., Forsythe Pk.; well-equipped with recr. facilis. (5) Thomas & Wilson Sts., Bernstein Pk., Zoo.

SIDE TRIP: On US165 (S) through valley of Ouachita R. At 30.5m on US165, Columbia, seat of Caldwell Parish. Site was cleared in 1827, & it was a busy port for river packets until advent of the RRs. US165 enters rolling pine hills of central La., passing through series of small lumber towns. 53.5m Urania, center of Urania For. & home of Urania Lumber Co., known for its reforestation work. To the (S) is Urania Oil Field, whose commercial centers are Tullos, 57.5m & Georgetown, 62.5m.

US80 crosses Ouachita R. to WEST MONROE, trading center of wide farming & stock-raising area & site of several wood & paper mills. On Coleman Ave. (S) of town is Brown Paper Mill, one of largest sulphate pulp board & paper mills in the world. The farmers in the reg. (W) grow sugar cane, sweet potatoes, tomatoes & watermelons, as well as cotton. The hilly country here is forested with pine, oak & gum. 112. RUSTON (RR. & bus conns.accoms.& recr.facilis.) is farming & dairying town, with wide, tree-lined streets & neat, well-ordered flower gardens & lawns. Although reg. was settled early in 19th cent.—chiefly by Prot. Anglo-Saxons from older Southern states—town itself was not founded until 1884, when Rbt. E. Russ gave 80 as. on main line of Shreveport, Vicksburg & Pacific RR. to be platted as townsite. Ruston soon became trade center for surrounding area. Discovery of natural gas in 1935 gave impetus to new industrial activity. La. Polytechnic Institute (founded 1894), on W. outskirts, is housed in fine red-brick bldgs. on extensive campus. At 300 E. Georgia Ave. is Amer. Legion Mem. Pk. J. with US167.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) On US167 (N) 5m to Vienna, founded in early 19th cent. & eclipsed by Ruston in 1880's.

(B) On US167 (S) 20.5m to Hodge, small industrial town, & Jonesboro, at 22.5m, 46.5m Winnfield (inc. 1855), seat of Winn Parish, a reg. of pine fors., canebrakes & fertile creek bottoms among red-clay hills; depends chiefly on limestone quarrying, salt mining & lumbering. Town has produced many prominent attorneys, among them Huey P. Long, whose stormy political career as Gov. & U.S. Senator terminated in his assassination in 1935. At 1107 Maple St. is Site of Huey Long's Birthpl.

Sec. 2: RUSTON to LA.-TEX. LINE. 93.

18. ARCADIA, seat & largest town of Bienville Parish, a cotton growing & processing area. 27. GIBSLAND (founded 1884), at J. of Ill. Central & La. & N.W. RRs., is a shipping center. Coleman College (Negro), on S. outskirts, was founded (1888) by Oliver L. Coleman, Miss. Negro. J. with St.89.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) On St.89 (N) 9m, near Athens, is highest pt. of land in La.

(B) On St.89 (S) 3m is Mount Lebanon (founded 1836), one of 3 La. communities to issue its own postage stamps during Civil War; the Mount Lebanon stamp is exceedingly rare.

43. MINDEN, trading center of farming & oil- & gas-producing dist., is a comfortable-looking town with tree-shaded pks. & streets; founded in 1836 by Chas. H. Veeder, who named it for his parents' birthpl. in Germany. The fertility of the reg. & the shipping facilis. provided by neighboring bayous assured its prosperity. It suffered serious disasters—a cyclone & a fire—in 1933, but its recovery was aided by discovery of oil & gas in vic. J. with US79, with which US80 unites (N).

SIDE TRIP: On US79 (NE) are Homer 20m, & Haynesville 33m, Claiborne Parish Cth. (1848.Gr.Rev.).

US80 cuts through broad Red R. valley, crossing RED CHUTE BAYOU at c.63.5, in locality used by Roark Bradford for many Negro stories. 71. BOSSIER CITY, named for La. politician, Pierre Evariste Bossier; an industrial town with fertilizer factories, oil refineries, grease plants, cotton-oil mills & RR. shops. Ft. Smith Pk.; ruins of Confed. breastworks. US80 crosses Red R. over Long-Allen Bridge.

Info.: C. of C., 412 Milam St.

Shreveport, La.'s 2nd largest city, seat of Caddo Parish, is—unlike typical cities of the South—a practical, hard-driving town with broad, well-paved streets & new skyscrapers in its bustling business dist. It has reputation of being among wealthiest cities of its size in the country, a center of great tri-state oil-producing area. Sieur de Bienville & Louis Juchereau de St. Denis, in 1700, found Caddo Ind. village here along the bluffs overlooking the Red R. About 1803 Larkin Edwards, a Tennessean, settled on the site, acting as interpreter for the Inds., & his land, given him by the Inds. in 1835, became the nucleus of Shreveport. During 1830's a number of settlers built log cabins, a trading post & hotel. By this time, Henry Miller Shreve, assigned by U.S. Gov. (1833) the task of breaking through the Great Raft, a jam of drifted timber blocking the Red R. for 160^m, had succeeded in clearing an 80^m stretch. Shreve was inventor of double-decked river steamer, the "Washington." Opening of navigation brought more settlers. In 1837, after the Inds. had surrendered their lands by treaty, Edwards sold his tract to Shreve & others, & town was incorporated in 1839.

Shreveport boomed, trading with hunters, trappers & covered-wagon travelers & shipping cotton & furs by barge & steamboat. It was so important by the time of the Civil War that it became, in 1863, the Confed. capital of La. & hqs. of Gen. Edmund Kirby-Smith's Trans-Miss. Dept. It was the last Confed. stronghold. To guard the city against attack by Fed. gunboats, 3 forts & an embankment were built along R. The city quickly recovered after the war & embarked on an era of prosperity that has cont. ever since. Steamboat traffic fell off toward end of the century in the face of RR. competition, but population increased. Discovery of oil in 1906 in near-by Caddo L.—afterwards in East Texas Field (1930) & Rodessa Field (1935)—gave city a major industry, attracting thousands of new residents. Cotton remained an important source of income, with such by-products as cottonseed oil & meal; & the plentiful supply led to establishment of garment industries. Lumbering & wood- & metal-working industries developed later. Shreveport became an important producer of sawmill, oil field & dehydrating machinery & of glass.

US90 crosses Pearl R. Bridge & enters a vast marshland stretching all the way to New Orleans. 8.5. RIGOLETS BRIDGE, spanning one of two passes conn. Ls.

Borgne & Pontchartrain, serves as NE. boundary of New Orleans, the limits of which are the same as those of Orleans Parish, although the city proper is more than 30^m away. (For pts. of int. on or near US90 bet. here & New Orleans, see New Orleans.) 22. J. with US11, which unites with US90 to New Orleans.

SIDE TRIP: On US11 (N) 28^m to La.-Miss. Line. US11 crosses E. end of L. Pontchartrain over 5^m-long Rbt. S. Maestri Br. 15^m Slidell, named for John Slidell, La.'s political boss in 1850's & later Confed. Commissioner to France; has brick & tile works, sawmills, creosote plants & shipyards. 16^m J. with US190.

On US190 (W) 19^m to Mandeville, popular summer resort founded c.1830 by Bernard Xavier de Marigny de Mandeville, owner of Fontainebleau Plantation. Near Mandeville is Fontainebleau St. Pk. (bathh. restaurant. pic. shelters. bridle trls.), 2,700-a. wooded tract with white sandy beach extending 3^m along L. Pontchartrain.

At 23^m on US11 is Pearl R. Hy. traverses Honey I. Swamp, a dank jungle crisscrossed by Pearl R. delta & abounding in wild life. 28^m La.-Miss. Line.

Sec. 2: NEW ORLEANS to LAFAYETTE. 169.

25.5. LULING. J. with St.30 (see US61-65). (For pts. of int. & towns on or near US90 bet. here & New Orleans, see New Orleans.) Bet. PARADIS, 32. & DES ALLEMANDS, 37. is one of La.'s richest oil fields. From Bayou des Allemands (W) stretch bayous & cypress swamps, the water courses blanketed with water hyacinths & the trees draped with moss. US90 is dividing line bet. agric. sec. (N) where sugar cane is chief product & a sec. (S) in which fishing, trapping & oil field developments are main industries. 47. RACELAND is a small packing & shipping center of Bayou Lafourche, which has been called "the longest street in America." An almost continuous community stretches for c.85^m along its banks, from Donaldsonville on Miss. R. to Golden Meadow near the Gulf. At J. with St.78.

SIDE TRIP: On St.78 (SE) along W. bank of Bayou Lafourche, bet. continuous rows of small Hs. with adj. fields & gardens. Lockport, 7.5^m & Cut-Off, 22.5^m are small shrimping towns. 34.5^m Golden Meadow, with its shrimp factories & packing sheds, is hqs. for large fleet of fishing luggers. Oil wells are scattered throughout the town. St.78 becomes St.620 here. 45.5^m Leeville, in midst of a for. of derricks covering one of largest fields in Gulf area. At the end of long bridge is luxuriantly wooded Grand Isle, 63^m, whose beach (7^m long) is one of La.'s few surf-bath. spots. Pop. is mixture of Fr., Portuguese, Sp. & Filipino descent, & many are descendants of pirate band headed by Jean & Pierre Lafitte, who made their hqs. here.

47.5. J. with St.29.

SIDE TRIP: On St.29 (W & N) 48.5^m to Donaldsonville. At 15^m is Thibodaux, the 1st trading post est. bet. New Orleans & the country along Bayou Teche; named for Henry Schuyler Thibodaux, planter, legislator & Gov. of La. From Thibodaux (R) across Bayou Lafourche by bridge & (R) on St.77 is Rienzi Plantation H. (c.1800), said to have been built at request of Queen Maria Louisa of Spain, presumably as a refuge in event of Sp. defeat in Napoleonic wars. Old White Plantation H., 20 5^m, birthpl. of Edw. Douglas White, U.S. Chief Justice (1910-21). 23.5^m Labadieville, named for pioneer Jean Louis Labadie, is center of sec. sett. by Fr. colonists in 18th cent. 32.5^m Napoleonville, seat of Assumption Parish, was thriving market place by beginning of 19th cent. Across Bayou Lafourche by bridge (R) & (R) 2^m on St.77 is Madewood (1848); notable inter. 38^m Paincourtville, said to be named for early Fr. traveler who was unable to obtain bread here. St. Elizabeth Ch. (Cath.) is notable for its murals & stained-glass windows. 43^m Belle Rose, J. with Rd. leading (R) across Bayou Lafourche to J. with St.77; (L) on St.77 to Belle Alliance (1846), a plantation mansion. 48.5^m Donaldsonville, seat of Ascension Parish. Town began as a trading post shortly after 1750 & was long known as "Ascension" because Father Angelus Revillagodos, a Capuchin, built a Ch. here in 1781 & dedicated his parish to "The Ascension of our Lord." Shrine of St. Amico (S) of hy. was built in 1906 by Tony Musco, Ital. farmer, in gratitude for his son's recovery from an almost fatal illness after ministrations of a passing stranger. Later when the child saw a picture of the saint, he declared the stranger was St. Amico.

59.5. HOUMA, named for local Ind. tribe. Bldg. of Intracoastal Waterway through Houma & the growth of fish, fur & oil industries have made the town an important port & packing center. US90 follows Bayou Black to GIBSON, 82., at edge of Atchafalaya Swamp, where it meets Bayou Chene. Hy. cont. through stretch of swampland & then follows Bayou Boeuf. 96.5. MORGAN CITY is an Intracoastal Waterway port on Berwick Bay, which is a widening of Atchafalaya R. Town began c.1850 as W. terminus of New Orleans, Opelousas & Great Western RR. & was named for its president, Chas. Morgan. It is a commercial fishing center, hqs. for flourishing fur trade, & site of several woodworking plants & furniture factories. US90 crosses Berwick Bay on Long-Allen Bridge to BERWICK, 97.5., home port of a fishing fleet, with a boatbuilding plant, & shrimp & oyster canneries. Route then follows Bayou Teche (W), the setting of Longfellow's "Evangeline," navigable for more than 100m through fertile Sugar Bowl. 104.5. PATTERSON, whose main street stretches more than 1m along bayou. From here (NW) extends an old sugar plantation dist. 113.5. SHADYSIDE. 121. DIXIE (1850). 122. ARLINGTON (c.1855). 123. FRANKLIN, founded in 1800 by settlers chiefly of Eng. descent, who named it for Benj. Franklin. In 1812, it became seat of St. Mary Parish & by 1830 had become important trading & shipping center. H. S. Palfrey H. (c.1855). Bell H. (c.1850). Just beyond is J. with Irish Bend Rd. leading (R) past Gibbons H. & Grevemberg H. (1853) to Oaklawn Manor (O.sm.fee.1827.rebuilt 1926), a brick & stone mansion approached by long drive through grove of oaks.

128. BALDWIN, J. with St.59.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) On St.59 (N) 4m to sugar & cotton plantation settlement of Charenton, on N. edge of which is Chitimacha Ind. Reserv., only one in La.; set aside in 1935 & occupied by a handful of families whose women are skilled basket makers. Charenton Beach, across Bayou Teche, is a popular resort (cabins.restaurant.dancing pavilion).

(B) On St.59 (S) 23m to Weeks Island (f.h.), one of "Five Islands," or coastal salt domes. Weeks Island Salt Mine, largest in La., produces nearly 100 per cent pure salt.

135.5. ALBANIA, a 1,100-a. sugar plantation with its own refinery, owned & operated by the city of New Orleans. Well-preserved plantation H. (1842). 137. JEANERETTE, a typical La.-Fr. town of garden-surrounded raised wooden cottages, where many old customs & religious tenets are preserved. Among chief products are sugar, oil, pecans & pepper. 138. J. with Rd. which runs (R) across Bayou Teche to Bayside (1850), a handsome whitewashed-brick mansion built by Francis D. Richardson, classmate & friend of Edgar Allan Poe. 141. J. with gravel Rd. (R) to Iberia Livestock Experiment Farm, operated by U.S. Dept. of Agric. & La. St. Univ. 148. NEW IBERIA, seat of Iberia Parish, a serene-looking town on banks of Bayou Teche with sts. arched by moss-draped oaks. Its name was derived from "colony of Iberia," a group of Canary Islanders who settled in vic. under Sp. regime in late 18th cent. & experimented with raising flax & hemp. Town was inc. in 1839 & suffered that same yr. an epidemic of yellow fever which struck virtually every family. Gradually it developed into a busy shipping center, loading cargoes of cotton & sugar for shipment down the Teche. Today its prosperity depends on seafood & vegetable canneries, rice mills & condiment factories, on oil fields & salt mines in vic. & on its trade with fur trappers of reg. to the S.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) Main & Weeks Sts., the Shadows (1830), a mansion of pinkish brick with masonry columns & attic dormer windows of a style unusual in La. architecture. Fine formal garden is enclosed by bamboo hedge. (2) 412 E. Main St., St. Peter's College (Cath.). (3) Bridge & Front Sts., Mt. Carmel Convent. (4) Duperier Ave. & Marie St., Dauterive Hospital. (5) 301 W. Main St., Ch. of the Epiphany (1857). (6) St. Peter St., bet. Iberia & Julia Sts., St. Peter's Ch. (1890). (7) 100-block on Main St., Iberia Parish Cth. (1884). (8) City Hall (1935), next to Cth. (9) 541 E. Main St., Gebert Oak, a magnificent specimen of La. live oak. New Iberia is at J. with St.25.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) On St.25 (N) 9m to St. Martinville. At 6m is J. with country lane.

(L) on this Rd. 1.5m to Lady of the Lake Plantation H. (O.c.1800), of early type, with high brick basement, cypress-faced adobe walls, outside staircases, & porch surrounding whole H.

9m St. Martinville, a quiet town along Bayou Teche in reg. sett. in 1760's by Fr. colonists. Shortly after Sp. occupancy (1769), the tiny settlement was made a military post named Poste des Attakapas. There was a steady immigration of Acadian exiles, Canary Islanders, émigrés from Fr. Rev. & Creole families from New Orleans. So many Fr. refugees attempted to maintain their luxurious way of life that the village came to be called "Le Petit Paris." The settlers were not all Royalists, however, & when La. was transferred from Spain to France in 1803, a bitter feud broke out. Transfer of La. to the U.S. only complicated matters, since neither the laws nor the language of the U.S. were understood here. Village was inc. in 1812 under name of St. Martinville in honor of a 4th-cent. Fr. bishop, & in spite of its remoteness, it became a fashionable summer resort. About the middle of the century, however, a decline set in, brought on by a series of disasters—a hurricane, a yellow-fever epidemic & the Civil War—and by the divergence of trade from Bayou Teche incident to advent of RR. French is still spoken, the people are deeply attached to old ways & customs, & Feast of Corpus Christi is a civic occasion as well as religious holiday.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) 400 S. Main St., St. Martin Parish Cth. (1853.Gr.Rev.), old Fr. & Sp. documents. (2) 214 Port St., Convent of Mercy School, occupying probably oldest bldg. in former Attakapas Dist., a much-remod. brick structure that once served as village hostel. (3) 100 S. Main St., St. Martinville Ch. (Cath.1832). In one wing is reprod. of Grotte de Lourdes. In cemetery is Evangeline Mon., posed & donated by Dolores Del Rio, actress; marks Grave of Emmeline Labiche, "Evangeline" of Longfellow's poem according to local tradition.

(4) E. Port St. & Bayou Teche, Evangeline Oak marks landing place of Acadians, & tradition claims it also as meeting place of Emmeline & Louis Arceneaux, the "Gabriel" of Longfellow's work.

9.5m Longfellow-Evangeline Mem. Pk. (pic.restaurant), est. in 1934 as La.'s 1st St. Pk. Longfellow never saw La., but he received help on local color from his Harvard classmate, Edw. Simon, of St. Martinville; thus it is possible that Emmeline Labiche, whose story is almost identical with that of Evangeline, may actually have been the poet's inspiration.

Acadian Cottage has coll. of records & Acadian relics.

(B) From New Iberia (S) 2m on St.25 to J. with St.445.

(S) 7m on St.445 to Avery I. (fee), most striking of the "Five Islands," is nearly round, c.2m across & surrounded by sea marsh & swampy thickets, with a cluster of hills at its center. There are areas of virgin woodland, abounding in wild life. The I., acquired toward close of 18th cent. by John C. Marsh, has remained in the hands of his descendants. Jungle Gardens (fee), around the home of Edw. Avery McIlhenny, have botanical specimens from all over the world. Bird City, est. in 1893 by Mr. McIlhenny when he discovered that the egret had become extinct even on Avery I., its last haunt, is the home of largest colony of egrets in U.S. McIlhenny Tabasco Factory, near Bird City, packs the sauce created by member of McIlhenny family & put on the market in 1868. Avery I. Salt Mine, end of main Rd., has been in operation since 1860's, when it produced salt for Confed. Army.

St.25 cont. to J. with St.1189, at 9.5m.

(R) here c.1m to 1,200-a. Jefferson L., which was acquired by actor Jos. Jefferson in 1870's. Bob Acres is the home built by Jefferson on island's highest pt. Jefferson I. Salt Mine, one of country's biggest producers, began operation in 1921 & has produced an average of 200,000 tons a yr.

St.25 cont. through reg. sett. by Acadian refugees. Here barefoot Cajuns are encountered along the Rd. & a Fr.-Eng. patois is spoken in the remotest dists. Hs. are usually small frame dwellings with batten shutters, outside chimneys & stairways, always spotlessly clean. 12m Delcambre & 14.5m Erath are typical Acadian villages. 21m Abbeville, live-oak shaded, with narrow streets & unpretentious homes set in gardens, is center of a fertile rice-growing area. It grew up around St. Marie Madeleine's Chapel, built on a bluff overlooking the Vermilion R. in 1845 by Capuchin missionary Abbé A. D. Mégret. Abbé Mégret acquired a large tract of land, on which he laid out the town, patterning it after Provençal towns with winding streets & central square. The intro. of rice at end of 19th cent. brought influx of Anglo-Saxon Midwesterners, but the customs of the Latin community were preserved. St. Marie Madeleine's Ch. (1910), across from Madeleine Sq., occupies site of Mégret's chapel. From Abbeville, St.25 passes through rice & cattle country, whose trading centers are Kaplan, 30m, Gueydan, 45m & Lake Arthur, 56m. Here St.25 turns (N). 66m Jennings. J. with US90, the main tour (see below).

US90 emerges from the Sugar Bowl into undulating prairies of the Rice Belt. 159. Here begins the Côte Gelée (Fr. frozen hills) extending through Lafayette Parish, so named because the Acadian exiles found firewood very scarce. Their descendants are a deeply religious folk. Their small wooden cottages, often unpainted, are kept scrupulously clean, & in some homes the women still spin & weave. In the gardens are medicinal herbs & plants. A visiting stranger is sure to be offered "café noir," & in the true Acadian home the coffeepot never goes dry or becomes cold by day. 167.5. LES JARDINS DE MOUTON (fee), designed by Congressman Rbt. L. Mouton; rose gardens & cypress gardens, azalea-banked esplanade & mile-long Way of the Cross.

169. LAFAYETTE, seat of Lafayette Parish & commercial center for rich mineral & agric. dist. Its industries incl. sugar refining, cotton ginning, canning & syrup manufacturing & RR. repair shops. Probably 1st settlers were the families of Andrew Martin & the brothers Jean & Marin Mouton, about the time of Amer. Rev. The chief industry, cattle raising, was jeopardized in 1850's by a highly organized band of thieves, against whom the cattlemen organized a force of 4,000 vigilantes who put the rustlers to rout in 1859. Old customs remain. Afternoon coffee is served with ceremony. Buggies drawn by long-maned Creole ponies are driven into town on Sun., which begins with Mass but is also celebrated with fairs, bazaars, motion pictures & visiting. French is still the language of Lafayette among both whites & Negroes. The preservation of Acadian traditions is sponsored by Assoc.

of La. Acadians, organized by Dudley J. LeBlanc of Lafayette in 1930. Lafayette is also the home of the Live Oak Soc., whose members are 100-yr. old trees, more than 50 of them in La., Miss. & Texas. Annual dues are 25 acorns, to be planted in Live Oak Nursery of Southwestern La. Institute Farm in Lafayette. PTS. OF INT.: (1) Main St. bet. Lafayette & Buchanan Sts., Lafayette Parish Cth. (2) W. Main & St. John Sts., St. John's Cathedral (1916), richly ornamented within. In cemetery is Grave of Jean Mouton (d.1834). (3) College Ave. & Azalea St., Carmelite Monastery of Mary, Mother of Grace. (4) 338 Sterling Ave., Chas. Mouton H. (1848.rest.with adds.). (5) College Ave. & General Gardner St., Southwestern La. Institute, a St. college est. in 1901.

0. LAFAYETTE. 1. J. with St.5.

SIDE TRIP: On St.5 (N) 24m to Opelousas. At 6m Carencro, whose name derives from Ind. belief that a monster died here & that the air long afterward was thick with carrion crows. 13m J. with St.245, which leads (E) 1.5m to rambling, oak-shaded village of Grand Coteau. The Jesuit Seminary, one of the South's better-known Cath. seminaries, began in 1838 & cont. until 1922 as St. Charles College for boys. From Grand Coteau (L) c.1m is College & Academy of the Sacred Heart, founded in 1821 to educate daughters of Southern planters. Convent (1831) is a 3-story brick bldg. with Corinthian columns & wide galleries. At 17.5m on St.5, J. with Rd. running (L) c.2m to Chrétien Pt. Plantation H. (1831.Class.Rev.). 24m Opelousas, founded as trading post in mid-18th cent., retains somewhat the atmosphere of a pioneer Fr. settlement, the streets centering at the cth. square & resounding still with hoofbeats & noise of buggy wheels. In 1769, when Sp. took control of La., it became the governing center of the whole SW. reg., officially known as El Poste de Opelousas. Later, from Opelousas, conn. by branches with the Old Spanish Trl., great herds of cattle were headed for New Orleans. As cotton & sugar-cane cultivation took the place of cattle raising, the town grew in prosperity as a shipping center. During Civil War, after Fed. occupation of Baton Rouge in 1863, it served for a time as Confed. capital of La., & St. Supreme Ct. cont. meeting here until 1898. Reconstruction period was marked by racial conflict & rioting. Today Opelousas is prosperous merchandising & shipping center, but still an easygoing & pleasure-loving town where French is spoken & Creole cooking is especially good. Among old Hs. are: 233 Main St., Diedeln H. (pre-Civil War); 304 Bellevue St., Hebrard H. (c.1830); & 413 Market St., Estorge H. (1840 or earlier). Main & Church Sts., St. Landry's Ch., has records dating from 1777. 872 Main St., Academy of the Immaculate Conception, occupies probable site of the Sp. post.

Level prairie country stretches (W) from Lafayette to the Tex. Line, & rice fields blanket the land. 15.5. RAYNE, a typical La.-Fr. town, has had important place in development of rice industry & is also center of frog industry. La. Frog Co. Plant is said to be largest shipper of edible frogs in the world. 23.5. CROWLEY, seat of Acadia Parish, vies with Lake Charles for designation "Rice Capital of La." Nat. Rice Festival is held here in Oct. 24.5. RICE EXPERIMENT STA., conducted jointly by La. St. Univ. & U.S. Dept. of Agric. 42. JENNINGS (sett.1884) has rice mills, machine shops & other industries. It was the site of 1st discovery of petroleum in La. (1901). J. with St.25 (see above). 52. WELSH, one of the more rapidly growing Rice Belt communities, is often the scene of Cajun dances called "fais-dodos."

72. J. with US171 (see US71).

SIDE TRIP: On US171 (N) 46m to De Ridder. At 3m hy. crosses hyacinth-banked Calcasieu R. 5m Moss Bluff, J. with side Rd. on which (L) 2.5m is 1,057-a. Sam. Houston St. Pk. (cabins.pic.boat.swim.). 20m J. with US190, which unites (N) with US171.

On US190 (W) 13m is De Quincy, a fast-growing town which derives its income from surrounding truck, fruit & poultry farms & stock ranches, from the rapidly expanding tung-oil industry & from its modern RR. repair shops & turpentine, pine oil & resin extraction plant, one of largest of its kind.

46m De Ridder, seat of Beauregard Parish, in one of most diversified farming dists. in S.; also produces turpentine & resin & serves as reforestation base; market for wool.

76. LAKE CHARLES. (RR.& bus conns.Accoms.& recr.facils.Info.:Assoc.of Commerce). Nearest to the Gulf (S.37m) of La.'s 3 deep-water ports, Lake Charles almost encompasses the wide oval-shaped reach of the Calcasieu R., bordered with willows, water hyacinths & the moss-bearded cypress from which R. derives its name. Plans are under way for a magnificent bridge to cost more than $12,000,000. Town is modern in appearance, having been almost wholly rebuilt after a fire in 1910; its dwellings, mostly of recent construction, are set in luxuriantly landscaped grounds. Lake Charles is a combination of a La.-Fr. community & a Texas town, having been sett. by people of both Fr. & Anglo-Saxon stock. Ten-gallon hats appear on the streets, but the people cook good gumbo & drink strong black coffee. It is seat of John McNeese Jr. College. Its prosperity is founded on the oil fields in vic., on its deep-water port (opened in 1926) & a variety of modern industries. Among large plants are: Cities Serv. Refining Corp., Continental Refinery, Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.'s Synthetic Rubber Plant, & Navy Berthing Base.

The 1st settlers (c.1780) were Martin Le Bleu & Carlos Salia, a Spaniard, who married Le Bleu's daughter & changed his name to Charles Sallier, Early travelers named "Charlie's" Lake in his honor. In 1830, the U.S. est. a military post, Cantonment Atkinson, because of the threat of conflict with Mexico over W. boundary of La. Purchase. A small wooden bldg. housing gov. records was floated by raft down Calcasieu R. from Marion, 6^m upstream, under leadership of the parish sheriff, Jacob Ryan, who has since been called "Father of Lake Charles." Town became seat of Calcasieu Parish in 1852 & was inc. in 1867 with a pop. of only 400. By 1890, following completion of S.P. RR. from New Orleans to Houston, it had jumped to 3,200. Sawmills had been built & rice culture promoted; an aggressive advertising campaign attracted settlers. Growth has been continuous ever since.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) 2709 Shell Beach Dr., Barbé H. (c.1850), on probable site of Chas. Sallier's 1st home. Here, too, the pirate Lafitte is thought to have built a log hut &, as protection against gov. boats, the embankment (100' long & 25' high) which remains in front of the H. (2) Kirkman St. near Fournet St., Bilbo Cemetery, on site of Cantonment Atkinson. Grave of Jacob Ryan, the "Father of Lake Charles." (3) Shell Beach Dr., Burton H. (1925), in 40-a. pk. (5) W. end of Shell Beach Dr., Port of Lake Charles, with extensive docking & warehouse facils. At Lake Charles Cotton Compress, center of the port, baled cotton is compressed for overseas shipment.

US90 crosses Calcasieu R., on which log booms may sometimes be seen floating to sawmills downstream. 87. SULPHUR. A sulphur dome (N.1^m) produced nearly 10,000,000 tons of sulphur bet. 1905 & 1926. 100. VINTON, founded c.1888 by settlers from Midwest who named it for Vinton, Iowa; depends chiefly on the oil fields discovered in 1911. 112. LA.-TEX. LINE, in middle of bridge spanning Sabine R. Spanish explorers named the "Rio Sabinas" for the juniper growing on its banks; but the Fr., retaining the name, attributed its origin to an incident involving abduction of some Ind. women by a party of Frenchmen, comparable to the "Rape of the Sabines" in Roman hist. The R. was W. boundary of the Neutral Ground bet. Fr. & Sp. territories. When Mexico revolted against Spain in 1821, it became the Mex. boundary; & when Texas revolted against Mexico in 1836, the boundary of the Republic of Texas.

US 51—LOUISIANA

LA.-MISS. LINE (16^m from McComb, Miss.) (S) to NEW ORLEANS. 97. US51
Via: Kentwood, Amite, Hammond, Springfield & Laplace. Route is paralleled by III. Central RR. Accomms. at frequent intervals.

US51 descends from hills forested with pine into one of country's best strawberry-growing regs. 4.5. KENTWOOD, inc. in 1893, was a favored spot among New Orleans excursionists for picnics, barbecues & trap-shooting meets. 9. J. with Rd. which leads (E) into Camp Moore Confed. Cemetery, where Mon. marks burial place of 400 unknown soldiers who died during measles epidemic in training camp on this site. 13. FLUKER. J. with St.35 (see US61), which unites (S) with US51 to Amite. 18. ROSELAND, founded in 1888 by Chicago firm that owned surrounding timber lands. Influence of Northern architecture & farming methods is still noticeable. 20. AMITE, an older settlement, began with bldg. of the RR., which attracted plantation families from remote secs. Dairying, truck-farming & lumbering are main sources of income. Amite is at southern J. with St.35.

SIDE TRIP: On St.35 (E) 44^m to Bogalusa. At 24^m is Franklinton, seat of Washington Parish. Until turn of the century it was a backwoods village, dating from 1819, but is now distribution pt. for pine, farm & dairy country. Here & there are pecan orchards & tung groves. 44^m Bogalusa, bustling industrial town supported by manufacture of paper, tung oil & lumber; seat of La. St. Univ. Forestry School. It is in heart of heavily wooded yellow-pine belt under planned program of conservation & reforestation. Great Southern Lumber

MIL, opened c.1906, is said to be world's largest sawmill. c.16m (SW) is Goodyear Plantation (O.appl.), where thousands of tung trees are grown.

26. INDEPENDENCE, often called "Little Italy," is surrounded by strawberry farms. In early 1900's, 2 Ital. families were brought here by local residents who had faith in ability of Itals. as truck gardeners & berry growers. The venture was so successful that many more Itals. came. US51 cuts (S) through center of the strawberry belt. 35. HAMMOND, the "Strawberry Capital of America," has shady streets lined with well-kept homes in groves of pine & oak. Settlement progressed slowly until 1885, when Ill. Central RR. inaugurated a colonization program to encourage immigration from the North. At height of the strawberry season in spring the town seethes with activity, as each day's pick is auctioned off by growers' associations. Strawberry Festival (Mar.). Southeastern La. College (founded 1925) is housed in group of modern buildings on 375-a. campus in N. part of town. Hammond is at J. with US190.

SIDE TRIP: On US190 (E) 23m to Covington, seat of St. Tammany Parish since 1828, a yr.-round health & pleasure resort on banks of Bogue Falaya. Reg. was sett. as early as 1769 & town itself was inc. in 1813. Bogue Falaya Wayside Pk. (pic.beach).

41. PONCHATOULA derived its name from Choctaw words meaning "falling hair," the Ind. name for Sp. moss; important shipping pt. for berries & vegetables. On Tangipahoa R., (E) 6.5m on St.122, is Ponchatoula Beach (f.pic.camp.cottages. hotels.swim.boat.). Baton Rouge, capital & 3rd-largest city of La., overlooks the Miss. R. from 50' Istrouma Bluff. It is a modern city bordered by great industrial plants & by the tree-shaded reaches of the Capitol grounds & La. St. Univ. campus. Residential sts. are lined with oaks, elms & magnolias. Here in 1719 the Fr. built a fort to subdue the Ind. tribes & gave it the Ind. name ("Istrouma" meaning "red stick" or in Fr., "baton rouge") derived from the reddened post that stood here to indicate the boundary bet. lands of 2 different tribes. Settlement was transferred, in 1763, along with other La. territory ceded by Treaty of Paris, to Great Britain, which made the port a pt. of origin for contraband commerce with Sp. La. During Amer. Rev., the Brit. garrison was defeated & forced to withdraw by the forces of Don Bernardo de Galvez, Sp. Gov. of La., at First Battle of Baton Rouge, Sept. 21, 1779. Baton Rouge remained under Sp. rule until Amer.-born residents of the surrounding parishes rebelled & captured the fort—also the settlement that had grown up around it—at Second Battle of Baton Rouge, Sept. 23, 1810. They raised the "Bonnie Blue Flag" of the W. Fla. Republic, & 3 months later Gov. Claiborne annexed the new republic. In 1817 the town of Baton Rouge was inc., & in 1849 it became the capital city.

At outbreak of the Civil War, Baton Rouge had c.5,500 residents, its pop. having doubled after 1820 when the steamboats opened up a thriving commerce with upper Miss. & Mo. valleys. The town was a miscellaneous cluster of unpainted bldgs., a few handsome dwellings, the penitentiary & 3 churches, flanked by the U.S. Barracks & the Capitol & newly erected School for the Deaf. Confed. flag was raised Jan. 26, 1861, following peaceful surrender of the Barracks, where it flew for more than a yr., until Union troops pressing N. toward Vicksburg after fall of New Orleans occupied the town. Town remained in Union hands until end of the war without opposition—except for the Confed. attack in Third Battle of Baton Rouge, Aug. 5, 1862, when Maj. Gen. Breckinridge's men waged for several hours a fierce but unsuccessful hand-to-hand struggle, raked by fire from Union gunboats. The Capitol was used thereafter to quarter Union troops until it burned down in Dec., 1862; it was not rebuilt until 1880-82, when the seat of gov. was returned from Shreveport, the wartime capital.

As the war debt lightened, economic & commercial development was rapid. With coming of the RRs., the port of Baton Rouge was recognized as an excellent distributing center, & industry was quick to take advantage. The pop. grew rapidly, tripling in 30 yrs., as dozens of industrial plants—oil refineries, chemical works & metal-working industries—were built in or near the city. Baton Rouge's deep-water port, served by several rail lines, assured its importance as a shipping center. Today agric., as well as industry, contributes to its income, for the surrounding area supports stock raising, dairying & growing of strawberries, cotton & sugar cane. It is, in addition, the retail center for a wide territory.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) North Blvd. & St. Philip St., Old St. Capitol (1882.Tudor Goth.), overlooking R. from terraced bluff; a castellated structure of cement-covered brick, granite & stone, 4 stories high, with 4 battlemented towers. It was designed in same style as orig. bldg. (1847-50), which Mark Twain called "a whitewashed castle, with turrets & things—materials all unguenuine within & without, pretending to be what they are not." (2) 3rd St. & Boyd Ave., Pentagon Bldgs. (1819-20), 4 identical hip-roofed structures of gray-painted brick with Doric columns supporting long galleries; used to house U.S. troops until 1877. Natchitoches (pronounced "Nak-a-tosh"), oldest settlement in La. Purchase, is now seat of Natchitoches Parish, home of Northwestern St. College, a tree-shaded town on W. bank of Cane River L. Here the old & the new, the Anglo-Saxon & Latin characteristics are pleasantly blended. Reg. was explored by La Salle in 1687 & by Sieur de Bienville & Juchereau de St. Denis in 1700. St. Denis, commissioned by Gov. Cadillac (see Detroit, Mich.) in 1713 to est. trade relations with Spaniards of Texas & Mex., posted 10 men with merchandise at Ind. village on site of present town. A detachment of soldiers came in 1715 & built a fort, of which St. Denis later became commandant. The post was often attacked by Inds. but survived. Its location at convergence of important water & land routes gave it commercial importance until, in 1832, the Red R. suddenly changed its course, leaving Natchitoches on the banks of a quiet lake, bereft of its chief artery of transportation. Town suffered greatly during the Civil War through cutting off of the cotton market. Today it depends chiefly on production, processing & transportation of cotton & its by-products.

Alexandria, seat of Rapides Parish & La.'s 5th largest city, is often called the Hub City because it is at St.'s geographic center. Both it & Pineville (see below) across the R. are modern cities, distinguished by luxuriant pks. & gardens where flowers bloom throughout the yr. Site on the Red R., known as "Les Rapides" by the Fr., was sett. during 18th cent. when a military post was est. to protect the portage. Here Acadian exiles, Fr. soldiers from Canada, Sp. officials & traders est. themselves; & after La. Purchase came Anglo-Saxon pioneers from eastern states. Town was formally laid out c.1810 by Alex. Fulton, landowner & merchant, who named it for his infant daughter. It soon became a busy shipping pt. as steamboat traffic increased, exporting lumber, cotton, sugar cane & other products. In 1819 the ambitiously named College of Rapides was opened, & in 1824 a bank. What is said to have been the 1st RR. (W) of the Miss., running 40m (S), was begun in 1837; & in 1849 a steam ferry crossed the R. to the smaller settlement of Pineville.

Alexandria, unable to offer resistance, was occupied by Gen. Banks' Fed. soldiers in spring of 1864. Balked by the rapids, the Union forces dammed the R. so that they might send their gunboats upstream, to continue their invasion of the valley. Falling back after their defeat at the Battle of Mansfield, they set fire to Alexandria, May 13, 1864; the conflagration swept almost the entire business & better residential secs. Industrial life of Alexandria, 1st based on shipping & then on large-scale lumbering, is founded today on agric. Cotton is mainstay of the surrounding country, though there is much diversified farming. The woodworking industry is important, producing among other things textile-mill spindles & hickory billets to be made into millions of skis. Fresh-water fishing is also a big business. Several St. institutions are located here.

New Orleans (founded 1718), port of the Mississippi Valley & largest city S. of Mason-Dixon Line, was a Fr. & Sp. city almost a century old when it became part of the U.S. The early town (Vieux Carré), with narrow streets & old bldgs., is preserved as a mon. to the past, while the growing city around it (3rd largest in area in U.S.) keeps pace with changing times. Orig. site of the "Crescent City" was at a sharp bend in the R., 107^m from the Gulf of Mexico. Present New Orleans, enclosed by levees, extends from Miss. R. to L. Pontchartrain—an urban oasis in a lush, semitropical reg. surrounded by swamps & low-lying delta lands. The Vieux Carré, or French Quarter, the orig. Nouvelle Orléans, lies bet. Canal St. & Esplanade Ave., & from Rampart St. to the R. Here Latin customs & culture are jealously maintained by the Creole inhabitants, descendants of French & Spanish settlers & still forming a large part of total population. The architecture shows Fr. & Sp. influence but is peculiar to New Orleans. The 2 & 3-story bldgs. are adorned by balconies with wrought- or cast-iron railings & little wooden "perrons" (stoops) jutting into the street. Through hallways & porte-cocheres appear magnificent courtyard gardens. In the heart of the Quarter is Jackson Square, the old Place d'Armes, surrounded by the Cabildo, St. Louis Cathedral, the Potalba Apts. & other hist. bldgs. The Quarter invites leisurely wandering about, browsing in antique shops, watching artists painting scenes that have been portrayed countless times, listening to the cries of peddlers of pralines, snowballs & other confections or, after dark, the sounds of gaiety from the night spots. Tree-lined Esplanade Ave., the E. boundary, was the "Promenade Publique" in the 1830's, lined with aristocratic mansions. In the "Uptown" sec., the intermixture of Anglo-Saxon & Creole makes the Latin influence less readily apparent. The Garden Dist., bet. St. Charles Ave. & the R., was settled by Amers. who arrived after 1803 & finding the Creoles antagonistic, developed a settlement of their own outside the old town's ramparts. Here the houses, set in deep gardens, are of Gr. Rev. period, with characteristic white-columned wide verandas, cast-iron railings & white doorways.

The R. front has unfailing interest. Here, on wharves extending for miles, the long-shoremen trundle cotton & coffee or tote bananas on their shoulders. Down the coffee-colored Miss., ships from every part of the world carry off the produce of the Miss. Valley.

On the N. boundary, connected with the Miss. by the Industrial Canal, is L. Pontchartrain, with a 6^m-long sea wall, a popular swimming place throughout the summer. Pontchartrain Beach is the amusement center, & the long Lake Shore Pky. is becoming a show place of the city. From this L., as from the R. & near-by waterways, comes the sea food for which New Orleans is justly celebrated.

Algiers, the 5th of New Orleans' 5 dists. (annexed in 1870), lies across R. opp. French Quarter (ferry from Canal St.). It seems more like a bayou or upriver town than part of the city, with industrial plants & small farms cramping the settled area. Most probable explanation of its name is similarity of its position in relation to New Orleans to that of Algiers in relation to France. Metairie, Jefferson Parish suburb NW. of city, is a rapidly growing residential dist.

Good food (as well as good drink) is only one of many pleasures to be enjoyed at any number of noted restaurants & night clubs, for New Orleans is a gay city, a place in which to have a good time. The gayest of good times is, of course, Mardi Gras, the bacchanalia that ushers in the Lenten season. In the weeks beforehand, a series of splendid & exclusive balls gives impetus to the growing carnival spirit, which bursts forth unrestrained when the Krewe of Babylon swings down St. Charles Ave. on the Wednesday night preceding Mardi Gras. From then until Ash Wednesday, parade follows parade, & dancing & merrymaking spread throughout the city. Cars from every state jam the streets, hotels are crowded, restaurant & night-club space is at a premium. On Mardi Gras, the whole city, attired in every conceivable costume, turns out for one of the greatest shows in America, thronging to Canal St., where dancing & buffoonery prevail until midnight.

New Orleans was founded c.1718 by Jean Baptiste le Moyne, Sieur de Bienville, who plotted the city & named it in honor of the Duc d'Orléans, Regent of France. The new settlement superseded Biloxi in 1723 as capital of the colonial empire of La., although it was then a mere outpost housing officials & soldiers, merchants, slaves & river men. To provide wives for the settlers, the French Gov., in 1728, sent out young women known as "filles à la cassette," because of the small chests of clothes & linens allotted them. They were to be chaperoned by 6 Ursuline nuns who had arrived the yr. before. Under the Marquis de Vaudreuil (1743-53), New Orleans developed a gay social life, imitating that of Versailles as reproduced for the citizens in the elegant manners & lavish entertainments of the Marquis. For a long time thereafter, New Orleans was known both as a rowdy river town & as a socially exclusive cultural center.

Following partition of La. bet. Spain & England (1763), New Orleans was made the capital of Sp. La. Its citizens received the commissioner, Antonio de Ulloa, with hostility in 1766 & after 2 yrs. of simmering revolt, rose up to demand his expulsion. New Orleans became the 1st colonial capital to rebel against European rule when, on Oct. 27-28, a mob of 400 took over the city & forced Ulloa to flee to Cuba. Independence was short-lived. On Aug. 17, 1769, Count Alex. O'Reilly arrived with 24 ships & more than 2,000 men, & the next day the flag of Spain was raised to shouts of "Viva el Rey" & the thunder of cannon.

The Great Fire of 1788 destroyed more than 800 bldgs., incl. nearly all of any importance. Hardly had the city been rebuilt, when a 2nd fire in 1794 destroyed 212 bldgs.

In 1803, New Orleans witnessed, within 20 days, the transfer of La. to 2 nations. On the day of formal transfer to France, Nov. 30, the populace, gathered in the Place d'Armes for the flag-raising, learned that the colony had been sold to the U.S. The raising of the Amer. flag 20 days later was greeted with little enthusiasm. The pop., however, increased from about 10,000 in 1803 to 24,552 in 1810. Much of the increase was due to arrival of refugees from Santo Domingo, but there was also a great influx of Amers. interested in the port's commercial possibilities. After incorporation on Feb. 17, 1805, New Orleans exercised for the 1st time the right to choose its own officials. The College of La. opened in 1811, & in 1812 the "New Orleans," 1st steamboat to descend the Miss., began making the run to Natchez. New Orleans became the capital of La. when the latter was admitted to the Union, Ap. 30, 1812.

At the close of the War of 1812 the city was belatedly attacked by a Brit. force led by Gen. Sir Edw. Pakenham. After several preliminary engagements, Gen. Andrew Jackson & his hastily organized army decisively defeated the invaders Jan. 8, 1815 in the Battle of New Orleans. The period preceding the Civil War was one of tranquil prosperity. As river trade increased, the city boomed as a cotton & slave market. By 1840 it was the 4th largest city (pop.102,912) in the U.S. & rivalling New York for 1st place among Amer. ports. A new public school system was est. in 1847, & the Univ. of La. (now Tulane Univ.) absorbed the Medical College of La., founded in 1835. Operatic & dramatic performances rivaled anything offered in America at the time; many European & Amer. artists set up studios, & society reveled at magnificent balls & receptions, horse & steamboat races, cock- & dog-fights, dueling & gambling. Only recurrent yellow fever epidemics & constant fear of flood darkened the scene.

New Orleans took an active part in the Civil War because it, more than any other city in the South, depended upon slavery & the cotton crop for its prosperity. As chief port of the Confed., it became an early Fed. objective. In Ap., 1862, it was forced to surrender when Adm. David G. Farragut, with a fleet of wooden ships & mortar schooners, crippled Forts Jackson & St. Philip on the Miss. R. below the city. Gen. Benj. F. Butler began, in May, a dictatorial rule that lasted till the war's end. From 1865 to 1877 racial & political strife dominated the city. Riots bet. whites & Negroes broke out frequently, as each sought to control the city gov. Elections resembled military campaigns. White citizens formed the Crescent White League, which defeated the police in a street battle Sept. 14, 1874 & set up its own gov. Military law was quickly est. by the Fed. Gov. & the Reconstruction regime reinstated.

In 1877 home rule was restored & slowly New Orleans rebuilt itself. Most important to a commercial renaissance was the deepening of the channel at the river's mouth, accomplished in the 1870's by Capt. Jas. B. Eads. In 1883 the city was linked by RRs. with the North & West, becoming the hub of the St. network. Canal St. had electric lights in 1882, & horsecars were supplanted by trolleys in 1892. From then on, civic enterprises—the Public Belt Ry., Inner Harbor Navigation Canal, improved docking facils., Bonnet Carré Spillway, Huey P. Long Bridge, & 3 Airports—have made New Orleans a modern metropolis. Recent developments are the Internat. House, the Internat. Trade Mart, & the Foreign Trade Zone, the country's 2nd "free port." Another Miss. R. bridge or tunnel, a new RR. terminal & a new tidewater channel are planned.

New Orleans is the country's 2nd port in value of foreign commerce & is the air hub of the Americas. It produces half the country's industrial alcohol & more than three-fourths of its washable suits for men. Burlap, cotton textiles, paper bags, fertilizer, lumber, furniture, petroleum, cottonseed & sugar products are also important.

Troops have embarked from these barracks in every major conflict engaged in by U.S. During World War II they served as hqs. for New Orleans Port of Embarkation. Just beyond is ARABI, a scattered suburb.

SIDE TRIP: From Arabi (R) on Angela Ave. & (L) on Peters St. c.1m to Amer. Sugar Refinery (O.guide), one of world's largest. On grounds is Three Oaks Plantation H. Chalmette Slip, 1.5m, is deep-water terminal with huge warehouses & special equipment for unloading copra from Philippine Is.

6.5. CHALMETTE NAT. HIST. PK., incl. 2 secs. (c.30 as.) of Chalmette Battlefields, scene of Battle of New Orleans (Jan.8,1815). Part of Amer. Line where Jackson's 5,000 volunteers threw up breastworks, is still faintly visible near Chalmette Mon. (begun 1855, completed 1908), a 110' marble obelisk (observ.). In U.S. Nat. Cemetery (1861) are graves of 14,000 Union soldiers. In Battle of New Orleans, fought more than 2 wks. after peace had been declared at Ghent, Jackson's army, incl. Choctaw Inds., Baratarians pirates & free Negroes, fought off a much larger Brit. force of Wellington's veterans led by Gen. Pakenham. 8. RUINS OF VERSAILLES (1805), plantation H. built by Pierre Denis Delaronde, who planned to found a city that would outgrow New Orleans. From the ruins extends (R) a magnificent ave. of moss-festooned live oaks, popularly known as Pakenham Oaks in erroneous supposition that Gen. Pakenham died beneath them. 9. MARKER c.100 yds. (L) designates pt. (now dry land because of shift in R.'s course) from which Amer. schooner "Carolina" poured a broadside into Brit. camp on Dec. 23, 1814. 15.5. POYDRAS. J. with St.32.

SIDE TRIP: On St.32 (L) 1.5m is St. Bernard, named for Don Bernardo de Galvez, La. Gov. during Sp. regime & later Viceroy of Mexico. Surrounding dist. was sett. by many Canary Islanders, known as Isleños, who became fishermen & trappers. Their descendants retain many Sp. customs & speak Spanish more often than English. At 5m Kenilworth (1759, 2nd story 1800), marked by wide galleries with massive brick columns. 9m J. with St.62.

On St.62 (R) 6m to De La Croix I., supply center for rich fur-producing area & one of La.'s most popular fishing & duck-hunting grounds. Inhabitants are descendants of pioneer Isleños.

13.5m on St.32, Ysloskey, a trapping, hunting & fishing center. At 16m Shell Beach (bathh. restaurant, facilities.), summer resort on L. Borgne.

III. NEW ORLEANS (W) to LAPLACE. 36.5. US51

From downtown (NW) on Tulane Ave. (US51-61-65). 10.5. KENNER, shipping center for vegetable-growing community, with several small mfg. plants. Many inhabitants are Itals. & major celebrations are in honor of St. Joseph (Mar.19) & St. Rosalie (Sept.4).

SIDE TRIPS: (A) From Kenner (R) 1m to Moisant Internat. Airport, municipally financed, owned & operated; built during World War II & named for John Bevins Moisant, a pioneer aviator killed when his plane crashed while competing in New Orleans in 1910.

(B) From Kenner (L) 5.5m on St.1 to St. Rose & at 8.5m Destréhan (toll ferry), oil company towns. Destréhan occupies site of plantation owned by Jean Noël Destréhan, wealthy merchant, planter & politician whose Doric-columned mansion is now clubh. 10m Ormond (18th cent.), a 2-story mansion with brick pillars & cypress colonnettes; flanked by 2-story wings with open galleries. 13.5m Norco, another oil company town surrounding Shell Petroleum Co. Refinery. 17m J. with US51-61-65, main tour.

33. Bridge crosses BONNET CARRÉ SPILLWAY (1935), emergency floodway. Concrete dike is equipped with 350 bays, or weirs, opened & closed by electric crane on narrow-gauge track; earthen guide levees extend 7m (N) to L. 36.5. LAPLACE. J. with US51 (see) & St.1 (see US61).

IV. NEW ORLEANS (W) to LULING. 25.5. US90

From downtown (SW) on S. Claiborne Ave., leading into Jefferson Hy. (US90).

6.5. CAMP PARAPET POWDER MAGAZINE. Near-by (L) is remnant of Confed. fortification. 7. AMER. FROG CANNING CO. PLANT, surrounded by lily-decked pond. 8. HUEY P. LONG BRIDGE, completed in 1935 at cost of $13,000,000; steel cantilever with truss spans supported by 6 caissons & 3 pile piers, 4.5m long; carrying hy. & RR. tracks. 10. J. with St.30, which unites with US90 to Luling (see below).

SIDE TRIP: On St.30 (L) c.1m to Seven Oaks (1830). At 2m Westwego (toll ferry to Walnut St., New Orleans), an industrial town with one of country's biggest shrimp-packing plants & several large alcohol mfg. units. Town was a pt. of departure during Gold Rush. 3.5m Celotex Co. Plant, where "bagasse" (see above) is utilized in bldg. materials.

25. ELLINGTON MANOR, a big white plantation H., with square columns supporting hipped roof & curving outside stairways. 25.5. LULING (accoms.), at western J. with St.30.

SIDE TRIP: From Luling (R) 3.5m on St.30 to Hahnville, seat of St. Charles Parish. At 4m is galleried Keller H. (1801) in grove of ancient pecan trees; notable handcarved woodwork. 8m Locke Breaux Live Oak, which has girth of 35'; "President" of Live Oak Soc., whose hqs. are at Lafayette (see US90). 12m Glendale Plantation H. (c.1800), cement-covered brick mansion, built with handhewn timbers & handforged hardware, flanked by "pigeonnieres." 17.5m Edgard, once known as Caire's Landing for the store owned by E. J. Caire, the red-brick bldg. with iron doors facing hy. 22.5m Evergreen Plantation H. (c.1840.Gr.Rev.), with massive columns & wide galleries. All the numerous outbuildings are of brick & Gr. Rev. in design. 23.5m Whitney Plantation H., a raised cottage with wide-pillared galleries; notable for handforged hardware & rear gallery & parlor painted in manner of Dresden china. 27m Ferry (toll) to Lutcher (see US61). 31m Site of Valcour Aime Plantation, called "The Little Versailles" during 30-yr. period of glory around 1845. Here Valcour Aime, the "Louis XIV of La.," lived like a feudal lord in mansion ornamented with rare marbles & richly furnished, standing amid magnificent gardens of exotic plants, with artificial R., L. & lagoon, a grotto & Chinese pagoda where peacocks strutted. 32m Felicity & St. Joseph Plantation H. were wedding presents to Aime's daughters. 32.5m Oak Alley (1836.Gr.Rev.fee), magnificent H. of pink-plastered brick, girdled by 28 Doric columns (8' in circumference) & approached by long double line of oaks. Upper gallery has painted cypress railing of unusual beauty.

V. NEW ORLEANS (S) to LAFITTE VILLAGE. 26.5. St.30

From downtown (SW) on S. Claiborne Ave., then (S) on Napoleon Ave. & across R. by ferry (toll). 5. MARRERO, named for family of L. H. Marrero, a prominent politician of Jefferson Parish in late 19th cent. J. with St.30, on which tour proceeds (S). 5.5. MADONNA MANOR (1932) & HOPE HAVEN INSTITUTE (1937), orphanages maintained by Assoc. Cath. Charities of New Orleans. 16. J. with shell Rd. leading straight ahead 0.5m to Crown Point on Bayou Barataria (pic. f. boats for rent).

20. LAFITTE P.O., starting pt. of major sports event of reg., the annual pirogue race (usually May) down Bayou Barataria, which parallels St.30. Pirogues are dug-outs cut from cypress logs & require skill in handling.

24.5. At S. end of high-arched wooden bridge over Bayou des Oies is LAFITTE CEMETERY where, according to fantastic local tradition, Jean Lafitte lies buried bet. John Paul Jones & Napoleon Bonaparte. Story is that Napoleon was rescued from St. Helena by Lafitte in a fast sloop, but that he died on board & was buried here in secrecy. John Paul Jones, who had joined the pirates in smuggling operations, was buried later beside him.

26.5. LAFITTE VILLAGE, site of pirate settlement & rendezvous of Lafitte & his band. Today it is home port of many commercial fishing & shrimping boats, with several private fishing & hunting clubs. The many winding bayous, bays, inlets & treacherous marshes served as excellent screen for piratical & smuggling operations of the Lafittes during early 19th cent. Their apprehension was all but impossible. Descendants of the band are among the fishermen & trappers today.

VI. NEW ORLEANS (SE) to VENICE. 72.5. St.31

Trip turns (SW) on S. Claiborne Ave., (SE) on Jackson Ave. & across Miss. R. ferry (toll). 4.5. GREINA sprawls along the R., dominated by industrial plants & shipping terminals, crisscrossed by RR. tracks. Products incl. commercial alcohol, cottonseed-oil, petroleum products, asbestos roofing, fertilizer & barrels. Town was founded early in 19th cent. by Nicholas Noel Destréhan, who settled some German immigrants on part of his land. In 1839 the St. Mary Market Ferry Co. laid out a much larger adjoining area; & a few yrs. later landowner John McDonogh est. McDonoghville a mile or so away (E). The settlements were incorporated as a town in 1913. The town came to be called Gretna, for Gretna Green in Scotland, because an early justice of the peace cheerfully performed marriage ceremonies at any hr. of the day or night. Since 1884, Gretna has been the seat of Jefferson Parish—sometimes called “Free State of Jefferson” because of its resistance to outside, & occasional inside, efforts to curb open gambling. Mem. Arch., foot of Huey P. Long Blvd., comm. the parish dead of all wars. David Crockett Fire Co. Sta. No. 1, 205 Lafayette St., houses one of nation's oldest volunteer companies still in existence (org.1841); & McDonoghville Cemetery, 500 Hancock St., once McDonogh's family burial place where, contrary to Southern custom, Caths. & Prots., whites & Negroes were buried side by side (until 1891). McDonogh Cenotaph.

SIDE TRIP: On St.2 (R) 1.5^m from Gretna to Harvey, named for Capt. Jos. Hale Harvey, who married daughter of Nicholas Noel Destréhan, owner of extensive properties incl. Destréhan Canal (built 1835.enlarged 1853), later known by Harvey's name. In 1924 the U.S. Gov. bought the canal & built (1929-33) the Harvey Locks, linking Miss. R. & Intra-coastal Waterway.

Trip cont. on Lafayette Ave. (SE) to J. with St.31, then (S) on this route. 11. BELLE-CHASSE (early 19th cent.rem.1846), former home of Judah P. Benjamin, U.S. Senator, Secy. of State & War for the Confed. 12. ALVIN CALLENDER AIR-PORT, city's oldest, now used by cargo operators & charter companies. On R. bank opp. is huge steel crane which transfers loaded freight cars to the Seatrain, an ocean-going car ferry bet. New Orleans & New York. 35.5. MAGNOLIA PLANTATION H. (c.1795), 10-room mansion built entirely by slave labor with hand-made bricks, handhewn lumber & handcarved woodwork. 43.5. PORT SULPHUR, town of Freeport Sulphur Co. employees.

SIDE TRIP: From Port Sulphur 10^m by boat (free trip on appl. to Freeport Sulphur Co., New Orleans) to L. Grande Écaille, where sulphur is mined in a tidal marsh.

57.5. BURAS, La.'s orange-producing center; also fishing & hunting center. Inhabitants are of French, Spanish, Slavonian, Dalmatian, Chinese, Filipino & Negro descent, & virtually every other family is named Buras. Settlement was named for 7 brothers of the Buras family who arrived from France in 1840. Orange groves, developed chiefly since 1920, spread for miles around. 63.5. FT. JACKSON (1815. 2nd unit 1861). The older & larger unit is bastioned, star-shaped embattlement with massive brick casemates, heavy bombproofs & surrounding moat. Fort St. Philip (1795), directly across R., figured in very important Civil War engagement in which Adm. Farragut's Fed. fleet of 24 wooden gunboats & 19 mortar schooners attempted, in defiance of best military opinion, to move upriver under fire. After 5 days & nights of bombardment, Farragut ran past the forts with 17 war vessels in 3 divisions. Confed. gunboats & rams were put into action, & a wild melee followed, in which the Feds. were victorious. The bloodless capture of New Orleans & mastery of the Miss. R. were ultimate results of the engagement. 72.5. VENICE, a village of trappers & fishermen at the end of St.31.

OHIO RIVER TOUR—KENTUCKY

KY.-OHIO LINE (at Cincinnati, O.) (SW) to KY.-MO. LINE (16^m from Charleston, Mo.). 394. US42-US60.

Via: Covington, Carrollton, Louisville, Paducah, Wickliffe.

Route runs roughly parallel to Ohio R. from Cincinnati, Ohio, to its confluence with Miss. R., near Wickliffe. At times Rd. stretches for miles in view of the R. Other times it takes shortest way rather than follow R.'s meandering.

Sec. 1: OHIO LINE to LOUISVILLE, 107. US42

US42 & US25 are united as they cross Ohio Line at 0. on N. side of Ohio R. by way of suspension bridge from Cincinnati. This bridge was completed in 1881 at cost of $1,871,000. It was 1st of America's great suspension bridges—36' wide, 2,252' long, with 100' towers. COVINGTON, 0.5., 2nd largest city in Ky., is directly across Ohio R. from Cincinnati. It was sett. about 1800 with est. of a ferry & tavern near present approach to the bridge. Covington lies on a flood plain of Ohio R. at foot of suburban hills that reach back to a high plain of the Bluegrass. City does not have skyscrapers, large motion picture houses, big dept. stores, or huge hotels, for it has geared its economic & social life to that of Cincinnati. Baker

Hunt Foundation & Williams Nat. Hist. Mus. (O.1-3 wks.; 1-6 Sun.) are at 620 Greenup St. Foundation offers after-school classes in arts & crafts for adults & children. Mus. has 20,000 insect specimens & 5,000 vols. on natural hist. Linden Grove Cemetery, Holman St. bet. 13th & 15th Sts., is one of Covington's oldest burial grounds. It contains graves of men who fought in Rev. War & all the nation's wars since. Latonia Race Track, S. end of Latonia Ave., is 2nd in Ky. only to Churchill Downs as a race course. Spring & fall racing seasons here follow those at Churchill Downs, home of Ky. Derby. Bet. Covington & FLORENCE, 9.5, US42 is united with US25 (see). 20.5. J. with gravel Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 3m to Big Bone Lick, one of nation's outstanding prehist. boneyards, now depleted of relics because of expeditions in the past 100 yrs. to gather specimens for world's great museums. A deserted hotel is only relic today of what was once fashionable watering place in period just preceding Civil War.

35.5. WARSAW, on a level terrace overlooking Ohio R., was once prominent R. port, but town today depends upon its position as a trading center & as city seat. 45. GHENT lies below rim of hills on a small plain looking down on R. 52. CARROLLTON was inc. in 1794 under name of Fort Wm., later renamed in honor of Chas. Carroll of Maryland, signer of Decl. of Ind. Rd. crosses Ky. R. at 53., near confluence with the Ohio. (W) of Carrollton, Rd. breaks away from R. & winds through high hills, close to hy. 65. St. Pk. (R), est. in 1928 (boat.swim.pic.facils.camp.), 1st St. Pk. in Ky. At 50^m is Middlesboro, trading center & largest town of SE. Ky., was named for the iron city of English Midlands. Town was built by Eng. co. that developed mineral resources, but bank failure in England later threw the co. into bankruptcy. Importance of coal in life of town is emphasized by Coal H. (O), on Cumberland Ave., office of Middlesboro C. of C., built of solid blocks of local coal. Cumberland Gap at 52^m on dividing line of Va. & Ky. to (N) & Tenn. to (S) is a trough bet. hills thickly covered with laurel & rhododendron. Through this gap many early settlers came into Ky. to travel on to the wilderness they had come to conquer. Because of its strategic importance, the gap was scene of considerable action in Civil War. In gap is J. with Skyland Hy.

On this hy. (L) 2^m to Peak of Pinnacle Mt. (2,860'). From here on clear days is a view extending 50^m. Here also are ruins of Ft. Lyon, held in turn by both Union & Confed. forces.

At 53^m US25E crosses Tenn. Line.

Cont. on US25W. 105. CORBIN, busy RR. center in level part of Cumberland Plateau, surrounded by a generally mountainous area with large tracts of timber. Coal mining is chief occupation. In 1775 when Dan. Boone cut his trace, which later became a part of the Wilderness Rd. into Ky., he turned (N) at this place. 127. WILLIAMSBURG. In surrounding area are remains of prehist. occupation. Many artifacts have been found in old Ind. town sites near-by. The Ind.'s great southern trl. passed through here. Cumberland College (coed.) was founded here in 1889 by the Baptist Ch. On Cumberland R., 300 yds. from Cth., King's Mill, used for more than 100 yrs. Its dam is a popular fishing hole. (S) of Williamsburg US25W winds near towering Jellico Mts. (R). In Jellico at 139. US25W crosses TENN. LINE.

US 31W—KENTUCKY

KY.-IND. LINE (8^m from Sellersburg, Ind.) (S) to KY.-TENN. LINE (12^m from White House, Tenn.). 150. US31W

Via: Louisville, Elizabethtown, Bowling Green, Franklin.

Taking a course through W. central Ky., US31W runs near Ohio R. for a time & then goes up Salt R. Valley. It enters the Knobs reg. where countryside is marked by small round hills streaked with ravines. Route follows general course of old Louisville-Nashville stagecoach Rd.

LEXINGTON

LEXINGTON

Through rail & bus service. Ample accommodations. Info.: Bd. of Commerce, Main & Upper Sts.; Bluegrass Auto Club, Esplanade.

Lexington, 3rd largest city in Ky., lies on a rolling plateau in heart of the Bluegrass Country. City has few industries except those connected with tobacco & horses. It was named for Battle of Lexington by Rbt. Patterson, Simon Kenton, & others who in June 1775 were camped almost opp. present Lexington Cemetery, while on their way to build a ft. near the Kentucky R. Four years later town was founded when a blockh. was put up at Main & Mill Sts. In 1782 Gen. Assembly of Va. granted it a charter.

In 1784, Gen. Jas. A. Wilkinson, friend of Geo. Washington, opened 1st general store in town. Next yr. 1st tavern was opened. In 1787 Transylvania Seminary was removed here from Danville. By 1800 schs. of medicine & law had been added to Transylvania, making it one of the most important academic centers in W. Lexington was chief industrial city in St. until about 1820, when the paddlewheeler began industrializing Ohio Valley & attracting inland industrial plants to the R. banks. The nation-wide panic of 1837 stifled Lexington business. Then, as city was getting back on its feet, North & South came to blows. Civil War, however, est. the cigarette market. Before the war men were content to chew tobacco or smoke an occasional cigar, but soldiers began "rolling their own," and thus started one of America's largest industries. World War I also boomed cigarette business. Tobacco sales & prices went so high that Lexington did not suffer much when prohibition came & closed its distilleries. After Civil War, Lexington also concentrated on breeding, raising, & training fine horses. The number of well known horse farms & famous horses they have produced provide eloquent testimony of the success of this phase of Lexington industry. Univ. of Kentucky is one of the most important sources of business in the town.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) SE. cor. Sycamore & Richmond Rds., Ashland (grounds O), home of Henry Clay (1777-1852). Present house, reconstructed in 1857, follows plan of the orig. built for Clay in 1806. SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 5m to Bryan Station. Here is mem., a stone wall, 4' high, & octagonal in shape, around the spring that supplied water to defenders of the sta. when it was besieged in 1782 by Inds. under leadership of Capt. Wm. Caldwell & renegade Simon Girty. Sweeping (W) toward Lexington, invaders, on evening of Aug. 15, 1782, secretly surrounded Bryan Sta., anticipating easy victory when they should attack the next day. A story, the authenticity of which is disputed, is that the little company found itself with not enough water to withstand a long siege, & determined to risk sending women out in early morning for a supply; they were to act as if they did not know the enemy was in the canebrake around the spring. The women got water without undue haste, & without being attacked. A rescue party from Lexington & Boone Sta. arrived after 2 days & helped drive the enemy off.

At 6.5. is C. V. Whitney Farm (see Trip VIII) 0.5m beyond is (L) Elmendorf (see Trip VIII). At 7. is GREENTREE (see Trip VIII). 18. PARIS, seat of Bourbon Cty. First court was held in May 1786 & in same yr. the combination cth. & jail was erected. Among old records are several suits against Daniel Boone, then resident of Maysfield, which then was part of Bourbon Cty. In 1790 one of St.'s earliest distilleries was erected here. Whisky made here was called Bourbon for the Cty. Later name was applied to any whisky made of corn according to the distillery's formula which produced a heavy-bodied, mellow liquor of deep amber color.

III. LEXINGTON (SW) to HARRODSBURG. 32. US68

At 2.5. is J. with Lane Allen Road leading (R) 1m to Scarlet Gate, now a stock farm but formerly home of Jas. Lane Allen (1849-1925). Allen was author of "Choir

VIII. HORSE FARM LOOP TOUR. 22.5. US60

Lexington to Lexington; Winchester Pike, Hume Rd., Bryan Sta. Pike, Johnson Rd., US27-US60 (Paris Pike), Ironworks Pike, Newtown Pike. Hard surfaced Rds. throughout. Horse farms on this route are O. to pub., but permission to visit stables must be obtained at farm offices. Visitors are required to refrain from smoking & to close all gates that they open.

E. on US60 from Zero Milestone, at cor. of Main St. & Union Sta. Viaduct on Walnut St., to Midland St.; (L) on Midland St. to 3rd St., here called Winchester Pike. Entrance to PATCHEN WILKES STOCK FARM (L) is at 3. (O.9-4 appl.). This once busy horse place is now devoted to raising of cattle & sheep. Farm was owned more than a cent. ago by Capt. Benj. Warfield, on land granted the Warfield family by Colony of Va. before Rev. It was named for the blooded sire Patchen Wilkes. Peter the Great, purchased as a 9-yr.-old stallion, with a track record of 2:07½, that stood here for more than a decade, sold at the age of 21 for $50,000. At 3.5. is entrance to HAMBURG PLACE (R), acquired 1897 by John E. Madden, & since owned & operated by his son, J. E. Madden, Jr. At Hamburg Pl. have been foaled & bred 6 Ky. Derby winners, largest number to come from any one nursery. These winners were: Plaudit (1898), Old Rosebud (1914), Sir Barton (1919), Paul Jones (1920), Zev (1923), & Flying Ebony (1925). Stables of Hamburg are now empty except in winter when polo ponies are quartered here. At 4. (R) NANCY HANKS HORSE GRAVEYARD is burial ground of dozen horses that made John E. Madden famous as a breeder. Nancy Hanks, considered one of greatest trotters that ever lived, is buried in center of plot. Stone mon., topped with a miniature statue of the mare, stands over her grave. At 4.5. is J. with Hume Rd. Main route of tour turns (L) here. On Hume Rd. (L) at 7. is J. with Bryan Sta. Pike; (R) on Bryan Sta. Pike to J. with Johnson Rd., 9.; (L) on Johnson Rd. Here is (L) LLANGOLLEN (Welsh, pronounced Thlangolthen), 10.5., whose color motif is white trimmed in black. Owned by John Hay Whitney, it is 1 of 3 Whitney farms in the Bluegrass. Johnson Rd. runs to dead end at its J., 11. with US27-US68, which is here called the Paris Pike. Hy. turns (R) on US27-US68. 11.5. C. V. WHITNEY FARM, (O. 11-4, Feb.-June, no specific hrs. at other times), has 11 barns, a 2-story frame cottage, a 2-story stone farm office, & a 1st training course. Bldgs. are painted yellow. About a mile from entrance, in a wooded area near one of the barns, is cemetery where famous horses of the farm are buried. These incl. Broomstick, Peter Pan, Whisk-broom II, Prudery, Regret, Pennant, & Equipoise.

At 11.5. is also J. with Ironworks Pike. Main tour route later turns (L) on Ironworks Pike. Meanwhile straight ahead on US27-68, 0.5^m, to Elmendorf (L) (O.8-4 wks.), owned by Jos. E. Widener. Four Corinthian columns & 2 marble lions are all that remain of the marble palace built in 1897-1900 by Jas. B. Haggin, copper magnate, for his bride. House was razed in 1929 to avoid payment of taxes on so costly a bldg. Elmendorf stables produced many fine horses, among which were sire & dam of famous Man o' War. In Elmendorf cemetery is a large bronze statue of Fair Play, which, even as an aged stallion in 1919, brought $100,000. In front of statue are graves of Fair Play & Mahubah, sire & dam of Man o' War, with huge grave-stones bearing wreaths. Adj. Elmendorf is Spendthrift Farm, owned by Leslie Combs II. Since its est. in 1937, this farm has grown both in acreage & importance as a breeding center. Farm was begun on a 121-a. strip bought from Elmendorf, & it has now grown to 550-as. A recent stud acquisition of this farm is noted Australian Bernborough, winner of 15 stakes races in succession. Farm is named for one of Elmendorf's most famous horses. Paris Pike (US27-US68) cont. (R), another 0.5^m to Greentree, a breeding farm owned by estate of late Mrs. Payne Whitney. The Whitney colors, white & black, are used on bldgs. & fences of the farm. Mrs. Whitney's Imp. St. Germans, Fr. horse, foaled in 1921, is sire of Twenty Grand, which set a record for the Ky. Derby in 1931 (2.01 4/5). St. Germans also sired

St. Brideaux, & Bold Venture, winner (1936) of Ky. Derby & the Preakness. Retracing our route back to J. of Ironworks Pike & Paris Pike, the main trip cont. on Ironworks Pike. At 13.5 is J. with George Widener Farm Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) is back entrance (L) of Dixiana Farm, one of show-places of the Bluegrass, owned by Chas. T. Fisher, manufacturer of motor car "bodies by Fisher," who acquired farm in 1929. Land was once part of 13,000-a. estate owned by Jas. B. Haggan. At 1m is J. with Russell Cave Pike; (L) on this Rd. On Russell Cave Pike opp. J. is Mt. Brilliant, home of Louis Lee Haggan built in 1792. (L) 1m from Dixiana front entrance on Russell Cave Pike to J. with Huffman Mill Pike; on Huffman Mill Pike (R) 5m to Faraway Farm (O.7:30-4:00), owned by Samuel Riddle. This was home of Man o' War, greatest thoroughbred of his day & by some authorities ranked as greatest native performer of all times in this country. War Admiral was most famous of horses sired by Man o' War, having been one of the select group to win in succession the Ky. Derby, Preakness, & the Belmont. In winning the Belmont he shaded his sire's time. Russell Cave Pike cont. southward from its J. with Huffman Mill Rd. to J. with Ironworks Pike, 2.5m.

Ironworks Pike cont. (NW) (straight ahead) from J. with Widener Farm Rd., crossing Russell Cave Pike, at 13.5, J. with the side tour to home of Man o' War. To (NW) of J. with Russell Cave Pike, the Ironworks Pike passes the entrance (R) at 15. to Castleton (1,132 as.), owned by David M. Look. This was once the estate of Castleman family & earlier was known as Cabell's Dale, home of John Breckinridge (1760-1806), sponsor of Ky. Resolutions of 1798-99, & U.S. Senator from Ky. 1801-05. Breckinridge left Senate to become Attorney Gen. of U.S. & died in office. The 2-story white brick house was built in 1806. The stables have housed many fine horses, among them Guy Castleton, Spencer, Rutherford, & Moran. Colin, foaled in 1905, was retired unbeaten after winning $181,610. At 16. on Ironworks Pike is J. with Newtown Pike.

SIDE TRIP: On Newtown Pike (R) 1m to Walnut Hall Stock Farm (L). This estate of 3,500 as., having appearance of a well kept park, is one of the world's foremost trotting-horse nurseries. The farm was est. in 1892. Near the large Col.-style, yellow brick residence stands main barn. Peter Volo, who died in 1937 at the ripe age of 25, was at stud here. In cemetery is life-size statue of the horse Guy Axworthy. Walnut Hall Farm Rd. turns (L) & reaches J. with Ironworks Pike again at 3.5m. On this Rd. (L) 4.5m to Spindle Top (R), owned by Mrs. M. F. Yount, with 826 as. of almost treeless land. Palatial residence was built in 1936. Stables house some beautiful Amer. saddle horses. Among the best have been Beau Peavine & Chief of Spindletop. Latter was one of winners of $10,000 award annually offered by Ky. St. Fair for championship form in the three- & five-gated class. Ironworks Pike reaches its J. with Newtown Pike 5m (SE) of the entrance to Spindletop, the point at which the loop to Walnut Hall Farm & Spindletop started.

Main route turns (L) from Ironworks Pike on Newtown Pike. On Newtown Pike is COLDSTREAM STUD, 18.5, bordered by limestone wall 4m long. The 1,855-a. estate is owned by C. B. Shaffer. Main barn, remodeled from a dairy, contains 32 stalls for thoroughbreds. There is a legend that Price McGrath, 1st owner, hid a fortune in walls of the barn, but search has not revealed it. Newtown Pike cont. (S) to J. with Main St. in Lexington; (L) on Main St. to Zero Milestone, 22.5.

IX. HORSE FARM LOOP TOUR. 18. US60

Lexington to Lexington. Rice Pike, Elkchester Pike, Old Frankfort Pike.

(W) on US60 from Zero Milestone (Main & Walnut Sts. at Union Sta. Viaduct) on Main St. to Jefferson St.; (L) on Jefferson St. over viaduct to W. High St.; (R) on W. High St. which becomes Versailles Pike (US60).

On US60 (R) is CALUMET FARM, 4.7. (O.9-4), orig. known as Fairland when owned by Jos. W. Bailey, Senator from Tex. Calumet Farm was home of W. M. Wright, whose fortune was made in Calumet baking powder. It is now owned by his son, Warren Wright, of Chicago. It is also home of many great horses, incl. Whirlaway, triple crown winner in 1941 & selected in public poll after Man o' War's death as greatest living thoroughbred. More recent Calumet champion is Citation, 1948 winner of Derby, Preakness, & Belmont. Whirlaway also set new record for Derby in 1941 at 2:01 1/5. The 1,000-a. Calumet Farm was purchased by the senior Wright in hope of breeding a winner of the Hambletonian, the most desired stake in the harness horse field. At 6.5. on US60, KEENELAND RACE COURSE, (R), held its inaugural meeting in 1936. This track, which supplants Lexington's century-old Assoc. Course, is considered one of fastest in America. In the 3-story clubh. are photographic murals by some of the best photographers in the Bluegrass; also offices & facilities incl. restaurant, bar, & private dining rooms. Keene-land Race Course occupies about 150 as. of old Keene Place, founded on tract of c.8,000 as. granted by Patrick Henry, then Gov. of Va., to his kinsman, Francis Keene. (W) of race course is J. with Rice Pike, 7.1.; (R) from US60 on Rice Pike to J. with Van Meter Pike. 8.7.; (L) on Van Meter Pike to J. with Elkcheste Pike, 9.9.; (R) on Elkcheste Pike to J. with the old Frankfort Pike, 11.7.; (R) on Old Frankfort Pike.

At 12.5. is white fenced acreage that was IDLE HOUR FARM, owned by late Col. E. R. Bradley. It covered 1,300 as. on both sides of Old Frankfort Pike. Miles of white fence divided farm into paddocks & pastures. Underground passageway connected the paddocks on each side of the pike. Farm had a tiny chapel, a solarium for yearlings, a large brick residence, & many barns. Col. Bradley had 4 Ky. Derby winners: Behave Yourself (1921), Bubbling Over (1926), Burgoon King (1932), & Broker's Tip (1933). It is said of Col. Bradley, who purchased the estate in 1906, that name of an employee who died in his service was never removed from the payroll as long as there was a surviving dependant. Old Frankfort Pike returns (E) into Lexington over viaduct to Jefferson St. (L) on Jefferson St. to Main St. (R) on Main St. to Zero Milestone, 18.

LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE

Through RR., bus, & air conns. Ample accoms. S.S. excursions up Ohio R. at least once daily in summer. Annual Events: Kentucky Derby, 1st or 2nd Sat. in May; Kentucky St. Fair, 2nd or 3rd week in Sept.

Louisville (Loo-i-vil) lies on a level plain that curves for 8^m along Ohio R., somewhat more than 100^m downstream from Cincinnati. Midway in the R. are Falls of the Ohio, which determined location of orig. settlement & gave it a name (Falls of the Ohio) until, as a gesture of gratitude for the aid given by Louis XVI & the Fr. nation to Amer. Rev., the name was changed to Louisville. It is largest & most important city in the St., commercially & industrially. Ohio R. played vital part in development of Louisville & surrounding country. Fr. were 1st to explore the R. During next 100 yrs. a long line of adventurers, explorers, traders, & surveyors saw the Falls of the Ohio, stopped for a time, & passed on. In 1773, after England had won the Ohio Valley from France, 1st permanent settlement was attempted at the Falls. In May 1778 young Geo. Rogers Clark, with 150 volunteer soldiers & about 20 families, came down the Ohio & camped on I. across from present site of Louisville. Island has long since been washed away by flood waters. After a summer in the N.W. Territory, Clark sent some of his men back to settlement to est. a ft. on mainland. Ft. was built during winter 1778-79 opp. Corn I. It became nucleus of settlement & hqs. of Gen. Clark until Ft. Nelson was completed in 1782. In 1781-82 Ft. Nelson was erected (N) of Main St., bet. 7th & 9th Sts., covering an a. of ground along Ohio shore.

Louisville was inc. 1828 & received its 1st city charter. Census of 1900 showed pop. of 204,731. Since 1920 city has spent millions of dollars in expansion & improvements. Downtown skyscrapers were all built after 1920, & in 1925 falls were harnessed for production of electricity. Great flood of 1937, the greatest recorded for this R., caused more than $52,000,000 damage. Louisville is a trading & mfg. center combining commerce & industry of a Northern city with a Southern city's enjoyment of living. Approximately one-fifth of nation's cigarettes are manufactured here. Old distilleries on Main St. have made city one of nation's top ranking distributing centers for whiskey.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) 435 S. 5th St., Cathedral of the Assumption (Cath.) was completed in 1852. Spire with 24' cross rises to 287'. Grayson H., 432 S. 6th St., 1st brick house built in city, was constructed some time before 1810. Outer walls are 17" thick. (3) W. Chestnut St. bet. S. 8th & S. 9th Sts., College Sq. was set aside by city in 1837 as site for a college. Medical Institute, from which Univ. of Louisville ultimately developed, opened here in 1839. (4) NW. cor. N. 7th & W. Main Sts., Ft. Nelson Mon., comm. ft. built in 1782, which extended from this pt. (W) approximately 2 blocks along what is now Main St. & (N) to R. (5) 320 W. Main St., Old Bank of Louisville Bldg., (O.9-5 wks.), now occupied by Louisville Credit Men's Assoc., was built in 1837. It is popular with artists who come to sketch stately facade. (6) N. end of N. 3rd St., Wharf & Water Front, are closely associated with hist. of Louisville. Visible (L) along water's edge is upstream end of Louisville & Portland Canal, rebuilt in 1927. Orig. canal was built by slave labor in 1830 & opened new era of inland navigation. Canal was twice rebuilt before present locks & dam were completed. U.S. Gov. Dam No. 41 floods rapids & eases a drop of 37' in R. bed. Backwaters of dam flood Corn I., orig. site of Louisville. In immediate foreground is only inland U.S. Coast Guard Sta., est. in 1881 to protect life at Falls of the Ohio. Directly across the R. is Jeffersonville, Ind., plant of Colgate Co., bearing a great illuminated clock that tells the time to the people of Louisville. Towhead I. (R), so named because, before the bldg. of the canal, it provided a harbor on the upper R. bet. it & Shippingport harbor below the falls. Goods were transported over land & boats were towed except when periods of high water permitted navigation of R. channel. (7) SW. cor. S. 4th & Walnut Sts., Seelbach Hotel has murals in the lobby depicting pioneer life in Ky. & NW. Territory. Work was completed in 1904 by Arthur Thomas.

(8) 419 S. 2nd St., Christ Ch. Cathedral (Episc.), oldest ch. in city, was built in 1822. (9) E. Jefferson St. bet. S. Brook & S. Floyd Sts., Haymarket (O. day & night throughout yr.), in the 1880's was an abandoned RR. yard where farmers congregated to sell produce. To protect their marketplace from intrusion by city bldgs., farmers formed a stock co. in 1891, which today owns & administers the property. No discrimination is made bet. near & distant producers so long as they can certify that produce offered for sale is of their own raising. (10) 200 E. Gray St., Scottish Rite Temple contains a room paneled with cedar of Lebanon. The cedar, pronounced genuine by Smithsonian Institution, was obtained from estate of Fr. officer, who had taken it from ruins of an ancient Syrian bldg. (11) 109 E. Broadway, Presb. TRIPS OUT OF LOUISVILLE

I. LOUISVILLE (SE) to BARDSTOWN. 40. US31E

At 5. is FARMINGTON H. (L), built in 1810 by John Speed, who came with his father over Wilderness Rd. from Va. to Ky. in 1782. Jas. Speed, one of sons of John Speed, was Attorney Gen. under Abr. Lincoln; & Joshua, another son, was Lincoln's intimate friend at Springfield, Ill. In 1841, Lincoln spent most of summer & fall here. MOUNT WASHINGTON, 21., was a flourishing community on the turnpike from Louisville to Nashville as early as 1800. Settlement was 1st known as "The Crossroads," then as Mount Vernon, & finally, by order of postal authorities, as Mount Washington. The 2-story Birdwell H. (R), built in 1797 of rough hewn logs, has been little altered since its construction. In vic. of SALT R., 26. US31E suddenly comes alongside a great bottom land (L) far below the hy. Ornamental stone wall by roadside forms parking place (fine view). COX'S CREEK, 32.5., was named for Col. Isaac Cox, who, with a sm. band of settlers, built a ft. here in 1775. At 37. is J. with Rd. leading (R) to entrance of Nazareth College & Academy, Cath. sch. est. in 1814. Sch. has a mus. with an extensive coll. of geological specimens. 40. BARDSTOWN. J. with US62 (see) & N. J. with US68 (see). Bardstown was inc. in 1778. In its youth it rivaled Louisville & Lexington as a center of social & educational activities. (NE) of Bardstown 0.5^m is Federal Hill (see US68). John Fitch Mon. on Cth. Square, was erected by Congress to honor man now acknowledged to have invented the steamboat. John Fitch demonstrated a boat driven by steam on Delaware R. in 1787—20 yrs. before Rbt. Fulton launched the "Clermont" on the Hudson. The public was skeptical, & after repeated rebuffs, Fitch came to live here. Later, disillusioned with reception of his invention & with his domestic affairs, he is said to have taken his own life in 1798. St. Joseph Proto-Cathedral, begun in 1819, is notable example of ch. architecture of the period. Inside are many paintings, said to have been obtained from sacked churches of Belgium & France during Napoleonic era. Among them are works ascribed to Van Dyck, Van Eyck, & Murillo.

On Tuesday, 11th Nov. last, about 12 o'clock, my station was attacked by about 40 Inds. On so sudden a surprise they were in almost every house before they were discovered. All the men belonging to the station were out save only Snyder & myself. William Snyder, Betsy, his wife, his son John, & my son Joseph were killed in Snyder's house. They also killed Ann King & her son Jas., and scalped my daughter Rebecca. I hope she will still recover. The Inds. have killed whole families about here this fall. You may hear the cries of some persons for their friends daily. The engagement commenced at my house continued for about an hour, as the neighbors say. Such a scene no man ever witnessed before. Nothing but screams & the roaring of guns, & no man to assist me for some time." During the War Bet. the States, the Confeds. called the blockh. Ft. Defiance.

Chattanooga lies near border of Ga. on sharp Moccasin Bend of Tenn. R. in valley walled by Missionary Ridge on (E), Signal Mt. on (NW) & Lookout Mt. to (SW). First white settlement at what is now Chattanooga was Ross' Landing, about 1815. Muskogean Inds. were known to occupy valley before 1540. In fall of 1838, town was laid out & Ross' Landing became Chattanooga. In 1849, Western & Atlantic RR. conn. city with S. Atlantic seaboard. On eve of Civil War, Chattanooga was town of 5,545. It soon became one of most important military centers, since Fed. strategy was to capture Chattanooga & drive wedge bet. eastern & western armies of Confed. Several bitter battles took place here & on Nov. 25, 1863, Fed. troops took city. From then to Mar., 1866, Chattanooga was Fed. military camp & base of Gen. Sherman's Atlanta campaign. Abundance of raw materials & good trans. by rail & water aided in campaign during reconstruction to attract mfg. enterprises. 1920 pop. was 57,896 & more than doubled in next decade. Influx of money during World War I, when thousands of soldiers were stationed at Chickamauga Pk. & Ft. Oglethorpe, was factor in furthering commerce & industry. Later expansion was stimulated by activities of TVA & war industries during World War II. PTS. OF INT.: (1) W. 9th St., bet. Knoxville, seat of Knox Cty., is on the Tenn. R., which is formed 4^m (E) by confluence of Holston & French Broad Rs. The city extends fanwise from the R. into the surrounding hills with the Chilhowee & Great Smoky Mts. in the background. The business dist. is crowded upon a plateau of 240 as. approached by narrow steep sts. In 1786, 25 yrs. after 1st white man traveled through the reg., Capt. Jas. White built a log cabin near the present Farragut Hotel & became the 1st white man to settle in the reg. Because the majority of E. Tennesseans were loyal to the Union in the War Bet. the Sts., a Confed. army of occupation was sent into E. Tenn. in 1861, but all Confed. troops were withdrawn from Knoxville area during Aug. 1863 to be mobilized in Chattanooga. About the same time a Fed. force under Maj. Gen. A. E. Burnside arrived at Knoxville. During Nov. 1863 a Confed. army of 15,000 men under Gen. Jas. A. Longstreet successfully besieged Knoxville till Fed. troops were reduced to rations of a cracker a day. Reports that Gen. W. T. Sherman was on the way with 25,000 men to relieve Burnside prompted Longstreet to try to capture the city quickly by direct assault. The attack against Ft. Sanders was repulsed with heavy losses, & Longstreet's army withdrew to winter quarters near Morristown. When peace came, restoration was rapid. Many Fed. soldiers returned to make Knoxville their home & est. some of the leading business houses. The city has grown consistently. Other than its industries, mainly cotton textiles, marble, & hardwood furniture, Knoxville is a farm market, especially for tobacco. The city is also the uppermost terminal of the navigable portion of the Tenn. R. & has many hqs. of TVA.

TRIPS OUT OF KNOXVILLE

Pts. of int. in vic. of Knoxville group themselves roughly into 3 distinct types: hist., scenic & modern pub. developments. Scenic attractions are largely concerned with the Great Smoky Mts. & nat. pks. & fors. Trips V, VI & VII cover such pts. Mod. pub. developments near Knoxville incl. the various major installations of TVA & the Oak Ridge Area of the Atomic Energy Commission. The Oak Ridge development is reached by following Trip IV. Major TVA dams will be found on Tours I, III, V & IX. Many hist. pts. are covered on virtually all the tours.

I. KNOXVILLE (E) to JEFFERSON CITY. 27. US70, US11E

From Knoxville, 0., take US70 to the J. with US11E at 12. Follow US11E. At 15. is J. with paved Mascot Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 3m is Mascot, with mines & reduction plant of the Amer. Zinc Co.

15. STRAWBERRY PLAINS, a trading pt. for farmers. At 21. (L) is the scene of the GREAT NEW MARKET WRECK, subject of a hill ballad. On Sept. 4, 1904, 2 crack passenger trains of the Southern RR. collided, killed 70 & injuring 150. 22. SITE OF TUCKER'S TAVERN (L), marked by chimney standing in a field. The inn was built in 1819 on the stage Rd. bet. Knoxville & Abingdon, Va. 23. NEW MARKET, sett. in 1788. 27. JEFFERSON CITY. In the center of town is Carson Newman College. SIDE TRIP: From Clinton (L) on the Oak Ridge Turnpike (St.61) 10m to Oak Ridge Area of the Atomic Energy Commission, & city of Oak Ridge. Oak Ridge Area of the Atomic Energy Commission is a 59,000-a. Gov. reservation approximately 90 sq. miles in which are situated 3 main operating units concerned with atomic energy work (2 plants for production of & research on uranium 235 & a 3rd that serves as a nuclear research center) & the community of Oak Ridge. The 3 main units at Oak Ridge are operated for the Atomic Energy Commission by the Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Corp. The Oak Ridge Area is also hqs. for the Research Project for the Application of Nuclear Energy to the Propulsion of Aircraft (the NEPA project) & the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, Inc. The NEPA project is a combined operation of 10 aviation companies & the Nat. Advisory Committee on Aeronautics working with the Fairchild Engine & Airplane Corp. as prime contractor under the AAF, a program in which the Atomic Energy Commission is co-operating. The Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, Inc., is an organization of 14 member univs. in the S. & SW., which has as its objective a program of assistance to univs. in developing strong grad. & research programs in nuclear energy & to be available to the Commission in advisory capacities. The site of the Oak Ridge Area (formerly known as the Clinton Engineer Works) was selected on Sept. 19, 1942, by representatives of the Manhattan Dist., which was est. Aug. 13, 1942. The cost of the 59,000 as. was $2,600,000 & for the operating units & the town of Oak Ridge it was approx. $1,106,393,000. Preliminary site preparation began Nov. 2, 1942, & 1st production of U-235 on mass basis was begun Jan. 27, 1944. When the site was selected in 1942 & the site preparation begun, approximately 3,000 residents were removed from about 1,000 homes in the area. The Atomic Energy Commission took over the jurisdiction of Oak Ridge Area from the Manhattan Dist. Jan. 1, 1947. The Manhattan Dist. was abolished by the Corps of Engineers of the War Dept. Aug. 15, 1947.

MEMPHIS

RR., bus & air conns. Excellent accoms. & recr. facil., baseball, swim., golf, plays, concerts. Info.: Dixie Motor Club, Hotel Peabody. Cotton Carnival, May; Mid-South Fair, Sept.

Memphis, largest city in Tenn., seat of Shelby Cty., is a metropolis for Tenn., Miss., & Ark. It is situated on the 4th or lower Chickasaw Bluff on the E. bank of the Miss. R. Now an industrial center, the city still has some of the glamour of early river days. For the first 100 yrs., hist. of Memphis was simply that of a boom town on the border line of the W. Only in the last 3 decades have restricted residential areas been laid out. The Chickasaw lived on the bluffs long before they were visited by the 1st white men in 1541, when De Soto & his gold seeking expedition stopped here. The bluff was not again visited by white men until 1673, when Joliet & Marquette stopped to trade with the Inds. La Salle followed in 1682, & built Ft. Prudhomme on the First Chickasaw Bluff, above the mouth of the Hatchie. Then Fr., Sp., & Eng. began the long struggle for control of the bluffs commanding the Miss. R. Neither intrigue nor force succeeded in winning the Chickasaw as Fr. allies. In 1763, the Fr. ceded to the Eng. the E. part of the Miss. Valley incl. the site of Memphis.

During the next 2 decades the Sp. influence grew strong among the Chickasaw. The Sp. planned to use the Chickasaw as a buffer against the growing Cumberland Settlement in Middle Tenn. In 1782 Gen. Jas. Robertson led a force to the bluff & est. a depot where the Chickasaw could be given supplies to offset Sp. bribes. John Overton, temporary agent for Ind. affairs, est. a trading post at the bluff in 1794. As late as 1795 Gayoso, Sp. Gov. of La., led troops to the bluffs to prevent the Cumberland settlers from building fts. A detachment of U.S. army forced their withdrawal. The bluff remained in Chickasaw control until 1818, when the western territory was ceded to the U.S. In 1783-86, N.C. granted John Rice & John Ramsey 5,000 as. on the site of Memphis; the grant was later sold to John Overton & Andrew Jackson. Immediately after the Ind. treaty (1818), they laid out the town. It was inc. Dec. 9, 1826, after Jackson had sold his claims.

With outbreak of the War Bet. the States in 1861, Memphis became a Confed. military center under Gen. Leonidas Polk. Early in 1862 Memphis became the temporary St. Capitol because Nashville lay unprotected before the advancing Feds. On June 6, 1862, the city was seized by Fed. forces under Commodore C. H. Davis. It remained in Fed. control until after the war, though there was a brief & spectacular Confed. raid led by Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest in Aug. 1864. The 1st RR. bridge across the Miss. R., (S) of St. Louis, was built at Memphis in 1892, followed by the Harahan Bridge in 1909. The bridges brought increased traffic with the SW., & Memphis became the greatest inland cotton market & hardwood lumber center in the world. The port of Memphis exports merchandise valued at $250,000,000 annually, & the value of imports is only slightly less. More than 100,000 visitors come in May to see the parades, street dancing, fireworks and lavish balls of the annual Cotton Carnival. As much a part of the city as the cotton market or the City Hall, is E. H. Crump, nationally known political leader & the head of the Shelby Cty. political organization, formerly a dominant influence in the political affairs of the St.

NASHVILLE

RR., bus & air conns. Info.: C. of C., 315 4th Ave., N.; A.A.A., Hermitage Hotel, 6th & Union Sts. Excellent accoms. & recr. facils.; swim., golf, baseball, community playhouse & civic symphony. Iris Festival, Ap.; State Fair, Sept.; Horse Show, Sept.; Iroquois Mem. Steeplechase, May.

Nashville is the capital, 2nd largest city in Tenn. & seat of Davidson Cty. It is situated on both banks of the Cumberland R. in a bowl-like valley formed by a ring of wooded hills. The capstone of the city is the St. Capitol atop a high hill overlooking Victory Pk. Although an industrial city, Nashville generally retains the easy-going quality of the Old S. Nashville's 1st permanent residents were a party led by Jas. Robertson who sett. in 1779 near French Lick, now Sulphur Dell baseball pk. About a yr. later other settlers, their women & children, arrived by river boat. They est. 7 forts, called stations, along the Cumberland, with a pop. of c.300. The French Lick Sta. was named Ft. Nashborough in honor of Rev. War veteran Gen. Francis Nash. In 1784, legislature of N.C. set aside as a municipality a 250-a. tract on the W. side of the Cumberland R., incl. Ft. Nashborough. It was named Nashville because of prejudice against the English sounding Nashborough. By 1790 the town was a trade & mfg. center with mills, foundries, & smithies. The town was chartered as a city in 1806 with a mayor & six aldermen. Nashville became capital of the St., Oct. 6, 1843.

The steamboat brought river trade in 1818. The Nashville, Chattanooga, & St. Louis RR. was completed in 1854. During the War Bet. the States, most able-bodied men enlisted in the Confed. Army, & their families left behind suffered great privation. The city was surrendered to Feds. in Feb., 1862. Andrew Johnson, then U.S. Senator, was appointed military gov. of Tenn. in Mar., 1862, & city was placed under martial law. When Gen. Thos. Hood succeeded Gen. Jos. E. Johnston as commander of the Confed. Army facing Gen. Sherman in Ga. in 1864, he was ordered to move northward into Tenn. & to capture Nashville & thus cut Sherman's supply line. Hood encountered Fed. forces under Gen. John Schofield at Franklin & forced him to retreat to Nashville. Then in the Battle of Nashville, Dec. 15 & 16, the Confed. line collapsed badly under Fed. might, & a general retreat began. Hood's Army, completely demoralized & depleted, was virtually destroyed as an effective fighting unit. Nashville, as st. capital, was seat of the Unionist st. gov., & political corruption thrived in the city gov. dominated by carpetbaggers. Not until 1875-76, when a great business boom began, did Nashville begin to regain lost ground. On May 1, 1897, Pres. McKinley officially opened the Centennial Exposition celebrating Tenn.'s 100th anniversary as a St. There has been extensive expansion, industrial, commercial & residential, during & after World War II.

US 70—ARKANSAS

ARK.-TENN. LINE (across Miss. R. from Memphis, Tenn.) (SW) to ARK.-OKLA. LINE (73^m from Hugo, Okla.). 297. US70

Via: Forrest City, Brinkley, Little Rock, Hot Springs Nat. Pk. & De Queen. RRs. parallel route from Ark.-Tenn. Line to Hot Springs Nat. Pk. Accom.: In larger towns, many tourist camps.

One of Ark.'s most heavily travelled routes, US70 cuts through middle of St., passing through cotton country W. of Miss., climbing wooded hills of Crowley Ridge, & descending to level farmlands of Ark. R. Valley & Little Rock, where it turns (SW) through rugged country, traversing pasture, orchard, & timberlands, whose hills are rich in bauxite, cinnabar, clay & other mineral products.

Sec. 1: ARK.-TENN. LINE to LITTLE ROCK. 136.

0. US70 crosses ARK.-TENN. LINE on Harahan Bridge over Miss. 1.5. J. with private Rd., leading (L) 0.5^m to Corps of Engineers Dist. Office & Maintenance & Repair Depot, hqs. for War Dept.'s flood control work & channel & harbor maintenance in 27,000 sq. mile area incl. Miss. R. & tributaries. Facils. incl. 500-ton floating drydock, 1,800-ton marine ways & various shops & warehouses. In W. MEMPHIS 6. cafés & stores, garages, serv. stas. & tourist courts stretch for more than 3^m along hy. Behind neon signs & modern facades are town's varied industrial plants. Founded about 1910, W. Memphis was known as Bragg's Spur until 1927. Its pop. almost quadrupled in 1930's & more than doubled in the 1940's. In W. Memphis is J. with US61 (see). 12.5. J. with US79.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) 20^m to Hughes, started in 1913 with advent of Iron Mt. (now Mo. Pac.) RR., in reg. where cotton fields stretch to horizon & cotton gins rise by RR. tracks every few miles. 42^m Marianna, named for an early settler's wife, is cotton town atop Crowley's Ridge.

(L) From Marianna on St.1 to J. with St.20, 15^m, & (L) here to W. Helena, 23^m, founded in 1909, an industrial town built around several large mills which produce boxes & crates, wood parts for automobiles, & veneer hoops. 26.5^m Helena, locally promoted as "Arkansas' Only Seaport," is only Ark. city to which Miss. R. is still important as traffic artery. Hemmed bet. Crowley's Ridge on W. & levee on E., it has what Mark Twain called "one of the prettiest situations on the Miss." Helena, named about 1820 for an early settler's daughter, in antebellum days was center of culture on Delta, lively with R. commerce. Of strategic value during Civil War, it was occupied by Feds. in 1862 & vainly attacked by Confeds. in 1863. Processing of timber & cotton is Helena's chief occupation today. Phillips Cty. Mus., Pecan & Perry Sts., has Ind. & pre-Columbian relics, pioneer & war mementoes & documents, & art gallery.

76^m Clarendon at confluence of Cache & White Rs., whose post office was est. in 1819, is an old R. town still supported by R. traffic & products. Latter incl., besides fish, pearl buttons made from mussel shells. US79 now enters Grand Prairie, vast level tract, cultivated for more than a cent., where rice supplanted cotton as staple crop soon after Wm. H. Fuller produced Ark.'s 1st successful stand in 1904. 98.5^m Stuttgart, "rice capital" of Ark., is town of clean bldgs., wide sts. & busy stores, in which most local industry centers around rice—mills, elevators, pump & storage-tank works, well-drilling companies, implement houses & machine shops.

From Stuttgart take St.30 (L) 27^m to De Witt, rice-milling & cotton-ginning center & shipping pt. for timber & livestock.

(1) Take St.1 (L) from De Witt to White R. commercial fishing center, St. Charles, 16^m, & St.17 (R) from St. Charles to hqs. of White R. Nat. Wildlife Refuge 16.5^m (camp.f.no hunt.), sanctuary for wild ducks & geese of 117,000 as. extending 65^m along White R.

(2) Take St.1 (R) from De Witt to Gillett, 14^m, rice & lumber-milling center. At 20^m is J. with St.169, (L) on which is Arkansas Post at 23^m, Ark.'s oldest white settlement & 1st capital. Here in 1686 Henri de Tonti placed garrison of Fr. soldiers. John Law, whose La. colonization scheme came to be known as "Miss. Bubble," chose post as seat of his intended duchy; he sent 500 Negroes here in 1717 & 800 white settlers, mostly Alsatians, in following yr. When "Miss. Bubble" burst in 1720, most of colonists, half-starved, abandoned settlement; only handful remained, living in cabins around ft. stockade. When Sp. acquired La. in 1763, they took possession of Ark. Post but failed to carry out plans for strengthening it. Post was occupied by Amer. troops in 1804 after Napoleon sold territory to U.S. Ark.'s Amer. settlers, however, passed it by, pushing up Arkansas R. to higher land; & although P.O. was est. in 1817 & newspaper in 1819, territorial capital, est. here in latter yr., was removed 2 yrs. later to Little Rock. Steamboat commerce on R. later turned Ark. Post into thriving port, with peak pop. of 3,000. Fortified by Confeds. in Civil War, it was attacked Jan. 10, 1863 & captured after 2-day battle by 30,000 Feds. under Gen. John A. McClelland. But after war, as R. commerce dwindled, Ark. Post lost its pop. Adj. town is Ark. Post St. Pl. (swim. cabins), created in 1930, 62-a. grove surrounding L. that covers Conf. trenches; only remnants of the past are handmade brick cistern & well probably dug by 18th cent. Sp. garrison.

SW. of Stuttgart, US79 cont. through rice & cotton fields to J. with US65 (see) at Pine Bluff, 140^m (see US65).

20. BLACK FISH L. has reputation for its fishing. 43.5. FORREST CITY, on W. slope of Crowley's Ridge, is surrounded by peach-growing dist. It grew out of RR. construction camp & was named for Confed. Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest who had contracted to put RR. through Ridge. 68. BRINKLEY, cotton, rice & lumber center, began as RR. camp during construction of Memphis & Little Rock RR., whose 1st train arrived here in 1871; it was named for RR. pres. R. C. Brinkley.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.17 (R) from Brinkley to Cotton Plant 11.5^m, laid out in 1840 by cotton planter Wm. D. Lynch. Near-by occurred on July 7, 1862, Battle of the Cache (sometimes called Battle of Cotton Plant), in which Gen. Sam. R. Curtis' invading Feds. forced Gen. Albert Rust's Confeds. to retreat W. across Cache R.

111.5. LONOKE, named for a solitary oak that stood here in pioneer days, at J. with Rds. from rice fields to (E), strawberry patches to (N), & cotton plantations to (W & S) is shipping pt. for all three crops. It was home of Jos. T. Robinson, U.S. Senator, known to all Arkansans as "Joe T." At 113.5. is ARK. ST. FISH HATCHERY, which stocks waters of every cty. with at least 1 truckload of fish annually.

134.5. NORTH LITTLE ROCK, spreading along N. bank of Ark. R., is an industrial community marked by factories, oil tanks & water towers, whose large Mo. Pac. RR. repair shops serve as financial backlog. Town was laid out here in 1839, year after steam ferry began crossing R. here, by U.S. Army officer who named it De Cantillon for himself; but his venture was unsuccessful, probably because cypress bog covered much of the town site. Slowly settled, place came to be known as Huntersville, for good hunting in the vic., & later as Argenta, for hotel by that name built by Frenchman at ferry landing. In 1872 Cairo & Fulton RR. est. its north-shore terminal, & in 1873, RR. & vehicular bridge was built, named Baring Cross Bridge for Alex. Baring, English banker who invested funds in its construction. Around RR. shops built near bridgehead, grew up village of Baring Cross, later joined to Argenta. In 1890 Little Rock annexed part of Argenta, designating it as 8th Ward, which came to be known as N. Little Rock; but by legislative action, Argenta recovered its lost territory in 1903, & in 1917 officially adopted new name, N. Little Rock. 3^m long Seawall along Arkansas R. was built in 1936 under supervision of U.S. Engineers to protect city from floods. Mo. Pac. RR. Shops, 8th St. & Pike Ave., covering 160 as., form N. Little Rock's most important industry. Other industrial establishments incl. Greater Little Rock Stockyards, 200 E. 11th St., opened in 1938 & Temple Cotton Oil Mill, 9th & Maple Sts., opened in 1880, 1st of its kind in city. N. Little Rock is at Js. with US65 (see) & US67 (see).

136. LITTLE ROCK

Through RR., bus & plane conns. Info.: C. of C., 231 Louisiana St. Accom.: Numerous hotels & tourist camps. Swim. at Y.M.C.A., 6th St., & Broadway. Ark. Livestock Show & Rodeo (N. Little Rock), Oct.

Capital & leading city of Ark., Little Rock lies on S. bank of Ark. R., conn. by 5 bridges with N. Little Rock at pt. near center of St. Chromium-trimmed store fronts, air-conditioned bldgs. & sleek buses give city modern metropolitan aspect, but it still stays close to earth, its residential dists. luxuriant with hedges, trees & flowers; air is clear & smokeless, lawns are green yr. round & mockingbirds can be heard on downtown sts. Main St., chief commercial artery, running N. & S., is lined with brick bldgs. with modern store fronts. To W., Capitol Ave. leads to Capitol, rising from elevation at foot of hilly Pulaski Heights, one of newer residential sections, with curved drives, terraced lawns, hedges & evergreens. W. 9th St. is Little Rock's Harlem, business & amusement center for its Negro residents. Chief industrial dist., site of woodworking & furniture plants, cottonseed oil factories, flour & feed & chemical works & other industrial establishments, extends along R. from E. Markham St., chief commercial artery during steamboat era.

City derives its name from moss-grown rock jutting out from Ark. R.'s S. bank. It was this pt. that Bénard de la Harpe on an expedition from New Orleans in 1722 called "Little Rock" to distinguish it from huge sandstone bluff up-river on N. bank which came to be known as "Big Rock." White settlers found the former rock at crossing of 2 main avenues of travel, Arkansas R. & Great Southwest Trail, & marked ford across R. Here in 1812, Wm. Lewis built rough clapboard hut & took up claim to surrounding land, which in 1819 he sold to Wm. Russell, land speculator from St. Louis. Russell laid out in 1820 town site which he named Arkopolis, only to face competition from rival claimants, Jas. Bryan & Wm. O'Hara, who laid out town of their own on same site; rivalry was resolved only by court decision favoring Russell's claim in June, 1821. In same month new town became 2nd capital of Arkansas Terr. & was named Little Rock. Dense forest gave way to sts., market places, & cultivated fields; but for some years Little Rock remained boisterous frontier village. Steamboat traffic on upper Ark. R. began with visit of "Eagle" on March 16, 1822; in June, 1838 1st steam ferry across R. went into service. By mid-century, wharf at foot of Commerce St. was scene of lively traffic, as steamboats took on bales of cotton grown on rich R. bottomlands. Little Rock's pop. was still in 1850, however, only 2,167. City in 1863 became hqs. for Gen. Frederick Steele's Northern invaders, when Gen. Sterling Price's Confeds. retreated to Arkadelphia, having set fire to 8 gunboats; capital had already been removed to Washington, Hempstead Cty. Postwar recovery was slow, marked by political chaos culminating in "Brooks-Baxter War" of 1874, when armed forces of rival claimants for the governorship faced each other across Main St.

Last 3 decades of 19th cent. brought rapid development of commerce & industry. Mule-drawn cars appeared on Little Rock's streets in 1876 (& electric trolleys in 1888); telephones were installed in 1879, waterworks system in 1884, & electric street lights in 1888. Expansion of RRs. in St. during 1880's brought an upsurge in city's pop. from 13,138 in 1880 to 25,874 in 1890. Suburban real estate developments were opened as Little Rock entered automobile age in 20th century. World War I brought boom times as near-by Camp Pike (which during World War II was renamed Camp Jos. T. Robinson) was built to train soldiers. Throughout 1920's, bldg. boom continued, giving Little Rock new gov. & office bldgs., hotels & schs. Today Little Rock divides its interests among industry, commerce & gov.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) Outstanding among Little Rock's historic landmarks is War Mem. Bldg., Markham St. facing Center St., generally considered Ark.'s most beautiful bldg. & one of South's best examples of Gr. Rev. architecture. Construction began in 1833, following plans drawn by designer of Kentucky Stateh., Gideon Shryock; for three-quarters of century it served as St. Capitol. (2) 3rd & Cumberland Sts., Old Henderliter Place (rest.1939), boarded-over log structure, was meeting place of last territorial legislature in Oct. 1835. Among Little Rock's most imposing ante bellum residences are (3) Albert Pike H. (1840), 411 E. 7th St., pillared 2-story brick mansion in park-like setting, former home of Albert Pike, explorer, attorney & author; (4) Trapnall Hall (1843), 423 E. Capitol Ave., red-brick mansion with pillared portico & vine-hung shutters; & (5) St. Andrew's Sch. (1840), white plastered brick Georgian mansion now occupied by Cath. parochial sch. (6) Wood Lane facing Capitol Ave., Ark. St. Capitol (1899-1916), set on knoll & framed by wide landscaped grounds, has long wings extending from a classic portico & tall dome encircled by Ionic columns (Cass Gilbert, architect). From marble-finished rotunda,

N. wing leads to Gov.'s reception room, S. wing to supreme court & its library, stairways to chambers of Senate & House of Representatives. On 3rd floor is Ark. St. Hist. Mus., displaying aboriginal pottery, pioneer relics, portraits, & battle flags. Little Rock's public bldgs. incl.: (7) Little Rock City Hall, Markham St. & Broadway; (8) Pulaski County Cth., Markham & Spring Sts.; (9) Fed. Bldg., W. Capitol Ave. & Arch St.; (10) Pub. Lib. (1910), 700 Louisiana St.; (11) Jos. Taylor Robinson Mem. Auditorium (1940), Markham St. & Broadway. (12) W. Markham & Van Buren Sts., Fair Pk., Little Rock's largest, covering 200 as., has zoo. (13) E. 9th & Commerce Sts., adj. 36-a. MacArthur Pk., on land which was U.S. Army post from 1836 to 1893, are: (14) Ark. Mus. of Natural Hist. & Antiquities, occupying Old Arsenal, only remaining post bldg. (rest.1940), & (15) Little Rock Mus. of Fine Arts (1937), housing St.'s most important coll. of paintings & art objects. City's educational institutions incl. (16) Ark. Sch. for the Deaf, Markham St. & Park Ave., adj. (17) Ark. Sch. for the Blind; (18) St. Mary's Academy, 3224 Kavanaugh Blvd., girls' school & (19) St. John's Seminary, foot of N. Taylor St., training school for priesthood, both Cath.; (20) Univ. of Ark. Sch. of Medicine, 12th & McAlmont Sts.; & (21) Philander Smith College, 11th & Izard Sts., Meth. Negro college. Among more notable churches are (22) St. Andrew's Cathedral (Cath.1882), 7th & Louisiana Sts.; (23) Temple B'nai Israel (1896), Capitol Ave. & Broadway; (24) Immanuel Baptist Ch. (1929), 14th St. & Park Ave.; (25) Trinity Cathedral (Episc.1884-88), 17th & Spring Sts.; & (26) First Presb. Ch. (1920), 8th & Scott Sts.

Sec. 2: LITTLE ROCK to ARK.-OKLA. LINE. 161.

8.5. Cedar-shaded, 2-story brick Stagecoach H. (1836), designed by Gideon Shryock, architect of Little Rock's Old Capitol (War Mem. Bldg.), was stopping pt. on old Southwest Trail. 17. J. with St.183.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) to Bauxite, 6m, largely owned by Alcoa Mining Co. & inhabited chiefly by its employes. Alumina Plant here, built for U.S. Gov. beginning in 1941, is largest of kind in country. Few minutes' drive in any direction leads to one of mines which yield large proportion of bauxite dug in U.S. Ore is used to make aluminum, abrasives, & aluminum chemicals. Deposits were discovered in 1887 & have been mined since 1896.

23.5. BENTON, on site subdivided in 1836, is timber-processing & pottery-making center. In Benton is western J. with US67. 58.5. HOT SPRINGS NAT. PK., Ark.'s 3rd largest city & best-known resort, is wedged bet. 3 forested hills of Ouachita Mts. From Central Ave. chief business thoroughfare, curving through an almost gorge-like valley, streets dart at odd angles, up canyons & hillsides. Bathhouse Row, series of elaborate stone, brick & terra cotta bldgs. set among magnolias, elms & hedges, is site of unceasing procession of vacationers. Restaurants & hotels, refreshment stands, curio shops & shooting galleries, an alligator & an ostrich farm, & race-track all compete for tourist business. City is commercial center of wide area as well, with department stores, used-car lots, woodworking plants & other commercial & industrial establishments. Behind Bathhouse Row is Hot Springs Mt., from depths of which rise 47 springs yielding daily flow of c.1,000,000 gallons with constant temp. of c.143 degrees, delivered from central reservoirs through insulated conduits to bathhouses. Of various theories advanced to account for presence of springs, most favored is meteoric theory, which supposes that rain water sinking underground is heated by mass of hot rock.

Probably 1st white men to visit springs were De Soto & his followers, believed to have explored reg. in 1541. Wm. Dunbar & Dr. George Hunter reached springs in Dec. 1804 & found log cabin & several board huts erected by early white visitors. In 1807 came 1st permanent settlers, in 1820 Joseph Millard opened hotel in dog-trot cabin, & in 1830 Asa Thompson built 1st bathhouses. U.S. Gov. set aside 4 sections of land around springs as reserv. in 1832. Accoms. remained primitive until after completion in 1875 of "Diamond Jo" narrow-gauge RR. from Malvern built by Chicago capitalist "Diamond Jo" Reynolds & passage by Congress in 1877 of act separating Hot Springs Reserv. from town & opening part of reserved territory to private development. By 1882, 10 bathhouses were in operation, & during same year Congress established Army & Navy Gen. Hospital. Fire levelled 50 blocks of stores & residences in 1913, but city was soon rebuilt. In 1921 Hot Springs Reserv. became Hot Springs Nat. Pk.; since that time, Rds., trls. & pic. grounds have been laid out in overhanging mts.

PTS. OF INT.: Of 8 bathhs. along magnolia-bordered Bathhouse Row on Central Ave., (1) Quapaw Bathh. is known for its grotto, where hot spring flows at rate of 180,000 gallons daily, & (2) Fordyce Bathh. for its top-floor Mus. containing coll. of Ind. artifacts. (3) Display Hot Spring, approached by promenade bet. Fordyce & Maurice Bathhs., gives an impression of flow of waters as they probably appeared to early visitors before they were enclosed & sealed. (4) Towering above city from SW. tip of Hot Springs Mt. is Army & Navy Gen. Hospital (1941), its two 5-story wings forming V which converges on 7-story central portion with 10-story tower. (5) Central Ave. & Oaklawn Blvd., Oaklawn Jockey Club has glass-enclosed, steam-heated grandstand facing 1^m track; it is scene of annual 30-day racing meets in spring. (6) Hot Springs Nat. Pk. covers more than 1,000 as. ranging over Hot Springs, North, West, Sugar Loaf, & Ind. Mts. around city. Pk. Adm. Bldg., Reserve & Central Aves., contains mus. with exhibits illustrating natural & ethnological history of reg. Trls., bridle paths & automobile Rds. lead to clearings overlooking city below. At summit of Hot Springs Mt. is 165' steel Observ. Tower, reached by elevator, which commands fine view.

SIDE TRIP: Take US270 (L) from Hot Springs 3.6^m to J. with gravel Rd.

(R) on this 2.5^m to Carpenter Hydroelectric Dam on Ouachita R., whose turbines have capacity of 80,000 H.P.

At 13^m is J. with dirt Rd.

(R) on this 3^m to Rummel Hydroelectric Dam, which forms L. Catherine. L. Catherine St. Pk., 2,048-a. tract of rolling woodland along L.'s W. shore, is popular among fishermen; Rds. & trls. run through pine forest.

Magnet Cove, 14^m, valley among low hills, which may be ancient volcano crater or prehist. L. basin, comprises one of country's most remarkable assortments of minerals; geologists have counted 42 kinds, incl. lodestone, barite & titanium. 22.5^m Malvern (see US67) is at J. with US67 (see).

From Hot Springs, US70 curves past tourist camps & roadside restaurants to (W) J. at 60. with US270.

SIDE TRIP: Take US270 (R) across Ouachita R., 6^m, into Ouachita Mts. At 12.5^m is E. boundary of Ouachita Nat. Forest, created in 1907, tract of more than 1,300,000 as. extending (W) into Okla. where shortleaf pine predominates. At 18^m is Charlton Pic. Area. Mt. Ida, 36^m, grew up around general store opened here in 1836 by Granville Whittington; its livestock yards handle cattle from surrounding mt. pastures.

(L) from Mt. Ida on St.27 is lumber town of Norman, 9^m, on Caddo R. at J. with St.8. (R) on St.8 to J. at 18^m with gravel Rd. & (L) on this to Camp Albert Pike, 35^m, tree-shaded camping area (f.swim.) where Little Mo. R. cascades over boulders into clear pools, named for Albert Pike, explorer, newspaperman, poet, Confed. general & authority on Freemasonry, who retired here in 1862 after resigning his military command with the Confed. & built house at this wild & beautiful spot.

US270 cont. to J. at 47^m with gravel St.88.

(L) on this is Pine Ridge, 12^m, which was a backwoods village named Waters until radio comedians Lum & Abner (who had vacationed here as boys), using its inhabitants & background for a hillbilly program, made it so self-conscious that it even adopted their new name for it at elaborate ceremonies held on steps of St. Capitol in Little Rock & broadcast over national hook-up. St.88 cont. (W) to J. with US71 (see) at 31^m.

From Mt. Ida US270 cont. (W) through sparsely settled Ouachita Nat. Forest to its J. with US71 (see) at 71^m.

US70 bridges 9,000-a. L. Hamilton, created by Carpenter Dam (see above) on Ouachita R. in 1931. Its shores are dotted by cabins, lodges & boat landings. 99. KIRBY, at J. with St.27.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.27 (L) to Murfreesboro, 15^m, whose products incl. peaches, grown in vast orchards extending (S), & cinnabar, ruby-red ore from which mercury is produced.

(L) from Murfreesboro on dirt Rd. at 3.5^m is closed Diamond Mine, only one ever discovered & exploited in U.S., on site where in 1906 farmer John M. Huddleston picked up 2 diamonds. Mine operated bet. 1908 & 1925; although a few valuable stones were found, most were small & imperfect.

29.5^m Nashville is brisk, modern little city, center of reg. in which modern farming methods & diversification of crops are practiced.

US70 now cuts through pine-forested country whose widely scattered farmers live almost completely self-sufficient lives. 127. DIERKS has sch., row of stores, & cluster of hip-roofed company houses surrounding loading shed & noisy main plant of huge Dierks Lumber & Coal Co. Mill, whose specialty is pine vegetable crates. At 143, is (E) J. with US71 (see), with which US70 unites (W) to DE QUEEN, 152. (see US71). 161. ARK-OKLA. LINE.

US 61—ARKANSAS

ARK.-MO. LINE (22^m from Hayti, Mo.) (S) to ARK.-TENN. LINE (adj. Memphis, Tenn.). 78. US61

Via: Blytheville, Osceola & W. Memphis. RR. parallels route. Accomms.: Limited, except in larger towns.

US61, paralleling Miss. R., traverses rich black-loamed cotton country.

0. ARK.-MO. LINE. 6. BLYTHEVILLE, cotton growers' center with gin, compress & cotton oil mill, cannery & garment factory, was named for Rev. Henry T. Blythe, who sett. here in 1853. Cotton gin was est. here in 1888, & village slowly grew up. Thick stands of timber in vic. attracted RRs. & lumber companies after 1900. Drainage of land stimulated cotton-growing; & when World War I raised prices, cotton became boom crop. 24. OSCEOLA, on site of Ind. village, dates back to 1830's. 35. WILSON is cotton town, creation of cotton magnate Robert E. Lee Wilson; plantations owned by co. bearing his name stretch for miles (S). 72. WEST MEMPHIS (see US70), is at J. with US70 (see), with which US61 unites (E) to ARK.-TENN. LINE, 78.

ARK.-MO. LINE (74^m from Springfield, Mo.) (S) to ARK.-LA. LINE (44.5^m from Tallulah, La.). 327. US65

Via: Harrison, Conway, Little Rock, Pine Bluff & McGehee. RRs. parallel parts of route. Accomms.: Only in larger towns.

US65 curves (SE) through rolling, wooded Ozarks to Ark. R. Valley & Little Rock, then follows cotton-growing Ark. R. Valley (SE) to Miss. R.

Sec. 1: ARK.-MO. LINE to LITTLE ROCK. 167.

0. ARK.-MO. LINE. 24.5. HARRISON, metropolis of N. Ozarks, in valley of Crooked Cr., is shipping pt. for red cedar & hardwood; it has cheese factory, flour mill & grain elevator, & produce houses for poultry & eggs. Inc. in 1876, it grew rapidly after turn of cent., when Mo. & N. Ark. Ry. made it hqs. for its offices & shops.

SIDE TRIP: St.7 (R) from Harrison to J. with gravel Rd., 20.5^m, & (R) on this to Diamond Cave (guides.fee) at 24.5^m, discovered in 1832; explorers have penetrated it 21^m without reaching end. Cave is noted for its stalactites & stalagmites.

29.5. J. with US62.

SIDE TRIP: Take US62 (L) to Yellville 25.5^m, named for Col. Archibald Yell, romantic figure in early Ark. politics.

(L) from Yellville on St.14 is Buffalo R. St. Pk. 17^m, 1,735-a. woodland tract overlooking Buffalo R. from sheer cliffs.

53^m Mountain Home, seat & largest town of Baxter Cty. on high plateau bet. North Fork & White Rs., is outfitting pt. for vacation trips.

US62 cont. (E) across rolling, thinly sett. Ozark back country to Pocahontas, 158^m (see US67), at J. with US67 (see).

US65 cont. (SE), passing through several small mt. towns, among them WESTERN GROVE at 38.5, & ST. JOE at 50.5. Store bldgs. of MARSHALL at 66, have tin marquees, small windows & narrow double doors that indicate an old Ozark settlement. 74. LESLIE, whose surrounding hills were once covered with stands of white oak, grew up around mills turning out barrel staves & heads. 94.5. CLINTON, seat of Van Buren Cty., has quietly grown up around Cth. Sq. US65 glides down from Ozarks into cotton-growing country, to J. at 133, with US64 (see US71). 135. CONWAY, founded in 1871, was named for pioneer family which had 7 sons, 1 of whom became Terr. Delegate to Congress & 2 others, Govs. of Ark. It has shoe factory, bus-body works, several plants for processing agric. products. Bruce St. & Donaghey Ave., Ark. St. Teachers' College, 4-yr. coed. institution. 1400 Front St.

Hendrix College whose history goes back to 1876. 162. J. with St.176, leading (L) 3^m to Camp Jos. T. Robinson, military reserv. est. during World War I as Camp Pike, which housed in 1918 as many as 100,000 men. Reopened in 1940 to accommodate World War II soldiers, it was enlarged in area & hundreds of new barracks were erected. 165.5. NORTH LITTLE ROCK (see US70) is at Js. with US70 (see) & US67(see). 167. LITTLE ROCK (see US70).

Sec. 2: LITTLE ROCK to ARK.-LA. LINE. 160.

44.5. PINE BLUFF lies at edge of far-reaching cotton fields along deep bend of Ark. R., bisected by two parallel RRs. along which are strung leading industries—lumber mills, cotton compresses & seed-oil mills, stockyards & repair shops. Here in 1819 came Jos. Bonne to start trading post on pine-covered bluff by R.; settlement grew up around it. Pop., only 460 in 1850, more than tripled in next decade as more & more steamboats stopped to take on cargoes of cotton; & plantation owners began bldg. ornate town houses. Here was fired what is locally claimed to have been 1st shot in Civil War in Ap. 1861 when several Fed. boats steaming up-river with military supplies were stopped & their cargoes seized for Confed. Army. Later, on Oct. 25, 1863, Col. Powell Clayton's Fed. troops, barricaded with cotton bales, successfully resisted Confed. attack on city. During Reconstruction period, Pine Bluff became Ark.'s leading cotton port. Following advent of RRs. in 1870's & 1880's, it became important RR. repair & lumber mill center as well. Of recent importance has been large-scale trading in livestock, begun in 1936. Barraque & Main Sts., Jefferson County Cth. (1858.mod.Georg.remод.adds.) dominates business sec. with its dome-capped clock tower. N. Cedar St., Ark. Agric., Mechanical & Normal College is St. institution for Negroes, opened in 1881. Among Pine Bluff's ante bellum mansions are Portis H. (1844), 216 E. 2nd Ave., & Thompson H. (c.1860), 519 W. Barraque St. 1115 W. 4th Ave., Bocage H. (1866) is architecturally interesting. US65 now crosses endless cotton fields, passing sharecroppers' cabins & plantation houses. Most of towns are small, clustering around RR. cotton-loading platforms & gins. Among larger ones are GOULD at 78.5. & DUMAS at 87. 99.5. J. with St.138.

SIDE TRIP: (R) on latter to J. with St.4 6.5^m, & cont. (straight ahead) on St.4 to Monticello, 22^m, tree-shaded town among timbered hills, center of tomato-growing reg., (L) from which 3.5^m on St.13 is Ark. Agric. & Mechanical College, 4-yr. St. institution, housed in group of mostly Mod. bldgs. on landscaped campus.

106. McGEHEE, principal commercial center of SE. Ark., named for plantation owner Col. Abner McGehee, was spurred into industrial prominence by est. here in 1905 of Iron Mt. Ry. (now Mo. Pac.) repair shops. 130.5. LAKE VILLAGE, est. in 1850's on curving shore of L. Chicot, has long been resort (f.boat.hunt.). Cotton gins, stave mills & commercial fishing provide income. Horseshoe-shaped L. Chicot, Ark.'s largest natural L., is abandoned channel of Miss. R., 15^m long & 0.5^m wide. 148. EUDORA is cotton-ginning & sawmill town with usual red-brick stores & offices. 160. ARK.-LA. LINE.

US 67—ARKANSAS

ARK.-MO. LINE (23.5^m from Poplar Bluff, Mo.) (SW) to TEXARKANA, ARK. 337. US67

Via: Pocahontas, Newport, Searcy, Little Rock, Malvern, Arkadelphia & Hope. Mo. Pac. RR. parallels route throughout. Accoms.: In larger towns.

Cutting diagonally across Ark. from NE. to SW., US67 divides St. into 2 triangles—to S., level, fertile Miss. delta; to N., rocky, forested region of Ozark & Ouachita Mts.

Sec. 1: ARK.-MO. LINE to LITTLE ROCK. 182.

0. ARK.-MO. LINE. 7. CORNING has 19th cent. air, its sts. lined with trees & its sidewalks shaded by tin marquees. 34.5. POCAHONTAS, booming Black R. port in 1870's, climbs irregular valley wall, its narrow sts. hemmed by brick bldgs. Pocahontas is at J. with US62 (see US71). 49. WALNUT RIDGE & 51. HOXIE, conn. by an unbroken line of houses, are surrounded by flat lands where diversified crops & mechanized farming are in evidence.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) Take St.25 (L) from Walnut Ridge to J. with gravel Rd., 13^m.

(R) on this 3.5^m to Crowley's Ridge St. Pk. (swim.boat.camp.cabins), 347-a, tract on W. slope of rugged eminence named for early settler Ben. Crowley, whose home site & burial place pk. covers.

St.25 cont. to Paragould 29^m, orig. lumber town named for 2 RR. men, J. W. Paramore & Jay Gould, which now has cotton gins, cold storage plants, canneries & shirt factory besides RR. shops & woodworking plants.

(B) Take US63 (L) from Hoxie to Jonesboro 23.5^m, comfortable, conservative community spread on level expanse of Crowley's Ridge in diversified-farming area. It came into being around cth. built here in 1859 in clearing in underbrush to house gov. of newly created city, named for St. Sen. Thos. B. Craighead who had opposed its formation; town was named for St. Sen. Wm. Jones who had advocated it. Inc. in 1883, it became by turn of cent. thriving sawmill town & afterward agric. trading center.

87.5. NEWPORT derives its commercial importance from its position on White R. & as RR. intersection. Gathering & shipping of pecans, picked from trees that grow wild in R. bottoms, is 1 of its chief activities. US67 now passes through Ark.'s chief strawberry-growing area, where fruit is picked in late spring & early summer. At 123, is J. with US67W, leading (R) 7^m to Searcy, 1st known as Sulphur Springs for now-vanished medicinal springs which made it popular 19th cent. health resort and now site of Harding College (opened 1889), Grand Ave. & E. Center St., coed. institution conducted by Christian Ch.; US67W rejoins US67 at 11^m. Long storage & shipping sheds near RR. sta. at 144. BEEBE, stand unused except during strawberry season. 180.5. NORTH LITTLE ROCK (see US70) is at Js. with US70 (see) & US65 (see). 182. LITTLE ROCK (see US70).

SIDE TRIP: Take US167 (L) from Little Rock to Sheridan 34^m, lumber town & farmers' trading center, 68.5^m Fordyce has cotton gins, lumber mill & woodworking plants, casket factory & service industries. 74^m Thornton. J. with US79.

Take latter (R) to Camden 25^m whose 3 RRs. & Ouachita R. traffic make it important shipping & distributing pt. By 1844 it was prosperous steamboat port. Schs., newspaper & woolen mill appeared before Civil War. When steamboat traffic waned, it retained its commerce as RR. center. Improvement of navigation on Ouachita by series of locks & dams (1915-26) reawakened int. in R. transportation, & Camden is now head of barge-line serv. to New Orleans. Among chief industrial establishments are the $130,-000,000 Naval Ordnance Plant on E. edge of town & Camark Pottery Plant on S. Edge; it has also woodworking, paper, roofing & beverage plants. Camden is at J. with St.7. Turn (L) on this to Southern Kraft Corp. Pulp Plant at 28^m, larger of Ark.'s 2 pulp mills, which uses more electricity, gas & water than entire residential sec. of Little Rock. St.7 cont. to Smackover 44.5^m which turned overnight from backwoods village into frenzied boom town when 1 of country's major oil fields was discovered here in 1922. Name "Smackover" is corruption of designation "Sumac-couvert" given place by early Fr. hunters who found dense sumac thickets here. At 57.5^m is El Dorado (see below) at J. of St.7 with US167.

US167 cont. (S) from Thornton to Hampton 91^m, once thriving sawmill center, & Calion at 106.5^m, once prosperous steamboat port on Ouachita R. which revived with construction of RR. bridge & sawmills in early 1900's & of hy. bridge & barge terminal in 1930's. 118.5^m El Dorado, "oil capital" of Ark., is prosperous city of imposing public & bus. bldgs. & comfortable residences, important not only for petroleum production & refining, but also as distribution center for lumber & agric. communities throughout S. Ark.-N. La. timber belt. It grew up around log cth. & hotel erected here in 1844 on land donated by 1st settler Matthew F. Rainey. It was still sm. village when 1st RR. came in 1891. Timber boom of early 1900's brought brief interval of prosperity but not until 1921, when oil began to flow from Busey Well 1^m to W., did El Dorado become important. Within few weeks it was swamped by a pop. of more than 20,000. By end of 1921 c.460 wells had been drilled in vic. Recovering from 1st impact of boom, El Dorado soon transformed itself into city with an elaborate program of schs., chs., civic bldgs., streets & sewers. Today its chief industrial est., Lion Oil Refinery, S. end of Marsh Ave., largest of city's 4, is 1 of Ark.'s biggest industrial plants. El Dorado is at J. with St.7 (see above).

Sec. 2: LITTLE ROCK to TEXARKANA. 155.

US67 unites with US70 (see) from Little Rock to BENTON at 23.5. (see US70). 44.5. Continuous-process PERLA PLANT, of Acme Brick Co., consists of series of corrugated-iron bldgs. & turret-roofed kilns, each on different level, conn. by winding narrow-gauge track. 45.5. MALVERN, inc. in 1874, has, like many other Ark. cities, brick bus. bldgs. & frame residences. Vic. furnishes steady supply of timber for several lumber mills & tool-handle factory; in addition, city has ceramic, mineral, chemical & textile industries. US67 descends into valley of Ouachita R., where ARKADELPHIA 72., is built along bluffs of valley wall. Founded in 1836, it became important steamboat landing, & maintained its commercial importance after advent of RR. Ouachita Ave. & 5th St., Ouachita College, Baptist coed. institution. 11th St. at Henderson Ave., Henderson St. Teachers College, former Meth. institution (est. 1890) taken over by St. in 1929. 88. GURDON, RR. junction pt., was birthpl. in 1892, at height of Ark. timber boom, of Concatenated Order of Hoo Hoo, conceived in horseplay spirit by bored lumbermen, which spread throughout S. lumber country & later into NW. & Canada. 105.5. PRESCOTT, lumber town in 1873, became trading center & cotton-shipping pt., as land was cleared. Marketing of produce from fruit- & vegetable-raising area stretching SE. is now leading activity. 121. HOPE, leading fruit-shipping point, is Ark.'s "watermelon capital." Melons big as hogsheads are grown. It also has cotton compress & gins, furniture factory, basket & crate factory, handle plant & brick kiln.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.4 (R) to Washington 9m, St. capital in 1863-65 & Hempstead Cty. seat until 1938, now living mus. of old houses, old trees & old memories. Growing up around tavern built by Elijah Stuart in 1824 as stopping pt. on Southwest Trl., it acquired pop. of 2,000 before Civil War, when it became gathering place for Southern refugees (among them Gov. Flanagin & his staff) & its "Washington Telegraph" became 1 of few papers left W. of Miss. to publish war news from Confed. standpoint. Ark. legend claims it was place where Jas. Bowie's famous knife, reputedly hammered out here in Jas. Black's smithy, was invented; communities in Miss., La. & Tex. make same claim. Old Hempstead County Cth. & St. Capitol (1833.rest.1930), center of town, 2-story edifice with classic portico, was city's legal hqs. until 1875 & St.'s in 1863-65. Washington Tavern or Travelers' Inn (1830), Franklin Ave. & St.4, was built mostly of hand-hewn timber & later weather-boarded. Old Baptist Ch. (c.1830) is sm. frame bldg. with pediment supported by columns.

134.5. Beside Red R., FULTON, founded in 1813 as frontier trading post, was jumping-off place at end of Amer. sec. of SW. Trl. for expeditions into Mex. territory. 155. TEXARKANA, astride Ark.-Tex. boundary, is, formally, 2 cities in 2 Sts., separated only by imaginary line down middle of St. Line Ave. which bisects combined bus. sec. Legally 2 towns, each with its own mun. gov., sch. system & fire & police depts., it is socially & economically a unit. Although it has wood-working, clay products, vegetable canning, cotton compress & cottonseed oil plants among others, it is chiefly marketing & distribution pt., with 4 major RRs. City grew, beginning in 1873, out of RR. construction camps at W. terminus of Cairo & Fulton (now Mo. Pac.) RR. & E. terminus of Tex. & Pac. An untamed locality teeming with adventurers & gamblers in its early years, it gradually settled down to pursuit of prosperity. Among landmarks is Fed. Bldg., middle of St. Line Ave. bet. 5th & 6th Sts., housing 2 Fed. courts, whose E. entrance is in Ark., its W. in Tex. & its center on boundary line.

ARK.-MO. LINE (32^m from Neosho, Mo.) (S) to ARK.-LA. LINE (39^m from Shreveport, La.). 335. US71

Via: Fayetteville, Ft. Smith, Mena & Texarkana. RRs. parallel parts of route bet. Ft. Smith & Texarkana. Accoms.: In larger towns, tourist camps in Ozarks.

US71 crosses fertile plateau in Ark.'s NW. cor., then plunges over Ozarks to Ft. Smith in Ark. R. Valley. It cuts (S) through timbered country, skirting Ouachita Mts., & emerges into wide flat lands, descending to fertile Red R. Valley.

Sec. 1: ARK.-MO. LINE to FT. SMITH. 113.

0. ARK.-MO. LINE. 2. SULPHUR SPRINGS is spa with bathhouses & tourist camps. Hy. now crosses fertile country where apple orchards alternate with grain fields. 24. BENTONVILLE handles poultry & dairy products as well as apples. Founded in 1837.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.100 (L) from Bentonville 5^m to Bella Vista, well-patronized resort (golf.tennis.riding.swim.dancing), (R) 1^m from which is Wonderland Cavern, huge underground cavern used as ch., night club & convention hall.

31.5. ROGERS, besides shipping poultry & apples, produces vinegar, canned milk & lumber products. J. with US62.

SIDE TRIP: Take US62 (L) to J. with St.72, 12^m.

Turn (L) on this. At 14^m Site of Battle of Pea Ridge, Ark.'s most important battle in Civil War. Here on March 6, 1862, Confed. force of Missourians, Texans & Okla. Cherokee commanded by Gen. Earl Van Dorn tried unsuccessfully to wipe out Fed. troops under Gen. Sam. R. Curtis advancing (S) from Mo.

US62 now passes (E) through rugged country, skirting deep canyons & rearing over high summits. It climbs from White R. at 26.5m to Inspiration Pt. at 29m, affording impressive view. 36.5m Eureka Springs, climbing steep slopes from single winding st., has been catering to health-seekers for half century. Within city limits, 63 springs have been counted; caves also abound. 49m Berryville where on Sat. evenings in summer, fruit & dairy farmers & families from near-by hills & valleys join workers from sawmill & woodworking plant in crowded stores. At 73m is J. with US65 (see).

42.5. SPRINGDALE, another apple-shipping center, is at J. with St.68.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) to Siloam Springs, 25m, poultry & apple-shipping center which grew up around several iron & sulphur springs. (R) from Siloam Springs 1m is John Brown Univ. on 800-a. campus; interdenominational institution emphasizing vocational training & Bible study.

50.5. FAYETTEVILLE has been NW. Ark.'s leading town since 1st lots were sold in 1828. It became home of several sm. colleges in 1840's & 1850's. During Civil War its position halfway bet. Fed. base at Springfield, Mo. & Confed. positions on Ark. R. made it strategic goal for both armies; it changed hands many times, & colleges, stores & most of houses went up in smoke. In 1871 it became home of Ark. Industrial Univ., later renamed Univ. of Ark., whose presence, as well as healthful climate & town's nearness to Mts., has attracted professional men, writers, artists & retired farmers. Industries incl. fruit & vegetable canneries, woodworking plants, garment & wagon-mfg. mills. Arkansas Ave. & W. Dickson St., Univ. of Ark. with its various classroom bldgs., athletic stadium & Greek theater, centers around Adm. Bldg. (1875), stones for whose foundation were hauled by ox-wagon 70m over rough Mt. Rds. Univ. comprises schs. of lib. arts, education, engineering, agric., bus. adm., law, extension & grad. work, & has sch. of medicine at Little Rock. Among Fayetteville's ante bellum residences are Waxhaws (c.1835), S. College Ave.; George Reed H. (c.1835), W. Dickson St.; Quesenbury H. (1854), S. Duncan St.; & Tibbetts H. (late 1840's) 118 E. Dickson St. US71 climbs (S) into Ozarks, to WINSLOW, 73. on divide bet. watersheds of White & Ark. Rs. with highest altitude of any inc. town in Ark.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.74 (R) from Winslow to Devil's Den St. Pk. at 8m, 4,320-a. tract of heavily wooded Mt. country (cabins.camp.trls.bridle paths.f.swim.).

Through rugged country, hy. climbs to summit of MT. GAYLOR, 77., affording far-reaching vista. 79. ALBERT PIKE MUS. (sm.fee) is log schoolroom in which explorer, soldier & writer for whom it was named taught in 1832; moved here from orig. site near Van Buren; houses hist. relics & early Amer. glassware. From Mt. top at 84.5. appears 1st view of 640-a. Lake Ft. Smith, impounded by dam across Clear Cr. to provide Ft. Smith's water supply. 100. ALMA is at J. with US64.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) following Ark. R. valley (E) to Clarksville 48m which celebrates peach harvest in surrounding orchards with festival in July. N. end of College Ave., College of the Ozarks is 4-yr. coed. institution maintained by Presb. Ch. 74m Russellville, center of wide trade territory, depends on coal mines in vic., lumber mill & woodworking plants, cotton compress & guns. Named for Brit.-born Dr. J. T. Russell, settler in 1830's; inc. in 1870. 313 W. 8th St., George Black H. contains most famed Ark. painting, "The Arkansas Traveler," done in 1858 by Ed. Payson Washburn, reprints. of which hung in drawing rooms all over Amer. in Vict. era. 100.5m Morrilton dates from advent of RR. in 1870's; has textile factory & oil mill, livestock yards & meat packing plant, cheese factory, bottling plants, lumber mills & woodworking plants.

Take St.9 (R) from Morrilton to J. with St.154, 4m, & turn (R) on this to Petit Jean Mt. 9m, named for Fr. aristocrat Jean la Caze, who fled Rev. & came here from New Orleans, where he went mad after death of his wife & child & was found by early Amer. settlers living on berries & playing his flute on Mt. 14.5m Petit Jean St. Pk. (lodge. cabins.bridle trls.pic.boats.f.swim.) is 2,999-a. tract of pine-covered plateau. St.154 cont. from L. Bailey, near entrance, past some of pk.'s chief features: 15.5m Pioneer Cabin, 16m Cedar Falls & (just beyond) Mather Lodge, 17m Bear Cave & 17.5m Fallsades.

At 119m is J. of US64 with US65 (see).

108. VAN BUREN would be known primarily as once-important frontier post & stagecoach stop which eventually became subordinated to adj. city of Ft. Smith, had it not been given nat. publicity by Bob Burns, radio humorist. Bob Burns H., 9th & Jefferson Sts., is local landmark. 1st settlers came as early as 1818; town was laid out 20 yrs. later. It became important outfitting place for expeditions into Ind. country & Tex., distributing pt. for goods shipped by steamboat up Ark. R. & main stop on Butterfield stagecoach route to W. Coast. US71 crosses ARK. R. at 109.

113. FT. SMITH, 2nd largest, & most industrialized city in Ark., spreading (E) from Okla. Line at pt. where Ark. R. enters St., has, for economic support, factories that make furniture & brick, scissors, cans & glass; farms that raise corn, livestock & truck crops; & Sebastian Cty.'s coal mines. Along its unusually wide main bus. thoroughfare is concentration of hotels, restaurants & dept. stores surprising for city of its size; throughout tree-shaded residential dists. are gardens & pkwys. Military post for which city was named was est. here in 1817 to keep peace bet. Osage & Cherokee. Around 2 log blockhs. & several barracks on oak-shaded R. bluff, village took form. Stronger fortifications were built beginning in 1838. Almost overnight in 1849 town became supply depot & pt. of departure for Gold Rush emigrants to Cal. After Civil War it became seat of Fed. Dist. Ct. charged with jurisdiction over 74,000 sq. miles of Ind. Terr. to W. from which white offenders—train robbers, murderers, bank bandits—roaming in outlaw bands were brought in by hard-riding force of deputy marshalls for trial. Ft. Smith's transition from frontier post to city dates from 1871, when Ft.'s garrison was withdrawn. 1st RR. arrived in 1879; 2nd, 3 yrs. later. Opening of coal mines in vic. stimulated city's growth; drilling of natural gas wells near-by after 1900 attracted industries. Today, although it is trading center of wide agric. area, Ft. Smith derives its principal income from its factories & smelters. Highly unionized, it is Ark.'s most labor conscious city. It still celebrates its past with Wild West festival (May).

PTS. OF INT.: Of orig. military post, all that remains is (1) Old Fort, SW. cor. 3rd St. & Rogers Ave., intended orig. as barracks but remod. into courtroom & jail about 1843 & afterwards seat of Fed. Dist. Ct. & (2) Old Commissary (1839), S. side Garrison Ave. near Mo.-Pac. tracks, an iron-barred stone bldg. guarded by 2 cannons, now mus. of frontier relics. (3) S. end of 6th St., Nat. Cemetery was set aside in 1832 as burial ground for soldiers at Ft. & in 1867, was given national status. Other landmarks incl. (4) Old Brewery (c.1858), N. 3rd & E Sts.; (5) gabled, gambrel-roofed Weaver H. (1848.adds.), N. 4th & A Sts.; & (6) B. L. E. Bonneville H., 3215 N. O St., former residence of soldier-explorer who was thrice commander of Ft. Smith & whose exploits were presented by Washington Irving in "The Adventures of Captain Bonneville." Ft. Smith is at J. with St.22.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) 40.5m to Paris, center of St.'s chief coal mining area, which yrs. of activity by United Mine Workers have made into one of Ark.'s few strong union towns, & 46.5m Subiaco, dominated by twin medieval-style towers of Subiaco College & Abbey, self-sustaining Benedictine institution, which began as mission founded by 3 monks in 1878. 77.5m Dardanelle is 1 of Ark. R. Valley's oldest settlements, platted in 1843 but sett. earlier. Beyond N. end of Front St. is Dardanelle Rock, landmark for early explorers, jutting into Ark. R.; it commands impressive view.

Sec. 2: FT. SMITH to ARK.-LA. LINE. 222.

17.5. GREENWOOD is Sebastian Cty.'s chief coal-shipping pt. 29.5. MANSFIELD & 49.5. WALDRON are farmers' trading communities. At 63.5. is J. with US270 (see US70). 85. MENA was founded in 1896 when Kansas City S. RR. came through. Name Mena, contraction of Wilhelmina, was tribute to Queen of Netherlands by RR.'s Dutch investors. Its city hall until 1939 was log cabin built in 1851 on town site, which RR. engineers used as hqs. & left standing; cabin remains, little changed, in Janssen Pk. Mena is sportsmen's center, seat of Polk Cty.'s Possum Club, founded 1913, which annually in Dec. stages celebration during which persimmon trees are set up & festooned with live opossums, while hounds bay frantically. It is center of wide trade area; its industrial plants incl. gins, flour & feed mills, & woodworking plants & lumber mills. US71 passes through timberland, dotted with occasional farmed clearings & several small towns, to DE QUEEN at 134., orig. known as Calamity. It was renamed by Dutch capitalist, DeGeojen, who bestowed his own surname on it when Kansas City S. RR. gave him privilege of christening several towns along right-of-way. DeGeojen was soon anglicized to De Queen. De Queen is at (W) J. with US70 (see), with which US71 unites (E) for 9m. Beyond RED R. 177.5., US71 crosses briefly into Texas, then rides St. boundary Line to TEXARKANA at 190.5. J. with US67 (see). At 222. is ARK.-LA. LINE.

THE SOUTHWEST

OKLAHOMA — TEXAS NEW MEXICO — ARIZONA

The far-flung Southwest, comprising Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico & Arizona—a sun-baked stretch of plain & river valley, desert & mountain range, canyon & mesa extending west from the Sabine River to the Colorado & bordered on the south by the Rio Grande & Mexico—is in some ways the most ancient & in others the most modern part of the U.S. Oklahoma, New Mexico, & Arizona were the last of the 48 states to be admitted to the Union; & much of New Mexico & Arizona, along with much of western Texas, remains a still somewhat thinly settled region, where the sombreroed Spanish-Americans & booted cowboys of frontier days are yet to be found in real life.

All over Arizona & New Mexico are remnants of the advanced civilization achieved by prehistoric cliff-dwellers, & throughout the Southwest, the culture of its aboriginal inhabitants—whose descendants are far more numerous in Oklahoma, New Mexico & Arizona than anywhere else in the nation—has left a vivid impress. Texas, New Mexico & Arizona are dotted with the presidios & missions of the Spanish conquerors, dating back as far as the seventeenth century; more than three centuries of Spanish & Mexican rule have left a heritage of Spanish place names, architecture & cuisine—as well as a large Spanish-speaking population, since swelled by emigration from across the border. But, throughout the Southwest, side by side with the relics of the past, have appeared in the last half century signs of the present: skyscraper-dotted cities, super-highways & vast airports, oil fields & chemical plants, huge dams & irrigation projects & seaports—all with an air of challenging newness. Civilization has come late, perhaps, but largely, just for this reason, the Southwest has on the whole been spared the blighting effects of 19th-century industrialism: its young cities, mostly smoke-free because fueled with gas or electricity rather than coal, tend to be spacious & modern-looking & its industrial areas trim & efficiently planned. Its mineral resources & its plentiful supply of petroleum & natural gas have pushed it well on the way to becoming the center for the world's chemical industries.

This is a land of magnificent distances: Texas is the largest of the 48 states—as large as New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio & Illinois combined—& New Mexico & Arizona are, respectively, the fourth & fifth largest. Space is the keynote of the land—vast, almost limitless stretches of plain, semi-desert & lofty mountains, buttes & mesas. Topographically, the Southwest comprises parts of several of the broad continental divisions within its area: the Coastal Plain, along the Gulf of Mexico in Texas; the Central Plains, extending through central Texas & Oklahoma; the Western High Plains, sweeping across western Texas & Oklahoma; the Rocky Mountains, extending into New Mexico & Texas, west of the Pecos River. Most of New Mexico is a rolling plateau, dotted with mountain ranges, averaging over 5,700' in altitude, very dry & sunny. The Mexican Cordilleras, running diagonally across Arizona, divide it into a desertlike southwestern plains section & a northeastern mountain & plateau region; most of the state is criss-crossed by mountain ranges & canyons. The Southwest is a land of little water—except in the lush plain along Texas' Gulf Coast & in the irrigated river valleys—& of relatively few trees—except in the timber regions of eastern Oklahoma & northeastern Texas & Arizona's ponderosa pine belt; its vast semi-arid stretches are largely covered with "chaparral" (Mex., thick brush), where mesquite & cactus mingle, its arid parts with creosote bush & yucca. The rivers are normally sluggish, yellow streams, often dry or almost so, in summer; they change into furious torrents abruptly flooding their banks after heavy rains. Oklahoma is drained by the Arkansas & its tributaries: the Cimarron, Canadian, Grand & others & by the Red River, which divides it from Texas. The chief Texas streams, draining into the Gulf of Mexico, are the Sabine, which forms the Texas-Louisiana border; the Trinity, Brazos & Colorado, in the central part; & the Rio Grande, ninth longest river in the Western Hemisphere, bordering Mexico & extending into New Mexico. New Mexico is traversed by the Rio Grande & its tributary, the Pecos. Within Arizona lies the more than 200-mile course of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River (not to be confused with the river of the same name in Texas); the Colorado forms Arizona's western border, running southward through Mexico to empty into the Gulf of Lower California. Across southern Arizona runs the Gila River.

The conservation of water resources has long been one of the Southwest's chief problems, on the solution of which has depended much of its development; the building of dams to impound reservoirs & the construction of canal systems has reclaimed vast areas for agriculture, especially in Texas & western Arizona. Natural lakes in the Southwest are few, but irrigation & hydroelectric power dams have created great artificial ones; among others, Lake of the Cherokees in northeastern Oklahoma, Lake Texhoma on the Texas-Oklahoma border in the Red River Valley & Lake Mead on the Colorado in northwestern Arizona. Wherever water is supplied, either by rainfall or irrigation, the land yields rich harvests: wheat, cotton, & field crops of all kinds on the vast Oklahoma & Texas Plains, rice on the Gulf Coast, fruits & vegetables in the irrigated river valleys. Livestock remains, as in pioneer days, one of the chief sources of wealth throughout the Southwest. The products for which Oklahoma & Texas are most famous, oil (now being intensively drilled for also in southeastern New Mexico) & natural gas, are by far the most spectacular of the region's abundant mineral riches, but not the only ones: others include coal & zinc in Oklahoma; helium, sulphur, salt, silver & mercury in Texas; copper, coal & potash in New Mexico. Mining is the chief industry of Arizona, which leads the nation in output of copper & asbestos & ranks high in production of gold, silver & lead. By no means the least of the Southwest's resources are its impressive scenic attractions—some of the chief of which are included in National Parks: Platt (Oklahoma), Big Bend (Texas), Carlsbad Caverns (New Mexico), Grand Canyon (Arizona); these, along with numerous historic shrines & monuments recalling the richly varied past, Indian, Spanish, Mexican & American, draw a steady stream of visitors.

Throughout the Southwest—except in Texas, where early white settlement all but obliterated Indian culture—the aboriginal inhabitants have left their marks most impressively in the great cities of the prehistoric Basket Makers whose ruins dot Arizona & New Mexico & in the artifacts of the Cave Dwellers. The first white explorers found most of central & eastern Texas inhabited by the Caddo, whose culture was similar to that of the Mississippi Valley Mound Builders; farther westward, the plains-roving Apache & Comanche tribes were numerous. The Comanche continued to harass pioneer settlers until the late 1870's, by which time the States had been virtually cleared of Indian inhabitants. The Apache kept up a bitter struggle with white settlers in Arizona, raiding ranches & settlements, until 1886, when Geronimo surrendered. The other, more peaceful agricultural tribes of Arizona & New Mexico—the Pueblo, Pima, Papago, Navaho, Hopi, Zuni, & Yuma—had long previously submitted to foreign conquest. Today numerous reservations, usually in less productive land, in both Arizona & New Mexico contain a large segregated Indian population. Oklahoma, where Indians from the rest of the country were herded from 1817 until late in the 19th century, retains, of course, the strongest Indian influence of any state, with more than a third of the Indian population of the entire U.S.

The lower Rio Grande, into which in 1519 Alonso Alvarez de Piñeda sailed his ship in the course of an expedition dispatched by the Governor of Jamaica to map the Gulf Coast, was the second place within the present limits of the U.S. to be visited by Europeans. Other expeditions soon followed. Shipwrecked on Galveston Island (Texas) in 1528, Cabeza de Vaca escaped from his Indian captors 7 years later & made his way on foot to the gulf of California. His account, published in 1542, was the first description of the interior of the region claimed as New Spain, to which 92 expeditions in all were dispatched within a little more than two centuries after Piñeda's voyage. The Franciscan friar Marcos de Niza, sent in search of the fabled "Seven Cities of Cibola," crossed Arizona & New Mexico in 1539, & coming upon the mud & stone cities of the Zuni sparkling in the sun, returned hastily to Mexico City in the belief he had seen their walls studded with gold & jewels. Led by Francisco Vasquez de Coronado, a great procession of cavalry, foot soldiers & Indians set out in 1540 & searched for treasure eastward & northward as far as Kansas for two years, returning finally in disappointment, empty-handed. At about the same time, survivors of the expedition of Hernando de Soto wandered, lost, below the lonely banks of the Red River. In 1598 Don Juan Oñate took formal possession of New Spain & established the first Spanish settlement & capital near the present San Juan, New Mexico. Santa Fé was founded as the new capital in 1610, & missions were established by the Franciscans. In 1680 the Pueblo Indians revolted against oppression & drove out the Spanish, who maintained their capital at El Paso on the Rio Grande for 13 years until they had repossessed the lost province. Settlement of Texas began only when the French established Fort St. Louis at the head of Lavaca Bay after the shipwreck in 1685 of the well-supplied fleet of Robert Cavelier, Sieur de La Salle. The plan of the Franciscan monks for a chain of missions was then quickly adopted: the easternmost Spanish outpost was founded May 25, 1690, near the Neches River, & by 1731 a dozen missions had been established.

Meanwhile, Padre Eusebio Francisco Kino, a Jesuit, had begun setting up a chain of missions to Christianize the Pima & Papago in Arizona; he also instructed them in the art of cattle herding. Padre Francisco Garcés, of the Franciscan order, founded more missions along the Colorado River among the Yuma; but the Yuma in 1781 killed him & many of his followers. After the Mexicans won their independence from Spanish rule (1821), Arizona, New Mexico & Texas became provinces of the Republic of Mexico.

Oklahoma, acquired by the U.S. as part of the Louisiana Purchase (1803), remained an unsettled region until the U.S. began moving Indian tribes from east of the Mississippi to new homes here & established military outposts to protect them—Fort Smith in 1817 & Forts Gibson & Towson in 1824. In 1834 a large part of Oklahoma was set aside as Indian Territory, which was divided up among the so-called "Five Civilized Tribes"—Cherokee, Choctaw, Chickasaw, Creek & Seminole—each with its own government.

Anglo-Americans began to infiltrate into Texas early in the 19th century. In 1800 Philip Nolan had let a party into the province, ostensibly to look for wild horses; Nolan was killed by Spanish soldiers. Filibustering expeditions of Americans campaigning for Texas independence from Spanish rule were led by Bernardo Gutierrez de Lara & Augustus W. Magee in 1812-13 & by Dr. James Long in 1819-21. In 1820, Moses Austin of Missouri secured authority from Spain to settle 300 families along the Brazos River. After 1821, the Mexican officials continued to grant colonization contracts to settlers from the U.S.; by 1829, nearly 7,000 families had been admitted. But the colonists' discontent with Mexican rule & desire for Texas' independence, culminating in an abortive rebellion in 1825-26, led by Hayden Edwards, who proclaimed the Republic of Fredonia but failed to win support, alarmed the Mexicans. In 1830 they forbade further emigration from the U.S. The American colonists continued to demand self-government. "Liberty & Texas" became the cry. When in 1835 the Mexican dictator, Santa Anna, dissolved the provincial legislature & sent troops northward, William Barret Travis went to Anahuac & drove out the Mexican garrison. The colonists organized Committees of Safety & on October 2, 1835, a group of farmers defeated a Mexican force at Gonzales; a volunteer army was mobilized, & a week later it captured the fort at Goliad, appointed Stephen F. Austin commander in chief & marched on San Antonio, which it took after a long siege on December 9, 1835.

Santa Anna, with a large force, arrived at San Antonio February 23, 1836 & on March 6 unleashed nearly 3,000 troops on the Alamo there, the defenders of which—among them Travis, James Bowie & Davy Crockett—they slaughtered to the last man. Meanwhile a Declaration of Independence had been adopted by the colonists; but the ad interim government, along with its constituents, was soon forced into flight before Santa Anna's swift advance. Col. James W. Fannin, Jr.'s force of about 330 were taken & massacred by the Mexicans at Goliad. Gen. Sam Houston, commanding the Texas army, retreated for 40 days eastward to the vicinity of Houston, there to take his stand & then, in 30 minutes of fighting on April 21, so soundly defeated Santa Anna's forces in the Battle of San Jacinto as to compel withdrawal of all Mexican armies & secure establishment of the Republic of Texas.

For 10 years thereafter, Texas was an independent nation, with a Navy of 4 vessels & the hard-riding Texas Rangers patrolling her frontiers; in 1845 it was annexed as a state of the Union. The annexation, regarded by Mexico as a declaration of hostilities, was followed swiftly by the Mexican War, whose first battle was fought near Brownsville, Texas, on May 8, 1846. Within three months, Gen. Kearney had occupied Santa Fe, New Mexico, without the firing of a shot. On February 2, 1848, defeated Mexico gave up to the U.S. Texas, New Mexico, Arizona north of the Gila River, part of Colorado & upper California; by the Gadsden Purchase (1853), the U.S. acquired from Mexico the rest of Arizona, between the Gila & the present boundary. Arizona remained a part of the Territory of New Mexico until established as a separate territory in 1863.

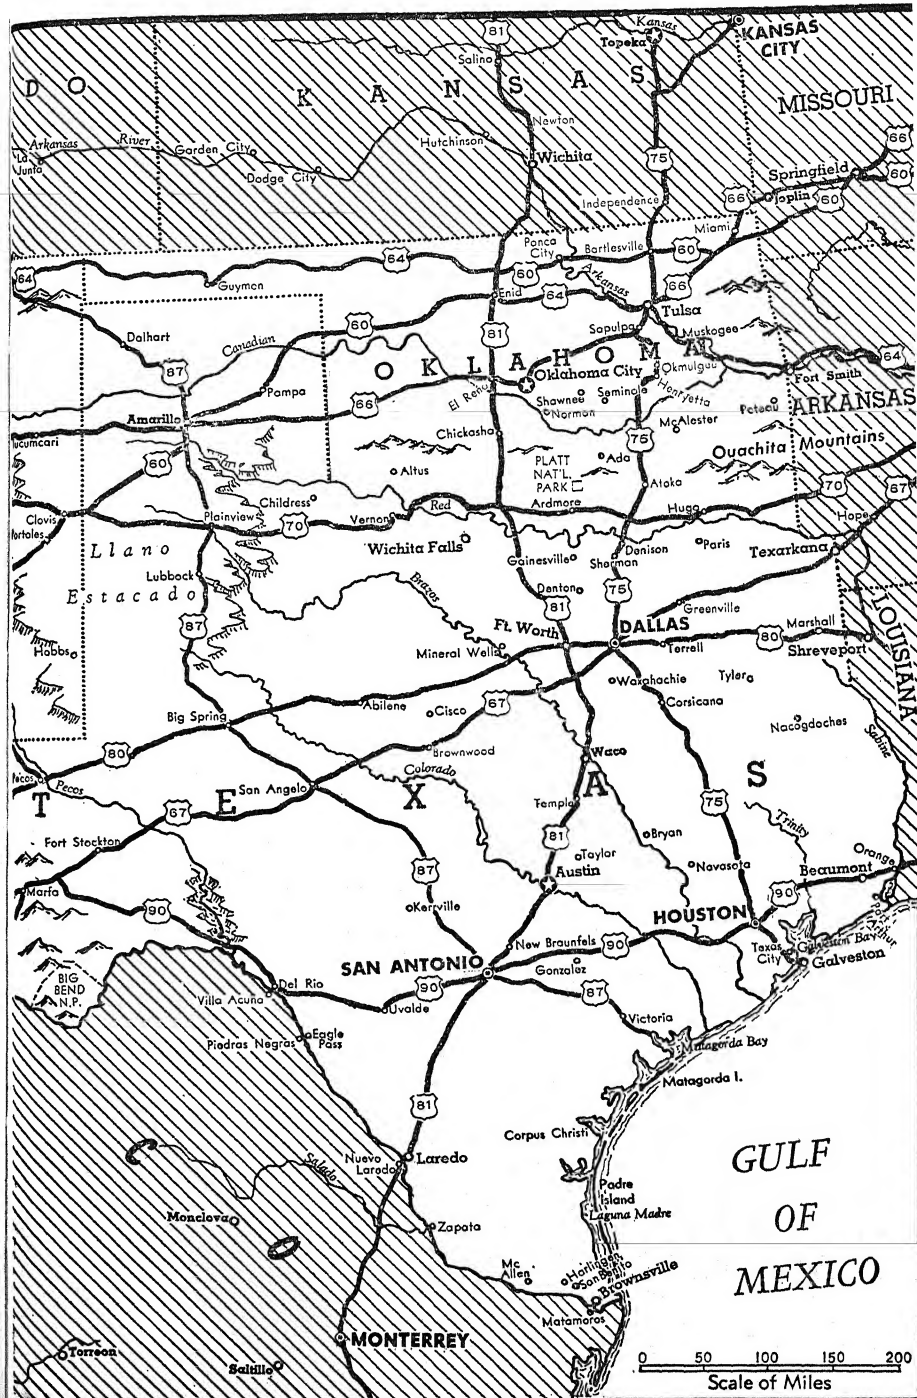

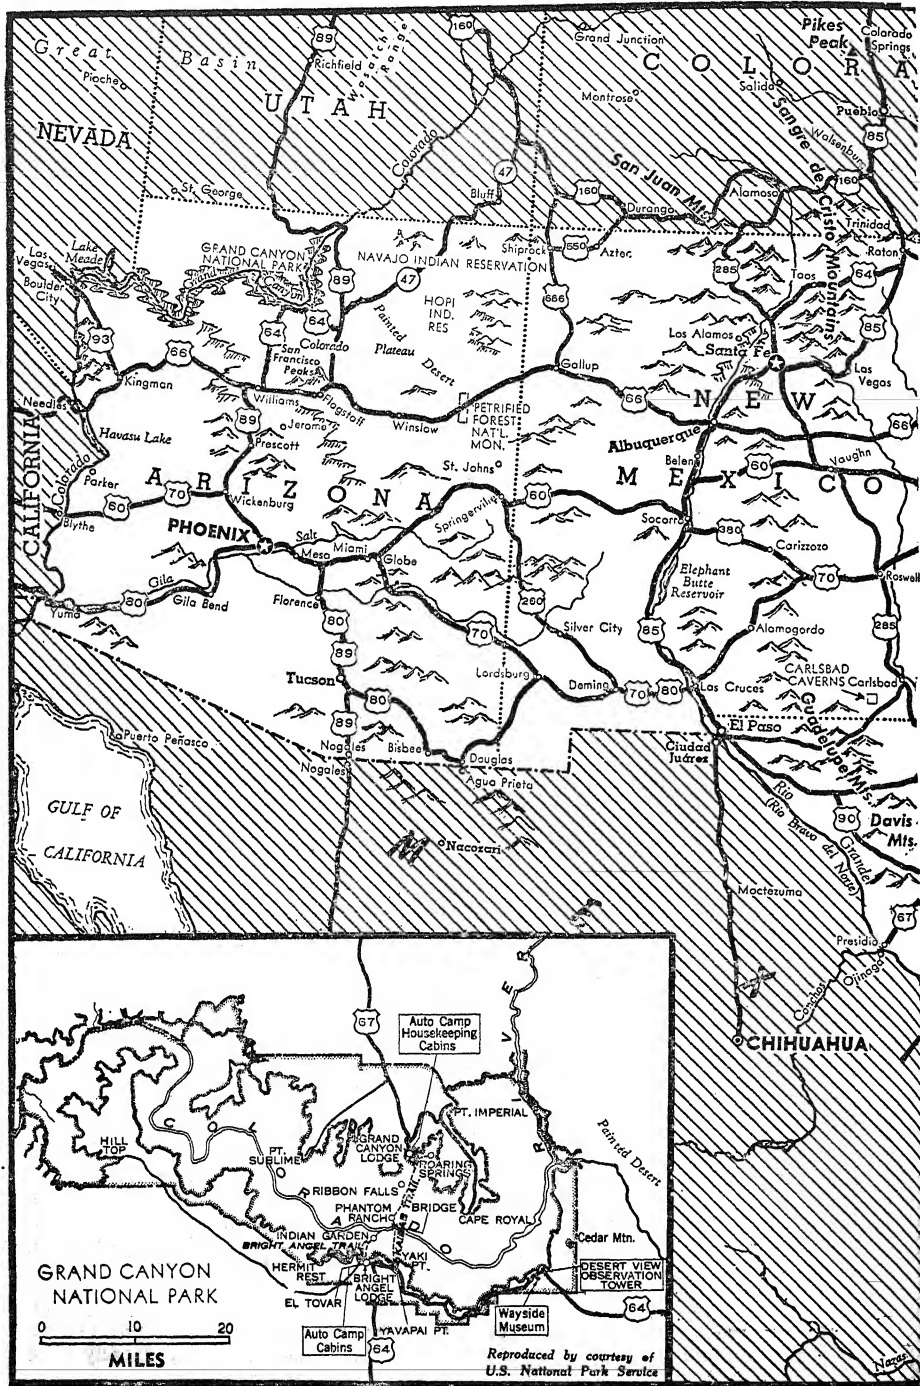

The outbreak of the Civil War found Texas, largely dominated by Southern planters, on the side of the Confederacy, despite the bitter opposition of Gov. Sam Houston, who refused to take an oath supporting the Confederacy & was deposed from office. The Texans, staving off Federal attempts at invasion in the Battles of Galveston & Sabine Pass (1863), furnished huge amounts of supplies to the Confederate armies up until the end of the war, the last battle of which was fought on Palmito Hill near Brownsville, May 12-13, 1865. Under military government until 1869, Texas saw race riots, Ku Klux Klan riders & growing lawlessness during the Reconstruction period; it was readmitted to the Union in 1870. The Confederacy was likewise supported by most of the Indians of the Five Civilized Tribes in Oklahoma—each of whom had organized governments, farmed & traded, supported schools & held slaves. At the end of the Civil War they were forced to sign new treaties with the United States by which they relinquished their lands in the western part of Oklahoma. In the latter region, Fort Sill was established & reservations were set up on which plains Indians from the north were settled.

The great Texas cattle drives, in which millions of longhorn steers were herded overland by way of the Chisholm Trail & other routes to railheads at rip-roaring Kansas towns like Abilene or Dodge City, were well underway by 1870; & with the cessation of the Indian danger, vast cattle ranches soon spread over Texas' western & northern plains. But the steady penetration westward through Oklahoma & Texas itself of the railroads brought the trail-driving era to a close; by 1880 the barbed-wire fences of homesteaders, crisscrossing the ranges, were beginning to provoke bloody feuds between farmers & cattle men. A rapid & large influx of people & of capital swept into Texas. Then on April 22, 1889, central Oklahoma—a buffer region between territories in eastern & western Oklahoma reserved for Indian settlement—was opened to white settlement with the famous "run" which brought thousands of homesteaders; in 1890 the Territory of Oklahoma was created, incorporating the portion of the state opened to white settlement, & in the next decade & a half, the governments of the Five Civilized Tribes were gradually taken over by the U.S. with additional areas opened to white settlers. Finally Congress in 1906 united Indian Territory & the Territory of Oklahoma so that in the following year Oklahoma might be admitted to the Union as a state. Arizona & New Mexico, where Indian raids & scanty water resources delayed settlement, were finally admitted as states in 1912.

Until after the beginning of the twentieth century, agriculture & livestock raising—in which Texas, due to its early settlement, took the lead—were the Southwest's economic mainstays. But the discovery of oil—found in commercial quantities at Bartlesville, Oklahoma, in 1897, & Beaumont, Texas, in 1901—swiftly transformed the economic scene, creating fabulous wealth, as wells by the thousands were drilled, pipe lines laid, tank farms & refineries constructed. Tiny villages turned overnight into bonanza cities, swarming with adventurers. The Oklahoma Indians grew famously rich from the sale of oil leases. Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, springing to sudden affluence, were transformed into metropolitan centers. By 1940 Texas alone was producing a quarter of the world's oil supply. The oil industry has brought not only the wealth needed for irrigation projects to make fertile the Southwest's agriculture areas & expansion of transportation & marketing facilities; it has also brought other industries to balance what was once a predominantly agricultural economy. Nevertheless, with abundant resources still to be developed & plenty of space for a growing population, the Southwest has remained into the middle of the twentieth century a frontier wide open to new possibilities.

The evolution of cultural & educational facilities has taken place largely since the beginning of the twentieth century. Dallas' position as the financial center of the Southwest, as a women's fashion center & as the most "cosmopolitan" of Texas cities has led it to cultural leadership, notable for its fine arts museum & symphony orchestra. Dallas' Little Theater, founded in 1921, has acquired a national reputation. Houston, Fort Worth & Austin also have art museums, symphony orchestras & little theater groups; San Antonio, El Paso, Waco & Amarillo have symphony orchestras. The University of Texas at Austin, sixth most heavily endowed university in the U.S., has one of the country's leading libraries, notable for its fine collection of first & early editions in English & American literature. Rice Institute at Houston is among the fifteen most heavily endowed universities; other important Texas institutions of higher learning are Southern Methodist University at Dallas & Baylor University at Waco. The Hall of State (Museum of Texas History) at Dallas & the Texas Memorial Museum at Austin exhibit important historical collections. Oklahoma's principal cultural centers are Oklahoma City; Tulsa, home of the University of Tulsa & of the Philbrook Art Museum; & Norman, seat of the University of Oklahoma & its distinguished press. The last houses the state's chief art collection & its art department has been the chief stimulus for local activity in the fine arts; among its students have been a group of Indian painters of the Kiowa & other tribes.

The University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, notable for its Pueblo architecture, is distinguished for its work in the field of archaeology; its College of Fine Arts has a department devoted to native Spanish-American handicrafts & conducts a summer art school at Taos. New Mexico is one of the nation's chief art regions, with notable groups of artists at Taos, Santa Fe & Albuquerque. The Taos art colony, dating back to 1898, was begun by Bert Phillips & Ernest L. Blumenschein; the Taos School of Art, with its gallery & studios for visiting artists, is a lively center. Santa Fe began to attract artists soon after Taos; the Santa Fe Art Museum was established in 1917 through the efforts of George Bellows & Robert Henri. Many of the country's most distinguished painters—John Sloan, Georgia O'Keeffe, John Marin & others—have sojourned & painted in New Mexico. Mary Austin, Willa Cather, D.H. Lawrence, Oliver LaFarge & other well-known writers have written about it. Santa Fe's Museum of New Mexico has a notable collection of archaeological, ethnological & historical materials.

Arizona's chief cultural center, the University of Arizona at Tucson, notable for its work in the fields of archaeology, anthropology, astronomy & mining engineering has the Arizona State Museum. In Arizona, as in New Mexico & Oklahoma, much has been done to encourage Indian arts & crafts; exhibits of the latter are presented in the Museum of Northern Arizona at Flagstaff, the Museum of Navajo Ceremonial Art at Santa Fe & the Oklahoma Tribes Museum at Anadarko.

In Arizona, New Mexico & Texas, efforts to revive & adapt the Indian Pueblo & Spanish Colonial styles of architecture which appear in historic buildings throughout these states have given Phoenix, Tucson, Santa Fe, Albuquerque, El Paso & other cities a number of well-designed edifices, handsomely adapted to their backgrounds. Advances toward a distinctively modern Southwest style of architecture have been made by Frank Lloyd Wright & his associates of the Taliesin Fellowship, whose winter quarters are northeast of Phoenix.

Texas by development & tradition belongs to the Southern states. Much of what has been said about them in the introductory essay to the South applies equally to the Lone Star State. But Texas differs, as well, in that it is by far wealthier than any of the other Southern states, & also in that its large population of Mexican derivation adds a disturbing racial factor to that of the Negro. New Mexico's Spanish-speaking population has been an important influence in politics, electing Bronson Cutting to the U.S. Senate, & after him, Dennis Chavez. New Mexico & Oklahoma both have large Indian populations, but in the latter the Indians have been largely assimilated, while in New Mexico they have to a great extent remained in their pueblos. Arizona, with a much smaller Spanish & Indian population, being the driest state, is passionately interested in the disposition of the waters of the Colorado R., & is in constant controversy with Los Angeles which also needs the life-giving waters.

US 60—OKLAHOMA

OKLA.-MO. LINE (0.5^m from Seneca, Mo.) (W) to OKLA.-TEX. LINE (27^m from Canadian, Tex.) 360. US60

Via: Bartlesville, Ponca City, & Enid. RRs. parallel parts of route. Accomms.: Good bet. Mo. Line & Enid, more limited (W) of Enid.

US60 traverses rolling hills & canyon-cut plateaus of Okla. Ozarks, crosses grazing lands & oil fields of former Cherokee Nation & of Osage Ind. Reserv., cuts through Okla.'s beet agricultural region in vic. of Enid, then enters dry, dusty high plains area.

Sec. 1: OKLA.-MO. LINE to ENID. 224.

0. From OKLA.-MO. LINE, US60 runs through Ozarks to WYANDOTTE, 7.5., chiefly populated by Inds., at J. with country Rd. leading (R) 0.5^m to Gov.-supervised Seneca Ind. School, est. 1869 by Quakers. 16. FAIRLAND depends on a cattle-country vic. At 20. is J. with US66-69 (see US66), with which US60 unites (SW) for 25^m (see US66 for towns & pts. of int. in this sec.); at 43.5. US69 (see US66) branches (S). At 45. US66 (see) branches (SW) from US60, which cont. (W), traversing at c.62.5. world's largest shallow oil field, incl. more than 20,000 wells. 68. NOWATA, whose name is taken from Delaware Ind. word meaning "welcome," grew up around trading post est. after 1868 when Kans. Delaware bought land here from Cherokee.

SIDE TRIP: Take US169 (L) from Nowata to J. at 18^m with gravel Rd. leading (L) 2.5^m to Will Rogers' Birthpl., 2-story ranch dwelling built by pioneer cattleman Clem V. Rogers, where cowboy humorist was born in 1879.

89. BARTLESVILLE, spreading (W) from loop of Caney R., owes its name to Jacob Bartles, who bought mill nee ly in 1875 from 1st settler, Nelson F. Carr, & opened trading post. Drilling of Okla.'s 1st commercial oil well here (1897) & advent of Santa Fe RR. (1899) spurred growth of town. With discovery of oil came discovery of gas, which provided cheap fuel for zinc smelters, cement plant, & other industries. At N. side of city, Johnstone Pk., through which flows Caney R., contains Discovery Well, where oil was tapped April 15, 1897. Jennings Ave. at 6th St., Phillips Petroleum Co. Research Lab. is windowless glass brick building. Virginia & Cudahy Aves., Petroleum Experiment Sta., largest of kind in U.S., was opened jointly by U.S. Bureau of Mines & St. of Okla. in 1918.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.23 (L) from Bartlesville 12^m to 3,400-a. Frank Phillips Ranch (tours Tues.,Thurs.,Sun.2 p.m.free), where is native-stone Woolaroc Mus., containing fine colls. of Western paintings & bronzes, Ind. artifacts, Navajo blankets, fossils & other articles. Ranch (swim.pic.f.) contains ls., springs, Haunted Grove, Outlaw Gulch, game preserve, Ind. tepee, prairie schooner, & lodge.

US60 cont. (W) along borders of Osage Nation, tract of c.1,500,000 as. bought from Cherokee, to which Osage Inds. were removed from Kans. in 1872. Development of vast oil & gas fields here made them wealthiest of tribes. OSAGE HILLS ST. PK. (cabins.pic.swim.f.), 101., is 740-a. area of very picturesque scenery. At 112.5. is J. with Cty. Rd. No. 7, leading (L) 1^m to Pawhuska Ind. Village. 114. PAWHUSKA, named for famous Osage chief, Paw-Hue-Ska ("White Hair"), is tribal capital, with traditional Ind. atmosphere. Here bet. 1916 & 1928 were held oil lease auctions which netted millions, each member of tribe receiving equal share. At foot of Agency Hill is former Osage Council H., Main & Grandview Sts., now City Hall; atop hill are bldgs. of Osage Agency, where tribal business is conducted. Among them, on site of 1st agency bldg., is Osage Tribal Mus. & Aud. (O.afts.free), housing extensive colls. of Ind. costumes, paintings, bead & feather work, treaties & documents. At 159.5. is J. with US77.

SIDE TRIP: Take US77 (R) to J. with Rd., 0.5^m.

Take latter (R) 4^m to 800-a. L. Ponca (f.boat.pic.).

At 3.5^m is J. with asphalt Rd.

Take latter (R) to Kaw City, 12.5^m, whose Clubb Hotel contains Laura A. Clubb Art Coll. (O.free) of paintings, old laces, & rare books; among its more than 200 paintings are canvases by Titian, Gainsborough, Reynolds, Constable, Corot, Gilbert Stuart, Winslow Homer, & Geo. Inness.

US77 cont. (N) to J. at 21.5^m with a good Rd. leading (L) 1.5^m to Chillico Ind. Sch., est. 1882 by act of Congress, now outstanding vocational training institution with elaborate facils. & experimental farm.

158. PONCA CITY, a sprawling city with Okla.'s 3rd largest industrial payroll, came into existence afternoon of Sept. 13, 1893, when Cherokee Outlet was opened to settlers: group headed by B. S. Barnes settled here & secured R.R. sta. & order to halt trains at site. Growth followed exploitation of oil fields (S) & (E), under lead of E. W. Marland, whose company not only drilled wells but also acquired pipe lines & filling stations; Marland developed Ponca City as a model town. Pop. trebled bet. 1920 & 1930. Today Ponca City prospers on oil refining, airplane mfg., flour milling, dairy products processing & other industries. E. edge of city, bronze Pioneer Woman St. Mon. (1930 by Bryant Baker). Conoco Refinery, SW. edge of town, orig. opened by Marland Refining Co. but acquired in 1929 by Continental Oil Co., is Okla.'s largest; on grounds are Club (O) & Recr. Bldg., golf course & tennis courts, swim. pool & baseball grounds. Grand Ave. at 5th St., Ponca City Lib. (modified Sp.) is community center, containing Ernest Emmett Thompson Mus. of Ind. relics. Opp. lib., Mun. Bldg. (Sp.-Moorish), on landscaped grounds, has mission-type tower. Brookfield Ave. & 5th St., 10-a. Blaine Pk. contains Ponca City Stadium.

At 173. is J. with US177.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) 11m to Blackwell, market center, founded on day of Cherokee Run, Sept. 16, 1893, by group headed by A. J. Blackwell, self-ordained Bapt. preacher who maintained control for some years. Town prospered as a wheat market, meat packing, & zinc smelting center. Products now incl. oil, glass, bricks, cabinetwork, cheese & other dairy products.

171. TONKAWA, named for Tonkawa Inds. who were given this reg. for their reserv. in 1868, was laid out after the Cherokee Run & today is bustling oil city. Here is N. Okla. Jr. College, est. 1901. At POND CREEK, 201., is J. with US81 (see), which unites (S) with US60 for 22m. At 205.5 is (N) J. with US64, which unites (S) with US60-81 to Enid.

SIDE TRIP: Take US64 (R) to J. at 15.5m with Rd.

Take latter (R), turn (R) at 1m, (L) at 2m, & (L) again at 6m to Great Salt Plains Dam, impounding Salt Fork of Ark. R. to form 19,453-a. reservoir in flat, salt-encrusted plains area, glistening white, which has been set aside as wildfowl refuge.

Cherokee, 33m, is center of rich farm and livestock area. At 53m is Northwestern St. College, est. in 1897, at J. with College Ave., leading (R) 0.5m to Alva, a land-office town assigned at opening of the Cherokee Strip (1893), named for Santa Fe Ry. attorney Alva Adams. At 79.5m is J. with St.50.

Take latter (L) 5m to J. with poor Rd. leading (L) to Cedar Canyon Pk. (clubh.meals), in which are Natural Bridge, 150' high, & Alabaster Caverns with many chambers containing fantastic formations, inhabited by millions of bats.

110.5m, Buffalo, founded in 1907, with mun. swim. pool.

Take US183 (L) from Buffalo to Supply, 19m, on site of Ft. Supply, est. 1868 by Gen. Philip H. Sheridan, later hqs. of Gen. Geo. A. Custer in his operations against Plains Inds. Woodward, 33m, market town within a farming & cattle-ranching area, was sett. at opening of Cherokee Strip (1893). From Woodward, take good Rd. (L) 1.5m, then turn (R) to Boiling Springs St. Pk. (cabins.pic.swim.bathh.), 6m, 820-a. hilly, wooded tract on N. Canadian R. with L. & springs. At Selling, 69m, is J. with US60 (see below). (W) of Gate, 136m, US64 traverses windblown "dust bowl" area of Okla. Panhandle, where tumbleweeds flourish, was orig. known as No Man's Land. At 162.5m is J. with US270.

Take latter (L) 6.5m to Beaver, named capital of "territory of Cimarron" at convention held here in 1887 by settlers trying to bring law & order to No Man's Land. Beaver became city seat when Beaver Cty. was added to Okla. Terr. in 1890. It is now a market town for agric. reg.

224m, Guymon, trading center for fertile wheat-growing reg., holds Pioneer Day Celebration (May 2), comm. Organic Act of 1890 which inc. Panhandle into Okla. Terr.

Take US54 (L) from Guymon to Goodwell, 11m, site of Panhandle Agric. & Mechanical College, est. 1909, with Mus. (in Hughes-Strong Hall) of colls. relating to Panhandle, agric. experiment sta. & livestock farm.

Boise City, 285.5m, is Cimarron Cty. seat. At 300.5m is J. with improved Rd.

Turn (L) on this 1m, then (R) on 2nd improved Rd. to Wheless P.O., 6m, then (R) on 3rd Rd. at 8m to Site of Ft. Nichols, 10m, est. by Kit Carson (famous Army scout) in 1865 to protect Santa Fe Trl. Stone fls. of barracks & hqs. bldgs. & part of rampart wall remain. Near-by, location of Santa Fe Trl. is marked by 3 sets of parallel ruts, 10' deep & 20' wide.

At 312m is J. with poor Rd.

Take latter (R) 8m to Hallock Pk. (cabins.pic.swim.), 10-a. area of rugged country with many springs, containing Ind. Pictographs on sandstone bluff.

At 312.5m is Dinosaur Quarry, from which most complete dinosaur coll. in U.S., incl. 3,600 bones weighing more than 18 tons, has been excavated. At Kenton, 321.5m, is J. with poor Rd. leading (R) 2^m to fork, then (L) to Black Mesa, 4^m, lava-capped plateau on which is highest pt. (4,978') in Okla. At 324^m is Okla.-New Mex. Line.

224. ENID, which is 4th in size & 3rd in industry among Okla. cities, is wheat & flour-milling, oil-refining & supply center. Once campsite on Chisholm Cattle Trl. because of large springs here, it was sett. following advent of Rock I. RR. in 1889. Rival settlement was located 3^m (S) at opening of Cherokee Strip (1893), & lively competition ensued, from which S. Enid emerged victor. Advent of 2 more RRs. helped make Enid NW. Okla.'s chief wheat shipping & milling center. Oil fields in vic. were exploited in 1920's. City today also has poultry & dairy produce houses, packing plants, & stockyards. Broadway & Market Sts., Gov. Springs Pk. (pic.swim. bathh.) comprises old campsite & drinking hole on Chisholm Trl. 515 E. Spruce St., Pillsbury Four Mill (O.10-11:30.guides), Okla.'s largest. On city outskirts, Phillips Univ., chartered 1906, is coed. Christian Ch. institution; in Main Bldg., 3rd floor, are Ind., zoological, & botanical colls. Enid is at J. with US64, conn. with US66 (see).

Sec. 2: ENID to OKLA.-TEX. LINE. 136.

(W) of ENID, 0., US60 cuts through high, dry wheat-growing & grazing land. 18. MENO is Okla.'s largest Mennonite settlement. US60 crosses CIMARRON R., 34.5., & passes fantastically shaped, gypsum-covered GLASS MTS. (R), sparkling with crystals. FAIRVIEW, 43., & SELLING, 75., are farmers' trading towns; latter was home for several years of temperance crusader Carry Nation. Seiling is at J. with US270, conn. with US64 (see above) & US66 (see). 96. VICI, agricultural center, lies at E. edge of "dust bowl," in which improved farming methods & planting of shelter belt of trees are helping reduce erosion by wind. 123. ARNETT is trading center for stock & small grain area. 136. OKLA.-TEX. LINE.

US 66—OKLAHOMA

OKLA.-KANS. LINE (4^m from Baxter Springs, Kans.) (SW) to OKLA.-TEX. LINE (14^m from Shamrock, Tex.). 385. US66

Via: Miami, Vinita, Claremore, Tulsa, Oklahoma City, El Reno & Sayre. RRs. parallel entire route. Accom.: At short intervals.

Okla.'s most heavily travelled route, US66; known as "Will Rogers Hy.," cuts (SW) through mining districts & oil fields to Oklahoma City, then (W) through stock & farming country to high plains.

Sec. 1: OKLA.-KANS. LINE to OKLAHOMA CITY. 229.

0. From OKLA.-KANS. LINE, US66 cuts through lead- & zinc-mining area to QUAPAW, 4.5., formerly occupied by Quapaw Inds., where mining began before 1900. COMMERCE, 10., town around which are mine debris dumps. 14.5. MIAMI, chief center of mining reg., was laid out in 1891 in vic. of trading post called Jimtown for four "Jims" of vic., & named for wife of one of them, half-breed Miami Indian. Finding of lead & zinc in 1905 boomed the population. Miami today is also cattle-raising & dairy center. It operates Okla.'s largest concrete swim. pool. E. edge of city, NE. Okla. A. & M. College, est. 1919, specializes in mining & agric. instruction. 25. J. with US60 (see), which unites with US66 for 25^m. At 40.5. is J. with St.82.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) 15.5^m to Pensacola Dam, world's longest multiple-arch dam (6,565'), completed 1941 as hydroelectric power project, impounding 59,000-a. L. o' The Cherokees, with 1,300^m shore line (resorts.f.).

45. VINITA, founded with advent of RRs. in 1871, was named by Col. Elias C. Boudinot, Cherokee Ind. & town promoter, for Vinnie Ream, sculptress of Abr. Lincoln Statue in National Capitol. 109.5. TULSA

Through RR., bus & plane conns. Accom.: Numerous hotels & roomings., tourist camps & trlr. pks. on all hys. Info.: Tulsa C. of C., 5th & Cincinnati Sts. Recr. facil.: Convention Hall & Akdar Theatre for road shows & concerts, Tulsa Little Theatre; golf at 9 courses, mun. & pri.; tennis at numerous free mun. courts; swim. at Newblock Pool (mun.), Crystal City Pk., & YMCA; boat. & fish. at Mohawk Pk.; sports events at Skelly Stadium & The Coliseum. Annual events: Livestock Exposition, Mar.; Horse Show, May; Music Festival, May; State Fair, Sept. International Petroleum Exposition, May, biennially in even-numbered years.

Okla.'s 2nd largest city, Tulsa calls itself "Oil Capital of the World": over 500 oil drilling, producing, refining, marketing, pipe line, & equipment mfg. companies have hqs. here—more than in any other city—and Tulsa's biennial International Petroleum Exposition is largest regularly devoted to single industry; at hub of country's pipelines, Tulsa is chief center for petroleum technology, oil industry publications & associations. Almost entirely product of 20th century, it has increased its pop. from 1,390 in 1900 (year before drilling of Okla.'s 1st commercially important well at Red Fork, now within city limits) to over 190,000 in 1948. Its modern skyscraper-dominated bus. dist. & luxurious south-side residential quarter; its many pks., up-to-date schs. & chs.; its Tulsa Symphony Orchestra, Philbrook Art Mus., & Univ. of Tulsa—all give it metropolitan atmosphere untypical of oil-boom centers or other Okla. cities. Although petroleum & allied industries dominate, it has others: chemical, glass, & steel works; cotton mill & garment factories; furniture, automobile body, brick & tile, & oxygen-mfg. plants. Until 1882, when Atlantic & Pacific (now "Frisco") RR. est. terminus here, this was merely scattered Creek Ind. settlement on E. bank of Ark. R. named "Tulsey Town" for Inds.' former community, Tulsey (now Tallasee), Ala. Main St. was surveyed by RR. engineer. Soon bustling cow town, Tulsa became resort of gamblers & bad men; nevertheless Sunday Sch. was formed in 1883 & Presb. mission est. following year. When oil was discovered across R. at Red Fork, town began to grow; bridge was hastily built across R. By 1910 boom was underway: hotels & office bldgs. were erected, streets paved, banks est., as fortunes were made from Okla.'s 1st big oil field, 16m away (S). By 1920, population was 72,075. Influx of both white & Negro laborers after World War I was followed by violent race riot in June, 1921, during which Negro dist. was burned & 36 persons were killed. Continued growth soon brought social stability. World War II led to increased industrial expansion, followed by greatest construction boom in city's history.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) 3 S. Boston Ave., Union Depot (1931), Okla.'s 1st, is modern-style structure with imposing foyer. (2) Standing before a home at 1730 S. SIDE TRIPS: (A) Take US64 (R) from Tulsa to Sand Springs, 7.5^m, where Cherokee Inds. sett. in 1826 but were forced to move when Creek Inds. claimed area in 1831. At S. edge of city, near Ark. R., Creek Burial Ground is preserved. 3rd & Memorial Sts., Page Mem. Lib. comm. oil millionaire Chas. Page, who bought land here in 1907, built home for widows & orphans & conn. it by electric ry. with Tulsa. Industries followed, & in 1911 city was platted. 19.5^m, Keystone, at fork of Cimarron & Ark. Rs., once saloon-infested frontier center, is now simple rural sett. US64 follows Ark. R. to Cleveland, 37^m, called "Gate City" because for yrs. it had only bridge across R. bet. Tulsa & Kans. Line. It is supported by ranching, dairying, & oil production. Pawnee, 58^m, became site of Pawnee Agency in 1876; town developed when Pawnee lands became avail. for sett. in 1893. Ind. Schools, U.S. Ind. Hospital, & Pawnee Agency are located here today. St.18 leads (R) 1^m to 305-a. L. Pawnee (swim.recr.facils.). At 59.5^m, on Blue Hawk Peak, is Home of "Pawnee Bill" (Maj. Gordon W. Lillie), Ind. interpreter & frontiersman & originator of Pawnee Bill's Wild West Circus, who built "Old Town," 61.5^m, now somewhat in disrepair, illustrating a frontier settlement. At 73.5^m is J. with St.40.

Take latter (L) 12^m to Stillwater, 1st sett. by "Boomers" (illegal homesteaders), who were ousted in 1885 from their "Prairie Dog Town" of dugouts by U.S. troops. It was officially platted after opening of Okla. Terr. in 1889 & developed as college town & farm center with agric. processing industries. At NW. edge, Okla. Agric. & Mechanical College, est. by act of Terr. Assembly in 1890, occupies over 55 bldgs. on 200-a. campus & outlying farm holdings; it carries on notable agric. experiment program & operates nation's only firemanship training sch. St.51 leads (R) 5^m from Stillwater to 3,360-a. L. Carl Blackwell (swim.pic.boat.h.).

Perry, 85.5^m, rural sett., designated a land-office town when Cherokee Strip was opened in 1893, began as mushroom town of tents & clapboards, soon overrun with saloons & gamblers. US64 cont. to Enid (see US60), 125.5^m, at Js. with US60 (see) & US81 (see).

(B) Take St.33 (R) from Tulsa, which unites with US64 (see above) for 19.5^m, then branches (SW) to Drumright, 49^m, oil-boom town laid out in 1913 among for. of derricks in Cushing Field, for several years after 1912 world's richest. Cushing, 58.5^m, settled in 1892, boomed overnight with discovery of rich field in vic., known by its name; 12 refineries, over 700 tanks, & vast network of pipe lines were soon built here. Since 1930 abundant supply of water & natural gas & mun. light & power plant have attracted other industries. 68^m, Langston, an all-Negro town est. in 1890 by E. P. McCabe & named for Negro educator & Congressman John M. Langston of Va., is site of Langston Univ., chartered by Terr. legislature in 1897, which emphasizes teacher-training & vocational courses. Guthrie, 100^m, est. with construction of A.T. & S.F. RR. in 1887, was only name on RR. map until opening of Okla. Terr. to settlers in 1889, when 15,000 flocked to site & within 3 wks. prairie metropolis developed, soon equipped with newspapers, waterworks, electric lights. Designated seat of gov., it remained capital of Okla. until 1910, when Okla. City supplanted it after forced election. 304 W. Okla. Ave., early City Hall (1902) where Constitutional Convention convened during 1906-07. Scottish Rite Temple, built at cost c. $2,500,000, is said to be largest in world devoted exclusively to Masonic purposes. 402 E. College, Cath. women's college, outgrowth of St. Joseph's Academy, opened 1897, conducted by Benedictine Sisters of the Sacred Heart. Guthrie is at J. with US77, leading (S) to J. at 116.5m with US66 (see below).

(S) of Tulsa, US60 & US75 (see) are united for 14.5m. 124. SAPULPA, as terminus of "Frisco" RR. after 1886, developed as cattle-shipping pt., named for Creek "Chief" J. M. Sapulpa, early settler near site. With discovery of oil in vic., Sapulpa boomed, & many of Creek Inds. grew wealthy from oil leases. Sapulpa now has glass, brick, pottery & packing plants. At E. edge is Euchee Ind. Boarding Sch., est. 1893 & acquired by Fed. Gov. in 1928. At Sapulpa US75 (see) branches (S). US66 cont. to BRISTOW, 149., which began as trading post among Creeks in 1897 & was est. as town soon after when "Frisco" RR. extended line here. Oil & gas production in vic. dominate its economic life. 180.5. CHANDLER, dating from 1891, is one of country's 1st pecan-distribution pts., with pecan-shelling plant. At 213.5, is J. with US77 (see above). 217. EDMOND, est. as a railroad stopover & cattle-shipping pt. on Santa Fe Ry. in 1887, grew into town overnight in homesteaders' "Run" of Ap., 1889. It depends chiefly on agric. & oil. On edge of town, Central St. College, est. 1891.

Capital & largest city of Okla., Oklahoma City spreads (N) & (S) of usually dry N. Canadian R., with skyscrapers rising at its center & oil derricks crowding in at edges. At heart of city is modern Civic Center. (NE) lie St. Capitol & other St. bldgs., overtopped (N) by steel oil derricks, with handsome residential sec. adj. On E. side, beyond RR. tracks, is chief Negro sec. To (SE), oil derricks crowd whole quarter of city, squeezing out residences. On S. side, modest homes set on wide aves. extend into suburbs & farmlands beyond. Stockyards, packing plants & other industrial establishments border bus. dist. on W. To (NW) spreads chief residential dist., with schs., hospitals, & pks. Okla. City's 5 Fed. hys., 5 major RRs., 3 mun. & 3 priv. airports make it important transportation center. Its high gravity oil field is world's 2nd largest in production; oil processing & mfg. of oil field equipment are important industries. Situated where cotton & wheat belts overlap, it has become grain milling & cotton processing center. Its stockyards & packing plants make it Okla.'s chief cattle market. Its prosperity has given it wide variety of recr. & cultural facils.: Okla. City Univ. & Univ. of Okla. Sch. of Medicine, Okla. City Symphony Orchestra & Okla. Art Center, 66 pub. pks. & 2 outdoor amphitheatres, country clubs & sports facils.

Site was nothing but bare prairie until "Run" of Ap. 22, 1889, when 10,000 homesteaders camped here on land set aside for townsite around freight car used as sta. by Santa Fe Ry. For 13 months community was ruled by provisional gov. It grew rapidly, pop. increasing from 10,000 to 66,000 bet. 1890 & 1910 as flour & cottonseed-oil mills & meat-packing plants were est. & 4 more RRs. extended lines here. Capital of Okla. was removed here from Guthrie in 1910. World War I spurred economic development. Iron & steel plants, furniture & clothing factories, & electrical equipment plants were added. In Dec. 1928 Okla. City oil field was discovered; within 2 yrs. world oil market was flooded, & derricks were crowding into SE. sec. of city; gushers & spectacular fires occurred often. Drilling cont. throughout 1930's; wells were sunk even within few yards of St. Capitol. By 1940 pop. had increased to 204,424. World War II, during which Okla. City's mun. airport became important Army Air Corps base, brought further expansion.

Dallas, industrial & commercial city set in midst of vast cotton & oil fields, leads world in manufacture of cotton gin machinery & volume distribution of cottonseed products. It is fashion center of Southwest, 2nd in U.S. in production of wash dresses & women's hats. Lies at convergence of 3 forks of Trinity R. Has almost none of Wild West traditions of other Tex. cities, being more cosmopolitan than most of its sister cities. Town site platted in 1846, Judge Wm. Hord starting rival settlement on W. bank of Trinity R. Alex. Cockrell started bldg. campaign & est. ferry. Followers of socialist Victor Considerant est. cooperative community of La Reunion which failed & most of residents, trained & talented men, settled in Dallas. During Civil War, pop. swelled along with expansion of Ch. & school facils. From South flocked cotton growers to plant Blacklands; 1st RRs. arrived 1872 & Dallas rapidly became strangled, congested city. Flood of Trinity in 1908 brought demands for city planning which resulted in formulated program with new bldgs., handsome blvds. & industrial improvements. Channeling & building of levees on Trinity R. reclaimed 10,553 as. Such improvements aided industrial expansion & with this has brought city affluence & diversity of cultural facils.

Ft. Worth, 4th largest city in Tex., "where the West begins," lies on Trinity R. at E. edge of (N) Central Plains. It is center for livestock industry with largest stockyards (S) of St. Louis & largest inland oil refining center in Tex., conn. by world's biggest network of pipe lines with oil fields; hqs. of more than 600 oil cos. here, as well as plants producing oil-drilling tools & rigs. This is the SW.'s terminal grain market & has variety of industrial plants. Irregularities of city's early growth have been corrected by smart city planning, giving town handsome blvds. cleanly lined by tall modern bldgs. Actually never a fort, was camp so named where in 1849 Brevet Maj. R. A. Arnold & troops kept watch on Inds. After 1870, Ft. Worth grew rapidly, with land values & pop. booming until "Panic of '73" hit. Population fell from 5,000 to 1,000 but those who stayed fought for completion of incoming Tex. & Pac. RR., halted by Panic, offering to grade remaining 26m of roadbed in exchange for lien against RR. This began desperate race with time to finish undertaking before land grant for right-of-way expired; every business house in town sent its employees to wield pick & shovel with women working in relays to feed men & water mules. On July 19, 1876, 1st train whistled into Ft. Worth with local newspaper editor fueling firebox, thus beginning city's present RR. network. Ft. Worth's location makes for most convenient base of operations for oil fields to (N) & (W); promotion companies sprang up in numbers making it "wildcat" center of world. An extensive bldg. program was carried on in 1930's with construction of city hall & pub. lib. & expansion of educational & charitable institutions. PTS. OF INT.: (1) N. "City of the Pass" was port of entry to Mex. through which conquistadores trudged nearly 4 centuries ago seeking easiest route on expeditions through mts., leaving behind definite imprint of Sp. influence on area. City spreads fan-shaped at foot of Comanche peak & Sierra Madre Mts., forming effective background for El Paso's sister city, Juarez, across Rio Grande in Mex., which does tourist trade in pottery, leather goods, handicrafts & bull fights. Vic. of city's site visited in 1536 by de Vaca; in 1598 Juan de Oñate named city "El Paso del Norte." Mission settlements sprang up c.1680; not until 1827, however, was settlement made on present site, growing around ranchh. of Juan Maria Ponce de Leon, & remained Mex. town after est. of Republic of Tex. In 1846, Doniphan's regiment brought Mex. War to El Paso which surrendered amiably. City was inc. in 1873; residents saw turbulent times after arrival of RRs. brought stampede of lawless elements who found river a convenient crossing pt. to safety in another country. However, order was established by series of straight-shooting sheriffs & Tex. Rangers. Juarez took refuge here until Maximilian was executed, & Pancho Villa harried border until abdication of Porfirio Diaz. Largest city in Tex. & newest of country's major shipping centers, Houston is tide-water port 50^m inland, conn. with Gulf by Houston Ship Channel; largest cotton-shipping port in U.S. & largest oil-shipping port in world. Dominating skyline soars above 73 sq. miles of surrounding prairie. First settlement on site was Harrisburg. Here in March 1836, Pres. "ad interim" Burnet of Republic of Tex. & his cabinet, taking refuge from approaching Mex. forces of Santa Anna, transferred seat of govt. from Washington on Brazos. Offered for sale as town site Aug. 30, 1836; named for Sam Houston. Town was still so insignificant in Jan. 1837 that skipper of sternwheeler, "Laura M.," went past without noticing it, & had to back up. In May 1837, Tex. gov. occupied its new capital. It survived, though with indignation, removal of capital to Austin in 1839 & began to prosper as cotton-shipping pt.; by 1858 two RR. lines had been built, to Hempstead & Galveston. Deepening & widening of Buffalo Bayou ship channel was carried forward; improvements to accommodate modern steamships were made after 1900. Channel since widened to 200' & turning basin with 1,100' diam. created. Rapid growth of city's prosperity after 1915 was soon reflected in bldgs. & diversity of architectural styles.

Third largest & most diversified in past hist. & present color of Tex. cities, San Antonio began as Sp. outpost, became Amer. frontier community & is now industrial center & tourist winter resort. Unlike most Amer. cities, it is laid out on radial principle, extending like a huge spider web from an irregular quadrilateral. Founded as military center, it remains one: within its limits is Ft. Sam Houston, largest Army post in U.S., & scattered in & around it are military aviation fields & varied military supply depots. San Antonio's ancient missions still stand; & its populous Mex. quarter perpetuates language & customs of earlier days. More than 30 nationalities are represented in cosmopolitan pop., 36 percent of which is of Mex. blood.

In 1691, Don Domingo Teran de los Rios, accompanied by Father Damian Massanet & 50 soldiers, found large Ind. village here; Father Massanet, having erected cross & arbor under which to say mass, christened place San Antonio in honor of St. Anthony of Padua. On May 1, Fray Olivares, who had come with 72 settlers from Mex. in 1718, founded Mission San Antonio de Valero (present-day Alamo). Gov. Alarcon 4 days later founded Villa de Bejar & within next 13 yrs., 4 more missions were founded along R. bank within distance of 7m. Fort, villa & settlement about Mission San Antonio were consolidated into San Antonio de Bexar, capital of Province of Tex. In 1835, many Mex. residents joined cause of independence from rule of Santa Anna, Pres. of Mex.; Tex. revolutionists stormed town & compelled surrender of Gen. Martin Perfecto de Cos; Santa Anna retaliated heavily & on Mar. 6 took the fortress of Alamo after every defender had died. Following victory of Tex. Rev., however, San Antonio became W. outpost of Republic & its non-Latin settlement increased. Beginning of cattle drives & advent of 1st RR. (1877) brought great changes, with San Antonio passing through lurid period typical of cow towns. Today, petroleum industry is city's biggest, with oil well operators, refineries & supply firms employing thousands.

Galveston lies at E. end of Galveston I., conn. to mainland by 2 vehicular causeways & RR. bridge. Harbor bustles with traffic from hundred ports; with extensive dock & warehouse facils. incl. drydock & ship repair plants. City protected against Gulf by formidable sea wall, would convey impression of powerful fortress but for masses of flowers, homes & fine pks., throngs of sea bathers.

On Galveston I., or near it, Cabeza de Vaca, 1st European to see inter. of Tex., was shipwrecked. Bay surveyed in 1785 or 1786, named for Count Bernardo de Galvez. Don Luis Aury, during Mex. Rev., est. settlement & fortifications, & used I. for base to prey on Sp. merchant vessels. Jean Lafitte sailed into Galveston Bay, took possession under flag of Mex. & named it Campeachy. Here he built a fortress home which he called Maison Rouge to which pirate expeditions brought spoils. Hurricane of 1820 left settlement in ruins, which was to be harassed by Karankawa Inds. Later, U.S. cutter gave ultimatum for Lafitte's evacuation; he left Campeachy in flames; finally reestab. when designated port of entry by Mex. Gov. of Tex. used Galveston as naval base operating against Mex. Navy. After est. of Republic came the tide of immigration; during Civil War after blockade, Fed. forces took city, 1862, recaptured by Confed. in 1863. Galveston made deep-water port, 1896. On Sept. 8, 1900 one of worst hurricane disasters hit town. Rehabilitation quickly undertaken to prevent recurrence; present seawall built & level of city raised on Gulf side; in hurricane of 1915, city spared serious damage as result of such planning. Galveston has developed in subsequent years until today it is one of country's leading ports & resort centers, its streets lined with oleanders.

165. BRADY, 1875 frontier trading post, is now one of State's chief shipping pts. for poultry, especially turkeys. 194. MASON has many bldgs. constructed with stone taken from near-by old Ft. Mason, abandoned 1869, which once had more than 100 stone structures. 237. FREDERICKSBURG, in hill-rimmed green valley, is trim German town preserving in architecture & customs an Old World air. Thick-walled old stone Hs. with high sloping roofs & outside stairways, bordered by neat flower beds, line its long, wide main street. It was sett. in 1846 by immigrants who named it for Frederick the Great of Prussia; surviving raids by Comanche Inds., it began to prosper on trade with soldiers of near-by Ft. Martin Scott. Settlers refused to enlist in Confed. cause; town remained isolated until it built its own RR. conn. in 1912 & thus became unusually self-sustaining, producing most necessities & some luxuries. Traditional festivals are still celebrated: most important is "Saengerfest" (May), when singing clubs of dist. gather for county-wide contest. Town's "Sunday houses" recall days when transportation from outlying farms was arduous & slow. Families which came to market Sat. & to ch. on Sun. built these homes as a convenient & inexpensive way of week-ending in town & Hs. are still used for this.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) E. Main St. bet. S. Washington & S. Elk Sts., Kiehne H. (O.sm. fee.1851), of stone & timber, was town's 1st 2-story H. (2) N. Washington & E. TRIPS OUT OF SANTA FE

I. Santa Fe to Taos (see Ratón above).

II. Santa Fe to Bandelier Nat. Mon. 44. US285, St.4

From Santa Fe (N) on US285 to J. with St.4, 16^m at Pojoaque. (L) on St.4 to Los Alamos, 34^m, where 1st atom bomb test was made. Town is located on mesa top set in scrub cedars & piñon pines at foot of tall mesas where sunset frames peaks of distant Sangre De Cristo (Blood of Christ) Mts., fitting portent for deceptively peaceful town, known as "Capital of the Atomic Age." Constantly patrolled by uniformed guards, its nearly 69,000 as. & outlying sites are surrounded by high wire fence enclosing test sites deep in wooded canyons or near-by mesas & "Tech. Area," the highly equipped research lab. (under contract with Univ. of Cal.), now working on atom bomb that will probably make obsolete the one used at Eniwetok. Los Alamos, composite of boom town, honky-tonk & metropolis, with over-all military flavor, plans for 100 million dollar modernization program, if Congress allows, which will increase present pop. to c.12,000. (L) on St.4, to Monument, 44^m. Most accessible features of Bandelier are ruins in Frijoles Canyon. Cliff ruins extend along base of N. wall of canyon for 2^m. These Hs. of masonry, irregularly terraced, from 1 to 3 stories in height, had many cave rooms, gouged out of solid cliff. In front of caves is ruined pueblo of Tryunoyi, on floor of Frijoles Canyon, large structure of nearly circular plan, with 3 kivas in enclosed plaza. Area consists of 26,000 as. Mon. closed to pub. Dec. to Feb. yrly. Open to travel other months. Lodging & meals obtained May-Sept. (accoms.facils.at Frijoles Canyon Lodge. camp sites.trlr.facils.).

More than 25,000 Navajo roam far reaches of mesa, raise flock of sheep & goats, weave fine blankets, make magnificent silver & turquoise jewelry. They live in mound-shaped hogans (houses) but usually utilize near-by brush shelters during summer. Unlike other tribes they have no villages—their homes being widely spaced & locations changed from time to time dependent upon grazing needs. A deeply religious people, they have many legends, ceremonials & dances, held at unpredictable times throughout yr. 39^m Canado, at J. with St. Michaels-Moenkopi Rd. (limited accoms.). Trading post & home of famed Presb. Sage Mem. Hospital & Mission, headed by Dr. Clarence G. Salsbury, self-styled "Sage-Brush Physician" & known among tribesmen as "Dr. Big." On 200-a. tract are 50 bldgs. incl. ch., high sch., mission, mod. 150-bed hospital, shops, dormitories, residences, etc., a 1¼ million dollar investment dedicated to serving humanity & substituting white man's medical & surgical genius for the Navajo medicine man's "magic." (L) on St. Michaels-Moenkopi Rd., 6.5^m, to J. with improved Rd. at 45.5^m.

(R) to Chinle, 35^m (limited accoms.), adm. hqs. & boarding sch. for Navajo children. Nat. Pk. Serv. Hqs. (L) 2^m (accoms guide serv. info.). Canyon de Chelly Nat. Mon. contains 3 separate canyons, de Chelly, del Muerto & Mon. canyons. Noted for many prehist. cliff dwellings, most notable being "White House Ruins." Rim Tour, from where White House Ruins can be viewed, may be taken in personally owned car any time of yr., but trips along floor of Canyon depend on weather conditions & are supervised by Pk. Serv. ranger in specially equipped car; also horseback trips.

Cont. (L) on St. Michaels-Moenkopi Rd. to Steamboat Canyon, 56^m. Rd. follows floor of canyon for c.5^m. At 58^m (R) is large rock formation whose striking resemblance to a vessel is more apparent when viewed from (W). At 63^m, Rd. crosses E. boundary of Hopi (Hoe-pea) Ind. Reserv. which is completely surrounded by Navajo Reserv. Hopi, numbering over 3,000, are agriculturalists & Ariz.'s only Pueblo Inds. All but 1 of 11 villages are on mesa-tops. Each village is autonomous, possessing its own lands, social & ceremonial organization. They all speak same language & have similar customs, although there is no feeling of unity among the villages. At 75.5^m is J. with improved Rd. (L) to Holbrook (US66). Keam's Canyon, 81^m, site of Hopi Agency. Coal is mined here for Reserv. use. At 94^m is J. with improved Rd. (R) on dirt Rd. to summit: 1^m Hano, composed of Tewa (Tay-wuh) speaking Inds. from Rio Grande who came to assist Walpi when attacked in 17th cent., then sett. here. 1.2^m Sichomivi, little more than suburb of Walpi. 2^m Walpi, perched precariously on narrow top of steep rock cliff; stone of angular houses merges so imperceptibly with stone of mesa that it suggests castle in sky. Walpi's houses, built 2-3 stories, are crowded on this narrow site, not wasting an inch.

On its winding ascent of the 2nd Mesa, Rd. passes villages of Mishongnovi, 99^m (Snake Dance Aug. odd yrs.), & Shipolovi, 99.2^m (Snake Dance Aug. even yrs.). 120^m Lower Oraibi (Ore-eye-be), trading post. Coll. of Hopi hs. & peach orchards at foot of 3rd or western-most Hopi mesa. At lower Oraibi is J. with improved Rd. to US66 (L) & Flagstaff. Old Pueblo of Oraibi, 121^m, on top of mesa, visited by Padre Garces in 1776, once largest Hopi town of over 800; with less than 100 now, for in 1907 the conservative half of populace moved 7^m (W) to found village of Hotevilla. Another group sett. Bakabi, following yr. 128^m Hotevilla, most mod. & conservative of all Hopi towns. Rd. cont. & joins US89 at 188^m, 60^m (W) of Hotevilla. From J. with US89 (S) 61^m to Flagstaff at 249^m.

(US89 to Prescott, Flagstaff, Salt Lake City.) 332. SALOME (accoms.facils.bus) was home of Dick Wick Hall, Ariz.'s widely-known humorist, who in turn made town of Salome known through "Saturday Evening Post" stories & syndicated articles as well as his local advertising at this desert hamlet. "Salome—Where She Danced," became a by-word. Hall's mimeographed sheet, "The Salome Sun," passed out to motorists, was devoted to humor, sketches & criticism, especially of the Rd. to Yuma which was then barely passable. Upon Hall's death in 1926, a Mon. was erected there to his memory, & some of the humorous old signs still hang where he placed them. 339. HOPE. J. with St.72, leading (R) 50^m to Parker, trade center for Colo. R. Ind. Reserv.). 370. QUARTZSITE, at J. with St.95 (L) (87^m to Yuma), was formerly called Tyson's Well, important early stage stop. Site of old Ft. Tyson (L), built in 1856, prominent in Ind. warfare. 372. QUARTZSITE CEMETERY & HI JOLLY MON. (R), grave and mon. to Hi Jolly, Syrian camel driver brought here by War Dept. for experiment (1858) with camels on Ariz. desert as beasts of burden. Project was soon abandoned as stony surface of terrain damaged animals' feet. Many legends have grown around Ariz.'s camels, some of which were turned loose, some sold to circuses. Hi Jolly remained to prospect for gold. 390. EHRENBURG, named for pioneer Hermann Ehrenberg, German mining engineer who came to Ariz. 1854. Boothill Cemetery near-by, est. 1856, has countless unmarked graves containing bones of pioneers who died with their boots on, fitting end to Trl. of Graves. Mon. has embedded in concrete, guns, branding irons, burro shoes, spurs & other early day articles. At 392. US60-70 crosses Colo. R. Bridge & ARIZ.-CAL. LINE.

US 80—ARIZONA

N.M.-ARIZ. LINE (46^m from Lordsburg, N.M.) (W) to ARIZ.-CAL. LINE (at Yuma, Ariz.). 415. US80

US80 from N.M. Line to Douglas & Tucson; St.84 from Tucson to Gila Bend; US80 from Gila Bend to Yuma & El Centro, Cal. S.P. RR. & Greyhound bus parallel route. All types accoms. at Douglas, Bisbee, Tucson & Yuma; limited elsewhere.

Route, continually surrounded by Mts., traverses S. semi-desert, which varies from 5,000' to near sea level at Yuma (137'). Route incl. mining communities, metropolis of Tucson, & great irrigation farming areas.

50. DOUGLAS, on Mex. border, is smelter town in Sulphur Spring Valley, vast grazing & agric area. In 1900, Phelps Dodge Corp. of Bisbee, unable to expand smelter facilities at Bisbee due to unusual terrain, selected site of Douglas for new smelter, now Calumet & Ariz. Smelter (O). Agua Prieta, Mexico (across street from Douglas) is quaint Mex. town. Tourists cross freely; no visas or passports required. (Inquire C. of C. for pts. of int. & for conditions & best routes).

SIDE TRIP: On Rd. leading (N) 40m to Rucker Canyon, picturesque recr. area in Coronado Nat. For. (pub. campgrounds). Chiricahua Nat. Mon. (Wonderland of Rocks), 82m, one of world's great natural wonders (camp sites). Here are giant rock formations, caused by centuries of erosion. Other rock formations, aside from giant boulders weighing many tons balancing on pin-point bases, resemble birds, beasts, human as well as fantastic forms. 95m Rustler Pk., atop Chiricahua Mt. (8,500'), is an area of great beauty among pines & spruce (winter sports.pub.campground).

73. BISBEE, seat of Cochise Cty. & center of one of richest copper dists. in U.S. Principal town of Warren Mining Dist., comprised of Bisbee, Warren & Lowell. Built in Mule Pass Gulch, Bisbee houses cling to slopes of 2 long narrow canyons: Tombstone Canyon & Brewery Gulch. Bisbee is largest town in U.S. without home mail delivery serv., terrain being such that P.O. authorities decided it was too strenuous for postal carriers. Citizens trudge down hills to P.O. for mail. Phelps Dodge Corp. owns most of productive area of Warren Dist. as well as Bisbee's largest hotel, hospital, store, lib. & other enterprises, in addition to Copper Queen mining properties. Sacramento Pit (SE) of P.O. Plaza, is pit 435' deep, cored out of Sacramento Hill, & covering 35 as. Yielded nearly 21 million tons of ore. A narrow-gauge RR., cut into pit walls, winds from highest shelf of man-made crater to its floor. 99. TOMBSTONE. Ed Schieffelin, soldier-pro prospector in 1877, started out across Apache-infested country looking for gold. He was told instead of a mine he would find his tombstone. When he stumbled across some rich-looking ore, he was said to have remarked, "Here is my tombstone," & he gave that name to the place upon which arose the great Tombstone mining camp. Town was laid out in 1879; was inc. & made Cty. seat in 1881; Cty. seat later removed to Bisbee. As news of the strike spread, prospectors, miners, business men & gamblers came in by the hundreds. Tombstone, the "Town Too Tough To Die," is one of most colorful of Ariz.'s early boom towns—colorful because of its turbulent past, which reached its height in early 1880's with the Earp-Clanton Feud when a gunfight at O.K. Corral in center of town brought about the death of 3 men & several wounded in less than 1 minute of fierce exchange of gunfire. This & other early Tombstone escapades are re-enacted at annual Helldorado Days late in Oct. Camp had only 10 yrs. of highly active life, with an estimated 80 million dollars taken from its mines; then pop. dwindled. Today, Tombstone is again a lively town with health clinics & tourist business replacing the boom town mining days. Town is full of int. hist. pts. (all marked), incl. Bird Cage Theater, Crystal Palace Saloon, Oriental Bar, Russ H., Million Dollar Stope, "Epitaph" (newspaper) Office, O.K. Corral, world's largest Rosebush & others. 123. BENSON. J. with US666, St.86. At 168. is J. with US89. US80 & US89 unite through Tucson (see US89). At 174.5. on US80-89 is J. with St.84 (L), which now becomes the route. At 219. is J. with St.87 (R) to Coolidge, Casa Grande Nat. Mon. & Phoenix (see US89). 238. CASA GRANDE, named for Casa Grande (Sp., "big house") Ruins near-by. Casa Grande Valley, in San Carlos Irrigation Project, utilizes water stored by Coolidge Dam, supplemented with pumping wells. Rich agric. area.

297. GILA BEND is J. with US80 (R), which now becomes the route (R). SIDE TRIP: (S) on St.85 (L) 150m to Rocky Pt. on Gulf of Cal. Route is through desert country & mining community of Ajo (Ah-hoe). (No accoms.facils. or supplies bet. Ajo & Sonoyta, Mex. For Tourist Permit from Ariz. to Rocky Pt., inquire at Sonoyta, Ariz. at Border.) 42m Ajo, (Sp., "garlic", that grows wild in surrounding hills). Ajo Copper Co., org. 1854, sent ore by pack mules to Yuma, 100m away, whence it was shipped down Colo. R. & around Cape Horn to Swansea, Wales, for smelting. New Cornelia Copper Co. was org. 1916 & town grew rapidly. In 1931, Co. became Phelps Dodge Corp., & as in most mining towns, pop. fluctuates with price of copper. At 54m is boundary of Organ Pipe Cactus Nat. Mon. of more than 516 sq. miles of rolling hills, mt. ranges & alluvial plain to Mex. Border. Organ Pipe Cactus, with its dozens of tubular arms branching from main stem at the ground, grows straight up for 20' or more, forming a cluster of perpendicular pipes that resemble an organ. It is as spectacular as it is rare, growing only in this relatively small area (mostly in S. part of Mont. & in Mex.). Saguaro, palo verde, ocotillo, cholla, & desert ironwood also grow profusely here. 85m Sonoita, Mex., delightful border town of mud-colored huts & white plastered adobes, where customs of time of Sp. rule have little changed. 150m Puerto Penasco (Rocky Pt.) (accoms.camp.boat.f.facils. avail.) on Gulf of Cal. provides an abundance of deep sea fish in great variety, such as sea bass, red snapper, yellow tail, swordfish, jew fish, cabrilla. Town is quaint & its people quite primitive. Fishing is important industry. Boat-builders are usually busily engaged along shore constructing new boats for accom. of f. parties that can be arranged at hotel where Eng. is spoken.

415. YUMA, at confluence of Colo. & Gila Rs., is seat of Yuma Cty. & center of great irrigation dist. Rich alluvial soil supports extensive citrus, date & pecan orchards, cotton, alfalfa, wheat, barley & other rich crops. Much of flavor of Yuma is concentrated in shadowed recesses of covered sidewalks of Yuma's Main Street. Inds. from near-by Yuma & Cocopah Reserv. add color to scene. Sp. Missions est. here (1779) although there were earlier Sp. visitors. During war with Mexico in 1847, country became generally known to Amers. Steamer traffic on Colo. R. & ferries across R. cont. to operate until 1915, although S.P. RR. entered Yuma from Cal. in 1878. Yuma Cty.'s gold output amounted to many millions of dollars in early days. 1st terr. prison erected here (1876) & abandoned (1909) when new one was built at Florence. Prison Ruins, on ledge overlooking Colo. R. (O.9-5.wks.). Yuma is very close to ARIZ.-CAL. LINE.

UTAH-ARIZ. LINE (3m from Kanab, Utah) (S) to MEX. BORDER (Nogales, Sonora, Mexico). 607. US89

Via: Jacob Lake, Cameron, Flagstaff, Oak Creek Canyon, Jerome, Prescott, Wickenburg, Phoenix, Apache Junction, Florence, Tucson & Nogales. Accoms. & facils.: All types. Bus & RR. conns.

US89 runs from colorful mesa country in N. Ariz. through great pine fors., over rolling hills & down into sun-drenched valleys of S. Ariz.; the scene is ever-changing & delightful. Skirting Grand Canyon in Navajoland, hy. passes through Kaibab & Prescott Nat. For., N. Ariz.'s all-yr. playground, & Oak Creek Canyon. 2nd only to Grand Canyon in sheer beauty & coloring. Great copper mining reg. of Jerome & Clarkdale is passed, & Prescott, mile-high city in pines, is reached. Hy. leaves pine-clad hills & drops to valley floor of S. Ariz.; beyond Phoenix climbs again through Tucson to Nogales on Mexican Border. From Utah Line to Mex. Border, from alt. of more than 7,000' to 1,000', with many nat. mons. & pts. of int. along way, diversity of climate & scenery makes route a most popular one.

Sec. 1: UTAH-ARIZ. LINE to FLAGSTAFF. 205.

3.5. FREDONIA, most northerly town in Ariz., sett. 1885 by Mormons from Utah seeking freedom from religious persecution & fed. laws, is agric. & stock-raising community & one of prettiest sm. towns in St.

SIDE TRIP: On graded Rd. (W) 15m is Pipe Spring Nat. Mon., group of hist. bldgs. on 40-a. tract, set aside as mem. to Mormon pioneers whose courage & faith in the country brought about development of this sec. of SW. One of group of early settlers, camping at spring & testing marksmanship, declared he could shoot bottom out of another's pipe placed at 50 paces; he did; hence the name, Pipe Spring. Small ft. against Ind. uprisings was est. first. Later present bldgs. were constructed. 1st telegraph sta. in Ariz. here (1871).

Within bounds of KAIBAB NAT. FOR., 20.5. (pic.camp site.hqs.at Williams), are magnificent trees—pine, spruce, fir, oak, aspen & juniper. Divided by Grand Canyon, for. has total of nearly 2 million as. Kaibab (Ky-bab, Ind.: "mountain lying down") is home of great herd of mule deer & other wild game. Favored hunt. ground. Beautiful white-tailed Kaibab squirrel (protected) found only in N. Kaibab. 33.5. JACOB LAKE (accoms.camp.), in dense grove of western yellow pine, at J. of US89 & St.67.

SIDE TRIP: On St.67 (S) 44m to North Rim, Grand Canyon (season May 30-Sept. 30). Route traverses N. sec. of Kaibab for. abounding with wild life. Deer usually seen near hy. At 32m, boundary of Grand Canyon reserve, & checking sta. 44m, Grand Canyon North Rim (accoms.camp.facils.); some of most splendid views of Grand Canyon from here, over 1,000' higher than South Rim, 14m distant. "The Grand Canyon of Arizona fills me with awe," wrote Theodore Roosevelt. "It is beyond comparison, beyond description; absolutely unparalleled throughout the wide world." (See Grand Canyon—Flagstaff sub-reg.)

47.5. HOUSE ROCK. Here in Houserock Valley is home of Ariz.'s buffalo herd, numbering over 200 head, & seldom seen from hy. though they roam unfenced. Ariz. Game & Fish Commission purchased 100 buffalo in 1927 &, despite annual hunt, when certain number of persons selected by lot participate in supervised hunt, herd has increased substantially from year to year. Vermilion Cliffs are seen (E) of Houserock for 20^m, brilliantly colored walls rising majestically some 1,000' from valley floor. 74. MARBLE CANYON (accoms.). Echo Cliffs & Kaibito Plateau in Navajo reserv. visible (E). 75. NAVAJO BRIDGE, triumph in hy. bridge construction, 834' long with single arch span of 616'; 467' bet. its floor & surface of Colo. R. Only hy. bridge crossing Colo. R. for distance of thousand miles—from Boulder Dam to Moab, Utah. 109. CEDAR RIDGE, sm. trading post. Tourist camp built to resemble Navajo hogans (houses). 147. CAMERON (accoms.), combined Ind. trading post & hotel on edge of Painted Desert. Suspension bridge here crosses Little Colo. R. At 149., J. with St.64 (R) to Grand Canyon South Rim.

SIDE TRIP: On Rd. leading (W) 56^m to Grand Canyon Village (see Flagstaff below). Many scenic vantage points marked along way to Village & Hqs.

169. J. with unimproved Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On Rd. leading (L) to Wupatki Nat. Mon. At 5^m, Citadel Group. Of this group only Nalakihu (Hopi: "house alone") has been excavated & rest. On mesa top, Teuwalanki (Hopi: "citadel"), is partially excavated. 15^m, main Wupatki (Hopi: "Big House") Ruins. Unusual site interesting for manner in which builders utilized natural walls of red sandstone, constructing above & around them so that bldgs. seem to grow out of the earth. (Occupied bet. 11th & 12th cent.) Rd. cont. (S), joining US89 near Flagstaff.

184. COCONINO NAT. FOR. contains nearly 2 million ac.; Amer. pine here is most valuable of st.'s timber; many fine recr. sites. 189. J. with unimproved Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On Rd. leading (L) 4^m to Sunset Crater Nat. Mon. (Hqs. Wupatki Nat. Mon.). Area preserved for scenic, educational & scientific values. Consists of large fields of cinders, lava & truncated cone of Sunset Mt. Around upper edge of mt. are vari-colored deposits of sulphur, ranging from black through red & yellow, giving rim appearance of sunset glow. Small caves in lava beds near Sunset Crater contain ice during warmest days. Area abounds with fossils of various marine animals, evidence of great sea that once covered reg.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) to foot trl., 31^m. (L) on this trl. 1^m to Betatakin Ruin (Navajo: "hillside house"), one of major cliff dwellings in Navajo Nat. Mon., & only one excavated & rest. Built in long cave, rooms are rectangular & few secs. are more than 2 stories, though different levels of their foundations give terraced effect. There were about 130 ground fl. rooms that extended approx. 450' along cliff edge. Roofing beams found here were cut between 1242 & 1286 A.D. Keet Seel (Kitsil, Navajo: "broken pottery"), (R), (N), 8^m, is reached only on foot or horseback. Here are best preserved ruins in Mon., located in deep cave 350' long. Hs. incl. over 250 rooms, arranged to form village with several courts & sts.

In Marsh Pass, 136^m, bet. Back Mesa (R) & Navajo Plateau, are great outcroppings of red & brown sandstone. From Boiling Springs, its source deep in Segi Canyon, Laguna Cr. flows through Laguna Canyon (L). At 140.5^m walls of pass open into gradually widening valley & the unusual shapes in stone are forerunners of Mon. Valley formations. 152^m, Kayenta (limited accoms.supplies.trading post.tubercular hospital & day sch.). 161^m, Agathla Peak, volcanic neck with spire rising over 1,000' above sloping base. At 186^m Utah Line offers good view of the Mittens (L), one in Ariz., the other in Utah. Though larger part of Mon. Valley is in Ariz., some of best features are in Uiah. At 186.5^m is J. with dirt Rd.; 2^m (L) to Gouldings Post (accoms.facils.), hqs. for Mon. Valley tourists; trips arranged through most secs. of Valley; special equipment necessary for sandy trls. 190^m Monument Valley, with sandstone formations, many over 1,000', extends for several miles through a weird & beautiful land. Striking resemblance of some formations has evoked names like: Castle Rock, Emperor on Throne, Train Rock, The Mittens, The Camel, Elephant Herd, Yebitichi Dancers, Totem Pole, Rooster Rock. Numerous motion pictures have been filmed here.

Sec. 2: FLAGSTAFF to TUCSON. 337.

US66-89 unites with US89A for 1^m. 14. OAK CR. CANYON (accoms.facils.camp. pic.f.). Descent from Lookout to floor of canyon over 4 gradual switchbacks, drop of 2,000'. Rd. twists through 15^m of broad red-walled gorges. Grandeur of these massive canyon walls is enhanced by orange-yellow ledges, saffron seams, fissures, towering russet buttes flanked with pines of Coconino Nat. For. Floor of canyon, through which flows Rainbow trout-stocked Oak Cr., is covered with ferns, flowers, oak, maple & other plant life. Sm. farms & orchards are seen. 30. SEDONA, community center for stock & fruit ranchers. Has attraction, in its red & buff formations looming against deep blue sky, for artists & movie companies. 51. COTTONWOOD, typical sm. Ariz. community serving rich agric., livestock & mining dist. 55. CLARKDALE, considered model mining town, was built in 1911. Town named for Wm. A. Clark, Sen. from Montana & former owner of United Verde mines here, now owned by Phelps Dodge Corp. (smelter O.appl.at office).

SIDE TRIP: (R) 2.5^m on dirt Rd. from Clarkdale, crossing Verde R., to Tuzigoot Nat. Mon., ancient pueblo occupied c.1200 A.D., now partially rest. Housed several hundred persons. Articles found in ruin, now preserved in Mus. at site, indicate high degree of culture.

59. JEROME, copper mining town on side of Mingus Mt., houses a veritable jumble on stilts, with a 1,500' variation in elevation bet. highest & lowest perches. Inhabitants must climb trls. & flights of steps in going about town. Pop. here as in all mining towns in Ariz. fluctuates with price of copper & activity at mines. In 1929, town boasted pop. of 15,000. Mines under control of Phelps Dodge Corp. At 85. US89A (St.79) joins US89. (S) of J., hy. runs through GRANITE DELLS, recr. area amid beautiful granite formation, caused by erosion. Site of Grand Canyon College (Bapt.) (L) leaving Dells. 90. FT. MESA ("May-suh"), is Mormon town founded in 1878, center of rich irrigated area. Ariz. Mormon Temple (Class.), one of most beautiful edifices in nation, located at E. edge of town, was completed in 1927 at cost of $800,000, on 20-a. landscaped site for visitors (only members may enter Temple). 235. APACHE JUNCTION is J. with St.88 (see Phoenix). Apache Junction Zoo contains many Ariz. wild animals, birds, reptiles. Superstition Mt. (E). 252. FLORENCE JUNCTION. 269. FLORENCE, Pinal Cty. seat & one of oldest settlements in St.; has changed little through yrs., many old adobes still standing & in use.

SIDE TRIP: On Rd. leading (L) 1^m to Ariz. St. Prison (O). A walled-in group of bldgs., the predominating structure, built almost entirely by convict labor, completed in 1909.

319. Santa Catalina Mts. (L) are in Coronado Nat. For. Mt. Lemon (9,180') is highest peak in range. Resort area among pines. 333. J. with unmarked dirt Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On Rd. leading (R) 0.5^m to Pascua, Yaqui Ind. village of 65 huts, larger of 2 villages in st. These Inds. are not wards of U.S., but migrated here 40 yrs. ago, exiles from their ancestral home in Mexico. Annual Yaqui Easter Ceremonials attract hundreds of visitors with weird rituals of several days duration, culminating on Easter Sunday.

337. TUCSON (S.P. RR. Bus lines. Info.: Climate Club, C. of C. facils. accoms.of all types). Known as the Old Pueblo, Tucson (Too-sahn) is seat of Pima Cty. & St. Univ. Is health & winter resort that has grown up around one of oldest Sp. towns in U.S. Once a walled fortress in Apache infested SW., it is now a modern city. In 1700 Padre Kino started to build Mission San Xavier del Bac, 9^m (S) of Tucson. Gradually he was followed into valley by Sp. ranchers & mining men who fought Inds. for survival. After Civil War, town outgrew its adobe walls & began to spread out over valley. From its beginning, until outnumbered by Phoenix in 1920, Tucson was largest town in terr. or St. Distributing center for mineral, livestock & agric. reg., it has grown increasingly prominent as resort center. Annual events: La Fiesta de los Vaqueros (Festival of Cowboys) rodeo, late Feb.; Livestock Show, late Mar.; Yaqui Ind. Religious Festival, Easter. PTS. OF INT.: (1) N. Park Ave. bet. E. 2nd & E. 4th Sts., Univ. of Arizona, est. 1885. Campus comprises 85 as. incl. 40 bldgs. of mod. structure & design. Has faculty & staff of over 400 & student enrollment of more than 5,500. Arizona St. Mus. on campus contains artifacts from prehist. Ariz. ruins, nat. hist. & other colls. Univ. Lib. contains Ariz. coll. of 2,500 vols. Steward Observatory was made famous through research discoveries of Dr. A. E. Douglass, climatologist & originator of tree-ring method of determining climatic cycles, & by Dr. E. F. Carpenter, with his studies of stellar nebulae.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) Follow US80-89 from center of city (S) to Ajo Rd. Turn (R) & cont. to Mission Rd. (L) to San Xavier del Bac Mission, 9^m, said to be finest example of pure mission architecture in U.S. Present bldgs. completed c.1797 & used continuously by Inds. to present. Called "White Dove of Desert," its great beauty is enhanced in desert-mt. setting. (B) (E) on Broadway to end, follow signs to 14^m, entrance of Saguaro Nat. Mon. Mon. incl. over 63,000 as. of arid desert, thickly covered with Giant (Saguaro, Suh-whar-oh) cactus, which sometimes reaches age of century with few to many arms extending from main trunk; its white-waxy blossom is St. flower.

(C) Drive to end of Speedway, (L) on Tanque Verde Rd. to Sabino Canyon Rd. to 16^m, entrance of Sabino Canyon, popular Mt. recr. area of great beauty. 18^m Colossal Cave (pic.facils.). (S) to J. with US80-89.

SIDE TRIP: On Rd. leading 0.5^m (L) to Tubac, cluster of mud-covered adobe hs. built around a white-plastered Cath. Ch. This quiet, farming, stock-raising & mining community in 1776 was assembly pt. of Anza's colonizing party before his epochal journey to San Francisco. Oldest town founded by white men in St., was garrisoned by Sp. in 1752 & became 1st Mormon settlement in Ariz. just 100 yrs. later. When "Weekly Arizonian," 1st newspaper published in terr., was started here in 1859, Tubac was area's most important settlement, but in 1861 it was virtually abandoned owing to continual bandit & Apache raids.

48. TUMACACORI (too-muh-cah-core-ee) NAT. MON. was proclaimed in 1908 to protect ruins of one of old Sp. mission sites, est. 1591 by Padre Kino. In early part of 19th cent., mission was attacked by Apache Inds., who drove priests away & disbanded peaceable Papago Inds. residing in vic. When found by Amers. c.1850, mission was in a state of ruin, consisting of the walls & tower of an old ch., walls of a mortuary chamber, churchyard & cemetery, surrounded by an adobe wall. Mus (1937) has been fashioned in the style of Sonora missions. By means of various types of exhibits, mus. brings to life old days when mission was busy center. 65. NOGALES (accoms.facils.info. C. of C. S.P. RR.Greyhound Bus), seat of Santa Cruz Cty. & largest Ariz. port of entry on Mex. border. Trading & banking pt. for rich reg. to (S). Town lies within rich mineral area & is focal pt. for shipment of cattle. International Ave. parallels wire fence bet. U.S. & Nogales, Sonora, Mexico (accoms.facils.). Free access across Internat. Line between 2 cities. (Regarding purchases & other info., inquire of U.S. Custom offices at Line.) Across street from Nogales, Ariz., is quaint & basically Sonoran community, vibrant with Mex. life. Most of its dwellings are compact plastered adobes, simple & colorful, suited to climate, society & customs. Some are built along the canyon floor which extends for several miles (W), others are built high on edges of cliffs. To add gaiety, groups of singers & musicians in colorful costumes serenade visitors in cantinas & night spots. Transition is complete as line is crossed to strange & colorful center, noted for wild game dinners; was orig. a gold mine, & in early 1880's was used as jail, being cut from solid rock for over 50' into sloping hillside. 65. THE MOUNTAIN STATES

COLORADO — UTAH — NEVADA
WYOMING — MONTANA — IDAHO

Just where the West begins is hard to determine: the westbound traveler, having changed his watch from Central to Mountain Standard Time, still keeps on, as he crosses the eastern reaches of Montana, Wyoming or Colorado, through the same undulating High Plains area that stretches behind through the Dakotas, Nebraska or Kansas, drained by the same eastward running rivers: the Yellowstone, the South & North Platte, the Arkansas. The rise toward the foothills of the Rockies is almost imperceptible. But certainly when he sees piling up far in the distance the rugged, snow-capped mass of the Continental Divide, he knows that the West is at hand. From Glacier International Peace Park on the Canadian border, the continent's backbone runs south through western Montana, diagonally across southwestern Wyoming, & south again in a twisting course across west-central Colorado into northeastern New Mexico. In western Montana the peaks of the Rockies soar to elevations of from 8,000 to 12,850 feet, & in Wyoming they reach up to 1,000 feet higher still; in Colorado, the "highest" state, are 50 of the country's 64 named mountains exceeding 14,000 feet in height. West of the Rockies lies an awesomely rugged terrain of timbered mountains & rocky gorges, high plateaus & deserts, threaded by the tortuous canyons cut by streams whose waters empty ultimately into the Pacific.

Along the Montana-Idaho border wriggle the crests of the Bitterroot & Beaverhead Ranges, & westward rise other ranges, of which the Sawtooth Mts. are the most spectacular; almost the only extensive level part of Idaho is the far-spreading lava plains of the Snake River basin in the southwest part, the chief agricultural area, largely dependent on irrigation, where most of the state's population lives. The Snake, twisting northward to its confluence with the Columbia, flows through Hell's Canyon, deepest gorge on the North American Continent. The western section of Wyoming, likewise, boasts impressive mountain scenery: Grand Teton National Park, with 11 major peaks; Jackson Hole National Monument; Yellowstone National Park, with its geysers & Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone; Devils Tower National Monument; the Bighorn & Medicine Bow Ranges.

Colorado, straddling the Continental Divide, has 1,064 peaks exceeding 10,000 feet, among them famous Pike's Peak & others even higher, including Mt. Elbert (14,431') & Mt. Massive (14,418'); magnificent Rocky Mt. National Park, containing more than 400 square miles, is famed for its rugged gorges, spectacular peaks, scenic lakes & plunging streams. Colorado's largest stream is the Colorado River, which, with its tributaries—many of them coursing through deep canyons—drains the western part of the state; west of the Rockies are two other river basins, fertile & good for agriculture, besides that of the Colorado: the San Luis, in the south-central part, & the San Juan, in the southwest; but the irrigated South Platte & Arkansas River Valleys in eastern Colorado are its richest farming areas.

The Colorado River runs from Colorado across the high plateau-country of southeastern Utah, in which are Bryce Canyon & Zion National Parks—a land of rock, strangely eroded, brilliantly colored, carved by narrow canyons; & here it is joined by its tributary, the Green, flowing south from Utah's Uinta Basin at the foot of the east-&-west-running Uinta Mts. The high spine of the Wasatch Mountains, rising to heights of 12,000 feet, divides Utah in two, running north & south through the center of the State. Along the range's western base is a chain of fertile, well-watered valleys. Farther west, beyond the Great Salt Lake & the most irreclaimable of American deserts, the Great Salt Lake Desert, stretches an arid reach of salt flats & sun-baked mountain spurs, which takes in most of Nevada. Across the latter from north to south extend parallel ranges, dividing a series of long narrow valleys, where during the dry season the rivers lose themselves underground or evaporate, leaving hardened mudflats often caked with glistening white salts.

Perhaps 2,000 years before the discovery of America by Europeans, the Basket Makers of the Mesa Verde, Colorado's southwestern plateau, were building their habitations against cliff & canyon walls; they & their successors of later centuries, the Cliff Dwellers, achieved the highest level of civilization of its type yet discovered. Scouts dispatched by Coronado on his treasure-hunting expedition of 1540 penetrated the Utah region. But the remainder of the Rocky Mountain area went unvisited until the 18th century, although the section east of the Rockies was claimed for France by La Salle in 1682. The Spanish, who claimed southeastern Colorado in 1706, sent a military expedition headed by Valverde as far north as Pike's Peak in 1719. The two sons of the French Canadian explorer, the Sieur de la Verendrye, reached southeastern Montana in 1742; twenty years later, however, France ceded all territory west of the Mississippi to Spain. Francisco Escalante & another Franciscan friar explored parts of Utah & Colorado in 1776; but the whole Rocky Mountain area region was unsettled, & most of it unseen by white men, until after 1803, when the U.S. acquired the eastern part of it through the Louisiana Purchase.

In 1805-06 Lewis & Clark crossed & recrossed Montana & Idaho on their trip to & from the Oregon country (& a member of their expedition, John Colter, entered Wyoming in 1807); in 1806-07 Lt. Zebulon Pike (for whom Pike's Peak was later named) crossed Colorado. Fur traders, trappers & mountain men soon entered the area in large numbers, followed by missionaries; posts were established in the Arkansas & South Platte Valleys of Colorado & in Montana (where Jesuit missionary Father De Smet set up a mission in the Bitterroot Valley in 1841), at Fort Laramie (1834) & other points in Wyoming, & at several points in Idaho: Fort Hall near Pocatello (1834), the Spalding mission near Lewiston (1836), Old Fort Boise (1838) & the Coeur d'Alene Mission (1842). During the 1840's a growing throng of westward travelers crossed Wyoming & southern Idaho, following the Oregon Trail to Oregon or California; many California-bound travelers turned south from Fort Hall, Idaho, & followed the Humboldt River route through northwestern Nevada. The fertile valley of the Great Salt Lake in Utah (discovered by trapper James Bridger in 1824-25) in 1847 became the Promised Land of the Mormons, headed by Brigham Young, after a long trek overland; here they founded Salt Lake City & introduced irrigation (never previously practiced in America by other than the Indians).

The Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo in 1848 added Utah—and all the remaining part of the Rocky Mountain region not included in the Louisiana Purchase—to the U.S.; & in 1851 the Territory of Utah was set up, with Brigham Young as Governor. The Territory of Utah included most of Nevada, within which the Mormons had established the year before a trading post on the Humboldt Road to supply California-bound gold seekers. Colorado's first permanent white settlement was founded in the latter year in San Luis Valley, where irrigation was also begun; & here in 1852 Fort Massachusetts was established for protection against the Indians. During the next few years the Mormons founded other colonies in Utah, & in what is now Nevada as well, until in 1857 all Mormons were recalled to Salt Lake City when a gradually developing conflict with the Federal Government culminated in the dispatch of U.S. Army troops to "put down rebellion." (An Army occupation force remained until the Civil War, & conflict with the Federal Government, principally over the Mormon practice of polygamy, continued long afterward; only in 1896, after the Mormon Church had renounced polygamy, was Utah finally admitted to the Union.) The Mormons also established, in southern Idaho, that state's first agricultural settlements.

The real settlement of the Rocky Mountain States (except for Utah), however, began only when a backwash of prospectors from the California diggings began hunting for gold. Between 1858 & 1862, rich strikes were made in Nevada, Colorado, Idaho & Montana. The discovery in 1859 of Nevada's Comstock Lode, one of the most profitable gold & silver deposits ever found, brought a stampede of newcomers hoping to get rich quick; almost overnight Virginia City numbered 30,000 inhabitants. The opening of Colorado's first gold quartz mine near Central City in the same year brought a similar stampede, in the course of which Boulder, Denver & other settlements sprang up; the discovery of silver, soon after, swelled the fabulous stream of wealth from the mines. Gold was found in Idaho in 1860; lead-silver (in the Coeur d'Alene region) in 1864. From 1862 on, successive gold strikes were made in Montana, as a result of which Helena & other towns came into being. Gold was found in Wyoming's Sweetwater Valley. The mining camps which sprang up throughout the Rocky Mountain area swarmed with miners & merchants, with gamblers & bandits; rough-&-ready justice by Vigilantes soon became the rule.

Most of the camps were short-lived, but some of the survivors grew into cities. As a result of the sudden influx of population, Nevada was separated from Utah & became a Territory in 1861; it was admitted to the Union as a state in 1864, partly to insure loyalty among its inhabitants so that the Federal Government might depend on receiving its much-needed gold & silver. Colorado also became a Territory in 1861. Idaho Territory, organized in 1863, included all of Montana & much of Wyoming, as well as Idaho; but in 1864 Montana became a separate Territory & in 1868, Wyoming did, too. Gold rushes occurred sporadically in the region during the rest of the 19th century. The rush to the Black Hills of 1876-77 brought settlers into the plains country of eastern Montana, which had remained an Indian hunting ground—with resultant warfare between whites & Indians culminating in the Battle of the Little Big Horn (1876), when Custer's troops were annihilated. When Montana was admitted to the Union in 1889 (a year before the admission of Idaho & Wyoming) its Great Seal carried the motto "gold & silver." In Colorado, admitted to the Union as the Centennial State in 1876, where wealth from the mines built thriving cities & railroads, the great gold field of Cripple Creek was discovered in 1891 & by 1900 was producing $20,000,000 annually. Colorado, second among the States in variety of mineral resources, still has an annual output of more than $12,500,000 in gold & $4,500,000 in silver. Even after 1900, new gold & silver strikes in Nevada brought the rip-roaring towns of Tonopah & Goldfield into being.

But although gold & silver are still mined in Montana, Idaho, Colorado, Utah & Nevada, other mineral resources have come to be more important in the region's economy. At Butte, Montana, whose Anaconda copper smelter is the world's biggest non-ferrous smelter, the "richest hill on earth" yields a third of the copper mined in the U.S.; nearly a third more comes from Utah, whose leading industry is still mining; & Nevada, also chiefly a mining state, produces an impressive amount. Idaho ranks first in production of lead, mined in the Coeur d'Alene district; lead is also mined in all the other states except Wyoming. Colorado ranks first in production of molybdenum, radium & tungsten; Nevada produces magnesite, manganese, platinum & uranium; Wyoming produces iron. Wyoming's coal resources are the greatest of any state's; coal is Colorado's most valuable mineral product; & coal beds underlie a fifth of Utah. Wyoming's oil fields (including the Salt Creek Field near Teapot Dome) are exceeded in importance only by its coal fields; western Colorado, where intensive drilling for petroleum was carried on during World War II, has become an important producing area; & petroleum refining is one of Montana's leading industries.

The salient influence of the mining camp in the Rocky Mountain region's history has helped shape a tradition of rugged individualism, often forcefully expressed during the last half century in struggles over economic & political issues. The proverbial distrust of Eastern financial interests which the mountain states still feel in common with the remainder of the West was vociferously expressed in the fight for free coinage of silver, that most conspicuous national issue of the 1890's, dramatized in William Jennings Bryan's "Cross of Gold" speech at the Democratic National Convention of 1896. Nevada even developed a Silver Party of its own, until Republicans & Democrats both accepted bimetalism. The tendency of Westerners toward impatience with legal restraints has appeared in such phenomena as Nevada's refusal to outlaw gambling or tighten up its divorce laws & the virtual defiance of Prohibition shown by Butte, Montana. Their urge to resort to direct action was given full play in Butte's "War of the Copper Kings"—William A. Clark, Marcus Daly & F. Augustus Heinze—in which Clark & Daly fought each other & both fought Heinze to obtain control of mining properties & to win political supremacy in the press, courts & legislature; Clark, elected U.S. Senator, resigned when charged with buying votes but was reelected. A half century later, the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, world's biggest nonferrous metal combine, remains a dominant factor in Montana politics. Yet, paradoxically, Montana was represented in Congress during the 1920's & 1930's by such nationally prominent progressives (at least in their earlier careers) as Senators Burton K. Wheeler & Thomas J. Walsh, who campaigned to expose the Teapot Dome scandal provoked by illegal leases of naval oil lands in Wyoming; the latter State's Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney & Utah's Senator Elbert Thomas are other progressive leaders who have been contributed to national political scene by the Rocky Mountain area despite generally conservative bent in local politics.

Perhaps most forcefully in its labor history has appeared the Rocky Mountain region's somewhat rough-&-ready way of life. The power of Montana's copper magnates was challenged almost immediately by the Butte Miners' Union, organized in 1881 & soon the biggest & strongest miners' union in the West; under its leadership Butte eventually grew into "the strongest union town on earth." The lead miners of Idaho's Coeur d'Alene district, following the copper miners' example, were faced with State militia when they struck in 1892 (& again in 1899) & their leaders were imprisoned behind stockades (locally known as "bull pens"). The following year Idaho, along with Colorado, was represented at a meeting of miners' delegates in Butte to organize the Western Federation of Miners, of which William D. ("Big Bill") Haywood became secretary-treasurer. In Colorado, a State-wide strike of mine, mill & smelter hands in 1903 brought martial law at Cripple Creek & the forced deportation of hundreds of strikers. Leaders of the Western Federation of Miners, which had headquarters in Denver, met in Chicago with other organizations & individuals in 1905 to form the Industrial Workers of the World, which campaigned for industrial union organization with a vigorously anti-capitalist program. The I.W.W. soon began to organize lumbermen & agricultural workers as well as miners. The trial in 1907 of Haywood & two other Federation officers, Charles H. Moyer & George Pettibone, on charges of murdering ex-Governor of Idaho Frank Steunenberg (killed by a bomb in the course of a strike feud in the lead mining district), in which defense lawyer Clarence Darrow won their acquittal, brought to prominence William E. Borah, who acted as prosecutor; Borah, later Idaho's most noted political figure, eventually became dean of the U.S. Senate. Soon afterward, internal dissension in the Western Federation of Miners between radicals & conservatives (in the course of which the organization abandoned the I.W.W. for the A.F.L.) led to a split of the Butte local into rival factions; bombings of a union hall & mine employment office were followed by an employers' lockout & martial law. Butte became, & for 20 years remained, an open shop town. The United Mine Workers, sending organizers into the Colorado coal fields at this time, called a strike in the course of which occurred the famous Ludlow "massacre" of April, 1914, with 21 lives lost when the strikers' tent colony caught fire during an armed clash with militia. Violence broke out again at Butte in 1917, when strikers asked the Federal Government to take over the mines (supported by Congresswoman Jeannette Rankin, first woman in the U.S. to be elected to Congress, who had voted against entry into World War I); I.W.W. organizer Frank Little was shot by gunmen. Later strikes following the end of the war were broken, & suppressive measures against the I.W.W. (because of its opposition to U.S. participation in the war) were undertaken through the courts. By 1924 the power of the I.W.W. had been broken everywhere. Ten years later, the Butte local (No.1) of the reorganized International Mine, Mill & Smelter Workers struck & restored the closed shop in Butte, which soon became once again an almost 100% organized town. During the following years, labor organization developed in other centers throughout the Rocky Mountain area, as throughout the rest of the country.

Before the end of the nineteenth century, stock raising, lumbering & agriculture had begun to supplement mining as economic mainstays for the region. Western Montana became cow country soon after 1849, when cattlemen began pasturing herds in its grass valleys to supply travelers on the Oregon Trail; & after the cessation of the Indian wars in the 1870's, the vast buffalo range of eastern Montana soon filled up with cow herds. While the cattle-boom of the 1880's was short-lived, Montana is still an important stock-raising state; it ranks second in number of sheep. Wyoming has nearly as many cattle as during the 1880's, & even more sheep, although its open ranges were fenced long ago, after years of conflict between cattle barons & homesteaders, whom the cattlemen opposed as vigorously as they opposed the organized bands of cattle thieves, or "rustlers" who preyed on their herds—a conflict only less bitter than that between cattlemen & sheepmen which followed. Today cattle raising is a major industry; Wyoming ranks second in wool & mutton production. Utah is a leading sheep-raising state, & along with the other states of the region, pastures great herds of cattle as well as sheep.

The lumber industry is the largest in Idaho, which has the country's biggest tract of virgin pine; & lumbering is an important source of wealth in Montana as well. Throughout the Rocky Mountain region, timber resources have been protected by the setting aside of millions of acres in National Forests, which comprise 30% of Idaho's total land area & relatively high proportions in the other states.

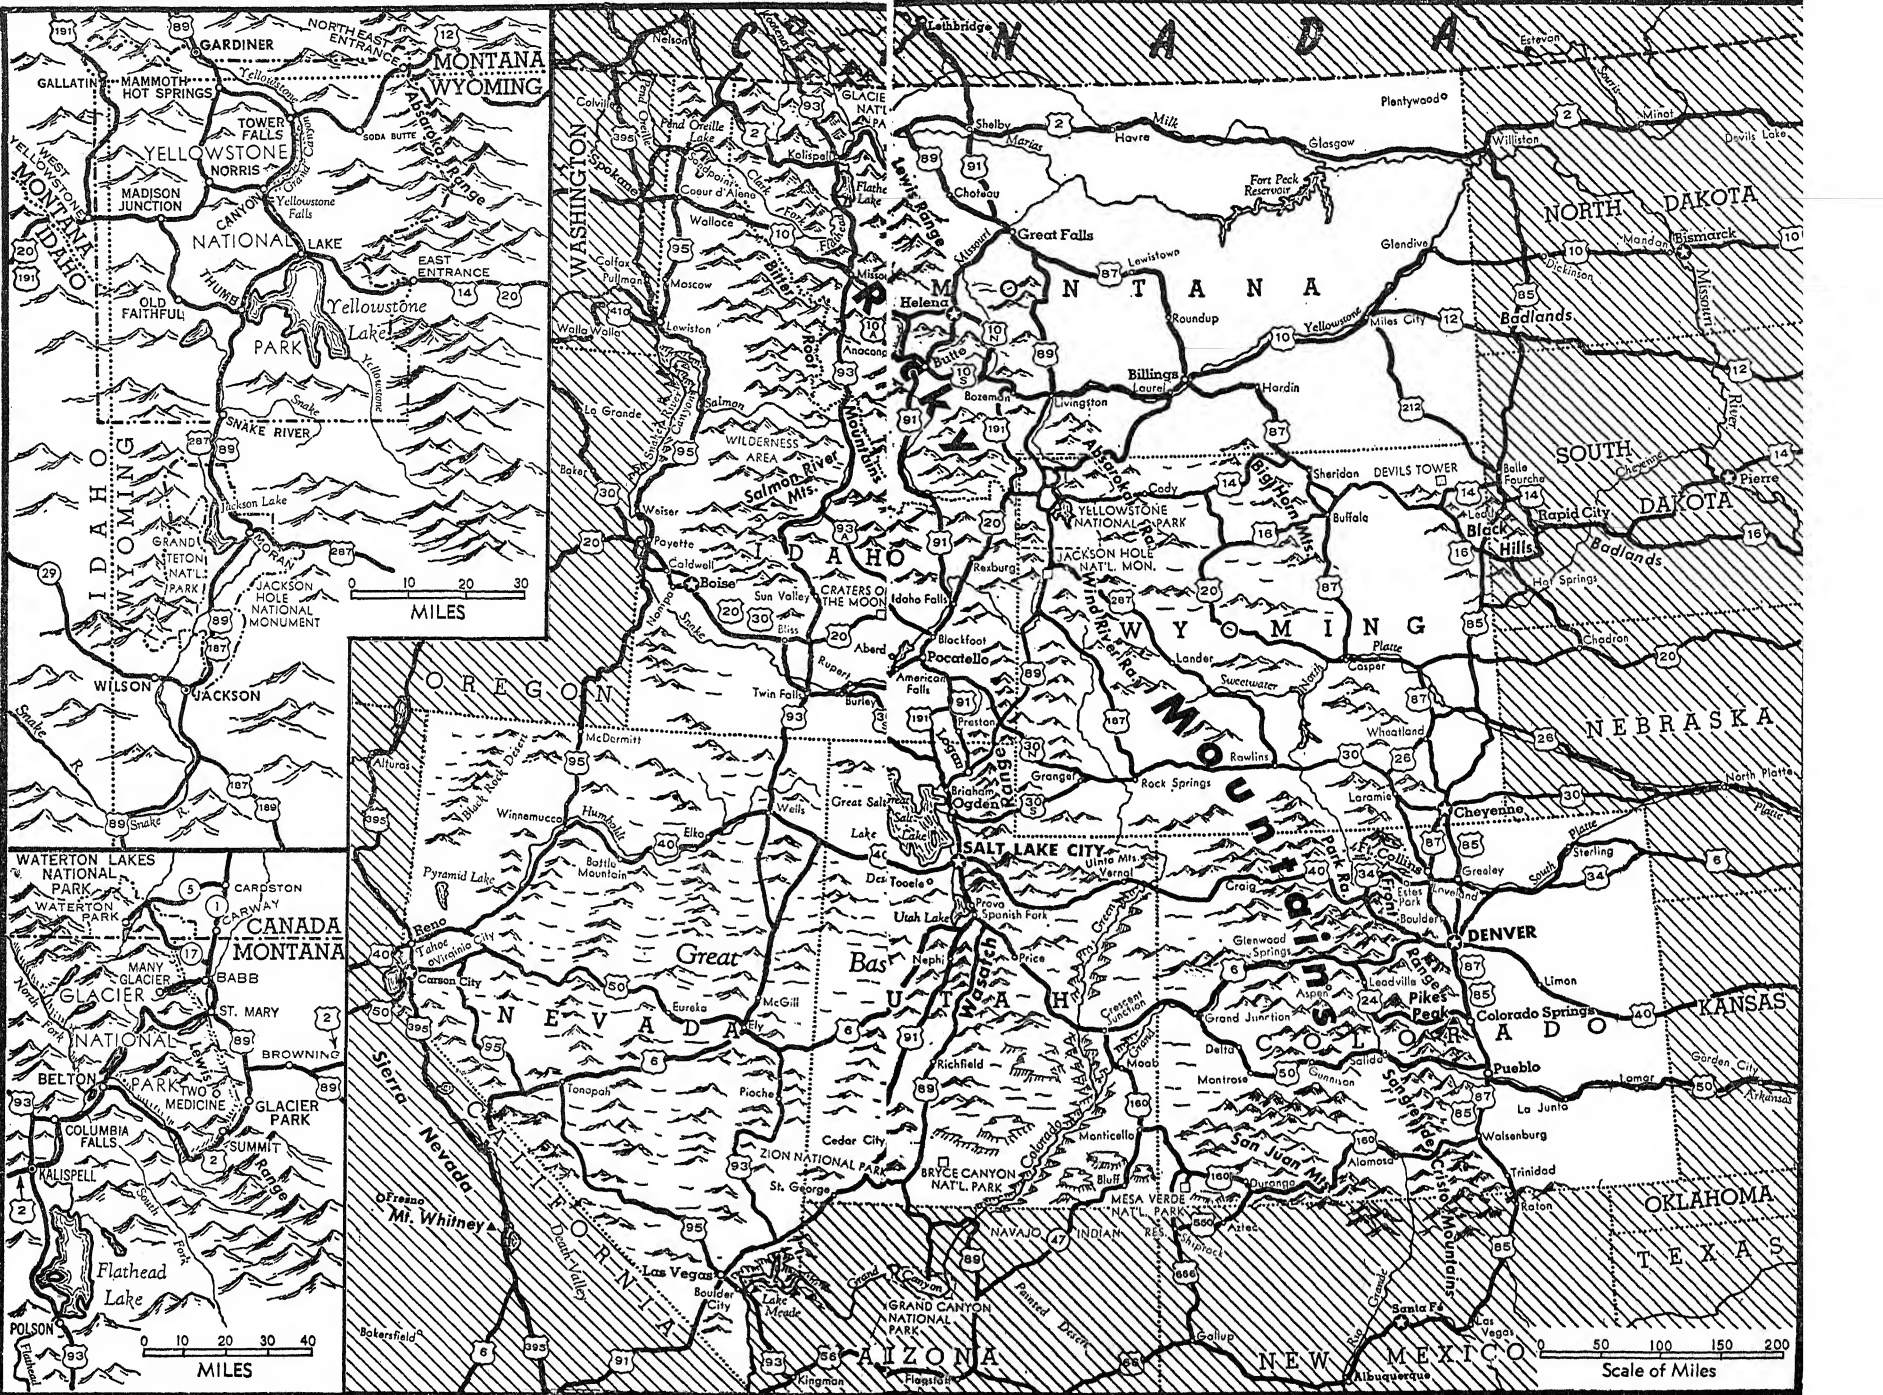

Except in eastern Montana, Wyoming & Colorado, where dry farming is practiced, the progress of agriculture has been largely dependent on the development of irrigation. Wheat is Montana's leading crop, & an important one in Idaho & Colorado as well; corn, oats, hay & alfalfa & other field crops are also grown throughout the region. But the Rocky Mountain area's most distinctive agricultural products are potatoes & sugar beets. Idaho potatoes are nationally famous, & Colorado ranks fourth in production of seed potatoes. Sugar beets culture, widely practiced in irrigated areas throughout the region, has made beet-sugar refining a leading industry.

For the most part, the Rocky Mountain area's industrial development has been linked to mining or agriculture. The former has spurred establishment of its smelters, refineries, & brick, pottery & cement works; the latter, of its beet sugar refineries, flour mills, & meat-packing plants. Idaho, whose development of its hydro-electric power resources has been unusually intensive, was chosen in the late 1940's as the site of a huge new atomic reactor testing station, covering about 400,000 acres near Arco. In general, the relatively limited industrial development has limited population growth; Nevada & Wyoming are the least populous States of the Union, & even Colorado, the mostly thickly settled State in the Rocky Mountain region, ranks only 33rd in population among the 48 States, with Montana, Utah & Idaho ranking 39th, 40th & 42nd respectively. Boise, Billings, Butte, Denver, Cheyenne, Colorado Springs, Ogden, Pueblo, Reno & Salt Lake City are the only cities of more than 25,000 population; Denver & Salt Lake City are the only ones of more than 100,000.

Denver, the cultural capital of the region, as it is the financial, offers the amenities of a metropolis: a symphony orchestra & other active musical groups, concerts & a season of summer stock, a leading art museum, schools, libraries & parks. Colorado Springs, health resort & summer playground, has museums, Colorado College, & an art colony centering around its Fine Arts Center; Boulder is the seat of the University of Colorado, intellectual center of the whole mountain region; Central City, once a booming mining town, stages a nationally famous summer theater festival in its refurbished old opera house; Pueblo & other Colorado cities offer educational & cultural facilities. Utah's capital, Salt Lake City, whose chief points of interest are its architecturally interesting Mormon Temple & Tabernacle, is a religious & educational center, & its State Capitol houses the Utah State Art Collection. Utah has 10 institutions of higher learning in all, among them the University of Utah in Salt Lake City, Utah State Agricultural College at Logan, & Brigham Young University at Provo. Its chief collections of paintings, in addition to that at the State Capitol, are at Brigham Young & Utah Universities & at the art museum in the small town of Springville. Salt Lake City's Tabernacle Choir is its best-known musical organization. The sparsity of urban concentrations throughout the rest of the Rocky Mountain area has limited its cultural development. The University of Montana, at Missoula, is noted for its school of journalism; the University of Idaho, at Moscow, for its beautiful campus. The University of Wyoming, at Laramie, & the University of Nevada at Reno provide intellectual stimulus for their respective States. The tendency of many of the region's writers, artists & musicians—following the example of poet Ezra Pound, born in Idaho—to emigrate to the bigger cities in other parts of the country & Europe, has handicapped the growth of a healthy regional culture. Among writers native to the region who have achieved note have been Utah's Bernard De Voto & Wallace Stegner, Idaho's Vardis Fisher & Wyoming's Thurman Arnold, Nevada's Walter Van Tilburg Clark; among artists, Montana painter Charles M. Russell & Utah sculptors Cyrus E. Dallin & Mahonri Young.

The natural charms of the Rocky Mountain region, much of it unspoiled by civilization's inroads, make it one of the nation's chief playgrounds. In all these states huge tracts have been set aside in national parks, monument areas, & Indian reservations. Dude ranches (first started in Wyoming) offer the delights of roughing it (but not too roughly) everywhere. Rodeos at Billings, Cheyenne, Reno & other points attract thousands of visitors. The mountains offer trout fishing, big game hunting & mountain climbing to sportsmen. Idaho's Sun Valley is only one of many winter-sports areas. Montana's Glacier National Park & Wyoming's Yellowstone National Park, Idaho's Hell's Canyon & Colorado's Estes Park, Utah's Bryce Canyon are among the chief scenic spectacles of the continent. Among the region's man-made wonders, the visitor can choose from a wide variety ranging back to the oldest, the prehistoric cliff dwellings of Colorado's Mesa Verde National Park, or forward to one of the newest wonders of the world, Nevada's Boulder Dam.

US 34—COLORADO

COLO.-NEB. LINE (93^m from McCook, Neb.) (W) to GRANBY. 263. US34

Via: Wray, Brush, Greeley, Estes Pk. Village, Rocky Mt. Nat. Park & Bear Lake. Burlington RR. parallels route between Neb. Line & Wiggins. Bus lines parallel route. Milner & Fall R. passes & Trail Ridge High Point, in Rocky Mt. Nat. Park, usually closed to winter travel. Inquire pk. ranger at Estes Pk. Village. Good accoms.

US34 traverses heart of plains country, once grazing land for buffalo herds & habitat of hostile Inds. Now devoted to dry farming & cattle-raising. Hy. crosses irrigation sec. before penetrating foothills to mt. gateway of Estes Pk. (For sec. traversing magnificent Rocky Mt. Nat. Pk. via Trail Ridge Rd. to Bear L. & Granby, see Denver Trip III.) 10. WRAY, unlike many E. Colo. towns, lies in moist river land & is mass of verdure through spring & summer. SE. edge of town, reached by winding dr. from Main St., is Flirtation Pt., limestone formation away from cliffs (L) that hem in valley.

36. YUMA, named for Ind. tribe, is in heart of dry farming district. 62. FED. GOV. EXPERIMENTAL STA. (O), 160-as. in orchards & fields planted to 1,600 varieties of wheat, corn, oats & other crops, which are rotated in 20-yr. cycles. Experiments are important to reg. since they point to new methods in soil conservation. 64. AKRON was only town site on new Burlington RR. at time of founding, 1882. Division pt. on RR. 87. BRUSH. J. (R) with US6 (see). US34 & US6 are united for 24^m. 97. FT. MORGAN (see US6). 150. GREELEY (see US85). At 168. is EXPERIMENTAL FARM (O.9-5), maintained by Colo. A. & M. College. Just 1^m beyond is Great Western Beet Sugar Factory (O.9-4 wks.). 170. LOVELAND. J. with US87. US34 cuts deeper through Big Thompson Canyon, one of most picturesque of all canyon drives; it grows more spectacular with every turn of the Rd., making abrupt entrance into highlands of Estes Pk. through portal of towering peaks. 184. LOVELAND MT. PK. (pic.sports facil.) in Roosevelt Nat. For., 44-a. tract framed by sloping walls of natural bowl. Many winding trls. with fireplaces at selected pts. 187. DRAKE, resort village. 200. ESTES VILLAGE. (For this sec. of tour to GRANBY at 263., see Denver Trip III.)

COLO.-KANS. LINE (19^m from Goodland, Kans.) (W) to GRAND JUNCTION. 474. US24

Via: Burlington, Limon, Colorado Springs, Buena Vista, Leadville, Dowd, Eagle, Glenwood Springs, Rifle & Grand Junction. Rock I. RR. parallels route bet. Burlington & Colo. Springs; Midland Terminal RR. bet. Colo. Springs & Divide; D. & R.G. RR. bet. Buena Vista & Grand Junction. Bus lines parallel route. Good accoms.

US24 crosses vast cattle-raising & dry farming area & descends to base of mts. at Colo. Springs. W. of this great vacation area, hy. skirts Pikes Peak & traverses rugged reg. of great natural beauty & old mining towns. Tour winds through 4 of Colo.'s nat. fors. before entering fertile Grand Valley in W. of St.

12. BURLINGTON, seat of Kit Carson Cty., occupies site of ancient Ind. camp grounds, now center of rich grain area. 89. LIMON. 162. COLORADO SPRINGS (see). 168. MANITOU SPRINGS (Ind. "great spirit") (all accoms.facils.camp. Info.: Colo. Springs C. of C.). Resort lying in forested foothills that swell upward toward Pikes Peak. Great springs here long known to Inds. who had discovered health-giving waters. According to legend, their god, Manitou, dwelt at bottom of these healing springs. There are 50 developed mineral springs. Three are claimed to be orig. Manitou Springs: Navajo Spring (free) in front of Navajo Hotel; Soda Spring (N.O.) at rear of Manitou Mineral Water Co. plant; Manitou Spring (free) at Manitou Bathh. Twenty of the 50 springs, which produce radioactive waters, are open to public. Cog Rd. runs from Manitou to summit of Pikes Peak (fee).

SIDE TRIP: (R) from Canon Ave. into rugged Williams Canyon to The Narrows 1^m where rugged cliff walls almost overhang hy. At 2^m Cave of the Winds (fee), unusual geological phenomenon, its miles of passageways containing 17 compartments, hollowed out of W. limestone wall of Williams Canyon by underground waters, is a labyrinth of stalactites, stalagmites, crystal, calcite & flowering alabaster formations. Indirect lighting enhances beauty. Cave of the Winds Rd. cont. along Serpentine Dr. (R) to J. with US24, 4.5^m at W. edge of Manitou Springs.

(W) of Manitou Springs US24 ascends by easy stages, crossing E. boundary of PIKE NAT. FOR. 170.; one of largest for. preserves in St., with c.1½ million as. Rainbow Falls, spanned by concrete bridge in for. of dense pine, just beyond for. entrance. 172. CASCADE. J. with St.250 to Pikes Peak (L) 19^m. (Inquire before proceeding to summit.)

[0.5^m (R) to Pikes Peak Ski Club Course (free).] From Glen Cove, hy. rises sharply to reach Timberline (11,400') at 12.3^m. Hy. ascends by series of switchbacks. (L) 14.8^m Bottomless Pit, vast chasm c.1,000' deep. From parking space giant pines in pit appear as matchsticks. 15.5^m Boulder Field; red granite boulders strewn over summit of mt. Hairpin Turn 16.5^m, impressive view of old gold mining dist. of Cripple Cr. 18^m Summit H., erected in 1882 as observ. tower for U.S. Signal Corps, surmounted by 25' tower (sm fee for use of telescope). Pikes Peak (14,110'), discovered in 1806 by Lt. Z. M. Pike, is most noted of Colorado's mts., principally because isolated from higher ranges & affords grand view. Peak early made accessible by Manitou & Pikes Peak RR., better known as Cog Rd.; 1st train of tilted cars reached summit in 1891. Auto races to summit, Labor Day, attended by thousands who line upper reaches to see stock cars in grueling grind.

181. WOODLAND PK. J. with St.67 (R) to f. area. 188. DIVIDE. J. with St.67 (L) to old Cripple Cr. mining dist. Route crosses boundary of PIKE NAT. FOR., 197., (h.f.camp.). 200. L. GEORGE. J. with St.77 (L) on dirt Rd. 11^m to Eleven Mile Reservoir (pic.f.). 227. HARTSEL, resort near number of hot springs. 239. J. with US285 (R) which unites with US24 for 13^m. 254. BUENA VISTA (h.f.swim.), center of mining country. Founded 1879 in valley formed by Ark. R. at foot of Collegiate Peaks. Site of Colo. St. Reformatory.

289. LEADVILLE (f. Info.: C. of C.), seat of Lake Cty., center of greatest mining dist. in world, in heart of Rockies. First a fabulous gold camp, then one of richest of silver camps, again a gold camp; has also mined great quantities of lead, zinc & manganese; gold & silver still mined. Town is c.2^m above sea level (10,152'). 312.5. HOMESTAKE CAMPGROUND, maintained by For. Serv. 313. MARKER pointing to Mount of the Holy Cross. 323. MINTURN. J. with For. Serv. Rd.

SIDE TRIP: (L) on this Rd. to Mount of the Holy Cross Nat. Mon. (13,996'). 9^m Camp Tigiwon. From here trl. several miles long leads up Notch Mt. to an excellent view of Cross, which is 1,500' in length; arms extend 750' on either side. In spring, ravines forming Cross are filled with snowdrifts 50' to 80' deep.

329. MT. EXPERIMENT STA., est. 1924 by Colo. A. & M. College. Here crops are grown to demonstrate efficient methods of farming at high alts. & to discover other crops that might be grown in such regs. 325. DOWD. US6 here unites with US24 to Grand Junction. 351. EAGLE, center of agric. & ranching district; hay & potatoes, principal crops. 358. GYPSUM. Here rise high limestone cliffs for which community was named. Dirt Rd. leading (R) 8^m to Sweetwater L. Country (camp. accoms.h.f.). 364. DOTSERO. J. of Royal Gorge & Moffat Tunnel routes of D. & R.G. RR. At 370., route crosses E. boundary of WHITE RIVER NAT. FOR., 1st nat. reserve in Colo. (1891) & 2nd in U.S. Recently White R. & Holy Cross Nat. Fors. were combined as White R., with 2 million as.

372. HANGING L. PK. (food.accoms.burros).

SIDE TRIP: (R) from pk. on trl. 1^m to Hanging L., where spring has formed its own natural cup in face of cliff. Spring pours directly from underground channel through hole in cliff & plunges downward into basin 500' wide. Mineral content of extremely blue water is such that plant life touching it becomes petrified.

382. GLENWOOD SPRINGS (h.f.resort), at W. end of Glenwood Canyon; out-fitting pt. for sportsmen. Also large ranching area. Community built around numerous hot mineral springs flowing from limestone formations. Town, orig. known as Defiance for a near-by fort, was laid out in 1883, later named for Glenwood, Iowa, birthpl. of one of its founders. An Eng. syndicate, interested in reg. as health resort, built the open-air swim. pool & bathh. in 1891. The 600' swim. pool (O.fee) on N. edge of town is fed by hot & cold sulphur springs & used yr. around; the thermal springs, most copious in St., flow 3,000 gals. a minute. Adj. are several vapor caves (adm.). J. with St.82.

SIDE TRIP: (S) on St.82, many sharp turns bet. Independence Pass beyond Aspen & Twin Lakes. Pass closed to winter travel. Accomms.: Limited. 24m Basalt (f.h.), at J. of Frying Pan & Roaring Fork Rs. Important agric. center & rendezvous of sportsmen. 42m Aspen (f.h.winter sports.camp.accoms.facils.info.:C. of C.). Borders White R. Nat. For. Founded by men who reached Leadville too late to stake claims. Soon rivaled older silver camps. Center of renowned ski area, with slopes terminating at edge of town. World's longest chair lift, in 2 secs., length 14,000' (ski tows.ski school). Roch Run, on Monarch St., E. edge of town, spectacular 4m ski course, regarded as one of most spectacular & difficult in world. Aspen Ski Club & Rocky Mt. Ski Assoc. Slalom races in Jan. 61m, summit of Independence Pass (12,095'), highest & probably most impressive auto pass in St. Stone Mon. (L) & sm. lakes at summit. 76m Twin Lakes (camp.f.h.horses & burros avail.), popular resort. Ls. & streams offer splendid Mackinaw trout. In fall, good duck h. in season. At 82m is south J. with US24.

409. RIFLE. J. with St.13 (see US40). Center of sparsely-settled cattle-raising area. U.S. Bureau of Mines Experimental Oil-Shale Development (O.wks.no priv.cars; buses run by gov.guides.9 a.m. & 1 p.m.); formerly as "top secret" as atomic fission plants, unique mine & all phases to final production of synthetic oil may be seen. Tour, from Adm. Bldg., winds up 10,000' cliff offering views of distant Aspen, Grand Mesa & Holy Cross Mt. Hy. parallels Colo. R., its banks fringed with cottonwoods & willows. 474. Colorado Springs is resort city at foot of Pikes Peak. From early 1870's, city has been a summer playground & health resort. In little more than half cent. a dreary stretch of sagebrush & yucca has been transformed into garden spot of great beauty, enhanced by majestic grandeur of the forested foothills & lofty peaks in area. In summer, chartered cars, sightseeing buses & hundreds of touring cars roll in & out of city. The surrounding Mt. pks., Garden of the Gods, Cheyenne Canyon, Pikes Peak Dr. & many other scenic pts., are their goal. Flower festivals, rodeos, auto races, polo tourneys & other events are held during summer. On New Year's Eve, fireworks display is held on summit of Pikes Peak, site of Glen Cove, famed winter sports area. During 1st yrs. settlement was called Fountain Colony for its location on Fountain Cr.; later was renamed Colo. Springs for mineral springs at near-by village of Manitou. As fame of this resort city grew, pop. doubled & multiplied. Philanthropists contributed materially to its development; Pikes Peak Hy. was built; the Broadmoor Hotel arose at foot of Cheyenne Mt. The mt. pk. system, created in 1907, was increased when Garden of the Gods was bequeathed to city. Agric. development of E. Colo. made city trading & supply center, & together with mining & industries in area, coupled with great tourist traffic, Colo. Springs is one of St.'s most colorful playgrounds. Colorado's 2nd largest city. A mfg. & trade center. City lies at confluence of Fountain Cr. & Ark. R., in broad valley enclosed by low bluffs & rolling hills. History dates from Sp. occupation in late 17th cent. On his exploring expedition in 1806, Lt. Z. Pike camped on site & built 1st structure erected by Amers. in Colo. Settlement & naming of Pueblo credited to Jas. P. Beckwourth, mulatto trader, at one time a war chief of the Crow. He & his party reached the Ark. in 1842, erected a trading post. They were soon joined by 15 to 20 independent trappers & their families. Settlement grew & was largest in reg. until gold rush days, & served as rallying pt. for Mormon Battalion during Mex. War. After Mex. War, Pueblo declined & nothing remains of Mormon Pueblo. Party of prospectors from St. Louis in 1858 utilized material from walls of old pueblo in building 30 adobe & log houses in their new town, which they named Fountain City, now part of Pueblo. By 1870, when inc., Pueblo was quite a settlement of adobe houses, with pop. of 700. Industrial progress has been maintained in recent yrs. Colo. St. Fair late in Aug. PTS. Denver, vacation center of West, is St.'s capital & largest city. Located at foot of Rocky Mts., it is commercial, financial & tourist center for heavy summer trade. The mile-high metropolis is focal point of incomparable mountainous playground with system of Mt. Pks. Thousands of as. comprising many Denver Mt. Pks. are scattered over hundreds of sq. miles, with fine hys. connecting them. Denver is one of youngest of great Amer. cities, founded c.90 yrs. ago. In 1857, a trapper built a cabin where 2 streams came together: a good place for a home, plenty of wood, water, grass. Others arrived the following yr. & built cabins. When gold rush started to Pikes Peak Reg., still more settlers came. It was convenient base for mining operations. In 1860 settlement had become a bustling village, having been named 2 yrs. earlier after Terr. Gov. Jas. W. Denver of Kans. For yrs. Denver's fortunes rose & fell with those of gold camps in area. It remained for great silver discoveries to give substance to dream of early promoters who had envisioned a great metropolis at Cherry Cr. & the S. Platte. In 1861 Colo. Territory was est. & Denver chosen capital in 1867; St. capital in 1876 with advent of statehood. Growth of Denver in era of great silver camps was phenomenal. Bet. 1880 & 1890, pop. increased from 35,600 to 106,700. Construction went at unprecedented tempo. Growth of city since 1900 has been steady. Since decline of silver camps, subsequent growth largely along commercial & financial lines. Denver Union Stockyards, one of most important in country. Nat. Western Stock Show in Jan.; Folk Festival in May; Summer Outdoor Opera, in July; City Band Concerts, July-Aug.; Civic Symphony Concerts, Nov. through Ap.—are important annual events.

HORSESHOE PK., high flat grassland where wild flowers bloom in profusion, named for shape of valley which was once thought to be bed of great lake which accounts for lack of forest here.

92. J. with Fall River Rd. (R), an attractive 1-way Dr. which rejoins US34 (W) after 11^m. From J. with Fall River Rd. speed limit of 35^m strictly enforced. 95. DEER RIDGE, J. with Moraine Pk. Rd., which traverses section of Big Thompson Valley, highly developed as summer resort. Substantial log cabins & cottages, perched on craggy slopes amid aspen & pines, border both sides of winding hy. This Rd. leads 11^m to Bear L. MANY PKS. CURVE, 99. One of numerous parking spaces provided along Trail Ridge Rd., presenting broad view of scenery in E. sec. of pk.

Hy. climbs steadily, passing timberline several times within short distance, which varies considerably, being much lower on shaded than on sunlit slopes. 112. FALL R. PASS MUS. (O.8-5.postoffice.lunch) with exhibits revealing geological evolution of pk. N. of Mus. parking area, hy. continues for some distance above timberline, then descends into timber. Continental Divide is crossed at 117. MILNER PASS (10,759'). At top of pass are Poudre Ls. at J. with foot trl.; R. here on trl. through dense fors. to fork, 0.5^m, presenting view of Cache La Poudre R. (R) winding through open grassland. (W) of Poudre Lakes US34 winds down canyon between hills blanketed with heavy fors. Swings down in long horseshoe curve to campground. 128. WEST SIDE CAMPGROUND. 134. GRAND LAKE, J. with improved rd.

IV. DENVER (S) to COLO.-N.M. LINE (9^m from Chama, N.M.). 267. US285

Via: Morrison, Kenosha Pass, Poncha Springs, Saguache, Monte Vista & Alamosa.

US285 leads through rugged country roughly paralleling Continental Divide, popular recr. area, with many trout streams. Hy. crosses South Pk. & San Luis Valley. S. portion of route traverses ranching & agric. areas, dotted with Sp.-Amer. settlements. 0. DENVER proceed (S) on US285 to 13. MORRISON, resort at mouth of Bear Cr. Canyon & site of famed Pk. of Red Rocks (see Denver Trip I). One of principal entrances to Denver Mt. Pk. System. St. Fish Hatchery (O.9-5). At 18., is Rd. (L) to Tiny Town 1^m, summer settlement, named for miniature city on bank of cr. Here, built to scale, 1" to 1', is complete town. 34. SHAFFERS CROSSING, summer resort & supply town. 45. BAILEY (camp.) at N. boundary of Pike Nat. For., reserve of over 1¼ million as., of which famed Pikes Peak (14,110') is most prominent. (See US85). (W), hy. pursues winding course through dense for. of spruce & lodgepole pines. 50. SHAWNEE, resort on wooded slope. 54. SANTA MARIA, on hill across Platte R. (R) from Santa Maria Cassels (O) camp for girls, is 75-ton Christ of the Rockies, modeled in cream-white glazed porcelain, 52' from base to top, floodlighted at night. Figure of Christ, guarded by 2 angels, reclines in crypt at base of statue. 64. KENOSHA PASS, broad saddleback between 2 low mts.; divide bet. N. & S. forks of S. Platte. 68. JEFFERSON. 84. FAIRPLAY is one of St.'s old mining towns. Near center of town is Mon. erected by citizens; it marks grave of "Prunes," burro said to have worked in every mine in dist. Sherwood, the miner who owned Prunes died in 1931 & was buried at rear of Mon. of Prunes as he had requested. 105. TROUT CR. PASS. J. with US24 (L), which unites with US285 to J. at 14^m. 141. PONCHA SPRINGS (Sp. "mild") (see US50). Route ascends through foothills to 152. PONCHA PASS, chief N. entrance to San Luis Valley. 167. J. with St.17 on which L. 2^m to Mineral Hot Springs, resort with cottage camp & outdoor swim. pool. 181. SAGUACHE (sa-watch; Ind. "blue earth"), thriving but isolated community retaining some frontier spirit. Founded in 1866 when throngs of prospectors rushed into valley seeking gold. In early days was hqs. for Ute agency. J. with St.114.

SIDE TRIP: (R) on St.114 along Saguache R. is excellent trout fishing. St.114 crosses Continental Divide over Cochetopa Pass, continuing 61^m to J. with US50.

216. MONTE VISTA (see US160). US285 unites with US160 for 17^m to ALAMOSA at 233. (see US160). US285 & St.17 are united to N.M. Line. 249. LA JARA (Sp. "rock rose"), center of large truck-farming area; also livestock raising reg. 261. CONEJOS, founded in 1854, one of oldest towns in Colo., though unincorporated. Retains old Sp. atmosphere. US285 crosses COLO.-N.M. LINE at 267.

US 30S—UTAH

UTAH-WYO. LINE (5^m from Evanston, Wyo.) (W) & (NW) to UTAH-IDAHO LINE (59^m from Burley, Idaho). 173. US30S

Via: Echo, Morgan, Ogden, Brigham City, Tremonton, Snowville.

Route of US30S has always been chief means of entrance into Utah from (E); it was first an Ind. trl., later an immigrant trl., & eventually route of Pacific RR. After penetrating Wasatch Mt. wall, US30S follows another well-beaten trl. (N) around Great Salt L., known since 1849 as Salt Lake Cutoff to Cal. Trl.

Sec. 1: UTAH-WYO. LINE to BRIGHAM CITY. 92.

US30S (W) of Evanston ascends rolling hills along Bear R. Valley to the divide bet. Bear & Weber Rs., 5., then descends to Echo Canyon. OLD MORMON TRL. MARKER (L), 10.5., marks pt. where pioneer trl. angles into Echo Canyon from (SE.). First traveled in 1846 by Cal.-bound wagons of Lansford W. Hastings & the Donner-Reed party, the trl. Mormons followed in 1847 crossed Bear R. 6^m (S) of Evanston & climbed 2 low ridges to reach head of Echo. Brigham Young being ill with "mountain fever," Orson Pratt took an advance company down this canyon & then across mountains to Salt L. Valley (see Salt Lake City, Loop Tour II). 14. CASTLE ROCK marks beginning of canyons' violently eroded rock formations which, in yrs. before the amazing character of S. Utah became known, aroused wondering comment from every Western traveler. At THE NARROWS, 26.5., where the red walls are precipitous & canyon floor boulder-strewn, Mormons in 1857 planned to resist westward-moving troops of Utah Expedition. Breastworks were constructed along cliffs (R), & creek was dammed to constrict Rd. in canyon bottom. Onset of winter, however, forced Utah Expedition to set up winter quarters short of this pt., at Camp Scott, (S) of Ft. Bridger. By spring of 1858, Mormons had decided not to fight, & U.S. troops marched (W) through canyon. At mouth of ECHO CANYON, 29., is W. J. with US189, with which US30S has been united (W) of Evanston. (For this hy. & balance of US30S to mouth of Weber Canyon, see Salt Lake City Loop Tour II.) At mouth of WEBER CANYON, 65., is S. J. with US89 (see), & at 70.5. in OGDEN is S. J. with US91, with which US30S is united to BRIGHAM CITY, 92. (see US91).

Sec. 2: BRIGHAM CITY to UTAH-IDAHO LINE. 81.

(W) of Brigham City, US30S traverses desert country, sometimes drab, sometimes of reluctant beauty. BEAR R., bridged at 6., is a tired, brackish stream. It has meandered for 350^m through Utah, Wyo. & Idaho to empty into Great Salt Lake only 90^m from its source. At intervals along its course, dams impound waters to irrigate more than 52,000 as. of fertile valley lands.

7. CORINNE, an easygoing farming village belying its uproarious past. No town unleashed more furious energies into Utah life than this quondam "Gentile Capital of Utah," & no tail ever came closer to wagging the dog. Founded early in 1869 at pt. where westward-building U.P. RR. crossed Bear R., Corinne envisioned itself as the future business metropolis of entire Terr., & a gentile wedge to split open the tight Mormon hegemony. From an alkali flat, Corinne changed overnight to veritable wilderness of frame bldgs., shanties, & tents in which dwelt a pop. of some 1,500, excluding 5,000 Chinese left behind by the Cent. Pac. All of Corinne's ambitions hinged on its being made the permanent junction pt. for 2 RRs., but when Ogden was selected as more suitable, Corinne made itself a base for freighting operations (N) into Idaho & Mont., put a steamboat on Great Salt Lake to connect it with Rush Valley Mines at its S. shore, memorialized Congress for aid in diverting waters of Bear R. for irrigation, & delayed not a moment in organizing a Liberal Political Party to combat Mormons at the polls. Economically Corinne was a luckless town; Mormon-built Utah N. RR. dried up freighting revenues; commercial navigation of Great Salt Lake was not a success; & Congress could not make up its mind to any affirmative action on reclamation proposals. But Liberal Party became vociferous organ of gentile minority in Utah, aroused powerful outside forces in its behalf, & was instrumental in finally bringing about Mormon submission on issues of marriage & political separation of Ch. & St. Altogether taken over by Mormon farmers after the Lucin Cutoff, in 1903, diverted rail traffic, Corinne will nevertheless stand for something intransigent in Utah life, as long as its name persists. Here is J. with St.83.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 26m following old grade of the U.P., to Promontory, where pyramidal mon. marks site of the driving of the Golden Spike, May 10, 1869. Westward-building U.P. & eastward-building Central Pacific, racing for cash subsidies & land grants Congress awarded for each mile of track laid, had built grades as far (W) as Wells, Nev., & as far (E) as Ogden, but the C.P.'s "Jupiter" & the U.P.'s "No. 119" met here at wind-swept summit of Promontory Range. After Lucin Cutoff was built, 25m (S), old Promontory route fell into disuse. In 1942, with U.S. at war, rails were taken up for scrap; with special ceremonies, the last spike was drawn where it had been driven 73 yrs. before.

20. TREMONTON, on W. bank of Malad R., is on line of hist. Salt Lake Cutoff from Bear R. to City of Rocks. Forty-niners crossed Bear R. 2m (E) of here & then angled (NW) to intersect Cal. Trl. Route was first used by immigrants in 1848. Sam. Hensley, coming (W) with a sm. party in Aug., 1848, tried to follow Hastings Cutoff across Salt Desert (see US40). Finding the desert miry from recent rains, he turned back & found this way (N) around the lake. A few wks. later, far down Humboldt R., he encountered eastbound members of Mormon Battalion & gave them a waybill of his route. With their wagons, Battalion members marked out a trl. Thousands of Forty-niners adopted it next spring, & it saw heavy use until completion of Pacific RR. 56. SNOWVILLE, center of farming area, interesting because irrigated & dry farm belts are so clearly distinguishable. Lower lands along Deep Cr. are irrigated; sloping benchlands are dryfarmed. (W) of Snowville US30S parallels IDAHO LINE for 18m & then bends (NW.) to cross it at 81.

US 40—UTAH

UTAH-COLO. LINE (92m from Craig, Colo.) (W) to UTAH-NEV. LINE (110m from Elko, Nev.). 334. US40

Via: Vernal, Duchesne, Heber, Salt Lake City, Grantsville, Wendover.

US40 in its eastern reaches closely approximates route by which Father Escalante entered Utah in 1776; it then crosses rugged Wasatch range to Salt Lake City. (W) of Salt Lake City, it is combined with US50 for crossing of most desolate portion of N. Amer., the glittering Salt Desert, a route made hist. by Cal.-bound immigrants who traveled it in 1846.

Sec. 1: UTAH-COLO. LINE to SALT LAKE CITY. 207.

US40 makes dramatic entrance into Utah, under high pink & white escarpment of Cliff Ridge (R), S. wall of Yampa Plateau. At 6.5. hy. surmounts low ridge to come into full view of wide sage basin (L) down which Father Escalante journeyed into Utah, 1776. For nearly 9m hy. parallels route of Franciscan explorer, then turns sharply (W) across hills to dip down & cross GREEN R. at 17. At 17.5. JENSEN, surrounded by alfalfa & grain fields, its weathered log houses shaded by huge cottonwood trees, is farming community strung out widely along W. bank of Green R., named for ferryman who operated here in 70's. At Jensen is J. with St.149.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 4m to boundary of Dinosaur Nat. Mon. The Mon. (R) notes place where Escalante forded Green R. St.149 cont. to Mon. hqs. 7m & temporary mus. (free). From Sandstone Quarry here, reached by short foot trl., more than a million tons of rock have been removed to excavate dinosaur skeletons, many of them now on exhibit at Carnegie Mus. in Pittsburgh, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C., Univ. of Utah in Salt Lake City, & Field House of Nat. Hist. in Vernal (see below). Quarry was opened in 1909 by Dr. Earl Douglass; since then 22 complete skeletons & thousands of individual bones have been removed incl. 5 species of dinosaurs, primitive mammals, crocodiles, invertebrate forms, & plants. No bones are now being removed from Mon.; gov. paleontologists will cut away rock to exhibit here bones of gigantic reptiles that roamed this country in Mesozoic times. Quarry is principal attraction, but short Rd. leads to gorge of Split Mt., where Green R. bursts through Uinta Mts. Also comprised within Mon. are 247 sq. miles of wilderness in W. Colo., strung along canyons of Green & Yampa Rs.

30. VERNAL is set in middle of wide, green Ashley Valley. Formerly a trade center for cattle & sheep raisers, since end of World War II it has been caught in an oil boom which doubled pop. & physically transformed town. Field House of Natural Hist. (O.9-5 wks.) contains mounted dinosaur skeletons, paintings of prehist. scenes, geological displays, & displays of resources & activities of Utah counties. Bank of Vernal is famous for manner of its construction; it was built of brick sent from Salt Lake City by parcel post. Freight charges in 1919 exceeded parcel post rates, & enterprising builders flooded Salt Lake City, Price, & Vernal P.O. with packages of bricks. The idea quickly caught hold; tools, wagon parts, & canned goods were mailed in, & farm products mailed out. A shipment of corn required 10 4-ton trucks. Federal P.O. regulations finally were changed to forbid shipment of more than 200 pounds a day to any addressee. Here is J. with St.44.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) across Uinta Mts. to Utah's most isolated city, Daggett, on N. slope of Uintas. Rd. crosses Diamond Mt. Plateau, named for celebrated swindle of 1871 by which 2 prospectors who salted a claim here with South African "niggerheads" got away with $660,000 of a S. F. financier's bankroll. At 41.5m is J. with dirt Rd. leading (R) 1m past Green L. (f.), a 23-a. L. lying almost on rim of Red Canyon. Side Rd. cont. along canyon (R), with driveouts to rim at 2m & 3m where a spectacular view is had of Green R. (1,572') below. St.44 cont. to Manila at 74m, tiny seat of Daggett Cty., from which dirt Rds. branch (W) & (E) to Lyman & Green River, Wyo.

US40 climbs (SW) out of Ashley Valley to enter Uinta Basin, through which flow the Duchesne & its large tributaries, Uinta & Strawberry. This tremendous basin was set aside as a reserv. for Utes by Pres. Lincoln, Oct. 3, 1861, & was not opened for white settlement until 1905. Uinta Basin is walled in on (S) by Bad Lands Cliffs & Uinta Mts., Utah's highest & most difficult range. Except for St.44 (see above) near its E. end, no yr.-round Rd. crosses Uinta range along its entire 125m length, & only other Rd. of any description that crosses it is rough Mirror L. Rd. bet. Kamas & Evanston, Wyo. (see Salt Lake City Trip I). A 243,957-a. saddle across backbone of Uintas was set aside by U.S. Forest Serv. in 1931 as High Uintas Primitive Area, to be maintained substantially in "wild" state. A thousand glacial lakes are found in Uintas, with heavily forested mts., grassy pks., open meadows, & peaks (like 13,498' Kings Peak) which lift barren crowns high above timberline. Accomms. at Mirror L. on St.34; at Savage's Ranch, Hanna, & Defas Pk. on St.35; at Moon L. on St.134; & at N. end of Rock Cr. Rd. branching off from St.134; area may also be entered from (N) via Lonetree, Wyo. Info. at Adm. Office, Wasatch Nat. For., Salt Lake City. At 54.5. on US40 is J. with St.88.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 1m to Ft. Duchesne, hqs. of Uinta & Ouray Ind. Reserv., occupied by Whiteriver, Uinta, & Uncompahgre bands of Ute Inds. Reserv. (1,680 pop.) covers c.384,000 as. situated along foothills of Uinta Mts. & on E. side of Green R., the 2 segments conn. by a narrow corridor along route of St.88. Inds. derive livelihood from farming & stock raising. Annual Ind. Fair is held at Duchesne in Sept., in conn. with 3-day Uinta Basin Industrial Convention. Bear Dance & Sun Dance (fee) are staged; Bear Dance (a spring festival) at Whiterocks, Ouray, & Myton in late Mar. or early Ap.; Sun Dance (to cure or avert physical infirmities) at Whiterocks in late July or early Aug. At 20m Ouray, above confluence of Green, White, & Duchesne Rs. is one of 3 bridges that cross Green-Colo. R. system in Utah. On E. side of Green R., above mouth of the White, are remains of old adobe ft., thought to have been built by Antoine Robidoux in winter of 1837-38, 1st yr.-round white dwelling in Utah. Site was favorite wintering ground for trappers, & some log huts had been raised here as early as 1834. "Fort Robidoux" was evidently occupied only a few months; its builder moved farther (N) & (W) to est. a new post on Whiterocks R.

At 56.5. is J. with gravel Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 13m to Whiterocks, site of annual Sun Dance, now Ind. settlement centered about Whiterocks Ind. sch. Three-quarters of a mile (E) & half mile (S) of sch. are remains of Ft. Wintey. Probably est. in 1838, trading post was abandoned by Antoine Robidoux in 1845 after Utes attacked his branch establishment, Ft. Uncompahgre, in Colo.

Beyond ROOSEVELT, 60., trading center for farmers & ranchers, US40 crosses Duchesne R. & at MYTON, 70., comes again into Father Escalante's trl. After crossing Green R., Escalante had come (W) up Duchesne Valley, parallel to route of US40. From this pt. Escalante cont. up river, crossing & recrossing it, to site of Duchesne, then after unavailing efforts to ascend Strawberry R., proceeded (W) up a wash (N) of US40. Crossing Strawberry R. just below Reservoir, he climbed to Strawberry Divide by way of Squaw Cr., & then descended Fifth Water Canyon & Diamond Fork to Spanish Fork Canyon (see US6-US50).

89. DUCHESNE is principal J. within Uinta Basin. At Duchesne St.33 goes (SW) up Ind. Canyon over 9,100' summit to Castlegate at 45^m, on Denver & Rio Grande Western RR. (see US6-US50), while St.35 follows (NW) up Duchesne R. & over 9,480' summit to rejoin US40 at Hailstone, 78^m (see Salt Lake City Loop Tour I). A 3rd Rd. jounces up rugged canyon of the Strawberry to Reservoir, 40^m (W), while mainline US40 goes almost directly (W) to cross Wasatch divide at head of Daniels Canyon.

(W) of Duchesne US40 runs through miles of sage & juniper country, & by way of Deep Cr. Canyon penetrates a great valley, in hollows of which lie blue waters of Strawberry Reservoir, completed 1915, Utah's 1st important Fed. Reclamation Project, & 1st project for diverting Colo. drainage waters into Great Basin. By a 19,000' tunnel, waters impounded in Reservoir are released into Diamond Fork, & via Spanish Fork R. carried to Utah Valley. The Central Utah Reclamation Project envisions a vastly expanded diversion of waters from Green R. & its tributaries which by way of Strawberry Reservoir & 300^m system of aqueducts shall water farmlands of central Utah as far (S) & (W) as Fillmore & Kanosh. By this means 300,000 as. of land now under irrigation would receive supplemental water, & 150,000 as. of new land would be brought under cultivation. At 130. is J. with dirt Rd. which makes 15^m loop around Strawberry Reservoir (trout f.boats.campgrounds), returning to US40 at 137. Reservoir lies within boundaries of Strawberry Valley Bird Refuge. US40 climbs quickly to head of Daniels Canyon, then winds down this canyon past frequent For. Service campgrounds, until it opens out upon Provo Valley at HEBER, 159. (For balance of US40 to Salt Lake City, 207., see Salt Lake City).

Sec. 2: SALT LAKE CITY to NEVADA LINE. 127.

At 36. GRANTSVILLE, at W. verge of Salt Lake City, jumping-off place for crossing Salt Desert. One immigrant party in 1846 attempted to cross Stansbury Mts. by way of cleft in mts. immediately (W) of Grantsville, but even as a horse trl. this was hard going, & other early wayfarers, like mod. travelers, had to be content to circle N. slope of Stansbury range. Route across Salt Desert was pioneered by Frémont in 1845. Eastbound in 1846, Clyman-Hastings' party adopted it & later in summer, Hastings & Donner-Reed parties made a wagon Rd. of it. Their desperate experience in crossing Salt Desert thereafter discouraged use of "Hastings Cutoff" except by infrequent pack parties. Not until building of Western Pac. RR. in 1907 & modern hy. in 1925 was it possible for travelers to venture upon Salt Desert except at hazard of their lives. 51. TIMPIE JUNCTION. As US40 rounds Stansbury Mts. there is J. with dirt Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 15.5^m to Iosepa, ghost town sett. 1889 by Hawaiian converts to Mormonism. In 1893 leprosy broke out among them, which resulted in Utah's only leper colony. Hawaiians were unable to adapt themselves to Utah climate, & after building of a temple at Laie, Hawaii, in 1916, most of colonists returned. The springs at Iosepa earlier had provided last supplies of good water & grass for those following Salt Desert trl.; after careful preparation here, immigrants crossed Skull Valley to low depression in Cedar Mts. ever since called Hastings Pass, & then struck out across desert for nearest water, at base of Pilot Peak, 75^m away. Bet. Timpie Junction & Low Pass, US40 traverses N. end of Skull Valley, named from skulls found here by Mormon pioneers, custom of Gosiute Ind. having been to bury their dead in springs. US40 runs through Low Pass, bet. barren Lakeside Mts. (R) & Cedar Mts. (L).

MON. (R) at 75. marks pt. where 1846 wagon trl. coming down out of Cedar Mts. crosses modern hy. KNOLLS at 87. is a cluster of bldgs. at E. edge of salt beds. When Great Salt L. withdrew from this area, its waters had already become a concentrated salt solution & a billion tons of salt bestrew surface of desert. The concrete-like surface makes ideal course for auto racing. In 1914 Teddy Tetzlaff set unofficial world's record of 141^m an hr. for a measured mile. Modern exploitation of salt flats began in 1926, when Utah's Ab Jenkins drove 24 hrs. without relief to shatter almost every world speed record; he drove 2,710^m at average of 112^m an hr. In 1935 Sir Malcolm Campbell, abandoning hazardous beach at Daytona, Fla., 1st broke 300^m an hr. mark for measured mile & other Brit. drivers subsequently boosted record to 394.196^m an hr., the mark of John Cobb in 1947. At 121.5, motorists can leave hy. & drive as fast as they like across level surface of Bonneville Salt Flats (R), only place in Utah where there is no speed limit. 127. WENDOVER, RR. town at W. edge of Salt Desert, lies two-thirds in Utah & one-third in Nev. In Nev. third of Wendover the thirsty traveler will find what he has nowhere seen in Utah, a cocktail lounge, since liquor is sold in Utah by package only, from St. liquor stores. At Wendover hy. crosses UTAH-NEV. LINE.

US 6 & US 50—UTAH

UTAH-COLO. LINE (34^m from Grand Junction, Colo.) to NEVADA LINE (60^m from Ely, Nev.). 384. US6, US50

Via: Green River, Price, Helper, Soldier Summit, Spanish Fork, Santaquin, Eureka & Delta.

Eastern half of this route, bet. Colo. Line & Utah Valley, is combined route of US6-US50 locally called US50, & is only hy. for travel to & from SE. Utah. It crosses a barren plateau reg., winds through canyons with rich coal deposits, & beyond Wasatch divide descends hist. Spanish Fork Canyon to fertile Utah Valley. US6 (W) of Spanish Fork, passes through an arid, semi-mountainous reg. of mining towns & irrigated valleys to rolling desert plains extending to Nev. Line.

Sec. 1: UTAH-COLO. LINE to SPANISH FORK. 205.

US6-US50 enters Utah in midst of desolate wasteland, with only irrigated Book Cliffs (R) to lend variety to landscape. Across this red mesa, hy. undulates to 52., CRESCENT JUNCTION, at J. with US160 (see). From this pt. (W) to Green R., hy. follows hist. route of Old Spanish Trl. making the only practicable all-yr. crossing of Green R. 72. GREEN RIVER lies along W. bank of R. & is noted for its nationally-marketed watermelons & cantaloupes. It is starting pt. for many river-running expeditions. Maj. John Wesley Powell, in 1869, was 1st to descend canyons of Green & Colo. Rs. He repeated hazardous journey in 1871-72 to gain further information about this little-known area. In 1889 Brown-Stanton expedition, exploring a possible water-level RR. route to Cal. through canyons, lost 3 men by drowning. In Green R. is J. with St.24 (see US89). US6-US50 turns (W) & (N) from Green R. At 94. is J. with Cty. Rd. leading (L) to Castle Dale, 43^m. This Rd. follows course of Spanish Trl. directly (W) to Castle Valley (see below). Main hy. cont. (N) toward Price R. Valley, following route 1st adopted for wagons in 1853, by Capt. J. W. Gunnison, who was exploring a central RR. route. US6-US50 crosses Price R. at WOODSIDE, 98., & climbs steadily (SW). 136. PRICE, business center for east-central Utah. Coal deposits opened up in Book Cliffs & in canyons of E. slope of Wasatch were exceptionally rich & gave name to Carbon Cty., soon org. with Price as its seat. During the 90's Butch Cassidy's Wild Bunch rode outlaw trl. from Hole in the Wall in Wyo., down through Browns Hole, to Robbers Roost (see below) & enlivened existence in Price. It gave name to annual Robbers Roost Roundup, held in Price 1st wk. in Sept. Intermountain Band Contest for high sch. bands held in Price each spring, annually attracts over 2,500 contestants & 20,000 visitors. Here is J. with St.10.

SIDE TRIP: On St.10 (L) through Castle Valley, named for its castellated walls. 31^m Castle Dale, a solid farm town sett. 1875. To (SE) bet. Castle Valley & Green R., rises enormous San Rafael Swell. In its almost inaccessible recesses Robbers Roost gang took up residence during the 90's. St.10 cont. (S) through farmlands that give place to twisted red hills. At 73^m, Fremont Junction, is J. with St.72 (see US89). St.10, following route of Spanish Trl., climbs to head of Salina Canyon & descends it to Salina, 109^m (see US89).

144. HELPER, clinging to steep walls on either side of Price Canyon, & thronged by RR. men & miners, was named in 1892 for extra engines, or "helpers," required to push trains up heavy grade to Soldier Summit. US50-US6 climbs on up canyon to CASTLEGATE, 147., named for castellated rock formations at entrance to valley. In Castlegate, on Mar. 8, 1924, one of Utah's worst mine disasters occurred; 3 terrific explosions took lives of 173 men. At 192. is E. J. in narrow Thistle

Valley with US89 (see). Below, at 195. is confluence with Diamond Fork, down which Father Escalante came into Spanish Fork Canyon in 1776 (see US40). 201. At mouth of SPANISH FORK CANYON is W. J. of US50 & US6. US50 angles down (NW) to J. with US91 6^m below in Springville (see US91). US6 & US89 cont. down sloping benchland of Utah Valley to separate in SPANISH FORK, 205.

Sec. 2: SPANISH FORK to UTAH-NEV. LINE. 179.

US6 (SW) of Spanish Fork runs concurrent with US91 to SANTAQUIN, 14., at S. end of Utah Valley & then strikes off (W) into rolling, juniper-covered hills. 34. EUREKA has been one of Utah's most productive mining towns since its inception in 1870, its gold, silver, copper, lead, & zinc valued in excess of $400,000,000. Mining here is deep-level mining, by perpendicular shafts 2,000' or more. 52. JERICHO has no pop. whatever except during shipping season, but thousands of sheep are sheared each spring in its large corrals, when it is one of leading wool shipping pts. in W. 85. DELTA, with its clean wide streets, modern homes, & prosperous business sec., is a farming town & shipping center for sm. mines. Before 1900 this sec. of great Pahvan Valley was regarded as hopeless desert, but has been reclaimed by water from Delta Reservoir. In 1940, nearly one-fourth of alfalfa seed in U.S. was produced in Delta dist. US6 (W) of agric. area contiguous to Delta, hustles off into flat country covered with stunted sage & interspersed with patches of dark volcanic rock. 132.5. MARJUM PASS & 155. COWBOY PASS. Hy. crosses Antelope Mts. & Confusion Range. Snake Valley opens out ahead; in it is ROBINSONS RANCH, 174., hamlet with a few log houses surrounded by orchards & poplar trees. To (N) & (W) lift high, pine-darkened peaks of Snake Mts. 179. US6 crosses NEV. LINE.

US 160, ST. 47—UTAH

CRESCENT JUNCTION (on US6-US50) (S) to UTAH-ARIZ. LINE (93^m from Tuba City, Ariz.). 186. US160, St.47

Via: Moab, Monticello, Blanding, Bluff, Mexican Hat, (Monument Valley).

Route by US160 & St.47 (S) to Ariz. Line traverses San Juan country, one of least-known & most int. parts of Utah. Red permeates everything, plains, deserts, hills, cliffs, canyons—even homes & color of men's skin. Settlements are small & far apart; land is devoted almost exclusively to grazing of cattle & sheep.

Branching (S) from US6-US50 at Crescent Junction, US160 follows an almost straight course over broad; brush-covered plain. Henry Mts. (R) 80^m to (SW), & La Sal Mts. (L), 35^m to (SE), loom high above low, table-topped ridges of red, gray & yellow that hug the plain. At 14. is J. with improved dirt Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 35^m to Dead Horse Pt., where earth falls away in a 3,000' chasm, Upper Grand Canyon of the Colo., perhaps the most sensational canyon spectacle in Utah.

US160 cont. (S) through eroded red hills to J. at 20. with St.93.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 9^m to Arches Nat. Mon. Here red canyon walls have been carved by wind & rain in wonderful & grotesque forms; there are arches & windows cut through solid stone, immense monoliths balanced perilously on disintegrating bases, chimneys, deep caves & high, sculptured walls of salmon-hued rock. Mon. has 5 secs., each different in geologic & scenic interest, the Windows in center, Cth. Towers in (S) & Klondike Bluffs, Devils Garden, & Delicate Arch, in (N). The Windows as yet is only sec. readily accessible by car.

Over a long steel bridge, US160 crosses Colo. R. at 30. & arrives at J. with St.128.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 31.5^m to Dewey, a spectacular drive up Colo. R. to its confluence with the Dolores; this is not, however, a Rd. for nervous drivers, or one to be driven in winter or during spring floods.

32. MOAB, beautifully green in its red valley. Seat of Grand Cty., it is main business center of SE. Utah. A Mormon Ind. mission attempted to est. a settlement here in 1855, but after 3 were killed, "Elk Mountain Mission" was abandoned. Remnants of their stone ft. may still be seen. Area was resettled 20 yrs. later by cattlemen who drifted (W) into Utah from Colo. Old Irrigation Canal Arroyo, 50 to 300 yds. (W) of US160 through Moab, is a channel carved by irrigation stream left running when Inds. drove missionaries from valley in 1855. Boats & guides are avail. at Moab for trips down Colo. R. to J. with Green R. & up that stream to town of Green River.

(S) of Moab, US160 crosses country vegetated with greasewood & prickly pear. To (E) rise La Sal Mts., 2nd highest in St. 48. CANE SPRINGS, watering place for early travelers; a cave in a cliff opp. has been converted into ranch house by construction of a wall across its opening. 59. LOOKING GLASS ROCK (L) is salmon-colored sandstone wall pierced by opening 25' high & 50' wide, so named because the view seems to be reflection of opp. wall. To (E), Sage Plain opens out, 1,200 sq. miles of monotonously level country extending to Dolores R. in Colo. US160 skirts its W. edge, flanked (R) by Abajo Mts., locally called Blue Mts., the 8 peaks of which rise abruptly from Sage Plain. 85. MONTICELLO, lying at base of Abajo Mts., is seat of San Juan Cty. With abbreviated growing season, adj. country is devoted to raising of sheep & cattle. Here is J. with dirt Rd. At Monticello is J. with St.47 on which main tour cont. from here.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) On US160 (E) across Sage Plain to Colo. Line which is crossed at 10m (S) of Cortez, Colo. 51m.

(B) A dirt Rd. (R) 10m from Monticello leads into Abajo Mts. to Cooley Pass near summit (L) of Abajo Peak (11,357'). From top of that peak an unrivaled view of intricately carved & marvelously colored Colo. Plateau may be had.

Main tour now cont. on St.47. Branching from US160 at Monticello, St.47 runs (S) along green foothills of Abajo Mts. to BLANDING at 105., farming community on White Mesa. With less than 600 inhabitants in 1940, Blanding was most populous town in San Juan Cty., which has area equivalent to combined areas of Conn., Del. & R.I. Although Blanding dreams about a hy. (E) across Sage Plain to Colo., such a hy. would have to bridge 10 Sage Plain canyons within 15m.

SIDE TRIP: From Blanding on St.95 (R) 47m to Natural Bridges Nat. Mon. An area of spectacular erosive formations, Mon. is especially celebrated for 3 immense, water-carved bridges & number of prehist. cliff dwellings. Rd. to Mon. was formerly distinguished by strange formation called Goblet of Venus, a bowl of vermilion sandstone 6' or 7' in diam., weighing about 5 tons., which was delicately balanced atop a symmetrical stem 6' long & about thickness of a man's leg; this formation, sad to record, was destroyed in 1948 by vandals. In Mon. itself 3 famous bridges are Owachomo, Kachina & Sipapu. St.95 cont. by rough Rd. down White Canyon to toll ferry at Hite on Colo. R. at 88m (see US89).

(S) of Blanding, St.47 runs along flat divide bet. Cottonwood Canyon (R) & Recapture Canyon (L); at one place canyons are less than 30' apart. At 122.5., is J. with primitive dirt Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) to Hovenweep Nat. Mon.; Rd. is passable, but Mon. is more easily approached from Colo. Hovenweep preserves ruins of a remarkable prehist. civilization in 4 large & several tributary canyons cut in mesa bet. Montezuma & McElmo creeks. These Pueblo remains have been deserted at least 600 yrs.; time of their beginnings has not yet been established.

132. BLUFF, perched forlornly on red banks of San Juan R., has a history, heroic & heartbreaking. In 1879 Mormon Ch. dispatched one of its characteristic colonizing missions to settle narrow bottomlands of San Juan R. Mission elected to cut new Rd. (S) & (E) through heart of Colo. badlands to conn. new settlement with parent colonies in south-central Utah. Route adopted was (S) from Escalante to Colo. R., down to river-level by chute cut in solid rock of Hole-in-the-Rock, & thence across Slick Rocks & Clay Hills to site of Bluff. To carve a route across such country required entire winter of 1879-80; it was Ap., 1880, before journey came to its end. Floods eventually ripped out arable lands along the San Juan & San Juan missionaries had to migrate (N) to Blanding, Monticello & Moab. Bluff today is nearly deserted.

(S) from Bluff, St.47 is more primitive. (Travelers should carry water & should not stray from Rd. except with competent guide. In crossing the dozen unbridged washes bet. Bluff & Mexican Hat, care should be taken in times of torrential rain.) 139. COMB RIDGE is climbed by succession of switchbacks & then Rd. winds down to NAVAHO SPRINGS, 141. (good water; reached by 100-yd. trl. to L.). Rd. weaves through Snake Canyon & climbs Lime Ridge to distant view of Mon. Valley. 156. MEXICAN HAT LODGE takes its name from 400' high, cone-shaped mound of red shale, resembling a gigantic Mexican sombrero balanced on its crown. Mexican Hat Lodge is owned & operated by Norman D. Nevills, "white water" boatman, with whom arrangements may be made for trips ranging from 4m to 200m on San Juan & Colo. Rs.

St.47 crosses San Juan R. at 156.5. by suspension bridge. Normally one of largest streams in St., on occasion the San Juan has dried up entirely. It carries an enormous amount of silt—as much as 75% by vol.—which creates singular “sand waves” at flood stage. (S) of R., St.47 crosses Navaho Ind. Reserv., largest in Utah, which extends far (S) into Ariz. (Guides advised in this area.) From MONUMENT PASS at 178. maroon buttes & pinnacles of Mon. Valley are seen to rise like skyscrapers out of red desert, towering 1,000' above valley floor. “Stage Coach” was filmed here in 1939; other pictures which have used the strange valley as location incl. “Billy the Kid” (1941), “My Darling Clementine” (1946), & “The Harvey Girls” (1947). 184. J. with dirt Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 2^m to Goulding's Trading Post (rooms, meals, guides, horses). From Goulding's Post pack-trips can be arranged to Navaho Mt. & Rainbow Natural Bridge, & to dozens of other natural bridges, canyons & cliff-dwellings. Rainbow Bridge Nat. Mon. cannot be reached by automobile, & must be approached by 2-day pack trip (NE) from Rainbow Lodge, Ariz., or by longer trips from Mexican Hat or Goulding's Post. This peerless natural bridge, beneath which the Capitol at Washington could be placed with ample clearance, is a perfectly formed span of red & yellow sandstone, located c.6^m (N) of Ariz. Line & 10^m (SW) of J. of Colo. & San Juan Rs.

St.47 threads its way past red monoliths of Mon. Valley & at 186. crosses ARIZ. LINE.

UTAH-IDAHO LINE (25^m from Montpelier, Idaho) (S) to UTAH-ARIZ. LINE (4^m from Fredonia, Ariz.). 458. US89

Via: Logan, Brigham City, Ogden, Salt Lake City, Provo, Spanish Fork, Thistle, Manti, Richfield, Panguitch & Kanab.

US89 in N. part of St. provides occasional alt. routes bet. major pop. centers, then at Spanish Fork veers (E) to a chain of scenic interior valleys as direct route to Grand Canyon. A series of cross-roads conn. it with US91, while other Rds. branch off (E) & penetrate Utah's wild hinterland.

Sec. 1: UTAH-IDAHO LINE to SALT LAKE CITY. 135.

US89 makes spectacular entrance into Utah along W. shore of Bear L. (f.boat, swim.), whose blue waters have delighted travelers from time of fur trade. Trappers held their trading fair or “rendezvous” at its S. shore in 1827 & 1828. Fights with Blackfeet long celebrated in mt. yarns were waged in narrow lowlands bet. L. shore & mts. After collapse of fur trade in 1840's, Bear L. was haunt only of Shoshoni Inds. until Mormon colonizers came (N) in the sixties. The Saints soon discovered in Bear L. a 1st-class monster, “not less than 90' in length,” with “ears or bunches on side of its head nearly as large as a pint cup,” & able to cleave waters at a conservative mile-a-minute pace. 4. GARDEN CITY, & J. with St.3.

SIDE TRIP: On St.3 (L) around S. shore of Bear L., over a low divide & (S) through rolling uplands to Randolph, 38^m & Woodruff, 42^m, which is at J. with St.39 (see US91). St.3 swings toward Evanston, Wyo., long blue rampart of the Wasatch beyond Salaratus Valley (R). At 52^m, St.3 crosses Wyo. Line & cont. as Wyo. St.89 to Evanston at 69^m.

From Garden City, US89 turns (W) to climb to head of Logan Canyon. At 10.5. is enchanting view of Bear L. & distant mts. in Idaho & Wyo. Logan Canyon itself is one of Utah's most scenic gorges, with mile-high, almost perpendicular walls, forested slopes with numerous camp sites (all facilis.) & sparkling Logan R., favorite f. stream. 30. J. with dirt Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 5^m to Old Juniper Camp. (R) 1^m from this camp on a steel foot trl. up a small lateral canyon through groves of aspen & pine to gnarled 44' high, 15' thick, 3,000 yrs. old Juniper Jardine, oldest tree in Utah, believed to be oldest juniper in world.

As hy. emerges from LOGAN CANYON, 42.5., shorelines of prehist. L. Bonneville, which in Pleistocene times overspread most of W. Utah, are visible along mountainsides. 44. LOGAN. J. with US91 (see). Bet. Logan & Brigham City, motorist has choice of routes; US91 is 10^m shorter, but circuitous US89, having a lower elevation, is often preferred for winter driving. Through an open farming country along slope of Great Salt Lake valley, winding through small Mormon villages, hy. reaches at 79. BRIGHAM CITY, & comes to J. with US30S (see), then with US91, & is united with them as far as Ogden (see US91). From OGDEN, 100., US89 runs close under face of the mts. to mouth of WEBER CANYON, 108. (For rest of distance to SALT LAKE CITY at 135., see Salt Lake City Trip II.)

Sec. 2: SALT LAKE CITY to RICHFIELD. 173.

Separating from US91 at SPANISH FORK, 55., (S) of Salt Lake City, US89 is united with US6 and US50 through lower Spanish Fork Canyon to THISTLE at 68. Here US89 turns (S) across brown hills to long Sanpete Valley. Sett. late in 1849, as 1st Mormon colonizing venture beyond limits of Great Salt Lake & Utah valleys, Sanpete Valley became a little Scandinavia after Mormon missionaries began to make headway in N. Europe. Climate was familiar to converts from that area, & they have made Sanpete Valley a showpiece in Utah agric. Especially in dairy farming & production of blooded stock, Sanpete Valley has made its influence felt. 113. PIGEON HOLLOW JUNCTION, at J. with St.11, from Nephi (see US91). 118. EPHRAIM, center of turkey & sheep raising area, is also home of Snow College, founded by Mormon Ch. in 1883 & taken over by St. as jr. college in 1932. Central Utah Mus. (O.2-4.wks.Sept.-June), with 11,000 specimens of ind. pottery, arrowheads, sandals, moccasins & bone knives, reflects early Ute fondness for Sanpete Valley. The snow-white Temple on hill overlooking MANTI at 125., marks city from afar. Here in 1849 was made 1st settlement in Sanpete Valley. White limestone temple (O.only to Mormons) was begun by Brigham Young just before his death in 1877; it was completed 11 yrs. later. 140. GUNNISON, at J. with St.28 coming up from Levan (see US91). Here Sanpitch R. flows into Sevier R., once Utah's mightiest interior stream, but now imprisoned by 4 large reservoirs along its course. 154. SALINA takes its name from rock salt deposits in near-by hills. At mouth of Salina Canyon, J. with St.10 (see US6-US50) which follows hist. route across Wasatch used until early 80's for travel to & from Colo. plateau country. 165. SIGURD, J. with St.24.

SIDE TRIP: St.24 is an adventure Rd. The 174m bet. Sigurd & Green River carry tourist across every kind of terrain. The 60m to Torrey are paved & succeeding 55m to Hanksville improved. The final 59m to Green River, however, is unimproved Rd. (1949) uphill & down, across numerous washes (carry water). From this through-route, Rds. branch off into even wilder country. From Sigurd St.24 climbs (SE) toward Fish L., Utah's most popular f. area. Beyond the Rim of the Basin at 29.5m is J. with St.25, leading (L) 7.5m to Fish L. (varied accoms.boats.guides f.), a jeweled L. 5 ¼m long, ¾m wide, set in crater of ancient volcano. L. abounds with rainbow, brook, & mackinaw trout, & surrounding alpine fers. & meadows have deer, elk, snowshoe rabbits, & even a few mt. lions & coyotes. 43m Loa takes its name from Hawaiian volcano, reflecting worldwide labors of Mormon missionaries. St.24 cont. (SE) to J. at 56m with St.117 leading (R) 10.5m to Grover, where guides (absolutely necessary) & horses may be hired for climbing to 49-sq. mile Aquarius Plateau, with its numerous Ls., sage deserts, mesas, pinnacles, spires & vertical-walled canyons, all at elevations from 10,000' to 12,500'. St.117 cont. (S) 32m to Boulder, at J. with St.23 (see below). Country becomes even wilder & more spectacularly colored, at 71.5m.

St.24 enters Capitol Reef Nat. Mon. The "reef," a great 20m-long ridge of rock upthrust high above surrounding terrain, takes its name from white Navaho sandstone domes. Capitol Reef formations combine fantasy of Bryce (see below) & grandeur of Zion Nat. Pks. with more color than either. Great temples & walls, huge arches & natural bridges are splashed & striated with every imaginable color. Petrified fers. are found & varied archeological remains, incl. carved petroglyphs & painted pictographs on cliff walls. 72.5m Fruita, within Mon., a green oasis founded in 1878 along red-walled Fremont or Dirty Devil R. Through Grand Wash at 73m & Capitol Gorge at 79m (dangerous during summer cloudbursts), St.24 crosses Mon., emerging upon a desert of pink, gray & yellow hills which roll away far to (E) & (SE). 115m Hanksville was a rendezvous in 90's for Robbers Roost gang which held sway throughout this country (see US6-US50).

From Hanksville (R) 52m on rugged desert Rd. to Hite, on Colo. R. Here is toll ferry.

A rough Rd. (E) of Colo. up White Canyon climbs to Natural Bridges Nat. Mon. at 93m, then crosses broken red rock country to Blanding at 140m (see US160-St.47). Bet. Hanksville & Green River, hy. fords series of streams & washes (dangerous to cross during heavy rains, when great walls of water may sweep down at any moment). 174m Green River, at J. with US6-US50 (see).

173. RICHFIELD, business center serving prosperous farming country of south-central Utah; has cheese factories, flour mills, a clay & metal mill, with coal & gypsum mines near-by. City is also widely known as base for deer hunt. in season & for lion hunt. in any season. Other Utah cities where packs of lion-hunting dogs are maintained incl. Kanab, Cedar City, Kanosh, Salina, Henrieville, Panguitch, Nephi, Goshen & Fruitland. (List of packs & guides obtainable from U.S. Biological Survey, Fed. Bldg., Salt Lake City.) Annual Black Hawk celebration in Richfield (mid-Aug.) comm. end of Black Hawk War with Utes, which bet. 1865 & 1868 forced evacuation of all Sevier Valley towns.

Sec. 3: RICHFIELD to UTAH-ARIZ. LINE. 150.

(S) of Richfield spacious Sevier Valley narrows until at SEVIER, 18., it is contracted into gorge of Marysville Canyon. So formidable was this scenic canyon in pioneer times that both the Spanish Trl. to Cal. & later the Mormon wagon Rd. detoured it through the mts. to (E). At 25. BIG ROCK CANDY MT. (R) is a rounded, lemon-colored hill sparsely grown with evergreens. No grass grows in the yellow, alum-tainted soil. Higher up the canyon a few small gold mines still operate, reminiscent of boom days of Bullionville & other ghost camps. Passing green, fresh valley of MARYSVALE at 30., PIUTE RESERVOIR (L) at 41. (f.h.), US89 comes to JUNCTION, 45., seat of Piute Cty., at confluence of E. & S. Forks of Sevier R. At junction hy. joins St.22.

SIDE TRIP: On St.22 (L) to Antimony, 17m, isolated Mormon farm community & up E. Fork of Sevier to Widtsoc Junction, 42m.

Here St.23 leads (L) through brilliantly colored canyons to Escalante, 27m, remote Mormon community on Kaiparowits Plateau. Escalante is pt. of departure for trips to the badlands country along lower reaches of Escalante R. St.23 cont. down Escalante R. & then up Boulder Cr. to Boulder, 56m, along one of most isolated communities in U.S. & approachable only from (W) along a knife-edged ridge called Hells Backbone. St.23 now takes a more southern route 15m shorter. Boulder is at J. with St.117 (see above).

From Widtsoc Junction, St.22 cont. (S) to St.12, 56m, near the entrance to Bryce Canyon Nat. Pk. (see below).

On US89 at 79. is PANGUITCH, seat of Garfield Cty., founded by settlers who penetrated valley of upper Sevier in 1864. Here is J. with side Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. past great lava flows (R) 18.5m to Panguitch L. (f.h.camp.), favorite southern Utah recr. area. At 33m is J. with St.55 & St.143 at NE. cor. of Cedar Breaks Nat. Mon. (see US91).

At 86., on US89, is J. with St.12.

SIDE TRIP: On St.12 (L) 2.5m to mouth of Red Canyon, a scarlet gorge which at first glance rivals Bryce Canyon. After J. at 14m with St.22, however, St.12 turns (R) 3m to reveal true magnificence of Bryce Canyon Nat. Pk. (adm. jointly with Zion Canyon, $1). Ebenezer Bryce, who 1st began to range cattle here in 1875, described it as "a hell of a place to lose a cow." Rather than a canyon, Bryce is a series of "breaks" in 14 enormous amphitheaters extending 1,000' down through pink & white limestones of Paunsaugunt Plateau. Domes, spires & temples predominate in Bryce, but the infinite variety & grace of all the erosive formations cannot be expressed in language. The 20m Rim Rd. affords many arresting vantage pts; most comprehensive & overwhelming is Inspiration Pt. At Pk. Hqs., 4.5m inside pk. boundary, are a pub. campground, cafeteria, cabins, store, mus. garage & Bryce Canyon Lodge. Trls. to floor of the canyon are numerous & safe; horses are avail., but trls. are readily followed afoot.

At LONG VALLEY JUNCTION, 107., is J. with St.14 to Cedar Breaks Nat. Mon., 25m (see US91). Winding down Long Valley, US89 at 124. passes ORDERVILLE, where Mormons in 70's & 80's made valiant effort to live the "United Order," a venture in communal living. The Orderville "Order" was the most successful in Utah, & thrived after most of the others had sunk in ruin. It provided complete security but insufficient reward for industry & ambition, & dissolved in 1886. 130. MT. CARMEL JUNCTION at J. with St.15, the spectacular tunnel-&-window route to Zion Canyon (see US91). US89 here bends (SE) toward KANAB, 147., center of vast farming, cattle-raising, & sheep-raising area which has also become in recent yrs. locale for many motion pictures & principal gateway to scenic regns. of S. Utah & N. Ariz. An annual "Forty-niners' Ball" (late autumn) is staged here each yr. US89 cont. (S) crossing ARIZ. LINE at 150.

UTAH-IDAHO LINE (8m from Preston, Idaho) (S) to ARIZ. LINE (17m from Nev. Line). 458. US91

Via: Logan, Brigham City, Ogden, Salt Lake City, Provo, Nephi, Fillmore, Beaver, Cedar City, St. George.

US91 is hist. (N-S) cross-state route traversing Utah's richest valleys & chief cities. Much of it was traveled in 1776 by Father Escalante; after Mormon occupation of Utah it became S. Rd. to Cal. & now is principal hy. bet. Yellowstone & S. Cal.

Sec. 1: IDAHO LINE to SALT LAKE CITY. 102.

US91 winds it way (S) under E. rim of Great Basin, flanked by Wasatch Mts. & (R) by rich irrigated valleys. Scenically, historically, agriculturally & industrially, US91 affords best cross-sec. of Utah life. It enters Utah near N. end of Cache Valley amid prosperous dairy farming, sugar-beet & alfalfa-raising farmlands.

19. LOGAN is at J. with US89. Home of Utah St. Agric. College, Logan pre-eminently is Utah's college town. As Utah's 4th largest city, Logan has sugar beet factory, pea canneries, textile mills, candy factories & other agric. industries. (E) of city Wasatch Range rises abruptly to over 9,700' & canyons in these mts. afford dozens of pic. & campgrounds. In city itself rise twin gray towers of Mormon Temple, the square gray belfry of Mormon Tabernacle, &, on mountainside campus, the bell tower of college's main bldg. Mormon herdsmen came into Cache Valley in 1855, & actual settlement began in 1859; in 1874 Utah N. RR., built from Ogden, gave town fresh vitality. Logan Temple, completed 1884, centered here Mormon religious activity of Salt Lake City. Four yrs. later, terr. legislature gave Logan its most important asset, the agric. college. The institution is internat. known for its studies in irrigation & drainage.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) 4th North & 7th East Sts., Utah St. Agric. College. Principal bldgs. are grouped around Quadrangle at SW. cor. of campus. (2) 1st North & 2nd East Sts., Logan Temple, a romanesque bldg. constructed of gray, rough-hewn limestone, set in landscaped grounds. Mormon temples are not O. to general pub., & are reserved for church members. (3) Main & Center Sts., Mormon Tabernacle (O. during services), cupola-crowned structure also of gray limestone, built 1866-79. (4) 1st West & 1st South Sts., Cache Cty. Relic Hall (O.appl. with Daughters of Utah Pioneers) is one-time stone stable & carriage house (1861), used since 1927 to display pioneer tools, farm implements, art & furniture.

(S) of Logan US91 climbs S. slope of Cache Valley, crosses divide, & drops down into rugged Box Elder Canyon. 34. BRIGHAM CITY, situated on fan-shaped alluvial delta at canyon mouth, characteristic of towns all down frontal line of Wasatch. Brigham City is noted for its 2-day peach festival in early Sept. Brigham City is at N. junction with US89 & US30S, united with them for 21^m.

SIDE TRIP: From Brigham City (W) 15^m on US30S is 64,200-a. Bear R. Migratorial Bird Refuge (O.9-5), on Great Salt Lake at mouth of Bear R. Here 2 continental waterfowl flyways join, & millions of birds fly through every yr. Hunt. in season is permitted on 40% of refuge.

Cont. (S) to Ogden, US91 winds through orchard lands above silvery Bear R. Bay & rounds shoulder of Ben Lomond (9,717'), one of Utah's most beautiful peaks; its summit affords a vast panorama of Valley of Great Salt Lake.

65. OGDEN, Utah's 2nd city & greatest rail center bet. Denver & Pac. coast. It takes its name from Hudson's Bay Co. fur trader, Peter Skene Ogden, who brought an expedition (S) from Ore. country in 1825. Miles Goodyear sett. on site of Ogden perhaps as early as winter of 1844-45, but Mormons bought him out in Nov., 1847. A sleepy country town, Ogden was transformed when U.P. RR. arrived in Mar., 1869. After golden spike ceremony at Promontory, May 10, 1869 (see US30S), Ogden was made J. city for U.P. & Central Pac. RRs. & grew rapidly. In Jan., 1870, the Mormon-built Utah Central was completed bet. Ogden & Salt Lake City. In 1903, spectacular Lucin Cutoff across Great Salt Lake, built by U.P. RR. to shorten route to San Francisco, permanently est. Ogden as Utah's chief rail center. With more than 110^m of trackage in city & some 140 trains routed in & out each day, Ogden's economic welfare is closely bound up with RRs. Numerous industries in & around "Junction City" have taken advantage of superior trans. facils. incl. live-stock yards, packing plants, flour mills, canneries, sugar factories, creameries, breweries, box factories, brick & tile yards, concrete products & foundries. (See Salt Lake City.) Notables born in Ogden incl. John Moses Browning & Jon. Edmund Browning, inventors of improved automatic firearms, Bernard DeVoto & Phyllis McGinley, writers. Wasatch Mts., (E) of city, provide varied recr. opportunities, though Great Salt Lake beaches (W) of Ogden are too shallow & muddy for bathing. Chief annual events incl. Pioneer Day (wk. of July 24) & Ogden Livestock Show, one of 5 largest in U.S. (early Nov.).

PTS. OF INT.: (1) Washington Ave. bet. 25th & 26th Sts., City Hall Park, with 10-story mod. setback City & Cty. Bldg., 1940, Carnegie Free Lib. & pioneer Mons. to Jedediah Smith, Capt. Jas. Brown, & Lorin Farr. (2) Wilson Lane (W) of viaduct ramp. Ogden Livestock Coliseum, scene of annual livestock show. (3) Washington Ave. bet. 21st & 22nd Sts., Tabernacle Pk., on which stands Ogden L. D. S. (Mormon) Tabernacle (O. for services) & Miles Goodyear Cabin, oldest remaining white dwelling in Utah, several times removed from orig. location on Weber R. near 28th St. (4) 2445 Jefferson Ave., Weber Jr. College, founded by L. D. S. Ch. in 1889 & given to St. in 1933. (5) 507 25th St., U.S. Forest Serv. Bldg., 4-story mod. structure which is hqs. for Reg. 4, administering fors. in Utah, Nev., Idaho, & Wyo. (6) 2554 Monroe Ave., Rbt. Chapman H., pioneer adobe structure (c.1855), probably oldest bldg. in Ogden continuously used as home. (7) Harrison Ave. & 28th St., Ogden Senior High Sch., a 4-story mod. bldg. designed like City & Cty. Bldg. & For. Service Bldg., by Leslie S. Hodgson, who has had largest single influence in mod. Ogden architecture. (8) Canyon Rd. & 16th St., Ogden Stadium, scene of annual Pioneer Days Rodeo. (9) 12th St. & Canyon Rd., Old Mill, now used as dance hall & restaurant, orig. gristmill 1849. (10) 7^m (E) on foot trl. up Taylor Canyon, (E) from 25th or 26th Sts., Mt. Ogden, highest pt. (9,575') overlooking Ogden with views into 4 states. Here is J. with St.39.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R), a scenic hy. climbs up beautiful gorge of Ogden Canyon. At 8.5^m are Js. with St.162 & an improved Rd.

(1) On improved Rd. (R) up Wheeler Canyon to Snow Basin, 4^m, a 6,000-a. winter sports area with 5,000' ski lift, 2.5^m-long Wild Cat Run, & mountainous terrain suited to all types of skiing & summer hiking.

(2) On St.162 (L) across Pine View Dam & along Pine View Reservoir (boat bath.f.), a $4,000,000 Fed. reclamation project for watering 60,000 as. of land (W) & (N) of Ogden. With 20^m shoreline L. is favorite site for regattas. St.162 cont. (E) to Eden 4^m & then (N) to Liberty 8^m whence Rds. go (N) over mts. to Cache Valley & (W) up over high summit of N. Ogden Canyon back to Ogden. From Eden, on St.162, asphalt-paved Rd. regains St.39 at Huntsville, 5^m.

St.39 circles S. shore of Pine View L. to Huntsville, 13.5^m, characteristic Mormon farm village in bowl-like Ogden Valley. At 20^m is J. with dirt Rd.

On this Rd. (R) to Monastery of the Holy Trinity (Cath.), one of 5 Trappist Monasteries in U.S., & only one (W) of Mo. R., founded July, 1947. Monastery consists of 4 quonset huts arranged in 170' square, with bell tower & cross 71' high. This will eventually be replaced by a monastery of red sandstone. Monks belong to Cistercian order, 8½ centuries old, & follow a stringent discipline incl. religious exercises, much study, prolonged fasts, manual labor, restricted diet, & perpetual silence except with superiors & confessors or in choir. Women are permitted entry to chapel portion only.

St.39 cont. up S. Ogden Canyon past many pic. grounds & through groves of quaking aspen & fir to Monte Cristo Recr. Area, 43.5^m, its 9,000' height affording magnificent mt. views. St.39 then descends to Woodruff, 65.5^m from which motorists may drive (S) to US30S or (N) to US89, by either route looping back to Ogden.

US91 proceeds (S) to SALT LAKE CITY, at 102. (see Salt Lake City Trip II).

Sec. 2: SALT LAKE CITY to FILLMORE. 151.

44. PROVO, Utah's 3rd largest city, & center for Utah's burgeoning steel industry. Wide streets bordered by trees, lawns & flowing irrigation ditches have impress of Mormon culture. Old adobe houses, though interspersed with mod. dwellings, are everywhere. Ft. Utah, embryo Provo, was est. by Mormons, Ap., 1849. Later Brigham Young laid out townsite, which was named for trapper, Etienne Provost, who had given his name to Provo R. Provo became base of Mormon colonization southward; as frontier outpost, it picked up a salty reputation at variance with its modern reputation, which has been notably influenced by Brigham Young Univ., chief Mormon institution of higher learning. Utah's 2nd city until coming of RR., Provo retained vitality as commercial center of Utah's richest agric. district. In 1926 building of Columbia Steel plant at Ironton, just beyond S. city limits, promised industrial growth now beginning to be realized in operations of Geneva Steel plant, built in World War II on city's N. flank. Reed Smoot, who in 1903-07 won hist. fight for Senate seat & later became one of great powers of Senate, only to be ousted by Democratic landslide of 1932, was born in Provo. Dr. Harvey Fletcher, acoustical engineer, is also native of Provo & grad. of Brigham Young Univ. Annual events incl. Sunrise Services on Y Mountain, (E) of Provo, on Easter Sun.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) Brigham Young Univ. which is being removed from Lower Campus, University Ave. & 5th North St. to Upper Campus. (2) 8th East & Center Sts., Soldiers Mem. Pk. (3) 183 East 1st South St., Reed Smoot H. (Vict.), last Provo home of late Sen. & Mormon Ch. Apostle. (4) Homes of A. O. Smoot, father of Sen., built to house his 4 wives; they are located at 192 S. 1st East; 160 S. 1st St.; 65 E. 2nd South; & 136 W. 5th North Sts. In 3rd of these lived Anna K. Smith, 4th wife & mother of Reed Smoot. First has been remod. as hospital, 3rd as office bldg. (5) University Ave. bet. Center & 1st South Sts., Provo St. Tabernacle (O. for services. 1883), unusual among Mormon ch. bldgs. because it is frankly conventional in Presb. tradition, "that the children of Saints might see in what kind of edifice many of their fathers worshiped before they heard the Gospel." (6) 5th West & 5th North Sts., Sowiette Pk., named for friendly Ute chief, is site of 2nd Ft. Utah (1850). Pioneer Mem. Bldg. with adj. replica of Pioneer Cabin (O. 9-5 wks.) has coll. of pioneer relics, incl. Amer. flag woven of Utah-produced silk which won a Chicago World's Fair award, 1893. (7) W. Center St., Site of 1st Ft. Utah (1849) marked by mon. (8) Provo Lake Harbor is a mun.-built harbor on Utah L., 2,550' long across Provo R.

(S) of Provo, for c.100m, US91 follows in footsteps of Father Escalante, who in 1776 rode this way in vain search for route to Monterey. In vic. of Holden he turned more westerly toward Sevier L. but had to abandon his purpose & turn back to Santa Fe; US91 comes again into this hist. trl. (S) of Cedar City. At 48. blast furnace of orig. Columbia Steel Plant, now integrated with Geneva Steel Plant, stands cheek-by-jowl with the furnace which produces pig iron for Kaiser steel mills in S. Cal. SPRINGVILLE, 51., is unique among Western cities. It has a nationally-known spring art salon & a fine permanent coll. maintained in Springville Art Gallery. In City Pk. are Pioneer Mother Mon. & Mem. Fountain by Cyrus E. Dallin, Springville-born sculptor. Springville is at S. J. with US50. In SPANISH FORK at 55. is S. J. with US6; these hys. unite in Spanish Fork Canyon (see US6-US50). Beyond Spanish Fork terrain & patterns of settlement change. Green, close-set, intensively cultivated farms give way to rolling hay & grain fields & then to unfenced ranges. Towns are farther apart; & mts. on either hand are more arid, sometimes obscured by parched brown hills. Junipers make dark blotches along hillsides, & silver-green sagebrush appears in valley bottoms. Utah begins to take on desert aspect. At 64., beyond PAYSON, is J. (L) with unnumbered dirt "Nebo Loop" Rd., characteristic of many spectacular canyon drives down length of Utah. 89. NEPHI, is one of half-dozen towns in Utah given Book of Mormon names. Sett. in 1851, it benefited from development of dryfarm techniques after 1900. At Nephi is J. with St.11 leading (E) up Salt Cr. Canyon, orig. trl. from Great Salt Lake City, to Sanpete settlements (see US89) & on to Colo. Plateau country (E) of Wasatch divide. 100. LEVAN, in center of Utah's most prolific dryfarm area. Near HOLDEN, 140., known in pre-settlement times as Cedar Springs, Father Escalante veered more westerly in his vain search for route to Monterey. 151., FILLMORE, dryfarming & cattle town, intended by its founders to be capital of Utah. Seeking a central location for terr. capital, Brigham Young picked out site in 1851. By 1855 the 2-story S. wing of State H. had been completed; terr. legislature of 1855-56 convened there. Lack of facils., however, led to transfer of seat of gov. back to Great Salt Lake City. Existing wing is now used as a mus. for Ind. artifacts & pioneer relics.

Sec. 3: FILLMORE to UTAH-ARIZ. LINE. 205.

17.5 (R), BLACK ROCK VOLCANO, extinct, coneless crater, overgrown with sage. Cont. (S) through Baker Canyon, soil becomes more reddish. US91 reaches at 36., COVE FT. (1867), most perfectly preserved of forts constructed in pioneer times during war with Black Hawk. Here is J. with St.13.

SIDE TRIP: From Cove Ft. (L) St.13 crosses a divide & in 20m descends organ-like rock walls confining Clear Cr. to US89, in Sevier Valley (see US89).

Bet. Cove Ft. & Beaver US91 crosses rolling sage & juniper country with infrequent weather-beaten ranchhs. along Rd. Crags of Tushar Mts. (L) & castellated ridges of Mineral Mts. (R) parallel by. 68. BEAVER is farming & stock-raising center sett. 1856. In 70's, Gentile miners opened rich claims in mts. (W), & Beaver became site of typical Mormon-Gentile political tug-of-war. It was here that John D. Lee was convicted in 1876 of participation in Mountain Meadows Massacre (see below). Here is J. with St.21.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) On St.21 (L) 19.5m through Beaver Canyon to Fish L. Nat. For. & up a series of switchbacks to Puffer L. (resort.accoms.boat.guides.horses) with fishing in Puffer L. & trls. to summits of Mts. Baldy (12,000'), Belnap (12,131'), & Delano (12,162'), highest peaks in SW. Utah.

(B) St.21 (R) leads (W) to Nev. Line, 115.5m, across broad desert valleys, over low mt. ranges. 31m, Milford, was sett. in 1870 as mine supply town; it has become a U.P. RR. division pt., a farming center, & an outfitting place for miners & cattlemen. 46m Frisco was born when Horn Silver Mine was accidentally discovered in 1875. In 10 yrs. it produced over $54,000,000. Frisco was reputed wildest camp in Utah, with 1 marshal so efficient, a "body mover" was hired to clean up after him. 110m Garrison, just short of Nev. Line, ranching community with windmills & tar-papered shacks, is area in which "The Covered Wagon" was filmed in 1922. US91 (S) of Beaver crosses sagebrush flats & foothills dark with jumpers to drop down into hot, windswept valley.

102. PAROWAN. Sett. in winter of 1850-51 by colonizing mission under Geo. A. Smith, Parowan was designed to be agric. base for exploiting iron ores. Here is J. with St.143.

WIDE TRIP: From Parowan on this Rd. 4m through heavily timbered Parowan Canyon to J. with gravel Rd. (L) leading 1.5m to Vermilion Castles, with flaming pinnacles & battlements above gray conglomerate walls. St.143 climbs up through Dixie Nat. For. to arrive at 16m with J. (L) of improved Rd. to Brian Head Pk., 2m, on crown of Brian Head Peak (11,315') with amazing view. St.143 cont. to J. with St.55 in Cedar Breaks 17.5m (see below).

121. CEDAR CITY, vigorous commercial center for all SW. Utah. Sett. in 1851 by "iron missionaries," it was mining & smelting town for which Parowan opened the way. Completion of branch line by U.P. RR. in 1923 began new era for Cedar City; mines awoke, farming boomed, & tourists began pouring in, attracted by publicity given Utah's new nat. pks. & mons. (E) & (SE) of city. Cedar City is most publicized mountain-lion hunting area of Utah, & also attracts many deer hunters. Among rolling sage plains & desert buttes (W) of city, numerous motion pictures have been filmed, incl. "Union Pacific," "Ramona," "The Good Earth," & "Green Grass of Wyoming." Branch Agric. College in Cedar City, founded in 1897, since 1913 has been a unit of Utah St. Agric. College. Here is J. with St.14.

SIDE TRIP: From Cedar City (L) on this Rd. (impassable in winter) to Cedar Breaks Nat. Mon. Cedar Breaks is a half-mile-deep amphitheater 2m across. Walls, white or orange at top, dissolve into ridges & monoliths of deep rose & coral, eroded & broken in strange, wild shapes. An alpine country cool with spruce, fir, aspen, & mt. flowers, & with many singing birds, surrounds the "breaks."

Route over Rim of the Basin, surmounted at 131., & down Ash Cr. to Virgin R. was adopted by Father Escalante in 1776 & by Jedediah Smith in 1826, on his 1st overland journey to Cal. Spanish Trl. which later became wagon Rd. to S. Cal. instead veered westerly from Cedar City to climb Mountain Meadows & descend Santa Clara R.; present route of US91 came into general use only after colonization of Utah's "Dixie," warm country below Rim of Basin. 154. ANDERSON JUNCTION. J. with St.15.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 6m down Ash Cr. to J. with St.17 (alt. route to St. George). From J. St.15 turns (E). At 22m is Zion Nat. Pk., deep narrow, vertically-walled canyon entered along its floor (adm.jointly with Bryce Canyon). According to tradition, early Mormon settlers along Virgin R. were so impressed with its cathedral-like walls & vivid color that they called it Zion; when rebuked by Brigham Young, they renamed it Not Zion, but orig. name prevailed. Canyon itself is spectacular, but trls. to rim 3,000' above afford still more breathtaking views. 20m of improved Rds., 26m of trls., display Zion Canyon in all its multi-colored glory. St.15, cont. (E) 52m toward its J. with US89 at Mt. Carmel Junction, which winds over one of most spectacular pieces of hy. engineering in Amer., Zion-Mount Carmel Hy., with its mile-long tunnel through solid rock & 6 great windows opening upon splendor of canyons.

158. gravel Rd. leads (W) 1.5m to Silver Reef, once-famous mining camp. Until horn silver was discovered at Silver Reef, geologists had maintained that silver could not be found in sandstone. Large development of area began in 1876, & by 1903 Silver Reef had produced $10,350,000 in silver. Despite intermittent mining since, Silver Reef has sunk into ruin. 165. HARRISBURG JUNCTION is at J. with St.17, alt. route (E) to Zion Nat. Pk. (see above). 175. ST. GEORGE, metropolis of Utah's Dixie, with rich history & fascinating character. When Civil War cut off southern cotton in 1861, Brigham Young organized a Cotton Mission to migrate to Virgin Valley. These pioneers founded St. George in Dec., 1861. Their struggles during yrs. that followed have been told in Maurine Whipple's "The Giant Joshua" (1941). Long after irrigation-raised cotton ceased to be profitable, members of mission cont. to grow it; it is still raised in a few St. George gardens. Although summers were furnace-hot, winters were mild, & in his last years Brigham Young maintained a winter home here, a 2-story buff adobe bldg. still in use (N.O.). Square-built St. George Temple, with its 3 tiers of tall, round-arched windows, was completed in 1877, 1st Mormon temple dedicated in Utah. Other bldgs. with notable pioneer flavor incl. sandstone Mormon Tabernacle (O.appl.) with square tower & white steeple; Washington County Cth., square 2-story red brick bldg. of Col. design; Jed Gates H. (N.O.), 1-story adobe structure erected in 1863-65, representative of polygamous era with its door & window in each half of house. Fruit growing & facils. for tourists give St. George its mod. prosperity; it is also home of Dixie Jr. College, founded 1911 & given by Mormon Ch. to St. in 1933. Here is J. with St.18.

SIDE TRIP: On St.18 (R) 7.5m past vividly colored Snows Canyon (L) & 2 extinct volcanic craters (R) 13m up winding canyon of Santa Clara to Mountain Meadows at 29m. At S. end of Meadows a mon. (W) of 40' wash comm. Mountain Meadows Massacre. Here an immigrant company from Ark. was attacked in Sept., 1857, an outgrowth of excitement over pending invasion of Utah by Fed. troops. After siege of several days, immigrants (140 men, women, & children) were decoyed from their rifle pits & slain. The sole survivors, 17 children, were later gathered up by Fed. Gov. & returned to Ark. On March 23, 1877, John D. Lee, a chief participant in massacre, was brought back to the Meadows & executed by firing squad.

180. SANTA CLARA, spread out along hy. as a succession of adobe, red sandstone, & mod. brick houses separated by green orchards, was sett. in 1854 by Jacob Hamblin & others of famous Southern Ind. Mission which attempted to convert tribes of the Mormon SW. Red stone Jacob Hamblin H. here, built 1862, is now a St. Pk. Hamblin is one of most memorable frontier figures Mormonism has produced; he died at Alpine, Ariz., 1886, in hiding from "polyg-hunting" U.S. marshals. US91 crosses at 188., SHIVWITS-SHEBIT IND. RESERV., where are gathered 80-odd survivors of numerous bands who once dwelt in S. Utah. N. Ariz., & E. Nev. BEAVER DAM MTS. are crossed at 4,600' summit, & then US91 drops quickly down to 2,000' elev. of BEAVER DAM CR., lowest in St. Vegetation swiftly changes in character. Spanish bayonet appears, spiny cactus, suppliant Joshua trees, dense thickets known to SW. as chaparral. At 205. US91 crosses ARIZ. LINE & cont. in Ariz. for 10m to Nev. Line.

SALT LAKE CITY

SALT LAKE CITY

Through RR., bus & airline conns. Info.: State Publicity Dept., 8 W. 2nd South; C. of C., 207 S. Main; Utah St. Auto Assoc., 30 E. 4th South. Accomms.: All types. Swim.: Wasatch Springs Plunge, city pks. & at Great Salt Lake beaches & Lagoon in environs.

Salt Lake City, in north-central part of St., is capital of Utah & world hqs. for Mormon Ch. (Ch. of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints). As largest city bet. Denver & Pacific Coast, it powerfully influences social, political & economic life over a vast area extending (N) to Snake plain in Idaho, (W) to central Nev., (S) to Colo. R. in Ariz., & (E) to Colo. Line. Its primacy stems in part from its selection by Mormons in 1847 as their world capital, but strategic geographic situation & proximity to rich natural resources have equally contributed to its growth, vigor & power. On settlement in July, 1847, the name given was Great Salt Lake City, shortened by legislature in 1868. In pioneer times "the Valley" was Mormon mecca to which came converts from all over the world; from Salt Lake City they were dispatched in colonizing companies to still unsettled valleys. Semi-annual conference of Mormon Ch. in Ap. & Oct. brought yrly. gatherings from remote Utah settlements; & as Salt Lake City was ch. hqs., largest Mormon city, & principal Mormon showplace, it was for many yrs. considered synonymous with Utah & Mormonism, & attracted a constant stream of travelers curious to see "City of the Saints," "Utah Zion," or "The New Jerusalem."

A little less ingenuously, Salt Lake City has the same appeal still. A handsome metropolis with broad, tree-lined streets, it is situated on sloping plateau set in NE. segment of an arc of the Wasatch Mts. Immediately above city, the mts. are rounded hills but they rise to (SE) above Cottonwood canyons, to heights of alpine grandeur. Depending on angle of the sun, Great Salt Lake, 15^m (W), is a ribbon of cobalt, or sliver of polished steel as seen from the city. In (SW) the long angular Oquirrh Mts. are visibly scarred by great open-cut copper mine at Bingham, & wreathed in smoke from Garfield smelters; the intervening valley is gold & green in neat rectangular patterns of its farms. The mts. hugging city on (E) are cleft by 8 canyons, in all of which except Red Butte (military reservation), cool camp sites & pic. grounds offer varied recr. Ecker Hill in Parleys Canyon, Brighton in Big Cottonwood, & Alta in Little Cottonwood, provide winter sports opportunities only a half hour's drive from center of city. Wasatch Blvd., which begins at St. Capitol & winds along benchlands (N) & (E) above city is favorite scenic drive.

TRIPS OUT OF SALT LAKE CITY

L LOOP TOUR. SALT LAKE CITY to PROVO & RETURN. 120. US91, US189, US40

Via: Utah Valley, Provo Canyon, Round Valley, Parkeys Canyon.

US91 heads straight (S) out of Salt Lake City via State St. At 7.5. MURRAY, mixture of smelting town & rural trade center. Tall towers of Amer. Smelting & Refining Plant rise (S) of town. At 11.5. is J. (R) with St.48, which crosses Salt Lake Valley (W) to great open-cut copper mine in BINGHAM CANYON at 16. US91 cont. (S) into open farming country. In Wasatch Mts. (L) the stream-cut V of the mouth of Big Cottonwood Canyon contrasts with glacier-cut "U" of neighboring Little Cottonwood Canyon. At S. end of Salt Lake Valley, US91 swings up on benchland to surmount spur-range known as Pt. of the Mt. Jordan R., flowing from Utah L. to Great Salt L., so called by Mormon pioneers because of analogy with freshwater Sea of Galilee & saline Dead Sea of Palestine, has here cut a short canyon, Jordan Narrows (R). The silver sheen of Utah L. ahead gives green Utah Valley a misty unreality as US91 winds down slope & passes through prosperous sm. towns, chief among them AMERICAN FORK, 30. At 34. is J. with St.114.

SIDE TRIP: On St.114 (R) 4m to Geneva Steel Plant. Gov.-built during World War II to provide planes, ship shapes & shell steel, it is regarded as finest & most modern plant in world. After the war, it was sold for $41,000,000 to U.S. Steel Co., which engaged to spend an additional $19,000,000 on a plate mill for rolling sheet & strip steel. Largest integrated plant in W., Geneva employs 5,000 workers & is now the largest single employer in Utah.

At 44. in PROVO (see US91) is J. with US189. Loop tour now follows US189 up one of Utah's most pleasant gorges, Provo Canyon. BRIDAL VEIL FALLS (R), 54.5., is Utah's most beautiful waterfall. Hy. ascends past for. campgrounds & canyon resorts to J. with TIMPANOGOS LOOP ROAD, 57.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) up through high alpine country around shoulder to Mt. Timpanogos (12,008') & down Amer. Fork Canyon to Timpanogos Cave Nat. Mon. (adm. to Mon. free; to Cave, 60¢), 17.5m. The cave is a series of 3 with curious limestone formations, reached by mile-long zigzag trl. up S. wall of Canyon. Timpanogos Loop Rd. cont. down Amer. Fork Canyon to Amer. Fork on US91, 25m.

Provo Canyon widens & US189 circles S. shore of DEER CR. RESERVOIR at 60. (f.boat.), which impounds 150,000 acre-feet of water for Salt Lake City & for Valley farmlands. Above reservoir, at 72., is J. with US40 (see). Combined US40-US189 at 73. reaches HEBER, seat of Wasatch Cty. & trading center for large ranching area. Here is J. with St.113 which leads (L) to near-by Luke's Hot Pots & Schneitter's Hot Pots, twin resorts centered above singular limestone craters formed by springs or geysers. 79. HAILSTONE, lumber camp where Provo R. comes out of mts. to (E). US189, becoming a side Rd., turns up R.

SIDE TRIP: On US189 (R) to Kamas Prairie, bowl-like valley into which Provo & Weber Rs. flow, one turning (S), other (N) to pursue their separate ways to Utah & Great Salt Ls. Here is J. with St.35, which climbs up over Wolf Cr. Pass & down into Uinta Basin (see US40). US189 cont. (N) to Kamas, 9m, which is at J. with St.34, access route to scenic Mirror L. reg. located 31m (E). Crossing Kamas Prairie, US189 follows Weber R. down through its pleasant winding valley & at Wanship, 21m, arrives at J. with St.530, coming down Silver Cr. Canyon (see Loop Tour II).

Loop tour cont. (N) on US40 toward Salt Lake City & at 89. comes to J. with St.6.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 1m to Park City, set in narrow opening where 3 canyons join. A famous silver mining camp since early 70's, Park City has maintained a gay, insouciant personality while producing over $350,000,000 in gold, silver, copper, lead & zinc.

Loop tour traverses lovely Round Valley to KIMBALLS JUNCTION, 95., at J. with St.530 to Wanship (see Loop Tour II) & then climbs heavy grade to summit (7,035') at head of Parleys Canyon, en route passing ECKER SKI HILL (L) 97., where many record ski jumps have been made. In Parleys Canyon, immediately above Mountain Dell Reservoir is J. (R) with St.65, 103., which winds back into hills to cross Little Mountain & descend Emigration Canyon to Salt Lake City (see Loop Tour II). Loop tour winds down bet. rugged walls of lower Parleys Canyon & emerges suddenly upon a spectacular view of Salt Lake City, outspread in valley below. Descending the benchland, loop tour returns to SALT LAKE CITY at 120.

II. LOOP TOUR. SALT LAKE CITY to HENEFER & RETURN. US40, St.530, US189, US91. 110.

Via: Parleys Canyon, Silver Creek Canyon, Weber Canyon & Davis Valley.

Loop tour II follows US40 up Parleys Canyon (see Loop Tour I) to KIMBALLS JUNCTION, 25. & then veers (NE) by St.530 down barren Silver Cr. Canyon to WANSHIP, 36., from which it follows US189 down Weber Valley. Bet. low mts. on either side, dairy & alfalfa farms along this valley have especial charm. 44. COALVILLE takes its name from coal mines in Chalk Cr. Canyon (R), opened 1859, 1st in Utah to be commercially exploited, though production today is meager. US189 winds along E. shore of Echo Reservoir, Fed. Reclamation Project built 1930, which impounds 74,000 acre-feet of water for farm lands in lower Weber & Ogden Valleys. Below the dam, US189 comes to J. with US30S in the mouth of ECHO CANYON, 50. (see Trip III). Parting from US189, Loop Tour now follows US30S along hist. route down Weber Canyon. The upper canyon of the Weber, looming ahead, in 1846 had an ominous interest. Lansford W. Hastings, taking down the canyon the 1st wagon train ever to penetrate this area, had to avoid the narrows there by crossing low divide (N) into Croyden Valley. He crossed back into Weber Canyon at Devils Slide (see below) & then by infinite toil, sometimes in rocky bed of R., sometimes by windlasses which lifted wagons bodily, forced a way down the Weber to open valley of Great Salt Lake. The Donner-Reed party, coming along behind, was advised instead to try to cut a Rd. up over mts. Hy. crosses the Weber to HENEFER, 55. Here is J. with Pioneer Mem. Hy.

SIDE TRIP: From Henefer (L) to Salt Lake City by this hy. which follows in track of Donner trl. of 1846, adopted in 1847 by Mormon Pioneers. It climbs up over divide into E. Canyon, 8^m & then turns up this stream, which pioneer wagons had to cross 13 times, to mouth of Little Emigration Canyon, 15^m. The Mem. Hy. climbs this canyon to pass over Big Mt., from which remarkable view across rolling pine-clad mts. discloses distant corner of Salt Lake Valley. Descending Mountain Dell Canyon at 26^m, Mem. Hy. comes to J. with St.65 (see Loop Tour I) which here is looping back to cross Little Mountain divide, source of so many difficulties for pioneer ox teams & wagons. Hy. cont. down Emigration Canyon past mon. (R) at foot of Little Mt. & on down to Salt Lake City, 37^m.

Loop tour follows US30S through Weber Narrows. At 58.5. is J. (R) with St.158, dirt Rd. up Lost Cr. Canyon (f.); by this Rd., Hastings in 1846 crossed back into canyon of the Weber. DEVILS SLIDE (L), 59., is geologic formation consisting of 2 parallel vertical limestone reefs, 20' apart, standing out 40' from the canyon side. US30S cont. down narrow canyon of the Weber until at MORGAN, 66., it opens out into wide meadows at its confluence with E. Canyon. Morgan is center of rich agric. dist., with canning its chief industry. Below Morgan, Weber Canyon narrows again & R. plunges through a difficult V-shaped gorge. 81. DEVILS GATE, where gorge is walled up by vertical cliffs, was crucial barrier for Hastings' train in 1846, & principal reason the Donner party cut laborious new Rd. across mts. At 83., the mouth of WEBER CANYON, is J. with US89. Loop tour here turns (S) toward Salt Lake City, but alternatively the traveler may cont. on to Ogden, 8^m (NW) & then drive (S) to Salt Lake City on US91, 45^m in all. As Loop Tour traverses benchland (S), Great Salt Lake Valley opens out, foothills rolling down to green-swathed towns in valley bottom. Hill Field, one of several military installations which have since 1940 invigorated Davis Valley, is outspread below with its hangars & runways. On US89, Loop Tour angles down into valley & at FARMINGTON JUNCTION, 92., unites with US91 for rest of way to Salt Lake City.

SIDE TRIP: From Farmington Junction (L) by US91 Alt. through Farmington, Center-ville & Bountiful, pleasant sm. towns surrounded by orchards which have become a residential appendage to Salt Lake City, this alt. Rd. follows close under mts. & comes back to main route in 11^m.

Loop Tour now following US91 at 98, passes (L) entrance to Lagoon (O.Mem.Day to Labor Day), popular 50-a. resort with finest swim. pool in Utah, children's playground & carnival concessions. Straight through meadow lands of Davis Valley, US91 makes for S. J. with US91 Alt. (see above), 102., & then around scorched foothills (L) & past oil refining plants (R) into SALT LAKE CITY, 110.

III. LOOP TOUR. SALT LAKE CITY to TOOELE & RETURN. US40, St.36, St.73, St.68. 109.

Via: Great Salt Lake beaches, Tooele Valley, Rush Valley & Cedar Valley.

From Salt Lake City (W) US40 takes a straight course for Great Salt Lake, past mun. airport & high radio towers, across alkaline plains that slope toward the L. ROYAL CRYSTAL SALT CO. PLANT (O.appl.), 11., pumps water from L. into concentration ponds, & after precipitation by solar evaporation, refines & packs salt. At 14.5. oiled Rd. (R) leads to Saltair, 1^m. Most famous resort on Great Salt Lake (O.Mem.Day to Labor Day;bath.dancing.amusement concessions), it stands on a high platform supported by 10' pilings driven into L. bottom.

US40 cont. along L. shore. SALT LAKE MUN. BOAT HARBOR, 17.5. has a rock-fill boat pier 860' long from which launches, motorboats & sailboats gaily navigate the lake. At 18. dirt Rd. (R) leads to Sunset Beach & Black Rock Beach, twin resorts with the L.'s best accessible beaches. As US40 rounds N. end of Oquirrh Mts., Tooele Valley opens out to (S). At MILLS JUNCTION, 25., is J. with St.36. US40 continue (W) toward Nevada Line, while the Loop Tour proceeds (S) on St.36. 34. TOOELE. (4,900') is seat of Tooele Cty. & a mining & smelting center. (S) of town, St.36 climbs the Stockton Bar, an immense sandbar left by prehist. L. Bonneville, which separates Tooele Valley from Rush Valley. On this bar grows a rare variety of iris found nowhere else in Utah. St.36 descends far slope of Bar into Rush Valley, famous in 60's & 70's for "Rush Valley Mines," of which Ophir & Mercur, along W. slope of Oquirrh Mts., were richest & longest-lived. At 46. is J. with St.73. Loop Tour turns (E) on St.73 to cross the mts. into Cedar Valley, & passes through still-not-dead MERCUR, 57. Reunion (1st wk.of Sept.) each yr. calls back old-timers. 67. J. with St.191.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 3m to Fairfield, farming village. Immediately (S) of Fairfield the Utah Expedition est. Camp Floyd in 1858. Until Civil War broke out, army that had been sent to Utah to put down "rebellious Mormons" was quartered here. Ironically, their comdr. was Albert Sidney Johnston, who died fighting for S. at Shiloh. Nothing remains of famous army post today except fenced cemetery with its unmarked graves.

As Loop Tour turns back to Salt Lake City from Cedar Valley, it follows in reverse line of march of Johnston's army in 1858 by St.73 to the J. with St.68, 81., & then (N) along W. bank of the Jordan R. Route passes through Utah's Nat. Guard reservation, CAMP WILLIAMS, 85., & then traverses succession of farming towns to return to SALT LAKE CITY via US40 at 109.

US 40—NEVADA

NEV.-UTAH LINE (107^m from Salt Lake City, Utah) (W) to NEV.-CALIF. LINE (23^m from Truckee, Cal.) 413. US40

Via: Wells, Elko, Battle Mt., Winnemucca, Lovelock, Reno. Paved Rd. Accoms.: In larger towns. W.P. & S.P. RR. parallels the Rd.

Sec. 1: WENDOVER to WINNEMUCCA. 237.

0. US40 (the Victory Hy.) together with US50 passes the Nev. line at WENDOVER. At 20. it crosses through Silver Zone Pass (5,940') into Goshute Valley to 33.5. where a dirt Rd. leads (L) 12^m to Flowery L., spot at which Donner Party cached some of its travel load. The hy. now climbs to PEQUOP SUMMIT at 38. (6,980') & descends again into sage-covered valley. Gradually, snow-flecked Ruby Mts. (11,000') come into view (L). 59. WELLS, named for the Humboldt Wells near-by (deep springs), at one time an emigrant camp-site, now a supply center for the surrounding valleys. Good fishing in near-by mountain streams. For 20 yrs. (1870-90) cattlemen lavishly ran the town until great blizzard of '89 impoverished them. In Humboldt Nat. For. 13^m (SW) is Angel L. For. Camp. At Wells is J. with US93 (see). Rd. turns (W) to DEETH at 79. where it meets the Humboldt & a J. of Rs. It follows the Humboldt, named by Frémont for Alex. Humboldt, the German explorer, a hist. stream flowing (SW) to J. with St.11.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 1^m to Halleck & past Ranch 71 (100,000 as.) Secret Canyon at base of Ruby Mts. leads into Secret Valley, so called because in this verdant valley Inds. were wont to disappear. It was ideal hideout for man & beast. Rd. now ascends to cross Secret Pass, 23^m into Ruby Valley.

US40 now crosses (N) fork of the Humboldt. At 105. is NEV. SCH. OF INDUSTRY, for delinquent boys. 110. ELKO, the most important cattle town of Nev. The name means "one woman" which was the cry of squaws when they saw the 1st whites enter bringing only 1 woman. It warned the other squaws to hide. Elko is the chief trade & service center bet. Salt Lake City & Reno, served by all major types of trans. At first, it looks like a cattle town of 1880's, with false front stores, but closer inspection reveals a modern city with chromium bars, cocktail lounges, & specialty shops. At one time it was the seat of Univ. of Nev., whose former home now is the City Lib. Across the R. is Mun. Swim. Pool (sm. fee), a popular recr. spot. Near-by is a hot mineral spring, used by early travelers to bathe in & wash their clothes. Now used by migratory workers. At Elko are supervisor's hqs. for Humboldt Nat. For., starting pt. for many vacation trips into Rocky Mts., some of whose peaks are over 12,000' high. In vic. are more than 2800 miles of trout streams. Elko Cty. Fair & Livestock Show in fall are famous. At Elko also is J. with St. 11.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) On St. 11 (N) Rd. passes Dinner Station at 23^m & reaches North Fork at 50^m (excellent f. & h.). Rd. cont. for more than 30^m past Wild Horse Reservoir, man-made lake created by Wild Horse Dam on Owyhee R. (good f. & canoeing; camp grounds), to Mountain City in Humboldt Nat. For. (Humboldt Div., see above).

(B) On St. 11 (S) Rd. runs 13^m to Lamolle, small picturesque trading center. Thomas Canyon Camp (facils.) is c. 5^m (SE).

At 121. S. Fork R. pours into the Humboldt & hy. skirts many large ranches. The R. passes through Carlin Canyon, an impassable gorge before Central Pac. RR. went through in 1867. The Mormon cricket is a pest in this vic.; it menaces not only farmers' crops but worries motorists, because layers of dead crickets make Rd. extremely slippery. 136. CARLIN, where the S.P. RR. has repair shops. To the N. is Emigrant Pass (6,114'). Here are springs & fossil beds. In distance Shoshone Mts. rise, dominated by Twin Summits (5,703'). At 153. J. with St. 21.

SIDE TRIP: On latter 5.5^m to Beowawe. Horseshoe Ranch near-by is remnant of vast ranch holding. To the (S) 2^m is an Emigrant Cemetery (L). At 6.5^m Gravelly Ford, where the Donner Party (see Cal.) experienced an early tragedy. James A. Reed's Palace Car (an elaborate cart drawn by 8 oxen) had to be abandoned in Utah, which left him in a bad mood. While quarreling with John Snyder, he killed him, whereupon the Party wanted to hang him, but because of his wife's pleading, suspended punishment, & sent him out alone & on foot to find his way to Cal. Strangely enough, he not only reached Cal. but was the 1st to send out a rescue force to aid the exhausted Donner Party (see Cal.). (SW) from Beowawe 7.5^m is a colorful active geyser area, some mud pots & fumaroles; most pronounced in spring.

184. BATTLE MOUNTAIN (accoms.) in a mining dist. that now serves as trading center for ranchers. Little Giant Mine, discovered in 1867, yielded a million dollars worth of silver; veins near Galena yielded 5 million dollars worth of lead, silver, & gold; antimony deposits along Cottonwood Cr. amounted to 50 tons. Copper Canyon, which today has valuable copper, used to have good gold placers. Here is Site of Ind. & Emigrant Battle, 1857. At 196. VALMY (cabins, gas.). To the (N) 2^m Treaty Hill, on which a wall was built by the Inds. Land W. of it belonged to Paiute & E. to the Shoshone. At 215. Golconda Summit comes into view (5,154') & at 221. Rd. passes GOLCONDA, a shipping point for ranchers. Near-by are Golconda Summit & Golconda Hot Springs, once valued for therapeutic qualities.

237. WINNEMUCCA, (accoms. hosp. swim. pool, golf), named for Chief Winnemucca. As early as 1850, a trading post had been est. here. Mining discoveries were made in this vic. long before the RRs. reached it in 1862. By 1869 it was a lively western spot. Freightling to outlying mines with mule teams became a profitable business & by 1874 there were enough teamsters to have the 1st strike, demanding 5¢ a lb. on freight to Silver City. Cty. fairs became gala events & by 1900 the town even had a smooth-running Dramatic Society. Butch Cassidy's boys, part of famous Nev. outlaw band, robbed First Nat. Bank here of $32,000 & disappeared. Nev. Rodeo (usually 1st wk. in Sept.) attracts riders from distant parts. Neighborhood has a large Basque pop. that came originally as sheepherders. Their restaurants still have favorite Basque dishes & every meal is topped with café royal—black coffee with rum. The town has some impressive modern bldgs.: Cty. Courth., St. Paul's Ch. (Cath.) & the model Grammar Sch., with excellent Lib. On Baud St., near US40, is Chinese Joss-House (1902) & on a hill on other side of US40 is a Chinese Cemetery, around which Inds. used to hover after a funeral in order to take the funeral meats later.

Sec. 1: WINNEMUCCA to CAL. LINE. 176.

At Winnemucca is J. with US95 which, running (S), becomes one with US40. Going (N), it reaches Ore. border at McDermitt in 76^m (see US95). US40, still following the Humboldt but now running (SW) reaches MILL CITY at 28. Shipping pt. for tungsten. Here is J. with side Rd.

SIDE TRIP: From Mill City (R) 8.5m to Tungsten Mine, one of the important ones in country. Rd. passes Rye Patch Reservoir & Dam (R) 1.5m & (L) the Humboldt Range (9,835').

58. OREANA with its Clear Cold Springs. 72. LOVELOCK (accorns.), where emigrants prepared for crossing the desert. Here their trls. split—one (W) towards Reno, the other (SW) to Carson Valley. Whenever the Humboldt R. dried up, the plight of cattlemen became great. In 1908, reservoirs to irrigate surrounding country were constructed, & in 1934 U.S. Gov. built Rye Patch Dam (see above). Various types of irrigation are used depending on terrain. Lovelock today is a prosperous stock-growing center in which Basques are mainly responsible for the fine sheep raising. (f.h.good in vic.). Hy. cont. (SW) passing Humboldt Sink, with dreaded Carson Sink right beyond it (SE). 90. J. with dirt Rd. marked: To Lovelock Caves.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 4.5m & then (L) again 2m across RR. tracks. Then (R) 4m & (L) 9m to a trl. leading into Lovelock Cave. From this cave Univ. of Cal. at request of Nev. St. Hist. Soc. has taken 10,000 artifacts, woven fabrics & skeletons c. 2,000 yrs. old. These are now exhibited at St. Hist. Soc. Mus. It is possible that this cave is the Horseshoe Cave about which early Nev. historians wrote. A story about the Paiute is that once, while at war with a cannibalistic tribe, said to have been short of stature, with red hair & freckles, the Paiute drove them all into a cave & tried to make them promise not to eat their neighbors. When the cannibals refused to promise, the Paiute covered up the cave's entrance with driftwood & set it afire, thus cremating entire tribe.

113. HOT SPRINGS (cabins, supplies). Popular old emigrant camp; early travelers called it Spring of False Hope & tarried there only a short time. Light here plays strange tricks, creating optical illusions. Rivers seem to flow up instead of down.

130. FERNLEY, a trading post for Ind. artifacts; terminal of S.P. RR. Branch. At Fernley, US95 branches off (S) to Yerington, supply center for agric. reg. US40 follows Truckee R. to Cal. Line. 133. WADSWORTH, a scattered village even when Frémont camped here in 1844. Later when Central Pac. RR. arrived, 1869, shops were set up & Wadsworth became most important RR. town in Nev. They were again removed in 1905. At that time, shops, houses & stores were loaded on freight cars destined for Sparks, the new home. At Wadsworth is J. with St.34.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) past Pyramid L. Ind. Reserv. (see Reno), to the L. itself at Nixon 16m. Here is Ind. Agency. About 560 Paiute & a few other Inds. still live here. In summer more Inds. come & bring their stock to graze. The Ind. cemetery is always decorated on Memorial Day with desert flowers, a custom adopted from the whites. St.34 cont. (N) & passes along the shore of Pyramid L. (excellent cutthroat bass f.; only with guide, but not expensive). In the L. is impressive Pyramid I. (475' high), from which L. was named. Int. Ind. petroglyphs at Court of Antiquity are made with red ochre on the surrounding rocks.

162. SPARKS, est. by S.P. RR. in 1905; now is 3rd largest city in st. People from Reno commute here. Travelers on through trains often transfer here for a 20 min. stay in Reno, time enough to lose a little money on the slot machine, & then return to cont. their journey. Sparks is well known for its propagation of pheasants. The grace & beauty of the males with their flashing green, brown & purple feathers is a rewarding sight; to eat the stuffed bird served in orig. skin & feathers is a feast. There is a model pheasant farm at Pyramid & Prater. At Sparks is J. with St.32.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 2m to St.33. Take St.33 (R) 26m to Pyramid L. (see above, also Reno). More readily reached from Sparks than from Reno.

165. RENO (see). US40 now follows the Truckee R. To (R) are foothills of the Peavine Mts. & to (L) snow-capped Mt. Rose (see Reno). Hy. passes Lawton's Hot Springs at 172.5. (pop. resort. swim.pool). Also training quarters for Reno prize fighters. 175. VERDI, an old lumber camp. Near here are 2 petrified firs. believed to be from 1000-2000 yrs. old. Here the 1st train robbery took place, 1870. From here on Rd. runs through heavy evergreen stands. At 176. it crosses CAL. LINE, running through hist. Donner Pass (see Cal.).

US 50—NEVADA

NEV.-UTAH LINE (117^m from Salt Lake City) (W) to CAL. LINE (112^m E. of Sacramento) 469. US50

Via: Ely, Eureka, Austin, Fallon, & Carson City. Paved Rd. Accom.: In larger towns.

Sec. 1: WENDOVER to AUSTIN. 268.

US50 is one of the state's most beautiful routes, over mountains, through valleys & meadows, colorful with sage & meadow blooms. The area is thinly populated. For many miles hy. follows emigrant & early mail trls.

US50 & US40 united cross Utah line at Wendover, hqs. & supply base for auto races on Salt Flats near-by. The hys. run together for 0.5^m, then US50 turns (SW) through deserts & rolling hills. 25. FERGUSON'S SPRINGS (water), a hy. maintenance camp (5,800'). 36. WHITE HORSE PASS (6,595'). 60. BECKY'S SPRINGS is at J. with US93 (see). The Beckwith & Mormon Trl. crossed here, 1854. These 2 hys. travel as one to 75. Here is J. with St.35.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (W) 9^m to Cherry Cr., a former mining town with 6,000 people; now has only a few hundred. Egan Canyon Pony Rd. & the Overland Mail route ran (E) & (W) here.

107. McGill, a Nev. Consolidated Copper Co. town (smelter O.to mining special-ists). Thousands of tons of copper are treated here daily; it is Nevada's largest single industry. Near-by is Duck Cr. Area. Fish hatchery & pub. camp grounds. 119. EAST ELY. 120. ELY, chief maintenance depot of the Nev. Northern RR.; is company owned. Continuous mining operations since 1869 have been carried on here, except for 2 "depression yrs." John Ely for whom the town is named bought his mine for $3,500. Before he sold it, it netted him over 20 million dollars worth of metal. When he sold it, it brought only one-third of a million. At 614 High St., Millard Mus. (O. during bus. hrs.), contains large coll. of minerals. One gruesome item is a petrified foot & shoe of miner trapped in Eureka Mine. At Ely is J. with US6 & US93. Former runs (SW) to Tonopah, 168^m & latter (S) to Pioche, 109^m, while US50 turns sharply (W) & cont. thus across the st. At 123. is RUTH with its vast copper pit—more than a mile in diam. It is world's largest open cut copper pit, & is still being worked. At sunset pit is spectacular in coloring. US50 crosses ROBINSON SUMMIT (7,607') at c.137. At 157., hy. skirts N. boundary of White Pine Div. of Nev. Nat. For. (supervisor hqs. at Ely).

153.5. MOORMAN RANCH (water), hqs. for cattlemen. 157. J. with Hamilton Rd. (gravel).

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) to Hamilton, famous community center for 15,000 miners in the old days; now deserted. Bldgs. that once housed roistering crowds are now only skeletons. In distance, Hamilton Peak (10,741') can be seen.

163. LITTLE ANTELOPE SUMMIT (7,432') (campsites. food & water). (1.5^m (N), old Antelope Springs, st. sta.). 176. PANCAKE SUMMIT (6,517'). 198. EUREKA.

Eureka mine was discovered in 1864; 1st smelter built 5 yrs. later. Eureka had a typical mining boom-town history. As early as 1878 it was a lively place with 125 saloons, 25 gambling houses & 15 tent shows. In 1st 20 yrs. of its existence the mines produced a yield of $80,000,000 in silver, gold & lead. It also controlled at one time the world lead market. Now is experiencing a revival through diamond drilling, but livestock raising has become principal industry. By 1883 it had a pop. of 10,000; now only 700. Colonnade Hotel, Jackson House (Hotel Brown), & the Opera House (Eureka Theater) are still standing. Countryside surrounding old mines is beautified by purple stinkweed, which despite its name presents a gorgeous sight. 229. (L) ANTELOPE PEAK (10,207') begins to rise in Toiyabe Nat. For. (hqs. at Reno). 245. HICKERSON SUMMIT (6,587') is crossed. Fremont passed near here, heading S. in 1845. 257. TOIYABE. J. with St.8A.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (S) in shadow of Toiyabe Range are hot springs, old placer camps & mining boom towns—all in Toiyabe Nat. For. (supervisor hqs. at Reno).

263. Hy. crosses AUSTIN SUMMIT (7,554'). Both sides of Rd. offer unobstructed view of seasonal flowers. White prickly poppies line roadside. 268. AUSTIN, in Toiyabe Canyon (Ranger dist. hqs. for Toiyabe Nat. For.). In 1862 it was famous silver camp. Discovery of silver did not at first attract crowds because of Virginia City's boom; but late in 1863 "Reese River Reveille's" rumor & fact reporting brought in the masses. International Hotel, built that yr., still stands. 4 yrs. later town had 10,000 pop. with a pub. sch. & priv. schs. teaching French, vocal & instrumental music, dancing & calisthenics. It was in Austin (1864) that 9 camels were brought to carry salt for the quartz mills 100^m to the S. It was these camels (1 was a gift from Sultan of Turkey to U.S. Gov.) that Jeff. Davis wanted to try out as beasts of burden in the S.W. desert. When Davis became Pres. of the Confederacy, the camels were sold to an Austin mining co. In 1875 a Nev. law prohibited camels on hys. & the animals were let loose. As late as 1901, prospectors claim they saw camels here & there. Austin was the girlhood home of Emma Wixon, who as Emma Nevada was one of the well-known sopranos of her day. Many early pub. bldgs. still survive, incl. 3 churches, the old hotel & the city courthouse; but the RR. was abandoned in 1938. Excellent hunt. in vic. At Austin is also J. with St.8A which leads (N) to Battle Mountain at 91^m.

SIDE TRIP: From Austin (S) 1^m on a dirt Rd. to Stokes Castle built 1879 by Stokes of Phila., who had heavy mining interests here. The bldg. is 50' sq., has 3 stories, & a parapet.

Sec. 2: AUSTIN to EDGEWOOD 201.

US50 now crosses (N) end of Shoshone Range past Emigrant Peak (8,059') & Railroad Pass & ascends Carroll Summit (7,452') to EASTGATE at 56., a former stage sta. 64. FRENCHMAN'S STA. (supplies, meals). US50 passes vast salt deposit called Twelve Mile Flat & a point named Sand Springs, an old Pony Express Sta. 97. SALT WELL. On both sides of Rd. are terraces of ancient L. Lahontan. Burial grounds & petroglyphs show that ancient Ind. tribes lived here. Aborigines are supposed to have inhabited this region from 600 to 2,000 yrs. ago. 113. FALLON, home of "Hearts of Gold cantaloupes" & of famous Fallon turkeys. Town has a picturesque old courth. (portico & columns) & very mod. City. High Sch. Near-by is the Truckee-Carson or Lahontan Dam which impounds L. Lahontan to irrigate the surrounding ranches. Three-quarters of its cost have already been repaid to the Gov. Town is up-to-date in social & business enterprises. Near Fallon is excellent duck hunting. It is one of largest pub. hunting grounds in the W. Here also is Hist. Mon. for Ragtown, early emigrant trading post. At Fallon is J. with US95 (see) & at 139. is J. with US Alt.95. This J. is also known as Lahontan J.

SIDE TRIP: On this hy. (S) 8^m to Ft. Churchill Garrison (1860), adobe remains of military post est. to protect Pony Express, overland stages, & 1st settlements of Nev., opened during rush on Comstock Lode, but abandoned after RR. was completed.

163. DAYTON, at mouth of Gold Cr. Canyon, where gold was first found in 1849—placer gold mining. Known as Ponderers' Rest, because emigrants stopped over here while deciding whether to take the N. or the S. route.

SIDE TRIP: From Dayton a gravel Rd. runs (N) 7^m to Sutro Tunnel (O), built by Adolph Sutro, a German-Amer. engineer whose greatest feat was this tunnel to the Comstock Lode. Equally as great was the method he used to finance the tremendous undertaking, since neither the Gov. nor the Big Four of the Comstock would aid him (see Cal.). The function of the tunnel was to drain from the mines along the Lode hot water & gaseous vapors which endangered lives of the miners & slowed up work. It took 13 yrs. to complete "Sutro's coyote hole," as the tunnel was called & by then the Great Comstock had passed its peak. Gelger Grade, one of the old shelf roads (drive carefully), is nearest & most scenic.

At 167. J. with St.17.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (N) 3^m to Silver City; at 5.5^m Gold Hill & at 7^m Virginia City (Royal group of famous Comstock Lode) (see Reno).

175. CARSON CITY, capital of Nev. & smallest capital in U.S., lies 14^m E. of L. Tahoe & 30^m S. of Reno. It was founded in 1858 during silver stampede & was named for Kit Carson. By 1860 it was a Pony Express Sta. In 1861 the town already had an Opera House. Its most exciting event was the Fitzsimmons-Corbett fight for heavyweight championship, 1897, & here Gen. Tom Thumb, his wife & their little troupe appeared. Mrs. Thumb, as wife of Count Magri, had a return engagement. Stock-raising, mining, & agric. are chief industries now. Carson City is ranger dist. hqs. for Mono Div. of Nat. For. PTS. OF INT.: (1) N. Carson St., State Capitol (O. 9-4) by Peter Cavanaugh. N. & S. wings added 1915. On 2nd fl. is excellent portrait of Abraham Lincoln by Chas. Shean. (2) On Carson St., Supreme Court &

St. Lib. Bldg. (O. wks. 10-12; 1-5; 7-9). (3) NW cor. of Nev. & Telegraph Sts., Abe Curry H., first "elegant" home in Carson City. (4) NW cor. of King & Curry Sts., Matt Rinkel's H., another old structure. (5) Cor. Mussey & Curry Sts., Warren Engine Co. Firehouse, small stone bldg. with false front & bell tower. Dept. was org. by 20 leading young men in town. Membership in this co., as in so many other early Amer. Fire Cos., carried social prestige as well as responsibility. (6) NW cor. N. Carson & Robinson Sts., Old Mint, transformed into St. Mus. Gold & silver were minted here until 1893. (7) Division & Spear Sts., Mark Twain H. Legend inscribed in cement sidewalk states that this was once the home of Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain), although it really was the home of his brother, Orion Clemens, first Territorial Secretary. (8) Minn. & Robinson Sts., H. M. Yerington H. (Vict). (9) Elizabeth & Mountain Sts., D. L. Bliss H. (showplace of early days). (10) W. side of Mountain St., Governor's Mansion (1905) with broad verandas & white-columned portico. (11) S. Carson & 2nd Sts., "Carson City Daily Appeal" Office. The newspaper has been issued ever since 1865. (12) SW cor. 3rd & Minn. Sts., Ormsby Home (1860) from which Maj. Ormsby set out on punitive expedition against Inds. who had burned Williams' trading post in retaliation for kidnapping of 2 squaws. Ormsby was later killed at Battle of Pyramid L. (see Reno). (13) To the (E) of Carson City 2^m is State Penitentiary (O). It has 1st lethal gas chamber in the country. Here also have been made important archeological finds; footprints of giant sloth & mastodon skeletons.

At Carson City US50 & US395 unite for a few miles. At 178. is STEWART. Here (S) is Stewart-Carson Ind. Agency, est. 1890 (pop. 30). At 188. SPOONER STA., former stagecoach stop at L. Tahoe (now popular vacation resort, winter & summer. Many camps & trls., 6,300'). The L. is 23^m long (lying partly in Nev. & partly in Cal.). Its waters are so transparent that objects are distinctly visible at a depth of 65' on a clear day. High Sierra's peaks can be seen over treetops. Inds. used N. shore for summer camping grounds. At Spooner Sta. is J. with St.28.

US 6—NEVADA

UTAH LINE (92^m W. of Delta) (W) to CAL. LINE (40^m from Bishop). 310. US6 Via: Ely, Tonopah & Coaldale. Mostly paved or good Rd. Accoms.: Good in Ely & Tonopah, limited elsewhere.

US6 crosses S. Central Nev. diagonally (SW) through mountain & desert country, copper regs. & 4 Nat. Fors. Brilliant rock outcroppings all along the route. From the Utah border hy. runs to (E) sec. of Nev. Nat. For. (hqs. at Ely). At 11. is J. with gravel Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 1.5^m to Baker (camp.facils.) Dist. Range Sta. Near here is base of Mt. Wheeler (13,058'), 2nd highest peak in St.

To the W. of Baker on graded Rd. 6^m is Lehman Caves Nat. Mon. (O). The caves of gray & white limestone are honeycombed by tunnels & galleries which rival the Carlsbad & Mammoth Caves in size & beauty. The stalactites & stalagmites are unsurpassed for delicacy of formation.

Main hy. cont. through the Nat. For., crossing Sacramento Pass (7,163') & at c.29. touches another sec. of Nev. Nat. For. 67. EAST ELY & J. with US93 (see). 68. ELY (see US50) & J. with US50. From here Rd. runs diagonally (SW) through 3d sec. of Nev. Nat. For. past sparsely settled region (gas stas. & facils. are rare). 72. MURRAY SUMMIT (7,316') winter sports area with ski lift, etc. Near Ward Mt. (10,929') is Ward Mt. Campground (pic.trlrs.). At 106. US6 crosses GRANT RANGE. Near here is Currant Cr. Campground (wood & water). 120. CURRENT (6,999'; gas. supplies). 187. WARM SPRINGS (bath., supplies, guides). 229. TONOPAH ARMY AIR BASE.

236. TONOPAH, (all types accoms.) scene of one of Nev.'s greatest silver mining booms, though it got under way leisurely. Jim Butler, rancher, casually looked around for someone to assay a few rocks of ore he had picked up in Southern Klondyke while hunting for his lost burro (1900). No one was willing to assay them for a promised share in the findings except an old Austin sch. teacher. The ore yielded remarkable silver returns, but even then Butler placed little hope in the findings & delayed action until his wife went with him to stake his claims. Gradually the news spread; finally all of Nev. & the West were at Tonopah's doorstep. The 1st $4,000,000 of transactions, in leases & interest, were handled orally without any ensuing litigation. Tonopah, unlike other mining towns, was very orderly. Despite its name (Little Water), Tonopah could early discard signs that used to be found in saloons equipped with a bath or wash tub, "First chance $1, 2nd chance 50¢, 3rd chance 25¢," because the Crystal Water Co. soon supplied the town with the needed water. By 1906 the boom was in full swing. More than $135,000,000 of gold & silver have been taken out of this mine, & many predict still greater finds such as the Getchall mines. It was in Tonopah that the Wingfield dynasty began. Geo. Wingfield joined forces with Sen. Nixon, & by shrewd handling & consolidating of interests they created the Goldfield Consolidated Mines Co., eventually producing 80 million dollars gross & paying more than 30 million in dividends. Wingfield not only opened mines but a dozen banks, & when the dynasty finally crashed, his personal property valued at $50,000,000 went with it. The fairly recent discovery of the Getchall Mines, N. of Reno, crowned Getchall the new "king." For "past favors received" Getchall made Wingfield an outright gift of one-third of his mining property. PTS. OF INT.: Nye Cty. Courth., on a high bluff, containing valuable old records. Tonopah Club (R) still uses part of the old quarters, once the spectacular meeting place of both struggling miners & those who had become fabulously rich. Kirchen Cairn. Here John Kirchen predicted a rich find.

276. COALDALE. Here is J. with US95 leading (N) to Walker L. 64m (see US95). Fish L. Valley (S). Low grade coal discovered here. Turquoise & agate mines near Monte Cristo Range (N). 298. BASALT. US6 crosses (SW) over Montgomery Pass (7,166'; service sta. & bar). Boundary Peak (L) (13,145') highest in Nev. At 310. hy. reaches CAL. LINE.

NEV.-ARIZ. LINE (38m from St. George, Utah) (SW) to CAL. LINE (50m from Baker, Cal.). 127. US91

Via: Glendale; (Overton), Las Vegas & Jean. Paved Rd. U.P. RR. parallels route bet. Glendale & Cal. Line. Limited accoms. except in Las Vegas.

This hy. cuts (SW) across bottom of st. from Ariz. to Cal.

US91 (Arrowhead Trl.) crosses Ariz. border at 0. 1.5. MESQUITE, ranchers' trade center, situated on E. side of Virgin R. On opp. side (along very wide main street), is BUNKERVILLE at 7., one of oldest ranching communities. Jedediah Smith, trapper & explorer, passed through here en route to Southern Cal. in 1826. At Bunkerville is a Mormon colony (sett. in the 90's) that helped bring irrigation to the community. At 33. is J. with St.12.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 12m to Overton, another Mormon community, built on what used to be Patterson Ranch. Beyond 1m is Overton Mus., an adobe, built by CCC under Nat. Pk. Serv. It preserves the archeological remains from Lost City (ancient Ind. village) now covered by L. Mead (see Las Vegas). Further on 5m is the strange & impressive Valley of Fire St. Pk., (4 x 6 miles) on whose blood-red walls are well preserved Ind. petroglyphs. There are also fragments of a petrified for. near-by (see Las Vegas).

US91 here roughly parallels the old Spanish Tr., also called San Bernardino—Salt Lake Wagon Rd. Fremont crossed through here (1874). 35. GLENDALE. J. with US93 (see). (W) is Moapa R. Ind. Reserv. (172 Paiute Inds.) & 50. J. with St.40.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. 23m (E) to Valley of Fire St. Pk. (see above) & at 24m is Overton Beach on L. Mead (115m long; good f., boat. & bath.). All sorts of water sports have come to this desert country through man-made L. Mead (see Hoover-Boulder Dam), world's largest reservoir (campsites, shelters). Moapa Valley is noted for tomatoes which are shipped by air to Eastern markets.

To (L) of combined US91-93 hy. is J. with side Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 7.5m to Gypsum Cave (300' deep with 6 rooms; entrance only 15' x 70'). In it are remains of prehist. sloth. Stone points for javelins & painted dart shafts were found here showing man existed, contemporaneously with the sloth. (Guides are advisable; carry water & candles).

NEV.-IDAHO LINE (47^m from Twin Falls, Idaho) (SW) to NEV.-ARIZ. LINE (57^m W. of Chloride, Ariz.) 537. US93

Via: Wells, Ely, Pioche, Glendale, Las Vegas, Henderson, Boulder City. Paved Rd. Accom.: In larger towns.

Sec. 1: ARIZ. LINE to PIOCHE, NEV. 314.

US93 (Internat. 4 States Hy.) crosses Idaho line at 0. It parallels Salmon R. to CONTACT at 16., then turns (N) to the Snake R. Contact was founded as a mining center in 1895. US93 now travels through a valley of luxuriant vegetation bet. 6,000' mts. Fort Hall—Humboldt Emigrant Rd. crossed here in the 1840's. 68. WELLS. J. with US40 (see). Near 88. is where the Donner Party crossed in 1846 on their disastrous trek across the country. Hy. passes Snow Water L. (L) & travels through Clover Valley & its many large ranches. 131. CURRIE, sheep & cattle shipping pt. In 1854 it was camp site of Beckwith U. S. Army Expedition & also was a Mormon shortcut to Carson Valley. 147. J. with US50. The 2 hys. now proceed (S) as one Rd. 174. To the E. 3^m is Site of Ft. Shelbourne, Pony Mail Sta. 184. MCGILL, copper smelter (O. to mining specialists, see US50), Nev.'s largest single industry. 206. EAST ELY & adj. ELY. J. with US6 (see). These 2 hys. join for 27^m passing bet. 2 divisions of Nev. Nat. For. (hqs. at Ely; h. camp. hiks. saddle trips & winter sports. cabins, camps & dude ranches). Range & fors. intermingle. The Lehman Caves are in reg. (see US6). 232. CONNERS PASS (7,732'). US6 branches E. 41^m, to Lehman Caves. Snow-capped Wheeler Peak (13,058') can be seen (E). US93 now heads directly (S), still in Nev. Nat. For. passing bet. Wilson Cr. (L) & Ely Range (R). The mts. here are flat-topped with deep canyons, while the cliffs become brighter colored & the Rd. is bordered with wild sunflowers. 314. PIOCHE, still very active lead, silver & zinc mining town, that promises to be important in supplying the world with these metals for 25 yrs. From the beginning it was one of leading mining districts; produced $40,000,000 worth of ore. It was then known as a "wild & woolly" town in which 75 people were killed before 1 died of natural causes. Once was completely swept away by fire. Three yrs. later it again had 6,000 pop. Its mining activities have been continuous from the start. The old County Courth. (1870) costing $1,000,000 still stands. In 1933 it was condemned, 3 yrs. before it was paid for.

Sec. 2: PIOCHE to ARIZ. LINE, 223.

11. PANACA (founded by Mormons, 1864), J. with gravel Rd.

SIDE TRIP: (W) 2^m is Cathedral Gorge St. Pk. (1,578-as.). Peculiar rock formations, fluted spires & perpendicular walls of tan cemented sand give it its name. (pic. facils.)

25. CALIENTE, with attractive houses for RR. workers. Here is J. with side Rd. which leads c.15^m (E) to Beaver Dam St. Pk. (719-as. campgrds. all facils.) 26. J. with graveled Rd. leading (S) 3^m to Kershaw Canyon-Ryan St. Pk. (240-as.; camping & pic. facils.) US93 leaves the canyon & climbs up Highland Range to a plateau filled with cacti, joshua trees & creosote bush. The Manly emigrant party, when it broke away from the experienced Jefferson Hunt route, followed this hy. to Death Valley. 80. ALAMO, in Pahranaagat Valley & near Pahranaagat L.; once mecca of horsethieves & rustlers. The Bigler Party passed through here on their way to Cal.

144. GLENDALE. J. with US91 (see). To (W) is Moapa Valley Ind. Reserv. (172 pop). 184. McCARRAN AIRFIELD (see Las Vegas). 190. N. LAS VEGAS. 192. LAS VEGAS. J. with US95 (see Las Vegas). US93, US95, & US466 unite & reach HENDERSON (see Las Vegas) at 205., BOULDER CITY at 215. (see Las Vegas), HOOVER DAM & ARIZ. ST. LINE at 223. (see Las Vegas). At Las Vegas there is also J. with US91 leading (S) 43^m to Cal. Line. (see Las Vegas).

US 95—NEVADA

NEV.-ORE. LINE (101^m from Jordan Valley, Ore.) (S) to CAL. LINE (49^m E. of Baker, Cal.) 685. US95

Via: McDermitt, Winnemucca, Lovelock, Fernley, Fallon, Hawthorne, Tonopah, Goldfield, Las Vegas, Searchlight. Accomms.: In larger towns. Paved Rd.

US95, longest hy. in Nev. runs through regs. that give an excellent cross section of the St., its mountains, valleys, ranches, mines.

Sec. 1: McDERMITT to TONOPAH, 403.

At 0. US95 (the Bonanza Hy.) crosses Ore. Line & near-by McDERMITT, site of old Ft. McDermitt, est. to protect emigrants from Inds. But much earlier, in 1828, Peter Skene Ogden led his trappers through here to the Quinn & Humboldt Rs. The ft. was named for Col. Ch. McDermitt who was shot (1865) from ambush during skirmish with Inds. Bet. 1865-80 it was a sta. on old Stage Rd. to Idaho mines. J. here with side Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 5^m McDermitt Ind. Reserv. Agency (306 Paiute Inds.). Hqs. bldgs. are from reconstructed ft. bldgs.

15. J. with dirt Rd. leading (L) 11^m to Nat. Mine (6,100'), rich mining dist. in Toiyabe Nat. For., Santa Rosa Div. (trout stream in vic.). 30. OROVADA, Red Cross 1st Aid Sta. Hy. has Quinn R. (R) & beautiful St. Rosa Mts. (E). 44. J. with St.8A which leads to Quinn R. Crossing, & upwards to Ore. border again, through mining districts, wild life refuges, & ranches. 50. J. with St.8B.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 18^m to Paradise Valley, appropriately so called by the early prospectors & by everyone seeing it for 1st time. It is like an oasis bordered on 3 sides by mts. Flowers of varied hues abound.

76. WINNEMUCCA. J. with US40 (see). US95 & US40 travel as one Rd. to FERNLEY at 206. (for intervening 130 miles see US40). 220. J. with US50. These 2 Rds. unite for 9^m to FALLON at 229. (see US50). Here hy. turns abruptly (S) to SCHURZ at 268. Agency Hqs. for Walker R. Ind. Reserv. (475 Inds.) mostly Paiute & some Shoshone who make their living by raising stock & making baskets & beadwork. To the (L) 2^m beyond is N. end of Walker L., a beautiful remnant of ancient L. Lahontan, 30^m long & 8^m wide, amid steep rosy-hued mts. incl. Mt. Grant (11,303'); can be climbed by car. Frémont & Kit Carson on their 2d expedition (1845) into Nev. camped here while they awaited Jos. Walker, trapper guide for whom Frémont named this body of opaque blue water. 298. U.S. NAVAL AMMUNITION DEPOT with all facils. of a military base. To find sailors & marines in this out-of-the-way mountainous region will seem unusual to the traveler (see Reno). 299. HAWTHORNE (accoms.) with Mt. Grant (NW). Here Jos. Walker guided his 1st train of emigrants in 1843 through the area. Hawthorne now is a prosperous-looking trade center for ranchers & for prospectors & miners who were encouraged by discoveries of rich ore as late as 1939. From Hawthorne, US95 turns (E) through desert lands bordered with mts. 326. LUNING. Here is J. with St.23 leading (N) 33^m to Brucite & magnesite mines. 334. MINA (accoms. stores & service. sm. RR. shop). Rds. radiate from here in all directions. Frémont crossed here on his 2d expedition. 363. COALDALE, named for low grade coal found here. Also turquoise, agate & gem mines near-by. To (N) is brilliantly colored Monte Cristo Range. Here is J. with US6 (see). 403. TONOPAH (see US6).

Sec. 2: TONOPAH to CALIFORNIA LINE. 282.

0. TONOPAH (see US6). Vegetation changes c14. The sage is left behind & creosote bush begins. 26. GOLDFIELD (tourist camp & gas near hy.). Goldfield is a hist. mining town of the 1900's, the child of Tonopah, without which it could not have achieved early recognition. Now it is only a reflection of its former importance & glory. On three score city blocks stand shells of impressive bldgs., once filled with business & excitement, now inhabited only by caretakers. Still a feeling of hope pervades, the feeling that this once fabulous gold & jewel ore reg. will again yield a treasure. Its production went to $105,000,000. During its heyday, the town outdid in elegance even Tonopah. A 200-rm. hotel was built with all modern conveniences. Here Tex Rickard staged the famous Gans-Nelson fight in 1906, & also brought Nat Goodwin & Edna Goodrich, the country's most popular comedy team, for the amusement of his patrons, while champagne flowed & his bar boasted 80 tenders. During World War II, Goldfield had spasmodic bursts of mining activity. US95 cont. (S) & for the next 4^m sweeps through foothills of magnificent mt. ranges varying in color & shade with the season & time of day. Along the hy. at c.40 a side Rd. branches (SW) & leads directly across the Cal. Line to Scotty's Castle (see Cal.) in Death Valley. 93. BEATTY, charming sun-bleached village, E. gateway to Death Valley Nat. Mon., on the Armogosa R. In 1906 it became shipping pt. for the surrounding Bullfrog mines. At Beatty is J. with St.58.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 5^m to Rhyolite, ghost town. From 1905-08 it rivaled Goldfield in its ore production, but turned out to be only a superficial find. During the boom 2 RRs. entered town. Among the ruined bldgs. still standing is the once elaborate RR. sta. (now transformed into a gambling hall), & the Bottle House, whose walls are built of horizontally laid beer bottles. Recently, entire town was offered for sale incl. the 2 bldgs. above, a bar, & casino. St.58 cont. into Death Valley & at 13^m crosses Cal. Line.

Hy. now runs over desert Rd. lined with cactus, yucca, & creosote bush. 123. LATHROP WELLS J. with St.29, another Death Valley Rd. which crosses the Cal. Line at 16^m. 166. IND. SPRINGS (gas.sta.tourist camp). From here hy. turns (SE). 180. J. with paved St.52 through Charleston Mt. sec. of Nev. Nat. For. (Ranger Office at Las Vegas, P.O. Bldg.). Kyle & Lee Canyons are the 2 most easily accessible beauty spots & lead to Charleston Peak (11,910'), an oasis of plant & animal life. Views toward twilight are spectacular. Within 30 min., one can get from desert to the snowfields. Winter sports very popular (all facil.).

SIDE TRIP: On St. 52 (R) 17^m to McWilliams Campgrd. & Camp Pittman (L) in Lee Canyon. Here Rd. branches (L). At 24^m is Deer Creek Campgrd. & at 47^m in Kyle Canyon (campsites), another Rd. branches off, leading (L) to a 3^m trl. that ascends Charleston Peak.

US95 cont. (S) through uninhabited Charleston & Sheep Ranges, one of last refuges of Nelson bighorn. 208. LAS VEGAS (see). From here US93-95-466 are one route.

222. HENDERSON (see Las Vegas), southern Nev. industrial center. 227. US93 branches off (E) to Hoover Dam, 12^m (see). 263. SEARCHLIGHT (Las Vegas). 282. Hy. crosses CAL. LINE.

US 395—NEVADA

NEV.-CAL. LINE (8^m from Stoy J. with St.24) (S) to CAL. LINE (48^m from Bridgeport, Cal.) 83. US395

Via: Reno, Carson City, Minden, Gardnerville.

The major portion of US395 is in Cal. (see).

US395, after crossing into Nev., runs past Old Heinz Ranch across Peavine Summit & then to RENO, 17. (see) in beautiful Truckee Valley. Within 10^m of Reno along the main hy. are the trio of mineral hot springs, Steamboat, Lawton & Reno, whose medicinal values rank with many of the better known spas of Europe. At 26. is J. with St.17, GEIGER GRADE (see Reno) & with St.27 to Mt. Rose Rd.

At 37. on US395 somewhat hidden from view is home of WM. JENNINGS, Mormon (brown ranchh. Vict.Goth.). At 39. in a grove of trees is the SANDY BOWERS MANSION, associated with history of the Comstock era, 2-story sandstone bldg. reminiscent of a Mediterranean villa. Called by some an ugly relic, it was built by Bowers & his Scotch wife, Eilley Orrum, who had suddenly been raised from poverty to affluence by a rich strike in their adj. claims. No one knew their actual wealth. Some said their yearly income was from 1 to 3 million dollars. In a tiny hollow behind the house the Bowers & their adopted daughter, Persia, are buried. Ella Bowers, as Eilley signed her name in U.S.A., survived Sandy by many yrs. Soon after his death their gold vein stopped its yield. Ella, cheated by friends & enemies alike, & embroiled in litigation, soon lost everything; yrs. later (1903) died in poverty. She remained a fantastic woman to the end, interested in spiritualism & mesmerism & even resorting to crystal reading for fees, advising miners where the ore finds were. She sincerely believed in her own powers & was convinced she had "seen" the Comstock Lode long before it was discovered.

Genoa, one of the most imp. stopovers during the Gold rush, was named by Mormon Bishop Hyde for birthpl. of Columbus. Its 1st ft. & stockade were built by Col. Reese, 1851. Both burned down in 1910, & were reconstructed in 1948 (O). To this stockade "Snowshoe" Thompson headed, when he started from Placerville "over the hill" carrying mail & medicine. In Genoa (1858) was started Nev.'s 1st newspaper, the "Territorial Enterprise" on which Mark Twain as "Josh" became a staff reporter, but after it was moved to Carson City. On Thompson's grave is a mon. topped by 2 skis. He now has become the patron of skiers, delayed late homage for his heroic deeds. For 20 yrs. he had covered the snows bet. Reno & Placerville on his homemade 10' x 3" 25lb. skis. 61. MINDEN, trim-looking town, sett. by H. F. Dangberg, a German, not in quest of gold but of productive land. When he died in 1904 he had 36,000 ac. in diversified farming. 77. TOPAZ L. (f.camp.boats at Lodge.), formed by damming N. Walker R. for irrigation. 83. CAL. RENO

RENO

RR. stas.: 135 E. Commercial Row for S.P. RR. & for Virginia & Truckee RR.; 325 E. 4th St. for Western Pacif. RR. Accomms.: All types.

Reno, Nev.'s most talked-about city, lies in the beautiful Truckee Meadows bet. the slopes of the Sierra Mts. Truckee R. & Canyon were named by 1st emigrant train that passed through before the gold rush. In 1859 it was camp site of the unfortunate Donner party that rested here just 1 day too long & was trapped by the Sierra snows. Reno was founded in 1868 during the building of Central Pac. RR. & soon developed into a city of distinctive personality & cosmopolitan atmosphere. Present-day Reno is made up of different types of people. There are the out-of-staters, here to be married or divorced, the tax-weary who come to escape income, inheritance, or intangible property taxes. There are the new prospectors & the old F.F.V.'s, whose Virginia is the Comstock & who are not interested in displaying their wealth, but prefer to live as they did in the '80's. There are the Basque herdsmen with excellent reputations whose hqs. are Toscano Bar & whose gambling spot is the Northern Club. They own their own ranches & have their own dynasties. There are also the cattlemen, not to be mistaken for dude ranchers, who meet regularly at "The Roundup," their tavern hangout, to get tips on new jobs.

Mining & prospecting, however, still remain the principal challenge, a challenge newcomers, or those attracted by Reno's gambling & divorce fame may not recognize, although these two "things" have given Reno its modern fame. True, Reno has a hundred bars & almost a thousand slot machines, as well as countless roulette wheels, but "not to gamble in Nev. means not to be working for a living." For cattlemen, sheepmen, miners & certainly prospectors are gamblers in the broader sense. Even the name of Reno was chosen by lot. The city was platted in 1868 after the "Mormon Curse," pestilence & fire, had already visited Virginia & Carson Cities. After the gold & silver strikes at near-by Tonopah (1900) & Goldfield (1902) came Reno's 1st great boom, which lasted 10 yrs. Establishment of legal gambling & the publicity given to Nevada's easy divorce laws produced another great boom for the city, which is still going on, even though Las Vegas is becoming a close rival. The delightfully keen & bracing climate, a combination of desert dryness & mountain coolness, of "sunny Reno" (4,500') makes visitors eager to return. Reno has city-manager type of mun. gov., while Sparks, its close neighbor, has the mayor-council system.

On the plateau, on N. edge of Reno, are the 86-a. grounds of Univ. of Nev. Campus was transformed from a desert to an oasis by lakes, trees & flowers. Reno is becoming more & more an all-yr. round sports center, offering fine fishing & hunting (some 30 streams in vic.); summer & winter sports on near-by Mount Rose (17^{mi} SW). On it are excellent ski slopes & here take place the Silver Dollar Derby & the Univ. of Nev. Winter Carnival. These ski meets attract skiers from Europe, Canada & the U.S. Reno Rodeo is held in July, with Nev. Inds. participating, but usually decked out in headdress of other tribes or in Hollywood fashions. In & near city are 5 swim. pools. Reno is hqs. for Toiyabe & Mono Nat. Fors. City is surrounded with dude ranches.

Among them is the sack of flour that dates from Civil War & netted a good sum for the Sanitary Fund (Civil War relief). An election bet was lost, & R. C. Gridley, the loser, had to carry this sack of flour from Clifton to Upper Austin. Afterwards it was auctioned off. Gridley himself started by offering $350. In a short time the gathered Nevadans, who love nothing better than a hot game, bid higher & higher. When bids passed the $2,000 mark, city lots were taken in lieu of money, until $10,000 was reached. After that the sack was re-auctioned many times throughout St. until it netted $275,000. It was another example of painless charity approved by Nevadans. (2) S. Virginia & Court Sts., County Cth., where divorce cases are handled. TRIPS OUT OF RENO

I. RENO (S) to CARSON CITY. 30. US395 & St. 17

Via: Virginia City, Gold Hill, Silver City.

On US395 (S) 9. is STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, which provides hot water for small resorts. This is favorite place for geologists to study precious mineral deposits in rock. Here is J. with St.17, known as Geiger Grade, which has replaced the old Geiger Grade, a winding, dangerous shelf Rd. The new Geiger Grade runs (SW) to Geiger Lookout (gorgeous view; pic.facils.) at 14. Old Geiger Grade over which Wells Fargo & Pioneer Stages raced, was built 1861-2, & over it the 1st locomotive was hauled by yoke of 14 oxen. At 18. is GEIGER SUMMIT. Here the old grade & modern hy. join.

22.5. VIRGINIA CITY

Virginia City, on the Comstock Lode, now a "lively ghost town," once had a prominent place in history of silver-gold mining. It was 1st camp in which hard-rock mining was carried on successfully. Its fabulous production of silver & gold has left an indelible impression on all who ever heard of it, & played an important part in preserving the credit of the nation during Civil War. In 1859 while the land was still Utah, Peter O'Riley & Pat McLaughlin found a piece of strange-looking quartz & decided to stake a claim. That same day, H.P.T. Comstock, known as "Old Pancake," accidentally met these 2 men on the lode & immediately claimed an interest in their stake, saying he had staked it before. It was Comstock, who a short while before had found the secret of the Grosch Bros., who in their search for gold had discovered, being metallurgists, that the "blue dirt" was silver ore. Soon, thereafter, the brothers died tragic deaths, one through poisoning, the other through exposure, & Comstock alone knew their secret but was too unlearned to realize its real significance. Still he was haunted by the idea & that is why he lied when he said he had a claim on the lode. McLaughlin & O'Riley knew he was lying but rather than incur his enmity in this wild country, they gave him a quarter share. "Manny" Penrod, another old crony, also received a quarter share in the claim that soon assumed colossal significance. Prospectors were aroused to a high pitch of excitement. Methods of operation quickly changed & all scrambled to get the discarded "blue stuff" which turned out to be silver worth $1.29 an oz. Virginia City & the Comstock became part of Nev. St. in 1864. From a rough, rugged camp, Virginia City developed into a modern community with all conveniences of the day. The lode gradually extended & people believed the yield would last forever. Reports reached the Far East & the Far West, & names such as the Ophir, the Mexican, the Consolidated Virginia became synonymous with untold wealth. A new method of air-drilling speeded ore production & soon bullion came in such huge quantities from the Comstock that U.S. Treas. opened a branch mint at Carson City. Comstockers had a keen sense of quality of entertainment, relishing such stars as Emma Nevada, Modjeska, Patti, Ole Bull & Edwin Booth. Nothing was too good during their "flush" days; but periods of prosperity alternated with periods of depression, through a series of recurring cycles. In the big "bust," 1875, more than $100,000,000 was lost. Comstock's share shrank $42,000,000 in one week; but it weathered the storm & climbed to even greater financial heights. During the transition the "bonanza kings," Mackay, Fair, Flood, & O'Brien, arose & soon were in complete control. It was at Virginia City that the Hearst, Mackay & Mills fortunes were begun. Today the town with its broken streets & wooden sidewalks, still gives evidence of past glories, though most of its bldgs. are boarded up.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) On Taylor St., St. Mary's in the Mountain (Cath. 1877), one of most beautiful bldgs. in the st., with 2 delicate spires. Especially int. to artists & visitors alike is the fine interior—rosewood pillars & powder blue ceiling, similar to Sistine Chapel. (2) On Taylor St. & St. 17 is Crystal Bar, relic of the champagne & squab days, with its gaudy gas chandelier & pictures of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons Fight; still serving. (3) On Union & B. Sts., Piper's Opera House (long, 1-story, recessed porch; almost crumbling; O. key at the Bucket of Blood saloon), cherished shrine of the theatrical world, where all big names played behind its footlights. Here Adah I. Menken, idol of "the boys," the West & the world, had her long stand in "Mazeppa," tied naked to a mustang. The old bldg. is shaky & ready to fall apart or be razed by any stray spark. (4) C. & Union Sts., skeleton of International Hotel, the pride & boast of the Comstockers. Almost completely destroyed by fire. (5) John W. Mackay mansion (Vict.). (6) Gould & Curry Office (Vict.). (7) "Territorial Enterprise" Office, which had been moved from Genoa in 1860. Here Mark Twain worked as reporter & asst. editor, got his first experience as writer, & did exceedingly well; but by his outspoken writing got into difficulties & finally had to leave the st. Though Mark Twain did not treat Nevadans too kindly during his stay there, they now glory in his success & claim him as their own. (7) Virginia City Fire H. It was this brigade that made Julia Bullete, belle of the Comstock, an honorary member & fitted her out in a spectacular uniform. She went to all the fires. Men loved her as much as women hated her. Finally she was killed by John Millain, who wanted her diamonds. He was hanged for it, but the women of the town brought him flowers at the gallows, while the Fire Band played "The Girl He Left Behind Him." (8) Grave & Marker of "Hank Monk," the notorious driver, who made Geiger Grade immortal by saying to his frightened passenger, Horace Greeley: "Keep your seat, Horace, & I'll get you there."

At 24. on St. 17 is GOLDHILL, remnant of the 1st prosperous camp. Here Mrs. Sandy Bowers had her boarding house & cooked for the disheartened prospectors during the bitter winter of 1860-61, which has been compared to Valley Forge, except that it was of their own choosing. Here also is another of the old fire-houses found in every mining community. Opp. it is Bowers Mine, by which Sandy & Eilley jumped from rags to riches. Rd. passes through DEVIL'S GATE & reaches at 25.5., SILVER CITY, 3rd most important camp on the range. It has been the most consistent producer of silver ore in the last 85 yrs., though it has always been known as a "poor man's camp" because of its steady rather than spectacular production. Geyer's Brewery, though still standing, is no longer brewing & is only a reminder of the days when it took 8 brewery wagons to handle the daily delivery. Outside Devil's Gate is grave of Hosea Grosch, one of 2 bros. who really discovered the Comstock Lode (see above). 30. Hy. reaches Carson City & J. with US50 (see).

II. RENO (NE) to PYRAMID L. 33. St.33

From Reno St.33 leads directly (NE) to L. Pyramid. The approach to the desert lake is almost by surprise. A quick turn in the fine Rd. & there it lies, an inland sea 35^m x 10^m surrounded by rocky walls, the color of the Grand Canyon. In it are tufa (volcanic rock) islands, any one of which might have suggested the name to Frémont. One island N. of Anaho has a tufa pyramid 475' high. Legends connected with the L. are numerous & you are likely to hear different ones. On Anaho I. is a Fed. Bird Refuge (284 as). On it is the West's largest rookery of pelicans. At S. end of L. is fishing ground. Landlocked salmon, also known as cutthroat salmon, grow here to unusual size. Fishing license must be obtained at Ind. Agency, at Nixon 10^m (R) or at Sutcliff 3^m (L), both Ind. towns on shore of the lake. Particularly beautiful are lighting effects at twilight & at full moon, when pic. & steak parties along the shore are favorite summer pastimes.

III. RENO (S) to LAKE TAHOE. 32. US395 & St.27

Take US395 (S) 9. Here is J. with St.27. On this Rd. (W) at 32. is L. Tahoe, famed "L. of the Sky" (6,200'), completely surrounded by for. covered mts. (yr.-round recr. center), (see US50). Endless stream of tourist cars drive up from Cal. & Nev. to see what Mark Twain considered best view bet. Rubicon Pt. & Echo L. Since the L. is not on an Ind. reserv. as Pyramid L. is, the shoreline is privately owned & filled with cabins & lodges. The Cal.-Neva Lodge, built on St. Line is int. because gambling is permitted only on Nev. side & often in the evenings when spirits are high, gamblers move onto the Cal. side. Now & then some prankster shouts "Jiggers, the Judge" & there is a mad scramble back to safety across the Nev. line. Here at Tahoe gambling for larger stakes than at Reno is carried on.

IV. RENO (SE) to WALKER L. & HAWTHORNE AMMUNITION DEPOT. 140. US40 & US395 Alt.

Take US40 to 37. & J. with US395 Alt. On latter to WALKER L. at 119., another desert L. in a wonderful setting, coupled with the Navy's largest AMMUNITION DEPOT at 140. on E. shore of the L. at HAWTHORNE (see US395). Here under the L.'s only trees stands "Baby Face" Nelson's cottage.

V. RENO (SW) to MT. ROSE. 17. Mt. Rose Hy.

Half way up mt. is GALENA ST. PK. (winter sports center). Beyond 3^m is Grass L. & Mt. Rose Bowl (longest ski season in the West, 6 mos.). MT. ROSE SUMMIT (10,800'). Here famous Silver Dollar Derby & Univ. of Nev. Winter Carnival take place.

VI. RENO (W) to DONNER & DONNER L. in Cal. 37. US40

Take US40 for 15. (SE) to CAL. LINE. At 33. is TRUCKEE (see Cal.); at 37. DONNER PASS & ST. MON. to heroic Donner emigrant Party (see Cal.).

VII. RENO to CARSON IND. CEMETERY (S) 3.

A short drive (S) of Reno near Carson Ind. Sch. in Ind. cemetery is the grave of Dal-So-La-Lee, the huge, cranky Washoe basket weaver. The fame of her baskets spread to both coasts & samples of her art are in the big museums of America. From her mother she inherited the right to make these ceremonial baskets on which are recorded the history & aspirations of her tribe. She died in 1925 at the age of 90, the last of the great Washoe basket weavers. "Migration" basket is her masterpiece, valued at $10,000. Every thread, fibre & color was home grown. She is said to be only weaver who had a perfect knowledge of perspective. She died in a medicine hut, wrapped in rabbit furs according to tribal custom, & was buried as she wished, with her last basket for which, unfinished, she had been offered $1,100.

LAS VEGAS

LAS VEGAS

RR. sta.: U.P. RR. Busses; Burlington & Las Vegas-Needles Lines; also Las Vegas-Tonopah-Reno Stage Line. Mun. Airport for Western Air Express & T.W.A. Accomms.: All types.

Las Vegas, youngest of Nev. cities, lying in a reg. of great scenic beauty is only 24^m from Hoover Dam Recr. Area (see) & is a distributing center for its ranching & mining countryside. Though still a "Frontier Town" (not quite 50 yrs. old), it is already rivalling Reno for its "place in the sun." Low-cost power, a rich mineralized hinterland & above all its dry desert air & sunshine throughout yr. augur well for its future. Since 1940 its pop. has almost trebled. The ultramodern pt. of view is emphasized by the fact that Hollywood & L.A. celebrities have made it a suburb to which they commute by air. At night the town is particularly lively. Bars, gambling & night clubs, & many restaurants are open until dawn on Fremont St. Here and in the swank hotels & casinos on "The Strip" mingle prospectors & miners, movie actors & cowhands, divorcees & maiden aunts. The homes & residences are modern & attractively set; beyond them & the suburbs is the desert. Annually in May the famous Helderado, a typical western outdoor show, takes place. Winter sports fans have a wonderland to play in on Charleston Peak (see below) 30 minutes distant. Las Vegas has become almost unnoticed an all-yr. vacation spot.

TRIPS OUT OF LAS VEGAS

II LAS VEGAS to GLENDALE & MOAPA IND. RESERVATION, 74. US91 & St.40

Via: Valley of Fire St. Pk. & Overton

US91 runs (NE) from Las Vegas, past airport to J. with St.40 at 31. On this Rd. (R) to VALLEY OF FIRE ST. PK. at 54. (camp.facils.pic.shelters), passing en route GYPSUM CAVE (see US91). At St. Pk. are preserved archeological remains from Lost City, ancient Ind. village now covered by man-made L. Mead. The "Lost City" has been reconstructed near-by. The strange & impressive valley basin is 4 x 6 miles, on whose blood-red walls are well-preserved petroglyphs. The color & rock formations become more fantastic as Rd. reaches the pass. At twilight, when sun's rays strike the fiery pillars, the valley becomes aflame. There are also fragments of a petrified for. near-by. Here is J. with St.12. 62. OVERTON BEACH & OVERTON MUS. (see US91).

At 74. on the main hy. is GLENDALE & (W) of it, the Moapa Ind. Reservation (172 Paiute Inds.).

III. LAS VEGAS to BOULDER CITY & BOULDER DAM, 23. US95

US95 combined with US93 & US466 travels (SW) from Las Vegas & at 13. reaches HENDERSON, southern Nev. Industrial center. 23. BOULDER CITY, 8th from dam site, a town of c.4,000 people, designed & constructed by U.S. Reclamation Bur. (1931), yrs. before dam across Colorado R. was finished. It was built primarily to house the many thousands of workmen employed on the huge undertaking. Because of high temperature in Black Canyon vic. (130° in the shade), special care had to be given to the workmen. Air-cooled dormitories for single men & neat little homes for those with families were soon built. A complete modern city was ready to tackle the enormous job of constructing the dam. Rds. were built to & from the site & to Las Vegas. City also became terminus of a sec. of U.P. R.R. & has an airfield. The community has a city manager who is directly responsible to Bur. of Reclamation, & now is hqs. for the administrative offices of the completed dam works.

Boulder City is the gateway for visits to Hoover (Boulder) Dam & the Grand Canyon of the Colo. (see) by air or by boat. A Rd. leads from it to shore of L. Mead. Visitors can view the dam from parking places on both sides of Black Canyon, & may cross the crest of the dam itself. At Hemenway Wash, 7th distant, boats leave on regular scheduled trips. (Hoover Dam Service Bur. in Boulder maintains guide serv. facils. through dam & power plant daily, 9-5). There are 4-hr. as well as 2-day trips to L. Mead & Hoover (Boulder) Dam Nat. Recr. Area, which beside the dam & Grand Canyon incl. L. Mead; Pierce Ferry, E. end of the lake, with a rustic camp; & Overton, on the Virgin R. arm of the lake. Boats & facils. are avail. both at Hemenway Wash & Overton Beach. Excellent bass fishing in L. Mead. Tackle & rowboats avail. Epecially int. are Boulder Dam & Grand Canyon Cruises.

HOOVER (Boulder) DAM

Hoover Dam, one of world's greatest engineering feats, was created to harness the mighty Colo. R., thereby achieving hydroelec. power, irrigation, flood control, city water, a recr. area, & wild-life preserve. To accomplish this a dam had to be erected which would stop the Colo.'s yearly floods & create a reservoir deep enough to trap millions of tons of silt which had swept down the river impairing any hitherto attempted control.

Since 7 SW. states were involved in the work, as well as the benefits of such an undertaking, it was extremely difficult to come to an agreement on the best site, type of admin., distribution of water & power benefits. Reclamation engineers studied the feasibility of the bold venture long before any agreement was reached. The Bur. of Reclamation recommended the construction of the dam in 1924, & 4 yrs. later the Engineer's Board reported its feasibility. 2 sites in the lower Colo. Basin were favored by the engineers: Boulder Canyon & Black Canyon, each with equal reservoir capacity & equal engineering difficulties. Final investigation showed that Black Canyon was the better site. In 1929 the Boulder Dam Proj. Act was declared effective, & by March 11, 1931 actual work began. This included construction of Gov. Rds. & RRs. to dam site & erecting Boulder City (see Las Vegas), the building of machine shops, warehouses, an air-compressor & huge cement mixing plants. The Gov. & contractors employed as many as 5,120 men, all of whom & their families had to be properly fed & housed.

The general plan of attack in building Hoover Dam was to drill tunnels through the canyon walls around the site, divert the Colo. through these tunnels, build cofferdams to block off the river, excavate the dam site, & build the dam & power plants. The vastness of the plan can only be comprehended when statistics are grasped. In May 1935, the last concrete was placed & in Sept. the dam was dedicated by Pres. Roosevelt. Not until April 1947 was the name officially changed to Hoover Dam. So far it is the world's highest dam—726'. L. Mead, which it impounded, is the world's largest artificial reservoir—115^m long. As a result of the dam, surrounding desert has become the "Nation's newest playground" with unlimited facils. for water sports, scenic wanderings & camping. A wild-life refuge has been est. & the L. has been plentifully stocked with game fish.

IV. LAS VEGAS to CAL. LINE (via: Henderson & Searchlight), 74. US95

Hy. travels directly (S) passing HENDERSON at 13., industrial center for S. Nev., in which is the huge magnesium plant which stimulated entire reg. during World War II. At 19. US93 branches off (E) 12^m to Hoover Dam. 29. J. with St.60. 55. SEARCHLIGHT, a mining camp that reached its climax in 1906. Millions of dollars worth of ore, mainly gold, was taken from its depth. Like Eldorado, it was one of the toughest mining towns with 38 saloons on its main street. Here is J. with unmarked Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 7^m to ranch of Rex Bell, cowboy movie actor, & his wife, Clara Bow. At 24^m is Crescent, turquoise-mining district. In 1894 an Ind. discovered here not only turquoise but also ancient tools.

US95 travels through Paiute Valley & reaches CAL. LINE. 74.

V. LAS VEGAS to CAL. LINE. 43. US91

US91 runs (SW) through a stockraising & mining reg. past Blue Diamond Canyon. To the (W) is a Wall-Board Plant. YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK

YELLOWSTONE NAT. PK.

Hqs.: Mammoth Hot Springs, 5m (S) of N. Entrance. Season: May 1-Oct. 15; official tourist season, June 20-Sept. 12. RR. conns.: U.P., N.P., Milwaukee, & C.B. & Q. Bus tours within Pk. Entrances via: US12, US14, US20, US89, US191, US287. Within Pk. are 310m of hys. & 900m of trls. (horses & guides avail.). Accomms.: Hotels, lodges, cabins

Yellowstone is oldest, largest, & best known of nat. pks. It is nature's fantasia—land of water spouts, glass mts. & friendly bears. This popular vacationland has beautiful rambling hotels, scenic hys., & varied recr. facils. Pk. covers 3,472 sq. miles, overlapping borders of Mont. & Idaho.

It was created (1872) as 1st. Nat. Pk. during presidency of U.S. Grant & dedicated "for benefit & enjoyment of the people." Inds. considered this volcanic area as "bad medicine." First white man to wander into awesome reg. was John Colter, member of Lewis & Clark expedition who remained in W. to trap. Area became known as "Colter's Hell" from his stories. Jim Bridger, Capt. John Mullen, & other early frontiersmen visited reg., but it was not until 1870 that country was explored. In 1886 Army built ft. at Mammoth Hot Springs & began building Rds. By 1895 it was mecca for tourists who came by horseback & stagecoach. In 1915 it was opened to automobile traffic. U.S. Army relinquished jurisdiction of pk. in 1916. Entire area is wildlife sanctuary. Playful black bears beg for food near camps & rds. (be careful, bears are dangerous). Buffalo, moose, elk, deer, antelope, & mt. sheep inhabit area & can be seen from hys. & footpaths (no h.). Beavers may be seen at work along streams. More than 200 species of birds are in pk., incl. eagles, swans, & pelicans. Fish in lakes & streams incl. native brook, rainbow, Mackinaw, & Loch Leven trout & grayling (no license required; check on current limit regulations).

Pk. has large forested areas & wide variety of flowers (750 species). Most common trees are lodgepole & limber pine, alpine & Douglas fir, Engelmann spruce, & Rocky Mt. juniper. Familiar flowers incl. water lilies, violets, phlox, Ind. paintbrush (Wyo. St. flower), lungwort, magenta fireweed, wild geranium, harebell, night-blooming mentzelia, umbrella plant, windflower, shooting star, primrose, aster, & Pentstemon. Unique to Yellowstone is its geyser action. There are 3,000 geysers, hot springs, & pools. Greatest single attraction is Old Faithful Geyser (see below). Scenic features incl. Yellowstone R. Falls & Yellowstone L. (see below). Main hy. travel route is known as Grand Loop (see below).

PARK TOURS

I. E. ENTRANCE (US14-US20) to LAKE J. (Grand Loop). 27.

0. SYLVAN PASS STA., 53m (W) of Cody. (N) is Grant Peak (11,015'); (S) is Reservation Peak (10,618'). At 7. is crest of Sylvan Pass (8,557'). At 8. is L. Eleanor in spruce setting. 12. TETON PT. (parking area). 17. L. BUTTE (R) with Brimstone Basin beyond. At 18. Rd. swings along shore of Yellowstone L. Along sandy beaches may be found agates, cornelians, & pieces of petrified wood. L. covers 139 sq. miles. At 27. is FISHING BRIDGE & LAKE J.—with Grand Loop Tour (see).

II. S. ENTRANCE (US89-US287) to THUMB J. (Grand Loop). 22.

0. SNAKE R. STA. Rd. follows Lewis Canyon bet. Pitchstone Plateau (L) & Red Mts. (R). 12. LEWIS FALLS. At 18. Rd. climbs over Continental Divide (7,988'). Rd. opens onto W. Thumb Bay of Yellowstone L. Along shore is Paint Pot area, where small geysers spit & spew. At 22. is THUMB J.—with Grand Loop Tour (see).

III. W. ENTRANCE (US20-US191) to MADISON J. (Grand Loop). 14.

0. W. YELLOWSTONE, tourist center. At 2. is WYO.-MONT. LINE & CHRISTMAS TREE PK. Rd. follows Madison R. (trout f.). 14. MADISON J.—with Grand Loop Tour (see).

IV. N. ENTRANCE (US89) to MAMMOTH HOT SPRINGS (Grand Loop). 5.5.

At Gardiner, Mont., is entrance arch dedicated by Theo. Roosevelt (1903). Rd. passes through valley & follows Gardiner R. (good f.). At 3. is MONT.-WYO. LINE & 45th parallel, halfway pt. bet. N. Pole & Equator. Mt. Everts (7,000') looms (L). 3.5. BOILING R., with steam rising from warm waters. At 5.5. is MAMMOTH HOT SPRINGS & J. with Grand Loop Tour (see).

V. NE. ENTRANCE (US12) to TOWER J. (Grand Loop). 29.

0. SILVER GATE, 4^m (W) of Cooke, Mont. Rd. cuts through Absaroka Range. At 4. Rd. crosses MONT.-WYO. LINE. At 15. is SODA BUTTE, cone of extinct geyser. 18. BUFFALO RANCH, feeding grounds for bison roaming area. 28. YELLOWSTONE R. which flows (S) through "Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone." 29. TOWER J. with Grand Loop Tour (see).

VI. GRAND LOOP TOUR. 144. Grand Loop Rd.

Via: Mammoth Hot Springs, Norris Geyser Basin, Madison J., Old Faithful Geyser & Inn, Thumb J., Yellowstone L., Lake Lodge & J., Canyon Hotel, Yellowstone Falls, Camp Roosevelt, Tower J., Mammoth Hot Springs. Rd. hard-surfaced. Howard Eaton Trl. (horseback) parallels.

0. MAMMOTH HOT SPRINGS, pk. hqs. & tourist center; steaming mineral waters flow over terraced hillsides. Algae & other microscopic plants cover terraces with multi-colored streaks & annual deposits of travertine are as deep as 1'. Offices of Nat. Pk. Serv. (info.); some of bldgs. are situated around former army parade ground of old Ft. Yellowstone. Mammoth Mus. (sandstone), coll. of natural & human hist. of reg. Opp. Mus., House of Horns, built entirely of antlers & horns. Mammoth Springs Hotel, oil paintings in lobby. At Mammoth Hot Springs is J. with N. Entrance Rd. (see). At 0.5. is LIBERTY CAP, cone 38' high. At 2.5. is J. with Formation Loop Rd. leading (R) 1.5^m to fantastic formations, highlighted by Angel Terrace which resembles fancy wedding cake. Rd. rejoins Grand Loop & at 5. is 1-way Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) around base of Bunsen Peak (8,500') is Middle Gardiner Canyon, 3^m. Here is basaltic rock of volcanic origin. At 3.5^m is Osprey Falls, lovely ribbon of water. Rd. rejoins Grand Loop Rd. at 6.5^m.

Rd. traverses area of Ls., meadows, & moose swamps. Electric Peak (11,155') looms (R). At 8. is SHEEPEATER CLIFF (L), named for Ind. tribe that once lived in reg. 8.5. PUB. CAMPGROUND. At 12. is APOLLINARIS SPRING & campground. Near-by is Lily Pad L. 13. is OBSIDIAN CLIFF (L), fabulous mt. of glass, a pitch-black volcanic substance resembling glass. Geologic hist. of cliff contained in Obsidian Cliff Exhibit here. 17. is ROARING MT. (7,575'), which rumbles as gas escapes from 100 vents. Near-by are Twin Ls. 19. is NYMPH L., which appears to boil; field exhibit. 21. NORRIS RANGER STA. J. with oiled Rd. leading (L) 11^m on cut-off to Canyon J. (see below). Grand Loop Rd. follows Gibbon R. 22. NUPHAR L. Along hy. is Norris Basin Geyser Mus. built of rhyolite & logs; pictorial explanation of thermal features of surrounding basin & volcanism in pk. From Mus. are Nature Trls. (foot paths, no guide necessary).

SIDE TRIPS: (A) Along path (L) are Paint Pots, in which earth bubbles. New Crater gushes water like a jug. Fearless Geyser is small mud spout that erupts periodically. Veteran & Vixen Geysers are irregular.

(B) From Mus. (R) to Valentine Geyser, which erupts every 18 hrs. to height of 75'. Other geysers in area are Arsenic, Whirligig, & Constant.

Grand Loop Rd. traverses feeding grounds for elk & deer. 25. GIBBON CASCADES. Mon. Geyser (R). 30. GIBBON FALLS, 84' drop. 34. TUFF CLIFF, mt. of volcanic ash; field exhibit. 36. MADISON. J. with W. Entrance Rd. (see). Mus., devoted to hist. events in pk. 37. FIREHOLE FALLS. 44. LOWER GEYSER BASIN. In area are Leather Pool, Fountain Paint Pot, Fountain Geyser, Steady Geyser, Firehole L. & White Dome Geyser. Major attraction is Great Fountain, which reaches height of 100' every 8 or 12 hrs. 45. MIDDLE GEYSER BASIN (parking area); Grand Prismatic Spring & Turquoise Pool. 49. BISCUIT BASIN (parking area); Sapphire Pool, Black Pearl Pool & Silver Glove Spring. 50. Grand Loop Rd. enters UPPER GEYSER BASIN. Along Rd. are: Artemisia Geyser, spurts water 35' for 10-min. periods every 24 hrs., unique granular sinter of sage-shade; Morning Glory Pool (photographic favorite); Fan & Mortar Geysers, named for type of eruptions each produces; Riverside Geyser, shoots water & steam over Firehole R., eruptions every 5-8 hrs.; Grotto & Rocket Geysers, often erupt at same time; Giant Geyser, irregular eruptions (3 mos.) but world's highest (250') active geyser. At 51. is J. with side Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this loop Rd. (R) through Black Sand Basin are several pools & geysers of unusual beauty. Daisy Geyser erupts at an angle (every 90 mins.). At 0.5^m is Black Sand Pool, which has deep blue water, black sand & creamy edges. Sunset L. is riot of color at 1^m. Rd. rejoins Grand Loop Rd. at 2^m.

52. OLD FAITHFUL INN, familiar Western landmark & popular 400-rm. hotel, built (1903) of native lumber and stone (chalet). The 6-story central portion is capped by observ. platform, from which powerful lights play on Old Faithful Geyser at night. Lobby features rough metal designs, rustic furniture & huge fireplace. Near-by is Old Faithful Lodge, rambling pk.-style structure used as recr. center; hqs. for cabin camp area. Hotel, lodge, & cabins served & entertained by college students known here as "savages." Old Faithful Mus., operated by Rangers of Nat. Pk. Serv., has rustic, off-the-rd. setting; displays of geological specimens & pictorial explanations of hot water phenomena. Amphitheatre (adj.) used for evening lectures by naturalists. Herbarium contains growing specimens of rare & common plant life native to pk. Old Faithful Geyser which, like star of show, is center of natural stage. Its eruptions (average 65 mins.) are preceded by regurgitating roar from within cone, followed by cloud of steam that rises like smoke signal. Column of water rises slowly, bubbling over edge of cone & lifting gradually into air. When it reaches full height, stream is 120' high. After approx. 4 mins., during which 15,000 gals. of water are discharged, column recedes & vapor clouds drift off. Near-by, The Giantess, unpredictable geyser that erupts about twice a yr., attaining height of 200' & lasting more than 4 hrs. Eruption resembles billowing spout of Bikini atomic tests. In center of Upper Geyser Basin is Geyser Swim. Pool, largest of its kind in world (dressing rooms avail.).

From Old Faithful area, Grand Loop Rd. follows scenic route ascending to ISA L. on Continental Divide (8,262'), at 59. Rd. winds through pine for. to another summit of Continental Divide (8,522'), at 67., then descends to Yellowstone L. At 69. is THUMB. J. with S. Entrance Rd. (see); Ranger Sta. & Campground (boats & f.tackle avail.). Grand Loop Rd. follows shore of YELLOWSTONE L., highest (7,731') of larger Ls. in N. America, reaching depth of 300'. In L. are submerged geysers & hot pools, some of which spout boiling water into cold waters of L. Fishing Cone (R) protrudes above water, crater of hot bubbling water. There are several Is., largest of which is Frank L., summer home of pelicans, swans, geese, & herons. At 88. is U.S. FISH HATCHERY (display cases & rearing ponds). Fish native to Yellowstone L. are black spotted trout & suckers. 90. LAKE. J. with E. Entrance Rd. Here is Lake Lodge (recr. center, cabins, campground). To (R) is Fishing Bridge which spans Yellowstone R. at outlet. Banks usually lined with fishermen. Fishing Bridge Mus. deals with biologic life of Pk., & hist. of Yellowstone L. Rd. runs (N) along Yellowstone R., past CASCADES at 94. At 95. is MUD VOLCANO & DRAGON'S MOUTH; latter is hot springs cavern. Hy. passes through Hayden Valley, named for Dr. F. V. Hayden, gov. geologist who mapped reg. (1871). At 102. is GRIZZLY BEAR FEEDING GROUNDS (L). Bears gather here for evening feeding & spectators, caged in fenced pen, watch. Some of grizzlies weigh 1,000 lbs. At 103. is J. with Artist Pt. Rd. leading (R) 0.5^m to Canyon Lodge (cabins, recr.). Main lodge overlooks Lower Yellowstone Falls, 308' waterfall (footpath & steps to canyon floor). At 1.5^m is Artist Pt., noted for scenic view. At 103.5. is CANYON RANGER STA. & CAMP.

GROUND. Upper Yellowstone Falls (reached by footpath) has 112' drop. 104. GRAND FALLS of the Yellowstone (parking area), one of pk.'s major attractions. Broad Yellowstone R. plunges over cataract & falls more than 300' into Grand Canyon of Yellowstone. Here also is J. with Cut-off Rd. to Norris Geyser Basin (see above). 104.5. CANYON HOTEL, rambling structure with 400 rms. & show-place lobby. At 105. is J. with Inspiration Pt. Rd. leading (R) 1^m to observ. platform overlooking canyon. Grand Loop Rd. traverses forested mt. slopes through DUN-RAVEN PASS (8,860') at 111. Here is J. with Mt. Washburn Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 3.5^m is summit of Mt. Washburn (10,317'). From Lookout Tower (telescope) is view of pk. & Teton Mts. (S).

At 122. is TOWER FALLS CAMPGROUND (L). Near-by is Tower Falls, 132'; int. geologic formations in area. At 132. is OVERHANGING CLIFF, a ledge that forms shelf over hy. 124.5. J. with Camp Roosevelt Rd. leading (L) 1^m to Camp Roosevelt Lodge in for. setting (recr.center.cabins).

At 125. is TOWER FALLS. J. with NE. Entrance Rd. (see). Here is Tower Falls Ranger Sta. 126.5. PETRIFIED TREE (L), part of what once was petrified for. Stump is fenced, other pieces having been carried off by souvenir hunters. Grand Loop Rd. traverses scenic Gallatin Mts. 140. UNDINE FALLS, cascade over terraced lava formations (R). 144. MAMMOTH HOT SPRINGS & J. with N. Entrance h.d. (see).

GRAND TETON NAT. PK. & JACKSON HOLE NAT. MON.

Hqs. Moose, Wyo. No RR. conns. 4 hy. approaches: US89, US187, US287, St.22. US89 & US187 join through Jackson Hole & along (E) edge of Grand Teton Nat. Pk. (see). From route are trls. into Pk. Accom.: Lodges, resorts, dude ranches, cabins, campgrounds.

These adj. areas form 1 unit geographically, biologically & recreationally. Together they dramatize scenic values of spectacular Tetons & fabulous basin of Jackson Hole. Areas lie (S) of Yellowstone Nat. Pk. Major town is Jackson (see US187).

GRAND TETON NAT. PK. embraces majestic Teton range for distance of 27^m from (N) to (S), with width ranging from 3^m to 9^m. Total area 150 sq. miles. So rugged is this range of 22 peaks, known as "The Alps of America," that only E.-W. Rd. across it is through Teton Pass (see St.22). Most striking is precipitous front, an almost sheer rise above Jackson Hole. Much of rugged area is above timberline accessible only by horseback & hik. trls. (see below & US187 for Pk. Drive; 90^m supervised by Nat. Pk. Serv.). Highest peaks are Grand Teton (13,766'), Mt. Owen (12,922'), Middle Teton (12,798'), Mt. Moran (12,594'), & South Teton (12,505'). Name of reg. came from early French trappers who called 3 Teton peaks "les trois tetons"—the three breasts. Within Pk. are several glaciers, snowfields & Ls. Of special beauty are Jenny & Leigh Ls. (boat.f.swim.). Pk. was created in 1929.

PARK TRAILS: (A) From Pk. hqs. at Moose are trls. to Taggart L., 163-a. body at mouth of Avalanche Canyon.

(B) Cascade Canyon Trl. From Jenny L. Sta. (see US187), on foot or horseback take Cascade Canyon Trl. (N) along (W) side of Jenny L. to Hidden Falls, 3^m. At 7^m trl. joins Skyline Trl. & climbs to crest of Teton range, circling behind Mt. Owen, Grand Teton, & Cloudveil Dome, 14^m. Return trip is via Garnet Canyon Trl.

(C) Teton Glacier Trl. (S) from Sta. 6^m to Amphitheatre L., the trl. approaches Teton Glacier & snowfield, most accessible in Pk.

JACKSON HOLE NAT. MON. is an area of 222,929 as., set aside out of prospective oil fields by Pres. F. D. Roosevelt in 1943. Now noted for its dude ranches, big game hunting & fishing, Secy. of Inter. Harold Ickes, has described Jackson Hole as inhabited by "mail order cowboys." However, the isolated valley was known during the 1820's as a center of western fur trade. It was for one of the trappers & traders, David Jackson, who was assoc. with Gen. Wm. Ashley, for whom the hole was named. Earlier in 1807, John Colter of the Lewis & Clark Expedition visited the spot. In the 1900's the area was scene of bitter fights bet. cattlemen & sheepmen.

A geological & scenic unit with Grand Teton Nat. Pk. immediately (W), the valley lies bet. Teton & Gros Ventre Mts. Within area are beautiful Jackson L. (f.); Nat. Elk Refuge (23,950 as.), winter home & feeding ground for herd of 10,000 elk, mule deer, moose, sage grouse, wild ducks & geese; new (1948) Jackson Hole Wildlife Pk. (1,500 as. zoo); & rapidly developing winter sports area. Administered by Nat. Pk. Serv. (hqs. Moose).

BIG HORN MTS. RECR. AREA

Hqs. of Big Horn Nat. For.: Sheridan. 5 hy. approaches: US14, US16, US20, US87, US310. C.B. & Q. RR. & Western Airlines make conns. Accomms.: Lodges, dude ranches, campgrounds.

BIG HORN mt. range & recr. area rises abruptly out of Great Plains to break prairie monotony bet. Black Hills & Rocky Mts. It is popular dude ranch (h.f.camp.), & scenic reg. About half of travelers who enter or leave Yellowstone Nat. Pk. E. Entrance pass through Big Horns. Heart of reg. covered by Big Horn Nat. For. (see US30). Within area about 80^m long & 30^m wide are 200 Ls., 1,200^m of trout streams & wide variety of wildlife. Waters are stocked with native, rainbow, Loch Leven, eastern brook, & Mackinaw trout, & California golden trout & grayling are being introduced. Mt. sheep, elk, deer, & black & brown bear are native to reg. which is noted for big game hunt. There are 34 pub. campgrounds & 18 licensed resorts within for. area & at fringes of mts. are numerous dude ranches, from which pack-saddle trips can be made into inner recesses of reg. Trl. system of 150^m has been developed which features 62^m Solitude-Circle Trl. into Cloud Peak (13,165') Wilderness Area.

CASPER

RR. stas.: N. Wolcott & E. C St. for C.B. & Q. RR.; RR. Ave. & Center St. for C. & N.W. RR. Bus Sta.: 152 N. Center St. Wardwell Field for Western Airlines. Accomms.: All types. Central Wyo. Fair & Stock Show (3rd wk. in Aug.).

Casper, 2nd largest city in Wyo., is oil, livestock, & power center for vast reg. Its situation at foot of Casper Mt. (8,500') & its hist. background add color to city which advertises itself as "the gayest spot in Old Wyo." Early Mormon parties operated ferry near here during early Western migrations & Ft. Casper was est. in 1863. Probably 300,000 emigrants passed this way over Oregon Trl. Cattle ranchers & settlers followed to develop town. The bringing in (1917) of oil wells (N) & (E) turned quiet cow town into roaring mecca. Fabulous Tea Pot Dome & Salt Cr. fields (see US87) became country's major pub. land revenue producers. As Big Muddy & Cole Cr. fields were developed later, Casper boomed. Among oil companies that operate large refineries here are Standard, Texas & Socony-Vacuum. City cont. to be heart of range country & one of largest wool-shipping pts. in U.S. Kendrick reclamation & power project (see below) provides electrical current distributed over 3-St. grid. Casper Jr. College, 1st in Wyo., was opened 1945.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) Durbin & 2nd Sts., Pub. Lib.; colls. of Natrona Cty. Hist. Soc. (2) S. Center St. & Midwest Ave., Pioneer Mon. honors Oregon Trl. & early settlers. (3) Jefferson St. bet. E. 6th & 10th Sts., Washington Mem. Pk. (swim.tennis). (4) 13th St. to Carey Lane, Old Ft. Caspar (O.guides.reprod.log), pioneer furnishings, early-day vehicles & old telegraph room. Ferry across Platte R. operated by Mormons (1847) led to bldg. of adobe stage sta. (1858) to serve emigrants. Troops arrived next yr. & military post est. (1863) as Platte Bridge Sta. When Sioux & Cheyenne Inds. went on warpath to close Oregon Trl., ft. was scene of excitement. On July 26, 1865, Lt. Caspar Collins & 25 men set out to rescue wagon train threatened by Inds. Battle ensued in which Collins was killed while trying to hold off superior forces. War. Dept. renamed ft. in his honor & city later took on name with variation in spelling.

TRIPS OUT OF CASPER

I. CASPER (S) to CASPER MT. PK. 10. Casper Mt. Hy.

Take Wolcott St. (S) on oiled Rd. to BESSEMER TURN, 5. Here Platte R. makes scenic bend. At 7. is boundary of ST. GAME PRESERVE. Rd. passes THUNDER BOLT SKI COURSE, 7.5. Lodges & abandoned asbestos mines are along hy. At 8. is NURSERY SKI RUN, scene of winter sports carnivals (no set dates). Rd. winds over the summit of CASPER MT. (8,500') at 10.

II. CASPER (SW) to ALCOVA. 31. St.220

Take St.220 along N. Platte R. Hy. roughly parallels old Mormon, Oregon, & Cal. Trls. & is short-cut to US287. At 10. is J. with graded Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 3^m is Goose Egg Ranch, setting of humorous scene in Owen Wister's "The Virginian," in which 2 cowboys play trick at party by secretly exchanging sleeping togs of infants asleep in 1 room while parents are dancing in another. Not until each family is homeward bound in wagons & buggies is prank of baby sitters discovered & irate parents return to claim own children. Stone house (1877) stands in good condition. To (R) 12^m is Site of Battle of Red Buttes, where Sgt. Amos Custard & 23 soldiers were ambushed by Inds. (1865) with only 3 soldiers escaping.

St.220 traverses Bessemer Bend valley. At mouth of Poison Spider Cr., Rbt. Stuart & his party of Astorians are believed to have built 1st cabin in Wyo. (1812). At 31. is ALCOVA, gateway to huge reservoir area. Here is Alcova Dam, which backs up N. Platte R. for irrigation & power production. Thousands of as. of semi-arid land brought into cultivation.

SIDE TRIP: On Rd. (L) through Pathfinder Canyon is Fiery Narrows, a steep, colorful chasm At 23^m is Kortes Dam (1946) which provides power head for Seminole Reservoir, largest body of water in Wyo. outside Yellowstone Pk.

CHEYENNE

RR. stas.: 15th St. & Central Ave. for U.P. RR.; Capitol Ave. bet. 15th & 16th Sts. for C.B. & Q. RR. Bus sta.: 1503 Capitol Ave. Mun. airport for United & Western Airlines. Accomms.: All types. Frontier Days (July).

Cheyenne is the capital & largest city of Wyo. It sprawls over a "high prairie" (6,060') that slopes (W) toward Rocky Mts. Within its limits are old frontier bldgs., modern structures, & several pleasant Ls. (recreat.facils.). It is widely known for its annual wild west celebration of Cheyenne Frontier Days (last wk. in July).

Cheyenne is important trans., military, political & stock growers center of long standing. Gen. Grenville Dodge, chief engineer for U.P. RR., selected site in 1867 & named it for Cheyenne Inds. With its selection as RR. division pt., U.S. Army est. Ft. D.A. Russell to provide protection for construction workers & townsmen from marauding Inds. Ft. later was redesignated Francis E. Warren, in honor of former U.S. Senator & father-in-law of Gen. John J. Pershing. Highlight in local history was Tom Horn hanging episode in 1903 following Johnson Cty. War (see US16). Horn was quick-trigger expert hired by cattlemen during their feud with rustlers & sheepmen. After several sudden deaths among sheepmen, a youth tending sheep in cattle country was killed. Horn was brought to trial & sentenced to hang. When his body was not exhibited publicly, it gave rise to persistent stories he may still be alive. While politics & gov. affairs add vitality to present-day life, Cheyenne's economic development evolves around its trans. hub. It is important pt. on 3 RRs., 2 airlines, & 3 Fed. hys. Its mun. airport is one of largest in W. Aviation tool mfg. plant & refinery producing 100-octane gas are new local industries.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) Capitol Ave. & 24th St., Wyo. St. Capitol (3-story neo-Class.), lantern-type cupola atop 145' dome; western murals within bldg. (2) Capitol Ave. bet. 23rd & 24th Sts., Supreme Court Bldg. (1937) of Bedford limestone. In it are St. Hist. Mus., Ind. & pioneer relics; St. Lib., 150,000 vols. & mss.; & Judiciary. (3) Capitol Ave. & 21st St., St. Mary's Cathedral, largest ch. in Wyo. (4) 1816 Carey Ave., Wyo. Stock Growers Hqs., coll. of Old West relics. (5) N. end Frontier Ave., Frontier Pk., scene of annual Frontier Days. During celebration, pk. has Ind. encampments, buffalo herds, wild horses, cowboys & concessions. Permanent exhibits incl. Jim Baker Blockh. built (1873) to accommodate noted frontiersman's Ind. wives; moved from Little Snake country (W). Adj. Frontier Pk. are several Ls. & recre. areas, incl. L. Makhplahlutah, L. Absarraca, & Terry L. Marker & wheel ruts (W) of Terry L. show where Old Ft. Laramie Trl. & Cheyenne-Black Hills Stage Line passed. (6) W. Randall Blvd., Ft. Francis E. Warren, one of country's largest military posts. During World Wars I & II thousands of men trained here. Maneuver & target practice areas maintained in Pole Mt. Div. of Medicine Bow Nat. For. (see US30).

LARAMIE

RR. stas.: 1st & Kearny Sts. for U.P. RR.; W. end Fremont St. for N.Pk. & W. RR. Bus sta.: 3rd St. & Grand Ave. Mun. Airport for Challenger Airlines. Accomms.: All types. Swim., hockey & golf in mun. pks. Jubilee & Horse Races (July).

Laramie is the home of Univ. of Wyo. & gateway to beautiful Snowy Range & Medicine Bow Mts. (W). Although town appears to be a "plains" town, its altitude is 7,165'. Development of natural resources of area provides industrial activity. There are cement, gypsum, aluminum, natural gas, oil refining & for. products plants here. A sponge iron pilot mill to test local deposits of iron ores & coal for use in steel production is new project of U.S. Bureau of Mines. In 1866 Ft. Sanders was est. to protect emigrants along Cherokee Trl. & workers laying tracks of U.B. RR. In 1868 town was started & named for Jacques de la Ramie, early fur trader. Pioneer life in Laramie was stimulating. As early as 1870 women were serving on grand juries, incl. a manslaughter case. Periodicals throughout country sent correspondents. It was here, too, that Bill Nye, noted humorist & editor, organized his "den of 40 liars." Today Laramie is trade center for surrounding stock ranches & oil fields.

PTS. OF INT.: Iverson Ave. bet. 9th & 19th Sts., Univ. of Wyo. (144 as.), only univ. in St.; incl. colleges of agric., commerce, education, engineering, law, & schs. of pharmacy & liberal arts. Summer sch., advertised as the "coolest in America," maintains a science camp in near-by Snowy Range (see below). Univ. Hall (Old Main), was 1st bldg. erected (1887). Native stone was used for most of structures. Rocky Mt. Herbarium (Engineer Bldg.) has 207,000 plant specimens & all flowering plants of reg. Lib. has 133,224 vols. & Wyo. Stock Growers Assoc. coll. of records & brand books dating back to 1873. Wool Exhibit (Agric. TRIPS OUT OF LARAMIE

I. LARAMIE (W) to W. BOUNDARY, MEDICINE BOW NAT. FOR. 62. St.130 (Via: Snowy Range).

From Laramie St.130 leads (W). At 1. is UNIV. OF WYO. EXPERIMENT STA., orig. Fed. Prison (1876-1900). 2. J. with St.230 (see below). Big Hollow, a basin of oil wells (L). Hy. parallels (N) boundary of Sheep Mt. Fed. Game Refuge. 30. CENTENNIAL, old gold mining camp. At 32. is boundary (E) of Medicine Bow Nat. For. (see below & US30), created by Pres. Theo. Roosevelt (1902). More than 100 Ls. & many trout streams in area; most of timber is Lodgepole pine. 35. LIBBY CR. SKI AREA (Nov.-Mar.), professional slalom runs & portable tow up slope. 36. SNOWY RANGE WINTER SPORTS AREA (9,000'-11,500'), tobogganing, bobsledding & skiing; motor-powered tow (Nov.-Mar.). 37. NASH FORK PIC. GROUND. At 38. is UNIV. OF WYO. SCIENCE CAMP (June-July), provides field training & research experience in natural sciences. Adj. camp, Snowy Range Natural Area, 771-a. virgin spruce primitive reg. withdrawn for study. At 39. is BROOKLYN L. RANGER STA. (R). In vic. are Glacier, Lost & Telephone Ls. (good f.). At 41. is LEWIS L. CAMPGROUND (R) at foot of Medicine Bow Peak (12,005'). Hik. trl. leads to summit. At 42. is LIBBY FLATS OBSERV. PT., panoramic view of 100^m on clear days. 43. MIRROR L. CAMPGROUND, perpetual snowfields & Alpine flowers in vic. 44. L. MARIE PIC. GROUND. 47. SILVER L. CAMPGROUND. 61. BARRET RIDGE WINTER SPORTS AREA, jumps & slopes for beginners & professionals. 62. (W) boundary of MEDICINE BOW NAT. FOR. (hqs. Laramie), winter sports & playground area being developed in Snowy Range of Medicine Bow Mts. Area was snowbound & isolated during winter months until, recently, private groups & U.S. For. Serv. have developed large snowfields. Snow conditions ideal Dec.-Ap.; slalom runs & ski trls. for beginners & experts. During summer, 22 campgrounds for pub. use (hik., mt. climbing, h., f. & motoring). Rd. cont. (W) & (N) to join US30 at Walcott.

II. LARAMIE (SW) to WYO.-COLO. LINE. 40. St.230

From J. with St.130 (W) of Laramie, Rd. follows Laramie R. through ranching country. 25. WOODS LANDING, old-time logging community. During spring seasons, logs for RR. ties floated down R. to creosoting plants in Laramie. 26. (E) Boundary of Medicine Bow Nat. For. Through canyon to LOWER WOODS CR. PIC. GROUND, 32. At 34. is UPPER WOODS CR. PIC. GROUND; large stand of lodgepole pine. Rd. passes through area known as Chimney Pk. because of shape of rock formations. At 36, is Fox Pk. Rd. leading (R) to lumber camp & Ranger Sta. (resort & camp area). 38. MT. HOME, a rustic village. 40. WYO-COLO. LINE.

US 2—MONTANA

MONT.-N.D. LINE (19^m from Williston, N.D.) (W) to MONT.-IDAHO LINE (27^m Bonners Ferry, Idaho). 690. US2

Via: Glasgow, Havre, Shelby, Glacier Nat. Pk., Kalispell, Libby. Rd. hard-surfaced. Gt.N. RR. parallels route except bet. W. edge of Glacier Pk. & Libby. Accom.: In larger towns; camps & resorts along route.

US2 sweeps across N. Mont.'s seemingly endless prairies, then plunges skyward among glacier-cached peaks of the Rockies. Montanans call this route "the High-line." Hy. follows at intervals weaving courses of 4 Rs.: The Mo., Milk, Marias, & Kootenai.

Sec. 1: N.D. LINE to BROWNING J., GLACIER NAT. PK. 464.

9. BAINVILLE. 24. CULBERTSON, shipping pt. for surrounding wheat ranches.

29. Hy. enters FT. PECK IND. RESERV. It is natural home of Assiniboine & enforced home of Yankton Sioux who were moved here from S.D. Reserv. has been open to white settlement for many yrs. 44. BROCKTON. 57. POPLAR, agency for reserv. Fed. hospital is maintained here for Inds. A modified Sun Dance is held annually (wk. of July 4). 79. WOLF POINT, old-time cow town. Wolf Pt. Stampede (July) features local cowboys. 91. OSWEGO, namesake of city in N.Y. with which it has little in common. At edge of town is Ind. cemetery with above-ground burials.

115. NASHUA, village that blossomed with building of Ft. Peck dam. It is at W. boundary of Ft. Peck Ind. Reserv. Here is J. with improved Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 12^m is Fort Peck. This Gov.-built town flourished during construction of dam (1933-World War II). Near-by earthen dam across Mo. R. has created reservoir 175^m long, with 1,600^m of shoreline. Ft. Peck Game Refuge covers surrounding area. Recr. facils. are being developed. The dam, built under supervision of U.S. Army Engineers, holds back spring flood waters & releases water as needed for navigation on lower Mo. Dam itself is 3.6^m long. Original Ft. Peck trading post built (E) of here in 1867 by Col. Campbell K. Peck & Comdr. E. H. Durfee.

129. GLASGOW, oldest town in N.E. Mont. & twice the scene of hell-roaring booms. It began as saloon-lined camp in 1887 during building of James J. Hill's Gt.N. RR. After long yrs. of unspectacular existence, it found itself the center of attraction for thousands of Ft. Peck construction workers during the 1930's. Entertainment in all forms set the town aglow. Here is J. with St. 22 to Ft. Peck (see above). 172. SACO. Hy. passes through irrigated area of Milk R. Valley; sugar beets & alfalfa main crops. L. Bowdoin (L). This area is habitat for ducks, pheasants, grouse, sage hens, deer, & antelope. At 184. is J. with gravel Rd. leading (R) to Amer. Legion Health Pool, 4^m (plunge). Here also is Nelson Reservoir, reclamation project. 200. MALTA, a town that retains some of the Old West bldgs. & characters depicted by Chas. M. Russell, noted cowboy artist. In 1930's the "Malta Plan" was developed here to become 1st farm resettlement project in U.S. A pt. of int. is sacred Assiniboine boulder in City Pk. At 220. hy. enters FT. BELKNAP IND. RESERV. (S). On this reserv. bands of Gros Ventre & Assiniboine live together harmoniously, raising cattle & sheep. 243. FT. BELKNAP, agency hqs. A Sun Dance is held each yr. early in July. Here is J. with gravel Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 5^m through Ind. reserv. is Snake Butte Quarry. At 36^m is Hays, scene of annual Ind. Fair (Sept.). 38^m St. Paul's Mission (Cath.). At 42^m Rd. enters Little Rocky Mt. portion of Lewis & Clark Nat. For. (hqs. Great Falls).

259. ZURICH, which has large sugar beet factory. 268. CHINOOK, bearing Ind. name for warm, thawing winds of late winter. Here is Pub. Lib. which features Russell reproductions. Town has mun. swimming pool. Here is J. with graded Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 16^m is Nez Perce Battleground. A mon. marks site where Gen. Nelson A. Miles surprised Chief Joseph in 1877 & fought one of last major conflicts in U.S. After 4-day battle, Joseph surrendered in order to save women & children of his entourage.

Hy. passes through fields of natural gas wells. At 290. is HAVRE (pronounced Hav-ver), home of Northern Mont. College, unit of Mont. Univ. The large new bldgs. are made of locally made brick. College was founded in 1929. Jas. J. Hill, the "Empire builder," was responsible for founding the town in 1887 when he est. RR. branch from here to Great Falls. Music Festival (May) & Fair (Aug.) are annual events. Here is J. with US87 to Great Falls (see). 309. KREMLIN, village named by its Russian settlers. 330. RUDYARD. 368. GALATA. At 393. is SHELBY, a robust town that has gambled on land, oil, & prize fighting. In the 1890's townsmen hijacked a train carrying an opera troupe to provide local entertainment. In 1920's an oil boom was highlighted by a world's championship fight bet. Jack Dempsey & Tommy Gibbons (July 4, 1923). An Absorption Plant here extracts high test gasoline from natural gas. Here is J. with US91 (see). 417. CUT BANK, center of large oil & gas field operations. Here is E. boundary of Blackfoot Ind. Reserv. Blackfeet have long tradition as fierce warriors & hunters. They were among 1st to adopt constitution for tribal self-gov. When U.S. acquired part of their lands for Glacier Nat. Pk., the money was invested in livestock & irrigation. Some receive royalties from oil wells. 448. J. with US89 (see) & the 2 routes are united to BROWNING, 452. 464. KIOWA, or Browning J. Here US89 runs (N) along E. side of Glacier Nat. Pk. (see US89).

Sec. 2: KIOWA to IDAHO LINE. 226.

US2 winds S. from Browning J. (Kiowa), 0., along E. edge of GLACIER NAT. PK. At 4. is summit of LOOKING GLASS HILL. 8. J. with Two Medicine Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this oiled Rd. (L) 3^m along Lower Two Medicine L. is Pk. boundary. At 4^m is Entrance Checking Sta. At 5.5^m is Trick Falls, a waterfall with an outlet under lip of the main stream. At 7^m Two Medicine Chalets (resort.boat.pack trips). Rising Wolf Mt. (9,505') looms (W). Horseback & hik. trls. lead to scenic retreats.

12. GLACIER PK. STA. From June to Sept. thousands of visitors stop at this RR. pt.; in winter the village holes up under covering of snow. Hotel is major showplace. At 23. is SUMMIT (5,212'), Marias Pass Way Sta. on Continental Divide. Here is E. boundary of Flathead Nat. For. (hqs.Kalispell). It is 2nd largest for. in U.S. (2,608,827 as.). At 69. is BELTON, W. entrance to Glacier Nat. Pk. (O.yr.-round). Here is J. with Going-To-The-Sun Hy. (see Glacier Nat. Pk. & US89). 76. GORHAM (Ranger Sta.). S. of here is Hungry Horse Reclamation Project (begun in 1948) & S. Fork Wilderness Area (pack trips from Gorham). At 94. is J. (L) with oiled Rd. along Flathead L. (see US93). 102. KALISPELL, prosperous town with broad Sts. & lovely pks. It is center of lumbering, agric. & recr. reg. (dude ranches, L. resorts & campgrounds). Here is J. with US93 (see). US2 winds (W) along several Ls.: Foy, Smith, Little Bitterroot, McGregor, Thompson, Crystal & Loon. At 160. is RAVEN RANGER STA. in Kootenai Nat. For. (hqs. Libby). At 191. is LIBBY, colorful sawmill town & supply pt. for surrounding logging camps. Lumberjacks give considerable life to the town, especially on paydays. 202. KOOTENAI FALLS, series of cascades (For. Serv. campground). 209. TROY, outfitting pt. for miners going into Cabinet Mts. (L). There are several silver mines in vic. (Mountain Time changes here to Pacific Time.) At 226. Hy. crosses IDAHO LINE.

US 10—MONTANA

MONT.-N.D. LINE (2^m from Beach, N.D.) (W) to MONT.-IDAHO LINE (14^m from Kellogg, Idaho). 736. US10

Via: Glendive, Miles City, Billings, Bozeman, Three Forks, Butte, Garrison, Missoula. Rd. hard-surfaced. N.P. RR. parallels route throughout; Milwaukee RR. bet. Terry & Forsyth & bet. Bozeman & Idaho Line. Northwest Airlines stops at major cities. Accom.: In larger towns; dude ranches, resorts, & camp sites along route.

US10 is divided bet. Three Forks & Garrison, US10S going via Butte (see US10) & US10N through Helena (see US10N).

US 10 passes through Mont.'s broad farm & ranch land, its mining belt, & its Rocky Mts. Much of route traverses hist. U.S. gov. land grant which gave the N.P. RR. every alternate sec. along its line, a total of 20 million as.

Sec. 1: N.D. LINE to BILLINGS. 268.

10. WIBAUX, old cattle town. An Easterner known here as "Four Eyes" & named Theo. Roosevelt was frequent visitor when he operated his Maltese Ranch near Medora (see N.D.). Town's 1st sidewalk was made of cartridge shells. 39. GLENDIVE, RR. town on Yellowstone R. Before arrival of N.P. RR. in 1881, a liquor spot known as Glenn's Dive was rendezvous for trappers & hunters. Old-timers insist that it was from the saloon that town got its name. Major annual events are Rodeo (July 4) & E. Mont. Exposition (Labor Day). Here is J. with graded Rd. leading (L) 2^m to Maco Sico Pk. It bears Ind. name for bad lands & comprises 56,000 as. of fantastically eroded formations.

At Glendive is J. with St. 18.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) by. traverses sparsely-sett. E.-central Mont. At 23^m is Lindsay. At 49^m Circle, well known cattlemen's town. Circle Home Ranch still operates here. At 83^m is camp site (pic.facils.rest rms.). N. of here is an arm of Ft. Peck Reservoir. This is largely sheep-raising country. At 115^m is Jordan, trade center of the vast reg. 167^m Mosby on Musselshell R. At 174^m is J. with gravel Rd.

On this Rd. (L) 4^m is Cat Cr. Oil Field. Since the discovery of oil here (1920), field has become a maze of wells & pumping plants.

At 190^m is Winnett, with oil refinery & tremendous storage tanks.

154. ROSEBUD. J. with St. 45.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 54^m is Tongue R. Ind. Reserv. This is home of 1,560 Cheyenne. Reserv. was est. in 1884 & covers 442,840 as., half of which is tribal land. Much of it is leased to white farmers. The Cheyenne live in tents during summer. At 57^m is Lame Deer, agency hqs. (See US212).

192. HYSHAM. Hy. passes through part of Mont. badlands. From eroded washes moss agates & fossils are frequently found. 207. BIG HORN, a village of hist. background. It is site of trading post built in 1807 by Manuel Lisa. Ft. Van Buren was built in 1822 near here (S) by Col. Ashley. Here, too, Gen. Gibbon's troops hurriedly crossed Yellowstone R. in attempt to reinforce Gen. Custer in Battle of Little Big Horn (see US87). 213. CUSTER, a quiescent ranchers' town. 235. POMPEY'S PILLAR, named for prominent rock shaft that rises 200' above banks of Yellowstone R.; it was named for Fr.-Ind. baby of Charbonneau & Sacajawea. When Capt. Clark climbed the pillar in 1806, he gave it the name of the child. Pomp. At 264, is J. with US87 (see) & the 2 routes are united to BILLINGS, 268.

Sec. 2: BILLINGS to J. with US10N & US10S near THREE FORKS. 174.

Billings is 3rd largest city in Mont. & distributing crossroads for an area larger than most Sts. Two colleges add to culture of community. Sugar beet processing, oil refining, meat packing, & flour milling are major industries. The N.P. RR. cuts through center of city on a bias. In SW. sec. is Mex. village of 50 white adobes. Town was est. in 1882 & named for Fred. Billings, pres. of N.P. RR. Experiments in irrigation resulted in building of sugar beet refinery in 1906; since then more than 600,000 as. surrounding town are irrigated. Int. craft enterprises here include cutting & polishing of semi-precious stones, woodworking, & leathercraft. Town has 3 golf courses, 3 ice rinks, 2 swim. pools, & 2 shooting clubs, in addition to college athletic events. Hqs. of Custer Nat. For. are located here. Annual events incl. Midland Empire Fair (Aug.), Mexican Fiesta (Sept.), & Turkey Shoot (Nov.). PTS. OF INT.: Mont. Ave. & 29th St., Pamly Billings Mem. Lib. features Western paintings & publications. Fred. Billings, Jr., Mem. Wing houses mus. of pioneer items & excellent gun collection. N. 30th St., Eastern Mont. St. Normal Sch., a unit of Univ. of Mont. Sch. was est. in 1927 & enlarged in 1945 to provide both jr. college & 4-yr. teacher training dept. Main bldg. has 5-story tower & 2 large wings made of Mont. brick trimmed in Travertine, a rock mined at Gardiner (see US89). Mus. featuring Mont. flora & fauna exhibits is in this bldg. On Polytechnic Dr., Rocky Mountain College, founded in 1908. Until 1946 it was known as Billings Polytechnic Institute. Nine of the bldgs. on campus were designed, built, & equipped by student-operated industries. Students even quarried the native brown sandstone. In self-help plan, students get practical training by mfg. & marketing flour, cereals, publications, machinery, & electrical devices. Most attractive bldg. is Losekamp Mem. Chapel. N. Lindbergh Blvd., Range Rider of the Yellowstone, a bronze sculpture by Chas. Christadora. It was posed by Wm. S. Hart. At Billings is J. with US87 (see). US10 runs SW. along Yellowstone R. At 14, is LAUREL, town in which life evolves around its RRs., as several branch lines join here. Here also are Js. with US12 & US310 (see) (short-cut to Yellowstone Nat. Pk. N. terminus). 41. COLUMBUS. Here is J. with oiled Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 14^m into Absaroka Range & town of Absarokee. At 25^m Rd. enters Custer Nat. For. (hqs. Billings). Here is Beartooth Recr. Area (resorts, dude ranches, tlls., winter sports, trout fishing). Highest mt. in Mont.—Glacier Peak (12,850')—is (S) of Mystic L.

72. GREYCLIFF. Cayuse Hills visible to N., Crazy Mts. to NW, & Beartooth Mts. (S). 81. BIG TIMBER, a dude ranch hqs. First woolen mill in St. est. here in 1901. A fish hatchery here (O) produces millions of silver salmon & trout to stock crs. in area. Here is J. with St.19.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 22^m paralleling Crazy Mts. (L) is Melville. In this reg. bucking horses & wild steers are raised for rodeos. Here is J. with For. Serv. Rd. leading (L) 12^m to Gallatin Nat. For. (hqs. Bozeman). (Campgrounds, hunt., fish.). N. of Melville rd. passes through miles of Fossil Area. Fossilized remains of prehist. mammals, birds, & plants are object of frequent explorations. At 52^m is Harlowtown. A large flour mill & 22 huge storage tanks dominate town.

97. SPRINGDALE. Here is J. with graded Rd. running (R) 1^m to Hunter's Hot Springs. At 116. is LIVINGSTON, bustling tourist center in summer & hunting hqs. in fall & winter. It is major gateway to Yellowstone Nat. Pk. Its Ranch Hand Rodeo (July 2, 3, 4) is annual wild west show. Nat. Trout Derby (2nd Sun. in Aug.) features $1,000 cash prize for largest trout caught that day. A restrained attempt is made to recapture some of gay night life of town's early yrs. There is Bucket of Blood Saloon, where Tex Rickard ran gambling games before turning fight promoter. The elephantine Madam Bulldog, who claimed she could outstrip any woman in her profession, lives only in the memories of a few old men. Calamity Jane once lived here in a pk. now known as the Plaza. At Livingston is J. with US89 (see) which leads (S) to Yellowstone Nat. Pk. & (N) toward Great Falls. US10 follows general route of old Bozeman Trl. blazed by John M. Bozeman in 1863 bet. Oregon Trl. & Mont. gold fields. Trl. opened way to W. Mont. settlement, but within a few yrs. Sioux forced its closing. From the hy., Old Baldy (8,640'), Emigrant Peak (10,950') & Mt. Cowan (11,190') loom (L). Gallatin Nat. For. (hqs. Bozeman) lies to each side of hy. US10 climbs to Bozeman Pass (6,003') at 130. To (R) lies Bridger range. At 142. is BOZEMAN, prosperous Gallatin Valley center & home of Mont. St. College. Its streets are wide & tree-lined, the bldgs. are modern-styled, & gay life is restricted by rigid local ordinances. Peas & string beans are major crops; large cannery is operated here. In the 1890's Bozeman boasted an Opera H. that imported productions from N.Y. In 1893, Mont. St. Coll. was est. It has 95-a. campus & is noted for its research & experimentation in agric. Both indoor & outdoor museums have int. colls., latter featuring petrified trees. In Sunset Hills Cemetery are graves of John M. Bozeman, who was killed by Inds. in 1867; Henry T. P. Comstock (see Nev.). At Bozeman is J. with US191 to Yellowstone Pk. (see US91). Here also is J. with St.187.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 3^m is site of Ft. Ellis. Fort was est. in 1867 & provided hqs. for explorations in what became Yellowstone Nat. Pk. At 5^m Rd. enters Bridger Canyon, route used by Jim Bridger in competition with Bozeman Trl.

161. MANHATTAN. 166. LOGAN. At 172. is THREE FORKS, so named for 3 Rs. that unite here. As early as 1810 it was site of lively trading post. At 174. US10 is divided (see US10N).

Sec. 3: THREE FORKS to GARRISON. 113.

From J. with US10N, US10S runs SW. along Jefferson R. At 10. is J. with St.1 which leads (S) to Yellowstone Nat. Pk.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 8^m to Harrison. Rising to the (L) are Tobacco Root Mts. At 18^m Norris, center of corundum mining dist. 28^m McAllister, with hydroelectric plant on adj. L. 35^m Enis, typical western village. Here is J. with St.34 which runs (R) through Virginia City & Alder Gulch. At 35^m is J. with graded Rd. running (R) 4^m to Wall Cr. Ranger Sta. At 69^m is Hutchins (resort). To (R) is a portion of Beaverhead Nat. For. (hqs. Dillon). In this recr. area are moose, elk, deer, bear, & mt. goat. Creeks are noted for good trout. Here also is Madison Bird Refuge & largest colony of trumpeter swans in existence. Trls. bisect area. There are several improved For. Serv. campgrounds: Bear Cr., West Fork, Cliff L. & Canyon. Rd. now runs (E) along Hebgen L., formed by damming the upper Madison R. At 98^m is W. boundary of Yellowstone Nat. Pk. (see US191).

At 14. is J. with improved Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On steep Rd. (R) 3.5^m is Lewis & Clark Cavern St. Pk. It is 3rd largest cave in U.S. (guide serv.; adm. fee). It was discovered in 1902 by prospector named Don Morrison & closed in 1912 to prevent vandalism of rare formations. Reopened 1927. In 1935 cave & surrounding 2,770 as. became St. Pk. Formations incl. stalactites, stalagmites, helictes, boxwork, cascades, & clusterites.

At 15. hy. enters JEFFERSON CANYON, scenic reg. 33. J. with graded Rd. leading (R) 4^m to Pipstone Hot Springs (vapor baths, plunge, accoms.). 38. J. with St.41.

SIDE TRIP: On this oiled Rd. (L) is reg. famous in Mont. history. Route is modern counterpart of old Vigilantes Trl. to Alder Gulch, scene of one of richest placer gold discoveries ever made. At 13^m is Barkell Hot Springs (plunge & campground). At 24^m is Twin Bridges & St. Orphans' Home. Route turns (E) here on St 34. At 34^m is Sheridan, mining & fishing center for Tobacco Root Mts. & Beaverhead Nat. For. Recr. Area (L). Ranger Sta. & 2 For. Serv. campgrounds maintained here. At 39^m is Robbers' Roost, 2-story log bldg. which was hangout for road agents during gold rush. 47^m is Ruby, old mining camp at mouth of Alder Gulch, from which 10 millions in gold was taken in 1 yr. following discovery in 1863. At 56^m is Virginia City, oldest inc. town in Mont. & once Terr. Capital (1865). Wm. Boyce Thompson Mus. here has excellent coll. of relics.

At 44.5. hy. enters DEER LODGE NAT. FOR. (hqs. at Butte). Toll Mt. looms (L). At 48. Rd. crosses Continental Divide through PIPESTONE PASS (6,418'). The pass & 3,400 as. comprise Thompson Pk., a mt. playground & winter sports area (ski jump, bobsled run, & toboggan slide). Pk. was gift to city of Butte from Wm. Boyce Thompson of N.Y. & Virginia City (see above). At 50. is For. Serv. Rd. running (L) 21^m to ghost town of Highland City. It once was larger than Butte.

63. BUTTE, largest city in Mont. & world famous mining center. It bears Fr. name for hillock & the butte upon which this city sprawls is popularly known as "the richest hill on earth." The Anaconda—largest copper mining, smelting, refining, & fabrication organization in the world—dominates the city & exerts tremendous influence on Mont. affairs. Company controls all mines in vic. incl.: Original Anaconda, Neversweat, Leonard, Mountain Con., Orphan Girl, Emma, Belmont, High Ore, St. Lawrence, Steward, Tramway, & Anselmo. Each is connected to the other by a series of tunnels. From these mines millions of tons of copper, zinc, manganese, & lead are extracted each yr.—sufficient to fill boxcars of a train 562^m long. Only mine open to public is Leonard (see below). Butte wears the disfiguring scars of excavations & head-frames, but it no longer is the unkempt, smoke-blanketed town of a few yrs. ago. Smelting operations have been moved to near-by Anaconda (see US10A). Periodic anti-vice campaigns have dressed up Butte's liberal tendencies, but miners & visitors keep the more ornate saloons & gambling houses flourishing. Night club center is fairly well concentrated in Meaderville, at NE. edge of city (see US91). Butte started as a gold camp in 1864. Ten yrs. later a silver boom brought Marcus Daly, who represented the Hearst family & some Salt Lake City bankers. He struck a vein of unparalleled rich copper. Within 20 yrs. he was the most important man in the world copper market. Like most mining centers, Butte has a broad mixture of nationalities. There are more Sullivans in the Butte telephone book than Smiths. Cornish "Cousin Jack" meat pie is a part of local bills of fare. Chinese, Ital., & Finnish districts cling to old-world customs. A major annual event is the Mesopust, Balkan festival prior to Lent. Another annual affair is Miners' Union Day Celebration (June 13). PTS. OF INT.: (1) W. Park St., Marcus Daly Statue, last work of Augustus Saint-Gaudens, shows copper king holding his battered hat. (2) W. Park St., Mont. St. Sch. of Mines, a unit of Univ. of Mont. The 11½-a. campus overlooks city from terrace on Big Butte. Eight bldgs. of tapestry brick conform to long-range development program. At foot of terrace is huge natural bowl & athletic field. Sch. was opened in 1900 to train mining engineers & research specialists. The new Lib. & Mus. (1940) houses rare & representative mineral colls. (3) N. Mont. St., Art Center. (4) W. US 10N—MONTANA

J. with US10 & US10S near THREE FORKS to GARRISON (US10). 110. US10N
N.P. RR. bet. Tolson J. & Garrison. Accoms.: In Helena; camps along route.

US10N is popular route & Alt. for US10S through capital of Mont. & over Continental Divide through McDonald Pass. From this Rd. are side routes to recr. & wilderness areas. From a pt. 2^m (W) of Three Forks where US10 divides into N. & S. routes, US10N branches N. at 0. into the broad valley of the Upper Mo. R. At 22. is TOSTON, center of irrigated area. Here is J. with gravel Rd. leading (L) 8^m to ghost town of Parker. At 13^m is Radersburg, a revived mining camp with gold & silver lodes. 33. TOWNSEND. To the (R) is rugged skyline of the Big Belt Mts., noted hunt. & fish. reg. The Helena Nat. For. (hqs. Helena) maintains fire guard Rds. in the area. To the (L) is Deer Lodge Nat. For. (hqs. Butte). At Townsend is J. with Confed. Gulch Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this dirt Rd. (R) 23m is old Diamond City. Here at mouth of Confed. Gulch is relic of town that once had 10,000 gold-crazy inhabitants. One of richest placer diggings in America was discovered by novice miner. Called Mont. Bar, single pans yielded $1000. The gulch produced about 17 millions in gold before it was deserted.

65. EAST HELENA, dominated by high smelter smokestack. Zinc, lead, gold, & silver ores are shipped here from long distances for reduction in huge smelter (O. inquire at office).

68. HELENA, capital of Mont. & scene of historic Last Chance Gulch gold rush. The Capitol, with Mts. Helena & Ascension as backdrops, majestically overlooks the expanding city. Last Chance Gulch (now Main St.) still has many of the ornamental, slightly-sagging old mining camp bldgs. mixed with modern, streamlined ones. Little trace is left of the series of earthquakes that rocked the city in 1935 to cause millions of dollars damage. While Helena talks politics & patronizes its St. & Fed. office workers, it is an important trade & distributing center. Mining, cattle raising, farming, & power transmission operations make up for its lack of manufacturing. It is home of Carroll College, only Cath. men's college in Mont. Recr. areas are being developed in surrounding Helena Nat. For. In 1864, 4 discouraged prospectors wandered into the gulch & decided to take one last chance of finding "colors." They struck it rich. Last Chance Gulch was a by-word throughout the W. Within 3 yrs. Helena had 45 grocery stores, 5 banks, & 14 saloons. The town was inc. in 1881 & by 1888 claimed 50 millionaires. Florid & fantastic mansions were built by newly-rich. Major annual event is Vigilante Parade (May).

PTS. OF INT.: 6th Ave. bet. S. Mont. & Roberts Sts., St. Capitol (1899; 2 wings added 1911). Dominant feature is copper-covered dome, topped by reprod. of Statue of Liberty. Major painting is Chas. M. Russell's "Lewis and Clark Meeting the Indians." Other panels by Chas. A. Pedretti & E.S. Paxson. In E. wing is St. Hist. Lib. & Mus. Benton Ave. bet. Leslie & Peosta Sts., Carroll College, often confused by strangers with the Capitol because of its large buildings on Capitol Hill. College was founded in 1909 in presence of Bishop John P. Carroll & Pres. Wm. Howard Taft. Main bldg. on 50-a. campus is 5-story structure of native red porphyry trimmed in gray granite. The convent of Sisters of St. Dominic & observatory are also on campus. College has large lib., gym, athletic field, & science labs. Warren St. & E. Lawrence, St. Helena Cath. Cathedral, modeled after Cologne Cath. in Germany. Twin spires rise 218'. Park Ave. & Lawrence, Helena Public Lib., housed in converted church. Neill Ave. & Park Ave., Algeria Shrine Temple is of unique design with a high, slender minaret & large auditorium used for public entertainments. At Helena is J. with US91 (see).

71. BROADWATER RESORT. At 75. is J. with gravel Rd. leading (L) 1^m to Rimini Recr. Area. It is in Helena Nat. For. At 3^m is For. Serv. campground. US 91—MONTANA

MONT.-IDAHO LINE (at Monida, Mont.) (N) to CANADIAN BORDER (at Coutts, Alberta) 412. US91.

Via: Dillon, Butte, Helena, Great Falls, Shelby, Sweetgrass. Rd. hard-surfaced. Oregon Short Line (U.P.) RR. bet. Idaho line & Butte; Gt. N. RR. bet. Butte & Sweetgrass.

Bus lines throughout. Western Airlines to major cities. Accoms.: In larger towns.

US91 is a popular route that roughly parallels E. slope of Rocky Mts. Except for mountainous Butte-Helena reg., hy. traverses broad valleys & gently rolling foothills. Along this route are numerous hist. pts. & recr. areas.

Sec. 1: IDAHO LINE to BUTTE. 130.

At 0. is MONIDA PASS (6,823') on the Continental Divide which forms boundary bet. Mont. & Idaho. Here is village of Monida, bearing contracted names of the 2 Sts. To the (L) rise Beaverhead Mts. & to (R) the Centennials, both noted for good fishing. 15. LIMA. Hy. sweeps through Red Rock Valley, prosperous ranching country. Beaverhead Nat. For. (hqs. Dillon) is off Hy. (L). 42. ARMSTEAD. Near here Lewis & Clark expedition witnessed dramatic meeting of their Ind. girl guide, Sacajawea, & Cameahwait, her brother. Upon entering the reg. in 1805, explorers sought out chief of Shoshone. He turned out to be Cameahwait, from whom Sacajawea had been separated since childhood abduction by enemy tribes. 56. MON. to Lewis & Clark (L). 64. DILLON, major wool-shipping pt. in Mont. & home of Mont. St. Normal College. The town was started when tracks of 1st RR. into Mont. were laid to this pt. The narrow gauge Utah & Northern RR. from Ogden reached here in 1880. Soon Dillon replaced near-by Bannack, 1st Capital of Mont., as major town of area. It is hqs. for Beaverhead Nat. For. During shearing season, Dillon is busy wool market. A huge wareh. can handle 3 million lbs. of wool. St. Normal College is a unit of Univ. of Mont. & has attractive 14-a. campus at S. edge of town. School opened in 1897 in Main Hall. Lib. has 27,000 vols. Mus. features Ind. items. At Dillon is J. with gravel Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) 13^m is Bannack. This is Mont's oldest town & 1st capital. Discovery of gold along Grasshopper Cr. July 28, 1862, turned loose stampede of miners & adventurers. Soon the town, named for Bannack Inds., had pop. of 1,000; 1st Mont. Terr. legislature met here. Another gold strike in Alder Gulch depopulated Bannack & legislature moved to Virginia City (see US10). Several landmarks still stand, incl. bldgs. used as capitol, jail, & hotel. At 40^m is Elkhorn Hot Springs (plunge & resort facils.f.& big game hunt.).

At 105. is DIVIDE, cattle-shipping pt. At 115. hy. crosses CONTINENTAL DIVIDE (5,915') which is merely a hump of grassland here. At 124. is J. with US10S & the 2 routes are joined to Butte, 130. (see US10).

Sec. 2: BUTTE to GREAT FALLS. 159.

From Butte, at 0., US91 runs NE. through the Meaderville night club sec. of city (see US10) & begins ascent to Continental Divide (6,354') at 5. At 15. is ELK PK., center of a dairy farm area. Here hy. enters Deer Lodge Nat. For. (hqs. Butte). 16.5. ELK PK. CAMPGROUND (pic. facils.). 21. SHAMROCK CAMPGROUND. At 24. is J. with For. Serv. Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (L) along Boulder R. are 3 pub. campgrounds: Morman, Lady-smith, & Whitehouse. There are sm. gold & silver mines in reg.

At 27. is BASIN, mining camp & For. Ranger Sta. Here is boundary of Deer Lodge Nat. For. 36. BOULDER, mining & farming center. Here is J. with gravel Rd. leading (R) 3^m to Boulder Hot Springs (plunge, resort facils.). At 48. is JEFFERSON CITY, old mining town. Mt. Washington Mine here is still operating. 52. ALHAMBRA HOT SPRINGS. 54. CLANCEY. In 1890's rich silver ores were freighted by wagon trains to Ft. Benton, shipped down Mo. R. to New Orleans, & reshipped to Wales for refining. 66. HELENA, capital of Mont. & J. with US10N (see). From Helena, US91 runs (N) through Prickly Pear Valley. Chain of Ls. (R) are formed by damming the Mo. R. At 72. is J. with gravel Rd. running (R) 5^m to L. Helena. At 80. the Gates of the Mts. are visible (R). Here is J. with gravel Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd. (R) 3^m is the Lewis & Clark Boat Landing (launches make daily trips). The Gates of the Mts. is a deep gorge where the Mo. R. cuts through the Big Belt Mts. On an I. is Meriwether Canyon Pic. Grounds. In 1948, the U.S. For. Serv. dedicated 28,562 as. as the Gates of the Mts. Wild Area to remain in primitive state. Only horseback & hik. trls. traverse the area. Deer, elk, mt. sheep, & black bear inhabit the heavily-forested, rugged reg. that has 5 mts. over 8,000'.

US91 turns NE. past N. end of Holter L., also formed by damming Mo. R. The L. backs up through Ox Bow Bend. At 134. is CASCADE & J. with gravel Rd. leading (L) 17^m to ruins of St. Peter's Mission, est. here in 1886. At 159. is GREAT FALLS & Js. with US87 (see) & US89 (see).

Sec. 3: GREAT FALLS to CANADIAN BORDER. 123.

Great Falls, 2nd largest city in Mont., is an industrial, agric., & trans. center. The city lies in bend of the Mo. R. a few miles from the falls for which it was named. Except for the broad valleyland (N), Mt. ranges rim the trade territory. A series of hydroelectric plants operated by Mont. Power Co., has created a variety of industries. The Anaconda Copper Mining Co. has a huge copper & zinc refinery & wire plant here. There are 2 large flour mills with a combined wheat storage capacity of 2 million bu., a meat packing plant, 2 breweries, & an oil refinery. Surrounding irrigated land & grazing country provide important market. "The Mont. Farmer-Stockman," published here, reaches most farm homes in the St. Air transport has been highly developed, with 3 major airlines: Northwest, Western, & Alaska. During World War II it was an important ferrying command base & thousands of aircraft & men passed through the city. Crews for Berlin airlift were given training here. Both Gore Mun. Airport & Great Falls Air Base are busy terminals. The well-planned town was laid out by a visionary Minneapolis man, Paris Gibson, in 1883. He became the 1st mayor; a city pk. & statue honor him. Hqs. of Lewis & Clark Nat. For. is here. Major annual event is the Northern Mont. St. Fair & NW. Internat. Hereford Show (Aug.). The Balkan Christmas Festival is colorful event (Jan. 6).

PTS. OF INT.: (1) 1217 4th Ave. N., Chas. M. Russell Mem. Studio (O) exhibits work of cowboy artist. (2) 1st Ave. & 3rd St., Pub. Lib. has notable coll. of NW. materials. (3) E. end of 1st Ave., Mun. Pk. with swim. pool. (4) 1st Ave. NW. (across bridge), N. Mont. St. Fair Grounds & "Old Town." Here is reproduced village of 1890's with barber shop, saddlery, blacksmith shop, general store & saloon. (5) Black Eagle Dist., (across bridge), Anaconda Reduction Works comprise electrolytic zinc plant, copper refineries & rod & wire mill (O.10-2). Plant employs 2,000 men. (6) (NE) on River Dr., Giant Springs, largest fresh water springs in world with flow of 388 million gals. every 24 hrs. Trout hatchery near-by. US91 from Great Falls is known as Alaskan Internat. Hy. This hy. & US89 unite to VAUGHN, 11. Here US89 branches (W) toward Glacier Nat. Pk. (see US89). 35. DUTTON, wheat-shipping & milling pt. At 58. is J. with gravel Rd.

SIDE TRIP: On this Rd (L) 12^m is L. Francis, a trout-stocked reservoir used to provide water for 100,000-a. irrigation district. On banks is village of Valier, Belgian settlement. Many native customs are maintained.

At 87. is SHELBY & J. with US2 (see). 103. OILMONT, oil field center. Sweetgrass Arch, a geological formation that embraces 5 natural gas & petroleum fields, has dome here. At near-by Kervin (L) 1st gusher was drilled in 1922. From here (N) are Kervin-Sunburst Oil Fields (L). 116. SUNBURST, gusher town. Sweetgrass Hills rise (R). Highest pt. is cone-shaped W. Butte (7,000'). 123. SWEETGRASS, quiet village on U.S. side of CANADIAN BOUNDARY. Here are custom & immigration offices. Only a sign separates it from Coutts, Alberta.

US 93—MONTANA

MONT.-IDAHO LINE (47^m from Salmon, Idaho) (N) to CANADIAN BORDER (30^m from Elko, B. C.) 288. US93

Via: Hamilton, Missoula, Kalispell, Eureka, Rd. hard-surfaced. N.P. RR. bet. Darby & Polson; Gt. N. RR. bet. Kalispell & Whitefish. Bus lines throughout. Accom.: In larger towns.

US93 passes through mt. ranges, valleys, & fors. of the Rockies' W. slope. It is an int. & scenic route.

Glacier Nat. Pk., with Canada's Waterton Ls. Nat. Pk., forms the Waterton-Glacier Internat. Peace Pk. Glacier is one of the most picturesque of all U.S. parks. Its 1,537 sq. mile area straddles the Continental Divide, backbone of the Rockies. Within its borders are more than 60 glaciers & 200 lakes. The pk., est. in 1910, is noted for beautiful scenery. Only one hy. (Going-to-the-Sun) crosses the pk., but area is fingered by 1,000m of horseback & hik. trls. Wildlife is plentiful. Mt. goats, Bighorn sheep, moose, elk, grizzly & black bear, deer, & bobcats frequent the area. Caribou are seen less often. Birds incl. ptarmigan, eagle, water ouzel, & osprey. There are 800 species of flowering plants in pk. Floral display at height in early July. Most profuse is beargrass, with showy heads of tiny white lilies. Others incl. blue columbine, carpet pink, heathers, glacier lily, scarlet mimulus, passion flower, shooting star, wild hollyhock, aster, & true forget-me-not.

GOING-TO-THE-SUN HY. from J. with US89 (at St. Mary, Mont.) to J. with US2 (at Belton, Mont.). 53.

Via: St. Mary L., Going-to-the-Sun Chalets, L. McDonald Hotel, Pk. Hqs. Rd. hard-surfaced. Bus service. Accomms. along route. Route & accoms. O. bet. June 15-Oct. 1.

Going-to-the-Sun Hy. is the only Rd. across Glacier Nat. Pk. & was constructed to provide maximum scenic views. It was completed in 1933. It traverses a representative sec. of the pk. & off hy. are many hik. & horseback trls.

At 0. hy. branches (W) from US89 at ST. MARY (see US89). Here is checking sta. At 0.5. is ST. MARY'S CHALET (L). Rd. follows N. shore of beautiful St. Mary L. Across the L. peaks rise a mile above water line. High pts. (L. to R.) are: Divide Mt. (8,647'), Red Eagle Mt. (8,800'), & Little Chief Mt. (9,542'). At 7. is E. GLACIER CAMPGROUND (cooking & facils. cabins. trlr.). Launch rides on St. Mary L. are popular. 10. GOING-TO-THE-SUN CHALET (L), called Sun Camp locally. This is largest group of chalets in pk. & follows Alpine style of architecture. Ranger naturalists conduct field trips daily & give illustrated lectures each evening. One of the scenic features in immediate area is Sunrift Gorge, a fantastic rainbow-tinted water course. From Sun Camp are several trls. which lead (S) to Red Eagle L. Tent Camp; to Gunsight L., Blackfoot Glacier, & Sperry Chalets. Trls. lead (N) to Mt. St. Mary (10,004') & Many Glacier Hotel; to Grinnell Glacier & Gothaunt Tent Camp.

Hy. climbs around Going-to-the-Sun Mt. (9,594') & passes through a long tunnel (408'). 18. LOGAN PASS (6,654') over Continental Divide. Rangers conduct short field trips from Logan Pass throughout summer months. Surrounding meadow area is known as Hanging Gardens because of profuse growth of timberline wildflowers such as glacier lily, heliotrope, gentian, & fringed parnassia. At 24. is J. with Granite Pk. Trl.

SIDE TRIP: From parking area (R) 2^m is trl. to Granite Pk. Chalet. This off-the-hy. native stone chalet is starting pt. for many horseback & hik. trips into high mts. Trls. lead (N) to Iceberg L., Chaney Glacier, Fifty Mt. Tent Camp, Gothaunt Camp, & Waterton Ls. Nat. Pk. hqs. in Canada. Other trls. parallel hy.

Going-to-the-Sun Hy. twists along a glacial wall with Heaven's Peak (8,994') to (R). Burned over areas resulting from a for. fire in 1936 are noticeable. Hy. passes through tunnel at 27. into McDONALD VALLEY. At 33. is AVALANCHE CR. CAMPGROUND (cooking, shower, laundry, trl. facil.). Gorge here is home of the water ouzel, a bird that seems to delight in walking under water. Rangers conduct entertainments each evening. Avalanche L., on trl. (L), has soupy water, flavored with glacial debris. 37. LOGAN FALLS (R). At 39. is beautiful L. McDONALD; snow-capped peaks rise from & reflect in its waters. It seldom freezes. Fly fishing is popular here. 41. L. McDONALD HOTEL, a large log bldg. overlooking the L. Cabin camp is operated in connection. Near-by is Sprague Cr. Campground, a pub. auto pk. & pic. area. From L. McDonald Hotel are trls. to Sperry Chalets, as well as to remote areas to (N). At 51. is APGAR, a tourist center at S. end of L. McDonald. At 22^m is Quartz Campground; trl. leads (R) to Quartz L. At 26^m is Polebridge Ranger Sta.; here is J. with dirt Rd. Rd. winds (N) to Lower Kintla L. Campground (R), a primitive area. At 50^m is Canadian Border (1^m S. of Flathead, B.C.).

At 51. Going-to-the-Sun hy. widens at GLACIER PK. HQS. 53. BELTON & J. with US2 (see).

IDAHO-MONT. LINE (110^m from Missoula, Mont.) (W) to IDAHO-WASH. LINE (32^m from Spokane, Wash.). 82. US10

Via: Mullan, Wallace, Kellogg, Cataldo, Fourth of July Canyon, Coeur d'Alene, Post Falls. Paralleled by RRs. & bus lines. Accom. of various kinds.

Coming into Idaho over LOOKOUT PASS SUMMIT, US10 traverses terrain, not notable for beauty, but full of hist. memories & one of richest areas of its size in the world—the great Coeur d'Alene mining area. Hy. passes through towns made nationally known by labor conflicts of the 1890's & among hills where ravages of tremendous for. fire of 1910 are still visible. 13. WALLACE, financial & commercial capital of the reg., has no mines itself but is home of most of the wealthiest men & business leaders. Main portion of town is 8 blocks long by 4 wide. Residential dist. clings precariously to the S. hillside, & many of the finest homes are accessible only by long flights of wooden stairs. Cars are kept in garages at foot of hill. Below Wallace, the valley of the Coeur d'Alene R. is like something out of Dante's "Inferno." In the days before measures were taken against stream pollution, the R. overflowed every spring, carrying mine wastes into the bottoms & destroying all vegetation. 25. KELLOGG, home of Bunker Hill-Sullivan Mine (guides), richest lead-silver mine in the world. Bunker Hill holdings skirt hy. for several miles; surface mine workings, & 2 large smelters. To (W) of Kellogg, the N. fork of the Coeur d'Alene joins the S. fork, & from here on, while the water still has an unwholesome gray color, the valley widens, & signs of devastation are not so apparent. 35. CATALDO MISSION (restaurant), founded in 1840's by Cath. missionaries. It is int. architecturally, as well as historically, because it was built without a bit of metal. All joists, beams & joints are secured with wooden pegs carved out by Ind. hands at great effort.

For the next 20^m the hy. runs through pleasant pasture lands, with grain fields & some truck farms. These serve the great mining dist. with milk, beef, pork, mutton & vegetables. At 50. route turns (NW) & enters the woods of FOURTH OF JULY CANYON. Along roadside are giant cedars that escaped the fiery fate of many surrounding trees. The road at once begins to climb. About halfway to the summit stands the MULLAN TREE. In 1861 Capt. Mullan, U.S. Army, with a party of engineers, was laying out a trl. bet. Ft. Missoula, Mont., & infant village of Spokane Falls, Wash. On Independence Day they bivouacked in this shady spot & carved a record in the bark of the big cedar. The route cont. upward but, a few hundred feet from the top (3,070'; magnificent view of L. Coeur d'Alene), it goes through a tunnel, designed to keep hy. open in snowy weather. From this pt., US10 winds along wooded & picturesque shores of L. Coeur d'Alene, which is bordered by summer homes of the well-to-do of N. Idaho & the Spokane country. 57. WOLF LODGE. J. with US95 Alt., one of St.'s most scenic drives.

SIDE TRIP: On US95 Alt. (S) 47m to St. Maries. Hy. crosses bridge & follows E. shore of L. Coeur d'Alene past a series of bays. Trls. lead to higher Mt. peaks (E). The L. itself, among wooded hills, is exceptionally lovely, variable in color & mood. Before reaching the mouth of the Coeur d'Alene R., hy. enters a long canyon where the celebrated wildflowers of Idaho are at their best. Just beyond, at 39m, is Harrison, once a lumbermill town, now a small resort. 47m St. Maries (RR. lines), on St. Joe R., which flows into the L. Boat trips available. Hy. cont. (S) through beautiful St. Joe Nat. For. (hqs. at St. Maries.f.h.recr.area. pic.camp.cabins), rejoining main tour at Potlatch (see below).

68. COEUR D'ALENE

U.P., Milwaukee & N.P. RRs. Airport. Bus. lines. Water Regatta (July). L. trips. Accomms. in city & vic. Inland Auto. Assoc. Tourist Bureau (O.wks.). Country Club Golf Course (O).

This lovely city, at head of L. & backed by high peaks, is a lumber town & growing commercial center in rich farm & dairying reg. It is known as the Gretna Green of the W., for hundreds of couples each yr., seeking to evade the stricter marriage laws of Wash., elope to Idaho. Also, because Idaho divorce laws are less stringent, many Washingtonians come to Coeur d'Alene to est. 6 wks.' residence & get a divorce. Hqs. of Coeur d'Alene Nat. For. (f.h.bath.boat.pic.camp.resorts). US10 from Coeur d'Alene to Wash. border, 4 lanes wide & paved with concrete, is regarded as the best in the St. & carries the heaviest traffic. 82. IDAHO-WASH. LINE.

US 30—IDAHO

IDAHO-WYO. LINE (55m from Kemmerer, Wyo.) (W) to IDAHO-ORE. LINE (23m from Huntington, Ore.). 472. US30N & US30

Via: Pocatello, American Falls, Massacre Rock, Rupert, Burley, Hanson, Twin Falls, Buhl, Hagerman, Bliss, Glenns Ferry, Mountain Home, Boise, Meridian, Nampa, Caldwell, New Plymouth, Payette & Weiser.

Probably 75% of those who visit Idaho travel the route of the Old Oregon Trl. To many thousands of visitors, the trip along the Oregon Trl. is Idaho. Although perhaps the least scenic & spectacular of the main tours, it gives a better idea of workaday Idaho than any other route. It passes through the heart of the Old Mormon settlements (Mormons were the 1st permanent white settlers), along trl. followed by uncounted thousands to the "Oregon country" in pre-railroad days, & through some of most fertile & productive agric. areas in the world.

Sec. 1: IDAHO-WYO. LINE to POCATELLO. 122. US30N

The trl. from the Wyo. Line lies through low hills covered with trees, through MONTPELIER, 22., one of the larger Mormon towns, past SODA SPRINGS, 52., where hot mineralized springs are extensively patronized by Idahoans in search of health, & on to LAVA HOT SPRINGS, 85., where the St. owns & operates polio foundation for Idaho victims.

122. POCATELLO

At J. of N-S & E-W main lines of U.P. RR. Bus. Airport (NW) 6m. Two excellent hotels. Recr. areas in vic. Mun. golf course in Ross Pk.

Pocatello, is Idaho's 2nd largest city & is hqs. of Idaho Div. of U.P. RR. Univ. of Idaho, Southern Branch, one of 4 degree-granting institutions in st. J. with US91-US191 (see).

Sec. 2: POCATELLO to BOISE. 268. US30N, US30

0. POCATELLO. 25. AMERICAN FALLS. Though it dates back some 50 yrs., the town is only c.23 yrs. old on its present site. The orig. town was purchased by the Gov. & its movable bldgs. transferred to higher ground in 1923-25, when the Reclamation Serv. built the giant Amer. Falls Reservoir. This impounds more than Greater New York's annual supply of water. It serves to supplement irrigation needs of the middle & lower Snake R. valley & also generates an inconceivable amount of power. In the turbulent waters below the dam, rainbow trout sometimes reach a weight of 35 lbs. The Snake R. has 3 major canyons in its progress across Idaho: The 1st is at the pt. where the Snake cuts its way through mts. along Wyo.-Idaho boundary. The 2nd, generally called Snake R. Gorge, parallels US30 for nearly 200m. The 3rd (see US95) is the fearsome chasm known as Hell's Canyon, or the Grand Canyon, the deepest on N. Amer. continent, extending from Huntington to Lewiston. The mid-canyon, or gorge, commences at American Falls, where it is of insignificant depth.

35. MASSACRE ROCK. Here the canyon widens & grows more shallow, so that hy. comes close to the R.—with ideal camping grounds on both sides. This was the undoing of a party of immigrants, who in Aug., 1862, outspanned their oxen & settled down for the night, close to water & good feed. Before morning they were all dead, massacred by Inds. On the flats around Massacre Rock can be seen the wheel marks of scores of immigrant wagons, some with sagebrush 3' high growing in the ruts. (It is not generally appreciated that the Oregon Trl. was not just a wagon rut, but a wide band of ruts covering maybe a 100-yd.-width of sagebrush.) From Massacre Rock the trl. follows a rather monotonous sagebrush plain, with little to recommend it except that fishing in the near-by Snake is superlative. 73. RUPERT, one of the principal towns of the Minidoka irrigation dist. & outpost of what Idahoans call the Magic Valley, one of the unbelievably fertile areas of farm land in the world. Rupert is shipping pt. for potatoes & sugar beets, with other smaller specialty crops. Crossing to the S. shore of Snake R., US30 enters BURLEY (hqs. of Minidoka Nat. For.), 79., a slightly larger town, but similar to other agric. centers of the tract. Large Potato-flour Mill. Rupert & Burley have distinction of being almost entirely lighted & heated by electricity from near-by Minidoka Dam. US30 leaves the lush irrigated farm lands, & plunges into another sagebrush desert. Along the Nev. border (S) rise the 10,000' peaks of the Cache Valley range. 115. HANSEN, in the midst of another rich agric. cty. At this pt. hy. swings close again to the middle gorge of Snake R. Two miles (N) of the village—shipping pt. for potatoes, dried beans, sugar beets, onion & celery—is what was once the highest suspension bridge in N. Amer. & still well worth seeing, though no longer used to any extent for trans-river traffic.

124. TWIN FALLS

U.P. RR. branch line. Bus. Airport (S) 5m. Good hotels.

Twin Falls, economic capital of this vast irrigated empire, is one of the half-dozen largest towns of the st. & probably the wealthiest per capita. J. with US93. Four miles (N) is a sight worth a brief side excursion—but, like most side trips in Idaho, it calls for a driver with clear head, steady nerve, stout heart & iron grip on the wheel. At the rim of the Snake R. canyon, the Rd. passes a tollgate & descends a precarious & steep grade into the canyon's depths. About halfway down the steep dirt grade, it actually passes behind the cascading waters of Perrine Coulee Falls. At the foot is a bridge that leads to Blue Lakes Ranch, privately owned; a vast fruit orchard on the shores of 2 Ls. of an indescribable shade of blue. These Ls. are fed by underground springs & disappear into crevices in the lava rock, only to reappear lower as Alpheus Cr. ("where Alph the sacred river ran, through caverns measureless to man") & finally plunges in a tempestuous foaming dive called "The Devil's Washboard." In the Ls. & stream, large rainbow trout swim lazily around, apparently knowing that the owner of the land has strictly barred fishing. Twin Falls—Jerome Bridge (N) on US93 (see).

142. BUHL, another thriving agric. town. A few miles (W), the Rd. begins a slow descent into the Snake gorge, which is not quite so precipitous here as elsewhere. Along this stretch of R., for c.4m on the N. side, are the lovely THOUSAND SPRINGS, gushing out in small cascades down the face of the cliff. Crossing again to N. side of R., US30 enters HAGERMAN VALLEY, locale of the cowboy classic, "Chip of the Flying U." This, one of the older settlements—though not so old as the Mormon country—is dotted with groves of stately Lombardy poplars. Waters around Upper & Lower Salmon Falls, now harnessed for power, once provided the Shoshone Inds. with much of their food. Whole reg. is still a favorite rendezvous for trout fishermen, particularly when the season is closed (either by weather or by law) in the mt. streams. Shortly beyond HAGERMAN, 164., is the MALAD R., said to be shortest R. for its volume in the U.S. It is only 3^m long but runs 3,000 cu. ft. per sec. R. is the same mysterious blue as are all the springs from Blue Ls. (W) & is extremely turbulent. It is much favored by more daring trout fishermen, some of whom have lost their lives in its violent currents. Hy. climbs out of the canyon to the hamlet of BLISS, 173., where it rejoins the U.P. RR. main line. From here the trip is over a rough, rolling lava-rock desert, with scattered patches of irrigated lands of no great importance. 195. GLENN'S FERRY is an important RR. div. pt. Near town, in the sand bluffs (R), are peculiar lava formations that can be carved out & used as building blocks. At Three Island Ford (S), the Old Oregon Trl. abandoned the S. bank & crossed over the Snake. Relics of the pioneers are constantly being dug out of the river bottom or turned up by plowmen in the fields. Here begins the long trek across the Snake R. desert. Now it is broken by a few oases, & modern paved Rds. make it a matter of a few hrs. to Boise. But in the days of the Oregon Trl. it was more than a wk.'s trip from Glenn's Ferry, & woe to the emigrant who failed to fill all his water barrels. The roadside is marked by numerous skeletons, mute testimony to thirst's ravages.

224. MOUNTAIN HOME. Here the venturesome tourist may turn (S) 40^m on a side trip to Bruneau Canyon, off St.51, one of the most remarkable gashes in the earth's surface. It ranges in depth from 1,200' to 2,000', & at almost any pt. a man can throw a baseball across it, but in all its 100^m there is only one place, it is said, where a man can cross it. A guide is needed, an old timer of the valley, for this wonder is not easily accessible. From Mountain Home, US30 stretches across a desert bounded (N) by the foothills of the Sawtooth Range & (S) by the 10,000' peaks of the Owyhee Mts., as barren as the desert. At the top of a low divide, the traveler sees in the distance the trees of Boise Valley, the trees, multiplied by 100 yrs.' growth, that led Capt. Bonneville's voyageurs to cry out in joy "les bois." The way now is downhill until the hy. crosses the "New York Canal" (which carries more water than all N.Y.'s aqueducts combined) & enters the irrigated fields of the valley. The Rd. still, however, is high above the R. bottom. Visible, about 10^m away, is the commanding dome of the St. Capitol. Just before the Rd. dips into the valley, it passes the magnificent U.P. RR. Sta. (1912.wings 1919-20.by Tourlette & Hummel) with its notable gardens, called the most beautiful sta. in the U.S.

U.P. RR. main line; transcont. & other bus lines. Airport. Good accoms. Winter sports. Hqs. of Boise Nat. For. Annual events: Music Wk. (May); Northwest Polo Tournament; W. Idaho Fair & Rodeo (Aug.). Info.: C. of C.

Boise (sett.1862), capital & largest city of Idaho, is also a great mining center & market for rich agric. & dairy reg. First Music Week in U.S. was observed in Boise (1919). US30 follows Capitol Blvd. past state bldgs., Mun. Art Gallery & beginnings of St. Hist. Mus. At the end is Gov. Place, which is flanked by the Capitol. City Hall, County Cth. & Fed. Bldg. PTS. OF INT.: (1) St. Capitol. St. Hist. Soc. Mus., in basement; excellent coll. of Ind. artifacts. On main fl. are illuminated pictures of agric. & lumber industry, incl. cross sec. of a giant pine more than 300 yrs. old; a display of St.'s mineral ores; & an illuminated map of Idaho, showing development of irrigation & power resources. On 2nd fl. is Wooden Statue of Geo. Washington, carved in 1863 from native ponderosa pine by Chas. Ostner, one of earliest Idaho pioneers. It is gilded with Idaho gold dust. On 4th fl. are exhibits of Idaho game & song birds & birds of prey. (2) Veterans' Hospital, regarded as one of finest in U.S.; set in beautiful lawns & groves at base of the foothills. (3) Julia Davis Pk., on Boise R. (4) Sunset Pk. (N) 9^m, at 6,000' alt. In vic. are caves, falls & placer mining grounds. J. with US20, St.15, St.44 & St.21.

SIDE TRIP: Or St.21 (E) & up Boise R. 24^m to Arrowrock Dam, one of largest irrigation dams, with splendid waterfall; 18^m-long reservoir.

Sec. 3: BOISE TO IDAHO-ORE. LINE. 82.

US20 & St.44 offer alternate routes (W), reuniting with US30 at 29^m (W) of Boise. US20 has no particular elements of int., nor has St.44 except that it is orig. route of the Oregon Trl.

10. MERIDIAN, one of the greatest dairying centers in the St. 20. NAMPA, important RR. center. Lakeview Pk.

SIDE TRIP: On St.45 (S) 31m to Ind. Pictograph, on N. shore of Snake R. just before reaching bridge. Pictograph, one of most remarkable ever found, has Rock Map of Snake R. valley & adj. areas.

29. CALDWELL, agric. processing center, seat of the College of Idaho & one of most devoted rose-growing centers. Mun. Rose Garden contains nearly 3,000 varieties, incl. a rose named for the late Dr. Wm. Judson Boone, Pres. of the College of Idaho & an enthusiastic rose-grower.

US30 unites here with US20 & St.44 coursing BLACK CANYON DESERT (now being irrigated). 54. NEW PLYMOUTH (bus.accoms.), in the heart of great fruit belt. New Plymouth was founded by group of Congregationalists & is laid out in form of a vast wheel, with concentric avenues intersected by streets radiating from center. 58. J. with US95, with which tour unites (N). 60. FRUITLAND. US30 turns (W) here across Snake R. into Oregon; & tour cont. (N) on US30N-US95 through country of orchards & dairy farms. 73. PAYETTE, fruit & dairy center; has Idaho's largest cannery, where peas, corn & beans are processed in great quantities. 82. WEISER (see US95), on Snake R., the IDAHO-ORE. LINE.

US 191—IDAHO

IDAHO-MONT. LINE (Targhee Pass, 8.5m from W. Yellowstone, Mont.) (S) to IDAHO-UTAH LINE (96m from Salt Lake City, Utah). 233. US191 & US191-US91
Via: Trude, Ashton, St. Anthony, (Crystal Falls), Rexburg, Rigby, Idaho Falls, Shelley, Blackfoot, Pocatello, Downey, Franklin. Paralleled by RR., bus & airline routes. Accom. of various types.

US91 is alternate route from Monida Pass, some miles (W), to Idaho Falls, where it unites with US191 as far as Downey (see below). It traverses highly uninteresting country, mostly desert. Bordering mts. are densely wooded, but there are few streams in the valley, ranches are far apart, & the towns little more than post office & store.

US191, united with US20, crosses beautiful country in the heart of TARGHEE NAT. FOR. (f.h.pic.&camp.cabins.ranches.protected moose herds.) & the TETON MTS., a fine resort area. 13. MACKS INN is favorite fishing & summer resort in the midst of the for. 15. TRUDE, regular hqs. for Union Pacific officials who come to fish & hunt elk & deer. All the way along this stretch, the Teton Mts. are visible (E), towering up 14,000'. 39. LOWER MESA FALLS of Snake R. may be approachable here, a beautiful cascade c.70' high. Upper Mesa Falls, much higher, can be reached by dirt Rd. (E). 68. ST. ANTHONY. Hqs. of Targhee Nat. For. In vic. are Idaho's Sand Dunes & Crystal Falls Cave. 75. J. with US20 Alt. which leads (E) & (S) through Teton Pass to Grand Teton Nat. Pk. (see Wyo.). 80. REXBURG, in most famous potato belt in Idaho, though the tuber is grown in Twin Falls & Boise regions as well. Rexburg is seat of Ricks College, a Mormon Jr. college.

109. IDAHO FALLS

On main (N-S) line of U.P. RR. & through (N-S) airlines. Good accoms. War Bonnet Roundup (Aug.). Info.: C. of C.

Idaho Falls, one of largest towns in Idaho, is center of million-a. irrigated area & trade & cultural center of upper Snake R. valley. Mormon Temple, one of 5 in the W. Large Potato Shipping Plant. In City Pk. is one of St.'s fine golf courses; also Zoo. Here US91 (see above) unites with US191.

136. BLACKFOOT. Site of Southern Idaho Mental Hospital. J. with US20.

SIDE TRIP: On US20 (E & S) 84m to Craters of the Moon Nat. Mon. Hy. passes Big Butte, 2,300' above valley, 7,000' above sea level; & Middle & East Buttes, 700' above valley floor. 62m Arco. J. with US93 Alt. (see), with which US20 unites (S) to Craters of the Moon, 84m, a vast burnt-out volcanic basin. It is believed the volcanoes were active as recently as 150 yrs. ago, & some imaginative souls say smoke & flame may still be observed at times in more secluded portions.

149. FORT HALL IND. RESERV. (1,970 pop.). Like all Idaho reservations save Duck Valley (off St.51 near Nevada line), it is now divided into ranches & is indistinguishable, except at the time of the Sun Dance (July), from any other settlement. 161. POCATELLO (see US30). US91 joins US30 (E) & then (S) across rich farmlands of Bear R. & the Cache valley, the special home of the sugar-beet industry. 200. DOWNEY. US91 forks (L) here.

SIDE TRIP: On US91 (S) 36^m to Idaho-Utah Line, at Franklin, oldest permanent white settlement in Idaho, founded by Mormons in 1860. Franklin Hall; hist. coll. US191 runs (S) from Downey through Caribou Nat. For. (f.h.pic.camp.cabins.hqs.at Pocatello).

220. MALAD CITY. 233. IDAHO-UTAH LINE.

IDAHO-MONT. LINE (47^m from Hamilton, Mont.) (S) to IDAHO-NEV. LINE (65^m from Wells, Nev.). 365. US93

Via: Gibbonsville, Salmon, Clayton, Stanley, Galena Summit, Ketchum, (Sun Valley), Hailey, Jerome & Twin Falls. One of St.'s most scenic routes. Accomms. limited except at resorts. Cabin camps in nat. fors.

0. GIBBONS PASS (6,995'), through which Lewis & Clark passed in 1805. Hy. crosses here the CONTINENTAL DIVIDE, whose majestic peaks watch over the old town of SALMON, 48., on Salmon R., which flows (N) through steep gorges. Hqs. for Salmon Nat. For. (f.h.boat.trips.pic.& camp grounds.cabins), incl. portion of Primitive Area (see). J. with St.28, which leads (SE) c.20^m past Birthpl. of Sacajawea (see); Fort Lemhi, where Mormons before Civil War tried to est. settlement; & Chief Tendoy Mon. Route (S) lies through beautiful Salmon & Challis Nat. Fors. (see Primitive Area). 107. Hy. forks here, & route follows R. fork (SW) along Salmon R.

SIDE TRIP: Take US93 Alt. (L. fork). Rd. goes down the valley through the Lost River range of the Salmon River Mts. Here are 5 of Idaho's loftiest peaks, incl. the highest, Mt. Borah (12,655'), & others of more spectacular beauty. In these mts. lives one of few surviving herds of pronghorns in U.S. 30^m Dickey (ranch Hs.). Rd. leads (SW) toward Trail Creek Summit, a breathtakingly beautiful route (calls for nerve & careful driving) to famed Sun Valley (see below), yr.-round resort, & 3^m beyond to J. with US93, considerable distance (N) of main J. (see below). 80^m Arco. Atomic Energy Commission plans (1949) to raise a great atomic reactor testing sta. on naval proving grounds here, to be built over period of yrs. Route swings (W) & enters the weird wonderland of Craters of the Moon, unlike any other area in U.S.; probably most recent volcanic eruptions in country. Among the 60 or more craters are some 1^m across. At 168^m is J. with US93, the main tour.

US93 follows Salmon R. (W) past peaks more than 10,000' high. 166. STANLEY. Near-by (N) is Stanley Recr. Area, in the heart of the Sawtooth Mts. On the (W), up the valley, the Sawtooth peaks march in all their grandeur, not so high but more impressive than the Lost River range (see above). In Primitive Area (E) are Salmon R. & White Cloud ranges. 199. Rd. climbs over GALENA SUMMIT (9,000'). Ahead are the giants of the Wood R. range. Most prominent are Galena, Boulder & Easley Mts. (W), all above 11,000' & huge in bulk. Boulder, at certain angles of the sun's rays, turns rose & green in color. 229. KETCHUM. Near-by (E) is Sun Valley, one of most popular Western resorts (see Side Trip above). US93 cont. down Wood R. valley. 241. HAILEY. Hqs. of Sawtooth Nat. For. (f.h.winter sports.pic.camp. cabins.dude ranches). 285. SHOSHONE, important sheep & wool producing center. J. with US93 Alt. (see above). 304. JEROME. Near here the Snake R. is arched by the Jerome-Twin Falls Bridge (476' above water level), one of country's finest cantilever bridges. 317. TWIN FALLS. J. with US30 (see). 365. IDAHO-NEV. LINE.

US 95—IDAHO

CANADIAN BORDER (Eastport, Idaho) (S) to IDAHO-ORE. LINE. (c.20^m N. of Jordan Valley, Ore.) 591. US95

Via: Bonners Ferry, Sandpoint, Athol, Coeur d'Alene, Plummer, Moscow, Lewiston, Winchester, Grangeville, Higgins, New Meadows, Cambridge & Weiser. Accomms. in towns. Camp sites. Bus lines along route.

US95, known to Idahoans as North & South Hy., has the distinction of being the longest &, with Oregon Trl., one of the most traveled Rds. in the st. (It extends from Canadian line (S) to Mexican border.)

Sec. 1: CANADIAN BOUNDARY to LEWISTON. 241.

0. EASTPORT. Rd. lies along Deep Creek Canyon, in the heart of Cabinet Mts. & in Kaniksuk Nat. For. (hqs. at Sandpoint.f.h.boat.swim.pack & saddle trls.pic.camp. cabins.resorts.). 30. J. with US2 (transcont.route from Me.), with which US95 unites for 3^m. 33. BONNERS FERRY, noted chiefly as home of highest protein-content wheat in U.S. Along the lowlands of Kootenai R. are rich wheat fields, protected from high water by dikes. 67. SANDPOINT (RR. & bus conns.), on the shores of L. Pend Oreille, one of the larger fresh-water Ls. in the U.S., with 125^m shoreline. Across an arm of the L. is Sandpoint Bridge, built entirely of wood & 2^m long. 93. ATHOL. Many Ls. & beaches in vic. At S. end of L. Pend Oreille, (E) 3^m from US95, is Farragut College & Technical Sch., in bldgs. of Farragut Naval Training Sta., maintained during World War II (2nd in size to Gt.Ls.Sta.). 112. J. with US10 (see US10 for description of US95 Alt.trip along W.side of L.). 114. COEUR D'ALENE (see US10). 149. PLUMMER, chief town of Coeur d'Alene Ind. Reserv., which is mostly divided into private holdings. In vic. (E) 9^m is Heyburn St. Pk. The land in the Pk. bordering on L. is largely given over to private cabins, but there are several smaller but beautiful Ls. in area (hotel.f.duck h.in season.boat.swim.). US95 enters the rolling, hilly Palouse country, noted for wheat, split peas, dried beans. 184. J. with US95 Alt., which runs (E) 2^m to the famed lumber town of Potlatch, drawing timber from the near-by St. Joe Nat. For. (hqs.in St. Maries.f.h.recrc.area. pic.camp.cabins). 203. MOSCOW, home of Univ. of Idaho, founded in 1892; beautiful campus. Hy. winds (S) across the Palouse Plateau to the brink of the Clearwater Canyon, where, if the traveler is fortunate enough to arrive just at dusk, is a view of Lewiston, 3rd largest of Idaho towns, stretching along the R. bottom 3,000' below. Excellent Rd. leads 10^m down to the bottom. (Nowhere is the grade greater than 5°.)

241. LEWISTON

RR. & bus conns. Airport. Accomms. Recr. facils. Excursions on Snake R. Cherry Blossom Festival (May). Lewiston Roundup (Sept.), one of largest in N.W. Info.: C. of C.

Lewiston, at an elevation of 700', is the lowest city in Idaho, picturesquely situated at N. exit of Hell's Canyon of the Snake. It is the home of the Northern Idaho College of Education, on attractive campus, & of the great Potlatch Forests, Inc., Lumber Mill, which handles most of the cut from Clearwater & Nez Perce Nat. Fors. Town was founded in 1861, after discovery of gold, on the site of the campground of Lewis & Clark in 1805 & 1806.

Sec. 2: LEWISTON to IDAHO-ORE. LINE. 350.

Here US95 gives access to the Blue & Wallowa Mts. reg. & Grand Canyon of the Snake R. The reg. incl. NE. cor. of Ore., SW. cor. of Wash. & Snake R. area along boundary bet. these states & Idaho. Main approaches are by US30 in Ore. (see Baker & La Grande, Ore.); US410 in Wash. (see); & US95 in Idaho. RR. & through bus lines roughly parallel routes. For. camps maintained by Nat. For. Serv. (see Nat. fors. below); few other accomms. except in towns on hy. Boat trips from Lewiston to within 20^m of mouth of Canyon. Horses for pack trips available at Cuprum (see below).

Area has some of most spectacular scenery in the country: the Snake R. Canyon, which rivals the Grand Canyon of the Colo. in grandeur, the gorges of Grande Ronde, Tucannon, Powder & Imnaha Rs. & the Anthony Ls. Recr. & Idaho Eagle Cap Wilderness areas. Mts. rise on Oregon side to height of 10,000', & on Idaho side to more than 9,000'. Incl. arc parts of Payette & Oregon's Umatilla, Whitman & Wallowa Nat. Fors. (excellent h.f.for.camps.). Most sensational part of Snake R. lies (S) of Hat Pt., Ore., a part of the stretch variously known as Hell's Canyon, Seven Devils Gorge & Grand Canyon. It varies in width from 4^m to 9^m. To the (E) are the Seven Devils Mts. (Idaho) & to (W.) are the Wallowa Mts. (Ore.). At one pt., near He Devil Peak (Idaho), Hell's Canyon is 7,900' deep, about 2,350' deeper than Grand Canyon of the Colorado. Most of the rock formations are vari-colored—yellow, red, orange & purple. The R. itself, in Hell's Canyon, is inaccessible to autos, but a number of viewpoints can be reached by road & short branching trls.

PRIMITIVE AREA—IDAHO

Can be entered by plane from McCall, by somewhat hazardous boat trip down Salmon R., or by pack trip from any outfitting pt. in season (July-Nov.). Info. at Salmon City, on the E., Stanley or Boise, on the S.; Cascade or McCall, on the W.

The Primitive Area was set up in 1937. Most of Idaho's mt. reg. is, in reality, an impenetrable primitive area, but this sec. was est. by law to be kept free from the works of man, save those installations absolutely necessary to protect timber against fire or trespass. No road, not even a crude two-rut trl., penetrates the vast wilderness of pine & cedar. Aside from one or two isolated ranches, est. before the area was created, & the few necessary ranger stas., no human habitation is permitted. Supplies go into the rangers by pack train. Anyone desiring to view the wonders of the area must obtain permission & then make a long, toilsome & expensive pack-train trip. The area abounds in big game, & most of it is open to hunters.

The Primitive Area embraces large portions of the Boise, Sawtooth & Challis nat. fors. within its more than 1,500,000 as. Central feature is the awesome canyon of the Middle Fork of Salmon R., which, though not so deep as the parent canyon, is in many respects more terrifying. The Middle Fork starts as a peaceful little stream in Bear Valley, at N. end of the Sawtooth range; then, after chuckling through miles of mt. meadows, suddenly starts a series of wild cascades into the gorge. It has been navigated, but it is not a venture for the faint-hearted, particularly as some of the worst water of the main Salmon R. lies ahead, beyond the mouth of the fork. Another nat. wonder is Rainbow Peak, which, in certain lights, turns pink, emerald green, brilliant yellow & deep blue. The W. escarpment of Castle Peak (11,500') is one of the most nearly sheer precipices (for 5,000') known to alpinists. It is quite easily scaled on the E. side.

Deep within the area are the Big Horn Crags, regarded as among the spectacular mt. views of the U.S. They are almost a wk.'s pack-train journey from the nearest auto road, & the journey itself has many perilous spots. These stupendous granite monoliths rise to heights of 3,000' & 4,000' above the valley floor, & their valley sides are as sheer as the walls of the Washington Mon. They can, however, be attempted from the plateau side, where they are neither so lofty nor so formidable.

NATIONAL FORESTS—IDAHO

There are 13 nat. fors. in Idaho. All are crossed by hys., but the visitor can see little of these areas because the Rds. are mostly dirt tracks designed purely for for. management purposes. To most travelers, these nat. fors. are great wooded hills, viewed from a distance of several miles across grassy savannahs. There are some delightful side trips to beauty spots in the heart of the hills, & the For. Serv. has done a great deal to make the camping spots attractive with stone fireplaces, rustic tables & benches, carefully rock-protected springs &, in some cases, a plentiful supply of firewood.

The Targhee, Sawtooth, Boise, Kaniksu, Coeur d'Alene & St. Joe fors. (hqs. respectively at St. Anthony, Hailey, Boise, Sandpoint, Coeur d'Alene & St. Maries) are perhaps the most intensively developed from a recr. standpoint. The Challis (Challis), Caribou (Pocatello), Minidoka (Burley), Payette (McCall) & Salmon (Salmon) fors. all fringe heavily traveled Rds. but, because of the rugged nature of the terrain, do not invite close inspection. The Nez Perce (Grangeville) & the Clearwater (Orofino) fors. are far off the beaten track. All these, however, have haunts attractive to native Idahoans with time & hill-knowledge to make use of their resources.

THE WEST COAST

GEOGRAPHY OF THE WEST COAST STATES

The three states bordering on the Pacific have three topographic features more or less in common: their coastline, the coastal range which backs it & extends for more than 2,000 miles from Canada to Mexico, & a mighty inland mt. range extending with few breaks from Canada into S. Cal.

The common coastal range crowds the beach pretty much throughout its course, making for an extremely picturesque shore line. Its ridges seldom rise above 4,000' except at its N. extremity where Wash.'s Olympic Mts. rise to altitudes of nearly 8,000' & in its S. terminus in Cal., where it breaks into a jumble of peaks, attaining 10,000' altitudes. The Columbia R.'s broad estuary makes a wide break at the Ore.-Wash. Line, & the rugged Siskiyou interrupt the mt. chain's continuity at the Cal.-Ore. Line, where they spread out in both states & connect the coastal range with the Cascades.

The mt. backbone, known as the Cascades in Ore. & Wash., & the High Sierra in Cal., is solidly continuous in the two N. states, where the only one real break is made by the Columbia R. But when the Cascades reach Mt. Shasta in N. Cal., there is a gap in the continuity until the High Sierra resumes the march S.

WASHINGTON & OREGON: These two states constitute a fairly complete topographic unit. The outstanding features are: Puget Sound in the N.; the seacoast & coastal range already referred to; an inland valley E. of the coastal range extending into S. Ore.; the mt. wall of the Cascades; the Columbia R. which cuts a deep swath from E. to W. & constitutes the boundary bet. the two states for some 400 miles; & the great inland plateau.

Puget Sound takes a big bite out of N. Wash. It is shaped like a "T" lying on its side. The stem of the "T" is San Juan de Fuca Strait, separating Wash. from Vancouver Island, Brit. Columbia. The "T's" crossbar is the Sound's E. arm which extends from Brit. Columbia in the N., to Olympia, Wash. in the S. It is along this E. arm that all of Wash.'s largest cities, with the exception of Spokane, are located.

E. of the coastal range lies a long broad valley which runs from S. Ore. right through to Olympia, Wash. where it is blocked off by Puget Sound. This valley, as well as the coastal range, has plenty of rainfall & consequently is extremely productive. In Ore. it is known as the Valley of the Willamette because Willamette R. winds through it to join the Columbia N. of Portland. Strung along through Willamette Valley are most of Ore.'s largest cities, reaching a N. climax in Portland's half-a-million.

E. of the valley rise the mighty Cascades, extending in a wide belt from Mt. Baker, just S. of Brit. Columbia to Mt. Shasta, to the S. of which the High Sierra carry on in Cal. There is only one real break in this mt. rampart, made by the Columbia's turbulent waters pouring through deep gorges on its way to the sea. The ridges of the Cascades, aside from this break, never drop below 3,000', even in the mt. passes, & are punctuated by a series of high pks, many of them of volcanic origin: Extending N.-S. are: Mt. Baker (10,750'), Glacier Peak (10,436'), Mt. Rainier (14,408') & Mt. Adams (12,307'), in Wash.; Mt. Hood (11,245'), Mt. Jefferson (10,495'), the Three Sisters (10,354'), the Crater Lake group (over 7,000') & McLoughlin (9,493'), in Ore. The Cascades skirt Puget Sound in the N., then run within view of the valley region to the W., all the way to Cal. where they take a last, sensational spurt in Mt. Shasta's 14,161'. In N. Wash., the relatively low Okanogan Highlands link the Cascades with the mts. of Idaho to the E., & the Siskiyou in S. Ore. & N. Cal. connect the Cascades with the coastal range to the W.

To the E. of the Cascades rampart extends a vast inland plateau which lies at a considerable altitude, sometimes above 5,000', & extends unbroken, except for a few mt. ranges, from the Okanogan Highlands through both states into the N. part of Cal. Because the Cascades' wall cuts off most of the moisture originating in the Pacific, the plateau is a fairly dry region, varying from the semi-aridity of S. Wash., to the 10-20" annual rainfall in N. Ore., & the desert of S. Ore. In Wash. the plateau has a special character because of the deep coulees scoured out by prehistoric rivers. The best known of these is the Grand Coulee, part of which is being utilized for water storage by the Columbia R. Project. With completion of this great undertaking, some 1,200,000 acres (more than twice the area of Mass.) will be brought under cultivation. Even before the Columbia R. Project was initiated, the region's aridity had already been considerably relieved by large irrigation works. The Columbia R. Project will also, by generation of tremendous amounts of power, bring about an industrial transformation, not only of the "Big Bend" region of the Columbia R., but also of the cities lying W. along the Columbia R. Improvement of navigation on the Columbia & Snake Rs. will furthermore make much of the area accessible to shipping. This plateau region of Wash. has been variously known as the "Inland Empire," because of its vast productive potentialities, & as the "Big Bend."

The northern part of the plateau in Ore. is deeply scarred by canyons of the Deschutes & John Day Rs. & their tributaries. This area has a fairly good rainfall which, nevertheless, wherever possible, has been supplemented by irrigation. The southern section of the plateau in Ore. is the "Ore. Desert," also known as the Lakes District, because of many lakes which are more often dry than water-filled & frequently alkaline. However, large irrigation undertakings—the Owyhee-Vale project in the Ontario district, the Klamath Falls project to the SW. & others—have here too brought great areas under cultivation.

Pushing into the great plateau in the SE. corner of Wash. & the NE. corner of Ore. is the wedge of the scenically fine Blue-Wallowa Mts. area, bounded on the E. by the Grand Canyon of the Snake R. & cut through by the lateral canyons of the Grande Ronde & Powder Rs., & other streams emptying into the Snake. This is a region of high mts. c.10,000' in alt., of fine forests, beautiful lakes, & sensational gorges, climaxing in the Grand Canyon of the Snake R. which rivals in magnificence the Grand Canyon of Colorado. The Walla Walla Valley which extends W. in this region to the Columbia R. is fertile & watered by many streams.

RIVER SYSTEMS: The Columbia is the main stream of the region & into it a great part of the watersheds of these two states drain. The Columbia runs S. from Brit. Columbia to the N. part of the great plateau, then turns abruptly W. to the edge of the Cascades, where it turns again in a southerly direction to a point near the Ore. Line. Here it again takes a W. course & is the boundary between Ore. & Wash., flowing through deep gorges & finally into the Pacific. The Columbia's chief tributary is the Snake which, at the Idaho Line, turns W. & flows through S. Wash. to join the Columbia near the city of Pasco. A less important tributary in E. Wash. is the Spokane, which takes off at the Idaho boundary, near Spokane, & twists westward to join the Columbia, not far from the Grand Coulee.

Much of the eastern watershed of the Cascades is also tributary to the Columbia. The streams in Wash. drain directly off the steep mt. slopes into the great R. or into the Okanogan, which itself is a tributary. In Ore., the Deschutes collects the waters that flow down the eastern slopes of the Cascades & delivers them into the Columbia. Only some of the smaller Rs. in the southern Ore. region of the Cascades take an independent course.

The western watershed of the Cascades belongs only in part to the Columbia system. In N. & central Wash., the drainage flows directly into Puget Sound. In S. Wash., the Cowlitz R. collects much of the water from the Cascades & delivers it into the Columbia near Kelso. In N. & central Ore. the Willamette delivers the drainage from the western side of the Cascades into the Columbia just N. of Portland. But in S. Ore., the Rogue, Umpqua & other smaller streams having their source in the Cascades, break through the coastal range & empty directly into the Pacific.

The coastal range has its own separate watershed, consisting, for the most part, of smaller streams finding their outlet in the Pacific.

Vast forests originally clothed all the mt. areas of the two states. Even considerable portions of the valley W. of the Cascades were heavily forested & pioneers found the job of land-clearing so arduous that they often left tree stumps standing in the streets, long after the first houses of their cities had been built. Frenzied lumbering operations have to a great extent depleted the originally available lumber. Both World Wars greatly speeded up this destructive process. It now is reliably stated that replacement by new growth is far below the annual cut. Unless more rational lumbering techniques are employed, the last great forest wealth of the country will soon be exhausted. During the final quarter of the 19th century & the first part of the 20th, considerable acreages of the best forest land, publicly owned, were acquired by private interests through political maneuvers & even by simple fraud. Some of these frauds finally were uncovered & became a nation-wide scandal. Fortunately, however, millions of acres have remained in the national forests, which are precluded from reckless private exploitation & so constitute a great timber reserve.

CALIFORNIA, second largest state in U.S., has a more or less longitudinal topography. It is about 780 miles long & its width varies from 150 to 350 miles. Its coastline, approximately 1,200 miles long, equals the combined Pacific frontage of Ore. & Wash. The state's S. coast has a pronounced eastward curve, so that San Diego lies farther E. than Reno, Nev., while its northernmost port of Eureka claims to be the most western city of the U.S.

The chief geographic divisions are the Coastal Range, the Great Central Valley, the High Sierra, the Mojave & Colorado Deserts & the Los Angeles Basin.

The Coastal Range extends along the entire coastline, except for a short distance in the extreme S., where it drops to the desert just N. of Mexico. The only considerable break in the range occurs at San Francisco. Here a gap gives access to the great Central Valley. Clustered around the mouth of this break-through are S.F. & the S.F. Bay cities, a metropolitan area in which live more than 2,000,000 Californians. In the SW. cor. of the state, the coastal range spreads out into a series of high ridges, turning somewhat eastward. Between these & the ocean lies the wedge-shaped coastal plain of the L.A. Basin, a metropolitan district whose more than 4,000,000 inhabitants live in an area scarcely 140 miles long & not half as wide.

The great Central Valley is shut in on the W. by the coastal range & on the E. by the tremendous, almost unbroken rampart of the High Sierra. The valley, which produces much of the agricultural wealth of the state, is dominated by Mt. Shasta at its N. end, & extends some 400 miles S. to the Tehachapi line, where the Sierra ridges turn westward toward the coast. It is watered by the Sacramento R. flowing S. from the vic. of Mt. Shasta, & the San Joaquin flowing N. Both Rs. debouch through a gap in the coastal range into Suisun Bay, of the S.F. area. Irrigation, on the one hand, & draining & ditching, on the other, have transformed the valley into a vast garden region.

The High Sierra, sometimes called a S. extension of the Cascades, interposes an almost unbroken mt. wall between the central valley & the arid mt. & desert region that extends E. into Nev. Toward its S. end, the Sierra drops to lower altitudes at Tehachapi Pass where it swings W. In its highest section, the Sierra is marked by lofty mts. towering above precipitous gorges & canyons. Forty-one peaks, between L. Tahoe & Mt. Whitney, exceed 10,000', with Mt. Whitney, highest in the continental U.S., attaining 14,491'. Passes cutting through between the high peaks range from 9,000' to more than 12,000' in altitude. The Sierra region includes some of the finest scenery & recreation areas in the state: lovely L. Tahoe, Yosemite, Kings Canyon & Sequoia Nat. Pks., & the Kern R. Canyon. Within the Sierra region is the old mining district of the Mother Lode, extending N. & S. along the Sierra foothills; it yielded fabulous treasure & is still producing, although chiefly interesting today for its ghost towns.

Between the Sierra & the state of Nev. lies Owens Valley, enclosed by granite walls, & to the SE., ringed in by high ranges, is Death Valley, scooped out of the desert to a depth of some 270' below sea level.

In S. & SE. Cal., are the Mojave & Colorado deserts, shut off from the L.A. Basin by high coastal ridges. The Mojave is an expanse of ancient dried lake beds, rugged ranges & widespread sand valleys. Much of it lies at a considerable altitude. On the other hand, parts of the Colorado Desert lie below sea level, almost as much below it as the lowest parts of Death Valley. The Imperial Valley is a large oasis reclaimed by water supplied by the Colorado R. Salton Sea, created by a vagary of the R., spreads out in the bed of ancient Lake Coachella, which in pre-historic times covered a large part of what is now Colorado desert.

Aside from the watersheds of the San Joaquin & Sacramento Rs., which drain the W. watersheds of the Sierra into S.F. Bay, & are navigable respectively to Sacramento & Stockton, the chief watershed is that of the coastal range, flowing directly into the Pacific. In the south, the coastal streams are of less importance; many of them are intermittently dry, coming to life only during spring floods.

There are two groups of islands off the Cal. Coast: the Santa Barbara Islands extending from Santa Barbara almost to San Diego, of which the best known is Santa Catalina, off Long Beach, & the Farallones, a group of small, barren islands lying offshore from S.F.

NOTES ON THE HISTORY OF THE WEST COAST STATES

The American frontier, which had been advancing slowly by land, traveling from the East Coast to the Mississippi Valley, in 1849 made a sudden leap across the Rockies. The tide of emigration, with the discovery of gold in California, circled the Horn & poured into San Francisco for the mad rush to the gold fields. Many other seekers for Eldorado threaded their weary way from St. Louis, across desert & through the snow-bound mountain fastness of the high Sierra, in which many of them lost their lives, into the valley of promise.

California's development has been largely colored by the gold & silver rush booms—first along the American River where John Marshall discovered the precious metal, then along the famous Mother Lode, & then in the Nevada Comstock area. The lawlessness & free-shooting mentality which ruled in the mining towns communicated itself to the financial & railroad interests & was injected into state & municipal politics; in these fields it assumed less free-shooting but equally extra-legal forms.

The emigration to Southern California, that little mountain & sea-locked oasis of metropolitan Los Angeles, came somewhat later, & was largely a land-boom phenomenon, not less sensational, however, in periodic booms & busts.

Settlement of Oregon & Washington likewise represented a jump of the frontier across the Rockies, but the attracting features were the rich agricultural land of the Willamette Valley to which the Easterners migrated over the Oregon Trail, the salmon fisheries of the Columbia, its tributaries & Puget Sound, & finally the seemingly inexhaustible lumber resources of the forests of the Western Cascade Mountains. The history of these two states is less punctuated with sensational booms & busts, less notable for lawlessness tamed periodically by vigilante committees, & less notable for political lawlessness.

Exploration of the Pacific Coast began in the 16th century. Juan Rodríguez Cabrillo, a Portuguese navigator, was sent in 1542 by Antonio Mendoza, Cortez' successor in Mexico, to explore the California Coast. Cabrillo sailed beyond the Golden Gate. He died before the voyage was ended & was buried on one of the Santa Barbara Islands. His successor in command, Ferrelo, sailed north, probably as far as Cape Mendocino. Francis Drake, in the "Golden Hinde," landed (1579) near San Francisco Bay & claimed that "faire" region for Queen Elizabeth. The Spanish voyages of discovery continued but, by some fatality, always missed the great bay where San Francisco crowds down to the ocean front.

Meanwhile, continued attempts had been made to find a northwest passage to the Atlantic. A Greek navigator, Juan de Fuca, is alleged to have discovered the entrance to Puget Sound as early as 1592. Bruno Heceta anchored between the capes of the Columbia in 1775 without, however, suspecting the existence of that great waterway. Before that date, a Dane, Vitus Behring, had begun exploration in 1734 of the Alaska coast for Catherine the Great. He also believed that there was a northwest passage to the Atlantic. His voyages established Russia's claim to Alaska & much of the coastal region to the south. There followed a number of Spanish and Portuguese expeditions.

By the end of the 18th century, the British began to take an interest in the Northwest. The renowned Captain Cook, discoverer of islands in the SW. Pacific, looked for Juan de Fuca Strait in 1776, but failed to find it. In 1788 another British sea-captain, Berkeley, found the strait & named it for Juan de Fuca. Americans arrived in 1789 & explored Puget Sound, circumnavigating Vancouver Island. The name Oregon was given the region by an American, Captain Carver, & immortalized in Bryant's "Thanatopsis" with the line: "Where rolls the Oregon and hears no sound." About the same time, the Britisher, Vancouver, & his lieutenant, Broughton, explored Puget Sound & the Columbia. On these early American & British explorations were later based conflicting claims to the Oregon region of Britain & the U.S.

The first Spanish settlement of California was delayed until 1769. In that year an expedition started out by sea & land from Loreto in lower California. It was accompanied by Franciscan Friars led by Fray Junípero Serra. Shortly a mission & presidio were established at San Diego. Gaspar de Portolá, one of the leaders of the expedition, continued northward in search of a good harbor, actually getting as far as San Francisco Bay, which some members of the party sighted; but he returned to San Diego & reported that his quest had failed. Soon after, however, a mission was established at Monterey. In the next years the Franciscans founded a string of missions in the coastal region all the way to the San Francisco peninsula & even beyond. To protect the missions, presidios were usually established with garrisons. These presidios were the kernels of future cities.

The padres devoted themselves to converting & civilizing the Indians. They had some 20,000 under their care when their work was at its height. But death from disease & flight from confining conditions in the missions constantly reduced the number of converts. On occasion the Indians revolted & destroyed the mission settlements. After Mexico gained independence, in 1821, hostility to the Franciscans became increasingly strong until, in 1833-34, the secularization laws were enacted, which brought about the rapid decline of the missions. But the Indians benefited little by the change. They were reduced to peonage by the Spanish & Mexicans, & when the Americans annexed California, in 1846, their lot did not improve. They were driven from their lands, exploited by various means—force, trickery & whiskey—in the labor market. In 1770 it is estimated there were 133,000 Indians in the state; by 1852 their number had decreased to 85,000. Several small-scale wars had to be fought to get most of the Indians to reservations. Today there are not more than 32,000 survivors.

After Mexico won independence, California was set up as a separate territory. Several attempts were made by the "Californios" to establish Alta California as an independent entity. Meanwhile "Yankees" began to infiltrate the region. Although the Spanish government had imposed an embargo, Yankee ships, even before 1821, had begun to trade along the coast. Under the Mexican regime, Americans were welcomed & many of them married Mexican & Spanish women, acquiring large ranches to which their wives fell heir.

As early as the 1830's the U.S. government became interested in the West Coast. President Andrew Jackson offered to buy California from Mexico but his proposition was turned down. By 1844 Captain Frémont had arrived in the southern part of the state, allegedly on a scientific & exploratory mission for the American government. The Mexicans eventually became suspicious of his activities & ordered him out of the region in 1846. But soon afterward, war was declared between the two countries & Frémont took an active part, together with Commodore Stockton, who arrived by sea, & Col. Kearney, who came overland, in winning California for the U.S.

The history of the white man in the Oregon-Washington region began somewhat later than in California. British trading companies, which eventually were all consolidated in the Hudson's Bay Co., began operations there in the late 18th & early 19th centuries. President Thomas Jefferson, foreseeing the great future of the Northwest, in 1804 sent out the Lewis & Clark expedition which reached the mouth of the Columbia River in 1805, thus establishing another source for American claims to the region. But the Hudson's Bay Co.'s control continued to grow. John Jacob Astor's expedition, which went by sea & land to Astoria in 1811, produced few results because the War of 1812 intervened & forced Astor to sell out to the British company. Under Dr. John McLoughlin's leadership, the Hudson's Bay Co. built forts along the north side of the Columbia which the British hoped would be the final boundary with the U.S. The Company was less interested in settling the land than in the fur trade, which at first they exploited through individual traders traveling into the back country, but eventually by regularly organized expeditions. When the inevitable tide of immigration set in from the U.S., the Company's restricted activities were swamped.

The vanguard of the American invasion was led by Protestant missionaries.

Strangely enough, the Indians who were to suffer most from the influx of settlers were instrumental in inducing the first missionaries to come in. In 1831 the Nez Percé & the Flatheads sent a delegation to St. Louis asking for missionaries to come & teach them the religion of the great white God. Jason Lee & a party of missionaries answered the call about 1834, & in company with a band of settlers, set out for the Oregon territory. They established a mission in the Willamette Valley, near present-day Salem. Soon afterwards, Dr. Marcus Whitman's party established itself at Waiilatpu, in the Wallowa R. valley, & shortly, Eells & Walker set up a mission at Tshimiakin in the Spokane region. None of the missions were very successful in converting the Indians. Lee's efforts soon turned to educational work for white settlers. The Tshimiakin mission was abandoned after the missionaries admitted that they had not succeeded in making a single Indian convert. The Whitman establishment, most ambitious of all the missions, was wiped out by the Cayuse Indians in 1847.

Meanwhile, however, the tide of migration from the East had been setting in. It was directed at first to the Willamette Valley & came along the old Oregon trail which followed the Columbia River, although some of the newcomers drifted in from California. As early as 1838 settlers began petitioning Congress to take action to establish American sovereignty over the Oregon region. In May 1843 a memorable meeting was called together at Champoege, Oregon, which set up a provisional government in opposition to the Hudson's Bay Co. Finally, after much talk of a shooting war whose American slogan was "54-40 or fight," the U.S. boundary was fixed (1846).

Congress was slow to admit Oregon to the Union as a territory. This was due to the current antagonism of the slave states to admission of more "free" regions, although Calhoun was for admission, the South having been compensated by the annexation of Texas. Daniel Webster expressed the opinion during the course of the controversy that the Northwest would be an absolutely worthless acquisition. In 1848 the Oregon Territory was finally set up.

Meanwhile pioneers had moved north into what is today Washington, & settled in the western valley & at Puget Sound in the vicinity of present-day Olympia, Tacoma & Seattle. In 1851 a convention met at Cowlitz Landing to draft a constitution & demand that Washington be set up as a separate territory. The next year this demand was reiterated at the Monticello Convention. Congress acceded in 1853, creating the territory of Washington.

Oregon & Washington had at least six Indian wars, one of them with the coastal Indians, the others with the inland aborigines: the Cayuse War, to punish the Cayuse for the Whitman massacre, & the Yakima, Spokane, Modoc & Nez Percé conflicts. Treaties were made with the various Indian tribes, which Congress failed to ratify promptly or at all & which were really only notice to the Indians that the white man was going to drive them from their homes. Eventually, as in California, the Indians were removed to reservations.

The year 1848 proved a turning point in California history. That was the year that James Wilson Marshall, a carpenter employed by John Sutter (a Swiss immigrant who had carved out a little empire of his own in the central part of the state, which he called New Helvetia), discovered gold on the South Fork of the American River near Coloma. Although there already had been a considerable flood of immigration, following the Mexican War, this was nothing to the tide that set in when news of the discovery reached the East. By 1850 California's population had jumped from 15,000 to 92,000. Gold-rush towns sprang up overnight, fantastically named—Get-Up-&-Git, Red Dog, Lazy Man's Canyon, & so forth, with the inevitable complement of gambling, drinking, fandango dance-halls & lawlessness, eventually tempered by summary vigilante justice. San Francisco became the center of the gold-rush hysteria & boasted that it was the wickedest city in the world, a claim, however, disputed by other towns. Over a thousand murders were committed in the Bay City between 1849 & 1856. Gangs of lawbreakers ruled the roost, but were finally put down by vigilantes.

After 1859 the big boom collapsed & many miners turned to the land where they "squatted" & were protected against the rightful owners by the government. In the period preceding the Civil War there was a bitter struggle between the pro- & anti-slavery factions. But Lincoln carried the state, albeit by the narrow margin of a thousand votes.

After the Civil War another boom set in, connected with the Comstock Lode's rich mines in Nevada. This was an era of violent speculation which ended with the collapse of the Bank of California in 1875 & a severe panic. It was also the era of violent anti-Chinese agitation. Not only California but also Oregon & Washington staged riots against this element of the population. There was considerable unemployment & the flooding of the labor market by the Chinese, after the completion of the great transcontinental railroad lines on which they had worked, gave rise to anti-Chinese feeling. The passage of the Chinese Exclusion Acts of the 1880's ended this racial conflict.

The bitterest political fight in California developed out of the domination by the Southern Pacific RR. of the state's politics & economy. This fight was not ended until the first decade of the 20th century, when the opposition, led by Fremont Older, Hiram Johnson & others, introduced reforms curbing the power of the Southern Pacific & other great corporations. About the same time San Francisco's corrupt municipal government was cleaned up & a reform administration installed, Los Angeles had a somewhat similar reform wave.

World War I ushered in an era of dizzy expansion & boom. By 1930 the state's population had reached 5,677,251, a 65 percent increase in a decade. When the bubble burst, it brought in its train suicides of many of the most prominent speculators who had rated as millionaires only a short time before. Another phenomenon of the "bust" period were the radical movements which mushroomed up almost overnight (see Los Angeles). The drought, which during the 30's created the "dust-bowl" in the Plains States, brought a considerable migration of displaced farmers who were known as "Okies" because many of them came from Oklahoma. This added to the problems of a region already in the throes of depression & great unemployment.

Southern California, semi-urban in character, including the Los Angeles metropolitan area with its 4,000,000 inhabitants, had its own peculiar evolution: Irrigation made intensive cultivation, particularly of citrus fruits, possible; great oil deposits & cheap electric power brought a rapid industrial expansion; shipping & commerce were attracted by two excellent harbors—San Diego, one of the country's best natural ports, & San Pedro (L.A.), a great, man-made terminal; a sunny sub-tropical climate brought the movies to Hollywood &, together with recreational resources of the mountains, the sea shore &, more recently, of fashionable desert oases, accounted for the migration to S. California of hundreds of thousands of visitors as well as permanent residents. This L.A. metropolitan area was always a separate little world to itself, so much so indeed, that for many years it wished to break away from northern part of the state, alleging unfair discrimination. Today, the balance of population having shifted, the L.A. region is in a position to hold its own against the north.

Oregon & Washington developed more slowly than California. There were fewer "gold-rushes." The region's prosperity has been largely dependent on lumber, of which it still has the nation's greatest reserves, fisheries, & agriculture stimulated by great irrigation projects, of which the Columbia River project is the most recent & the greatest. Many of the region's industries are connected either with the processing of lumber, agricultural products, fish packing or mining. The two World Wars stimulated shipbuilding & industries connected with non-ferrous metals.

The tide of immigration continued along the old Oregon trail & the new road built by Sam Barlow through northern Oregon. Immigration into Washington from the south had to move up by boat on the Cowlitz River & then by swampy trail to Puget Sound. Finally a good highway over which stagecoaches drove was completed from the Columbia River to Olympia. In the 1870's the enterprising citizens of Seattle pushed a road across Stevens Pass in the Cascades. But the coming of the railroads, up from the south, to Tacoma, along the Columbia River, & last, over the Cascades, brought the greatest stream of immigrants. The population of the Willamette & Puget Sound cities doubled & trebled in a matter of decades. Discovery of gold in Alaska contributed to the expansion of the Puget Sound communities, especially Seattle, which has enjoyed a quasi-monopoly of the Alaska trade.

Both states have had local reform movements. Washington has experimented with radical legislation in various fields, a minimum wage law, the initiative & referendum, etc. Many of its cities have tried municipal ownership of public utilities, with considerable success. Seattle is at the present time engaged in the completion of a huge hydroelectric project on the Skagit River in the northern part of the state.

World War II brought to California another boom period which rests, perhaps, on more solid foundations. The great industries developed here during the last ten years will doubtless prove to be a permanent & continuing phenomenon. In this development Oregon & Washington have shared. The whole West Coast seems to have moved toward industrialization on a great scale. In the two northern states it is based on the region's mineral & lumber resources & exploitation of its vast hydroelectric possibilities. The population of California is reported to have increased to over 13,000,000. In the northern states, while growth has been less sensational, it has nevertheless been considerable.

The labor history of the West Coast has been turbulent. San Francisco (see) was always the center of union organization in California. Los Angeles (see) was the heart & center of employers' opposition to union organization. Under leadership of Harrison Gray Otis, the employers' association managed to keep Los Angeles a "white city," free of unions, for nearly three decades.

The situation of the seasonal workers on the great vegetable & fruit ranches of California's Central Valley was deplorable with respect to wages, hours & working conditions. The ranch owners formed a tight organization to keep things as they were & prevent union organization. Some serious clashes, leading to bloodshed, occurred. The I.W.W. took a part in the attempt to better the seasonal workers' lot. Up in Washington similar conflicts occurred. Even today, the problem of the seasonal worker remains unsolved.

During World War I, & after it, the I.W.W. played a large role in procuring better conditions in lumber camps & mills. The organization's influence declined due to its advocacy of violence & revolution & the reaction which set in after the war. Since enactment of the N.R.A. & the Wagner Act, union organization has advanced as rapidly on the west coast, as elsewhere. Today west coast labor is about equally divided between C.I.O. & A.F. of L.

Except in San Francisco, there has been nothing that might be called a regional development of the arts on the West Coast. The great Bay City in the post-Civil War period & the early 20th cent. attracted national & even international attention by its catalogue of eminent writers—Mark Twain, Bret Harte, Gertrude Atherton, Ambrose Bierce, Frank Norris, to mention only a few—who either were born in California or whose writings dealt with the life of the region. The graphic & plastic arts of San Francisco on the other hand, while they developed a school fairly independent of N.Y. influence, were less rooted in the soil & generally followed European traditions. Today the city still has a group of artists comparatively free of the dictatorship of the eastern metropolis (see S.F.).

Hollywood, of course, is the center of what has been called the youngest of the arts—the movies, which attracts to S. California thousands of writers, artists, designers, composers & musicians. But out of this great concentration of creative talent, no distinctive movement in the arts has developed. Most of the writers, particularly, seem to have to return to their original habitats when they wish to resume creative work (aside from what they contribute to the movies).

Architecture has found some locally characteristic expression, as in the "bungalow court" developed to a certain extent out of the favoring factors of the climate. Frank Lloyd Wright & others have designed many int. & orig. California homes. But outstanding are the great public works, the Shasta, Columbia R. & Skagit R. dams, which, although utilitarian in character—or perhaps because of that very fact—are among the most impressive structures in the country.

Davenport & Monterey, San Luis Obispo & Las Cruces. Good Rd. Accoms.: In resorts & larger centers. Bus Conns.: Santa Cruz, Watsonville, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Las Cruces.

St. 1 hugs coast line fairly closely. Country along this route is sparsely populated, but hy. affords fine coastal scenery. During good part of its course it is crowded to edge of sea by mts. At times it climbs mt. heights, giving magnificent views of pounding surf below, & at times roadbed is literally hacked out of cliffs overhanging sea. This, in general, was route taken by Don Gaspar de Portolá in 1769 when he came up from San Diego searching for a good harbor. After almost 4 months of weary marching, members of his party discovered San Francisco Bay, but Portolá never saw it & returned to report that search had ended in failure.

This settlement, across R. from mission, was named Branciforte after Mex. Viceroy, Marquis de Branciforte. In 1818, Hippolyte de Bouchard, Buenos Aires privateer, sacked Monterey, & padres fled to Misión Santa Clara. Santa Cruz Mission, secularized in 1834, soon fell into decay. But during Amer. regime, city around mission plaza developed as busy shipping center, while Branciforte remained much as it always was. It is recorded that as late as 1867, bullfights still took place in old village. Reproduction of Misión de Santa Cruz (O.fee), on Emmet St., was built in 1931, near site of old structure, destroyed by earthquake, 1857. It houses int. relics. On hill behind mission is ancient Graveyard. Monterey (1770) is located on peninsula at S. end of Monterey Bay, flanked (E) by Santa Lucia Mts. Indigenous Monterey cypress & Monterey pine grow along shoreline. City is center of famous resort & residential reg., with Pacific Grove & Carmel-by-the-Sea as its close neighbors. Bay was visited by Vizcaino in 1602. Gaspar de Portolá's expedition decided on site of Monterey as most desirable for presidio in Alta Cal. City was founded by Franciscan friars, who est. their Misión de San Carlos de Monterey, 2nd of Cal. chain, here, but later moved it to Carmel Valley (see below). In 1775, new settlement became capital of Alta Cal. In 1818 Hippolyte de Bouchard, Fr. pirate, pillaged town. In 1836, Juan Bautista Alvarado captured it after firing only one shot. Under Amer. rule, city became market center of rich agric. dist. & important port for fishing fleets. Leading industries today are fishing & fish packing. Although pop. consists largely of native-born Americans—some of them paisanos, descendants of original settlers (see Steinbeck's "Tortilla Flat")—Mexicans, Italians, Portuguese & orientals add color to street scene. Monterey, by beauty of its situation & charm of its old Sp. setting, has attracted many writers & artists to become residents. Rbt. Louis Stevenson was perhaps most famous visitor. Older bldgs. in city are adobe, built in fine old Mex.-Sp. style. Since Amer. occupation, distinctive type of architecture, known as "Monterey," blending of Sp. & Amer. features, has been developed.

It is largely work of Ind. laborers & beautifully illustrates native primitive art. In upper gable of ornate façade is statue of Our Lady of Guadalupe. Stations of the Cross are originals, brought by Serra himself. Statue of Our Lady of Sorrows in sacristy is as old as Ch. Every Sept. San Jose (locally pronounced san-o-zay), is near S. end of S.F. Bay, in fertile Santa Clara Valley, bet. mt. ranges. Guadalupe & Coyote Rs. (dry great part of yr.) cut through city. Santa Clara (NW) is physically (although not administratively) part of San Jose. The Alameda, a broad ave., connects them. City was founded 1777, as San José de Guadalupe. In Mex. days, bull & bear fights were popular. San Jose's real expansion dates from tide of immigration in 1840's. In 1849 it became state capital, with accompanying celebrations & considerable conviviality.

but kept this distinction only until 1851. After collapse of gold-rush boom, town developed as market center of valley's fruit farms. Today it is one of largest canning & dried-fruit packing cities of world.

Santa Barbara lies on slopes of Santa Ynez Mts. & is one of most charming of Cal.'s residential cities. Dominant architectural style is Sp. Its water front is largely devoted to bath. & recr. Present site of city was 1st visited in 1542 by navigator, Cabrillo. In 1603 Vizcaino named reg. Santa Barbara. City was founded by Capt. José Ortega in 1782, & Franciscan Fathers est. Misión de Santa Barbara soon after. In 1820's, after Mexico's liberation from Spain, exchange of ranch products for goods brought by Yankees developed on considerable scale. In 1846 Lt. Col. John C. Frémont occupied city. Three weeks later it was ceded, with rest of Cal., to U.S. From this time on, town prospered greatly as cattle raising center. But drought of 1864 killed off most cattle & ended this source of prosperity. In more recent times Santa Barbara has developed as tourist & wealthy residential community.

124. SAN DIEGO

Through RR., bus, & plane conns. Ferry: Coronado Ferry Slip, S. end Pacific Blvd. For bay tours covering harbor, Star & Crescent Pier, (W) end Broadway. Accomms: Ample, all types. Info.: C. of C., 499 W. Broadway. Swim.: Municipal Pool, Texas & Upas Sts.; Mission Beach Pool; Pacific Beach, La Jolla, North & South Beaches, Coronado. Boat.: Sailboats & rowboats, Mission Bay; Coronado Yacht Club, Glorietta Bay. Fish.: Surf, pier, & barge; deep-sea & fresh-water lakes in back country.

San Diego, Cal.'s oldest Sp. settlement (1769) & today its 4th largest city, lies at the extreme SW. cor. of the U.S., spreading over seashore, canyon & mesa around fine landlocked harbor with bustling maritime traffic of yachts, fishing craft, Naval vessels & freight steamers. Its year-round equable climate & its pleasantly rolling seaside setting attract tourists & draw as permanent residents huge numbers of retired elderly people. But San Diego is also hqs. of U.S. 11th Naval Dist.; it is home port of huge fishing fleet, & cans 65 percent of Nation's tuna fish; & it has boomed in recent years as industrial center, particularly in aircraft manufacture. Since beginning of century, local struggle has gone on bet. those who want to keep it a residential city & those who want to promote its industrial development. During World War II, it expanded tremendously & war workers strained housing facilities. Nevertheless, San Diego retains much of its traditional leisurely, easygoing air. City is bisected by Broadway, along which cluster skyscraper office bldgs., running (W) to piers & docks on bay shore. N. of Broadway spreads green stretch of Balboa Pk. (1,400 as.) bordered by handsome residential neighborhoods. Bet. Balboa Pk. & bay (W), along which are fish canneries & aircraft plants, is sec. known as Middletown; & NW. of latter lies Old Town, with adobe bldgs. around ancient Plaza where city's hist. began. Below Old Town, Point Loma, 7m long, extends (S) sheltering the bay. S. of Broadway are: Tenderloin area, patronized by sailors; wholesale & manufacturing sec.; & city's Mex. & Negro quarters in formerly exclusive, now run-down, Logan Heights & Golden Hill districts. In great semicircle on N. & E., spread out over brushy slopes, are various residential subdivisions: Mission Hills, North Park, East San Diego, Encanto.

First white man to enter harbor of San Diego was Juan Rodríguez Cabrillo, in 1542. Vizcaino's three vessels dropped anchor here in 1602 & named bay for San Diego de Alcalá on Nov. 12, Saint's feast day. In 1769 sea & land parties sent from Mexico met here & est. 1st Sp. settlement in Cal. Fray Junípero Serra built small hut July 16, 1769, where he said mass; thus was est. Cal.'s 1st mission. Earthworks were thrown up & more huts built by Gov. Gaspar de Portolá's men; thus was founded 1st presidio. Mission was moved 6m up Mission Valley in 1774, but around presidio small settlement grew. Port was visited in 1793 by ship. "Discovery," commanded by Vancouver, & in 1800 by first Yankee vessel, "Betsy." Other ships began calling to take on cattle hides, & San Diego became center of coastal hide trade. In 1834 it was organized as pueblo, but afterwards lost pop. & from 1838 on was administered from Los Angeles. On July 29, 1846, Amer. sloop-of-war, "Cyane," entered harbor & Amer. flag was raised over plaza. Mex. forces rallied to capture town, but Amers. recaptured it soon after.

Old Town was incorporated as city in 1850. It was soon infested with rowdies, adventurers, & drifters. Numerous saloons plied Inds. with drink, & killings were frequent. Movement to found new city was launched by William Heath Davis, who bought land on present site & laid out settlement known as New Town, or "Davis' Folly"; but Davis' venture failed, & in 1860 only U.S. military base & barracks remained. Alonzo Erastus Horton, arriving in 1867, was more successful. He bought 1,000 as. on present site (at 21¢ per a.), built wharf, & plotted Horton's Addition; hectic real estate boom followed. In 1871 city seat was transferred from Old Town to New Town. Arrival of 1st RR. in 1885 launched another real estate boom, temporarily upping pop. to 40,000. City's later growth has been steadier, stimulated by Army & Navy bases during World War I, completion of San Diego & Ariz. Eastern RR. in 1919, expositions of 1915-16 & 1935-36, & expansion of fishing, canning & aircraft industries. Economic growth has promoted development of cultural & recr. facilis.: parks, museums & libraries, symphony orchestra & other musical institutions. World War II brought greatest boom yet, during which pop. increased nearly 100 percent, lifting San Diego to metropolitan status.

SACRAMENTO, CAL. (SE) to MEXICAN BORDER (at Mexicali, Mex.). 612.5. US99

Via: Stockton, Manteca, Modesto, Merced, Fresno, Tulare, Bakersfield, San Fernando, Los Angeles, Pomona, Redlands, Beaumont, Banning, Indio, El Centro, Calexico. RR. parallels route bet. Sacramento & Bakersfield, Saugus & Banning & Mecca, Brawley & Calexico. Accomms.: In larger towns.

From Sacramento this tour runs through S. sec. of great "Central Valley" watered by Sacramento & San Joaquin Rs. Much of this reg. was once desert, brought to fertility by irrigation. Farms are not farms in eastern understanding of word, but veritable food factories, concentrated on few main crops. Migratory worker has posed difficult economic problem. Pay for his labor, except in boom years, is comparatively low. His annual income is further reduced by fact that his employment is largely seasonal. Steinbeck's novel, "In Dubious Battle," has vividly depicted his struggle with ranch owners for better pay. US99 in this sec. makes J. with Rds. giving access to much-visited Yosemite & Sequoia-Kings Canyon Nat. Pks. At Bakersfield, at S. end of valley, route cuts through cotton & oil-producing area, then climbs through canyon over Tehachapi Mts. & descends into Santa Clara Valley, climbs once more & then descends into San Fernando Valley, & proceeds to Los Angeles. From there it turns (E) through orange & grape growing San Bernardino reg. to Beaumont & then (SE) through irrigated Coachella Valley, cuts across stretch of desert near Salton Sea, traverses rich irrigated lands of Imperial Valley, whose ranches produce not only vegetables & fruits but cotton, & arrives finally at Mex. Border.

Stockton is situated on San Joaquin R. where 32' channel permits ocean-going vessels to dock at city's wharves & load & carry off agric. products. City is also important industrial center. Large number of pks. afford ample recr. facilis. Stockton was founded c.1847 by German named Weber who bought out his partner's interest in 50,000-a. tract, part of which is site of city, for $60. In 1849 gold rush swamped new settlement & swelled its pop. by thousands. Joaquin Murrieta, famous Mex. bandit of 1850's, once paid town visit. Noticing sign offering reward for his capture, he wrote underneath it: "I will give $10,000—Joaquin!" With irrigation introduced in 1860's, agric. became predominant industry. In order to meet need of ranchers, plants for manufacture of farm implements were est., producing first caterpillar tractors. Since then other important industries have developed.

SIDE TRIP: Turn (L) from Merced on G Street, which becomes St.140, ascending foothills of Sierra 80m to Mariposa (Sp."butterfly") at S. end of Mother Lode mining reg. Mariposa County Cth. (1854) is oldest in Cal. In Mariposa is J. with St.49 (see US50). St.140 cont. to El Portal, entrance to Yosemite Nat. Pk. (see).

161. FRESNO

RR. and bus conns. Accomms.: All types. Info.: San Joaquin Valley Tourist & Travel Assoc., 1044 Fulton St.; Cal. St. Auto Assoc. (AAA), 666 Van Ness Ave., Fresno City. C. of C., 2345 Fresno St. For Kings Canyon & Sequoia Nat. Pks., Nat. Pk. Service, Fed. Bldg. Swim.: At numerous pub. pools. Raisin Day, 2nd Sat., May; Fresno District Fair, Sept.

Fresno is "world's raisin center." From city's limits vineyards radiate in seemingly endless rows. Pop. is mixed, incl. Spanish, Japanese & Armenian. Foreign sec. is of considerable int. Fresno, like so many other Cal. cities, dates its first real boom from gold rush, after which came great agric. development, when irrigation made cultivation of reg. possible. Finally, through efforts of Agoston Haraszthy, Hungarian immigrant, ranchers learned there was more profit in grapes than wheat. Since wine of this reg. proved of indifferent quality, vineyard owners abandoned wine-making & began turning grapes into raisins. Figs also are important crop. Industries followed in wake of agric. boom, & Fresno now ranks high among Cal. cities as industrial center.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) In front of County Cth. (neo-Class.), on Cth. Sq., are fountain, "Boy with a Leaking Boot," & statue of Dr. Chester Rowell, prominent citizen, by Haig Patigian. (2) 2435 Fresno St., Fresno Mem. Auditorium (1932.Mod.Class.), comm. war dead, contains Fresno Cty. Hist. Mus. (0.3-5 wks.), with coll. of early Cal. relics. (3) 1101 University Ave., Fresno St. College for training teachers (1921.Sp.Mission style). (4) Belmont & Thorne Aves., Roeding Pk., in which are variety of int. botanical specimens & zoo. (5) 1340 Kern St., Japanese Buddhist Temple (O 1902.services Sun.8 p.m.), said to contain some ashes of Buddha, brought from India. (6) Butler Ave. & Hazelwood Blvd., Sun Maid Raisin Plant (O. wks.July-Jan.), largest raisin-packing plant in world. As by-products, seeds are bricked for fuel & stems sold for cattlefeed.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) Take Kearney Blvd. (L) from Fresno 7m to Kearney Pk., 5,000 as., operated by Univ. of Cal. as experimental farm.

(B) Take St.41 (N) from Fresno 63m to S. Entrance of Yosemite Nat. Pk. (see).

(C) Take St.180 (Ventura Ave.) (L) from Fresno up fertile King's R. Valley through Sierra foothills, to Grant Grove sec. of Sequoia-Kings Canyon Nat. Pk. (see).

(D) Take St.168 (Fresno St.) (L) from Fresno to J. with Rd. at 5m.

St.168 cont. to Shaver L. (5,200';f.), 48m. At 70m Huntington L. (7,000';resort.boat.guides for pack trips), impounded by 3 dams, each 1,000' long. At 84m Florence L. both Ls. are part of huge hydro-electric proj. From Florence L., trl. runs into Sequoia-Kings Canyon Nat. Pks. (see).

From Fresno US99 cont. (S). 176.5. SELMA, muscat grape-packing & wine-making center. 196.5. GOSHEN JUNCTION at inters. with St.198.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) Take St.198 (R) 13m to Hanford. Mussell Slough feud, upon which Frank Norris based his novel "The Octopus," came to climax here. In 1880 ranchers fought sheriff's forces to prevent S.P. RR. from taking possession of certain secs. of land. Five ranchers & 2 deputies were killed; 17 ranchers were jailed. 46m Priest Valley, near crest of Coast Range. In this valley Joaquin Murrieta was killed, 1853. 71m San Lucas & J. with US101 (see).

(B) Take St.198 (L) from Goshen J. 6.5m to Visalia. Here also occurred conflicts bet. ranchers & settlers & S.P. RR.

St.198, at 37.5m, reaches Ash Mt. Entrance to Sequoia-Kings Canyon Nat. Pks. (see) & cont. to Grant Grove sec.

US99 cont. (S) past 7,000-a. TAGUS RANCH, 199.5. advertised as "world's largest apricot, peach & nectarine orchard." 205. TULARE, agric. shipping center. In Hotel Tulare is Whilton Mus., with coll. mounted native birds & mammals & extensive exhibit of Cal. wild flowers. US99 now passes through spreading cotton fields, into Kern Cty. oil field. 265.5. BAKERSFIELD, at S. end of San Joaquin Valley, on Kern R., in heart of very large oil producing & refining reg. There are also extensive cotton, alfalfa, vineyard & fruit ranches. In 1885 gold was discovered along Kern R. & Bakersfield assumed appearance of tough mining town. With discovery of oil, rough-and-tumble era returned.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.178 (Nile St.) from Bakersfield (L) 7.5m to J. with Alfred Harrell Blvd.

Take latter (L) 6.5m to Kern R. Cty. Pk., on high bluffs overlooking Kern R., with small zoo & pheasant & quail breeding farm.

At 11m on St.178, route enters Kern R. Canyon, deep gorge. 28m Democrat Hot Springs (sulphur), health resort. 30m Hobo Hot Springs For. Camp (2,000';ample facils.) in Sequoia Nat. For. 38m Bodfish, ghost mining town. 43m Isabella, another ghost town. St.178 cont. through beautiful country along S. Fork of Kern R. 76.5m Walker Pass (1,548'), named for Joseph Walker who explored reg. in 1834. Rd. then descends to J. with US6 (see).

From Bakersfield US99 cont. (S) through cotton & oil producing reg., & then ascends Grapevine Canyon through Tehachapi Range, which runs (SW) to meet Coast Range, to GRAPEVINE, at 296.5. (fuel.accoms.). Here is good view. 300.5. FT. TEJON ST. HIST. MON., comprising bldgs. of U.S. Army outpost est. 1854. 304. LEBEC (3,575'). Fine view of alkaline Castaic L. 306. CHANDLERS (gas sta. garage). From here Rd. ascends TEJON PASS (4,182'). US99 now cont. along twisting course through Castaic Valley, into Santa Clara Valley. It crosses Francisquito Cr. at 339.5. St. Francis Dam, which impounded this cr. in San Francisquito Canyon, broke on night of Mar. 13, 1928 & poured destructive flood into valley below. US99 soon begins to ascend again into foothills of Santa Susanna Mts. 344. J. with Rd. leading (R) 2.5^m to one-way private lane to First Oil Well in Cal., drilled 1875, at 4.5^m. Well is still producing. Hy. now crosses into San Fernando Valley. At 350. LOS ANGELES AQUEDUCT is visible twisting down slope with open spillway near hy. (L). This 233-mile aqueduct coming from Owens R. has converted San Fernando Valley into "market basket of L.A." 353. SAN FERNANDO, at J. with St.118 (see L.A. V for San Fernando & pts. (S) to L.A.) 375. LOS ANGELES (see) at Js. with US60-70 (see) & US101 (see).

Sec. 2: LOS ANGELES to CALEXICO. 237.5.

US99 unites with US60-70 (see) (E) to Pomona (for pts.of int.bet.L.A.& incl. Pomona, see L.A.IV). 30.5. POMONA. US99-70 branches (S) from US60. 36.5. ONTARIO is surrounded by orange groves. At 38.5. is 5,000-a. GUASTI VINEYARD, with annual crop of c.20,000 tons of grapes. It produces dry & sweet wines & one of few Cal. "champagne wines." 57.5. COLTON, near which US99-70 unite with US395 (E) short distance.

63.5. REDLANDS, packing & distributing point for citrus fruits & other farm products. At Cajon & Cypress Sts. is Smiley Heights, beautiful 400-a. garden in which grow great variety of plants & trees from all quarters of globe. At E. Colton Ave. & University St., Univ. of Redlands, founded by S. Cal. Baptist Convention in 1907. At 4th St., on grounds of Smiley Pub. Lib., Watchorn Lincoln Mem.; Lincoln relics & related exhibs.; murals by Dean Cornwell. Eureka Ave., in Smiley Pk., Redlands Bowl, outdoor theater where concerts are held. Barton Rd. & Mountain View Ave., San Bernardino Asistencia, reprod. of San Gabriel mission outpost. US99 winds through Reservoir Canyon & past orchards of nut trees, with views of San Bernardino Mts. (L). 90. BEAUMONT, (2,559'), at J. with US60 (see), with which US99 unites again for 52^m. From here (E) hy. runs through cherry- & almond-growing region. 96. BANNING (2,350'), from which good dirt Rd. leads (R) through Banning Canyon, 2^m, to Highland Springs, lovely mt. resort. On hotel grounds is pre-hist. Ind. grinding stone. At 2.5^m International Pk., resort area, where Spring Cherry Blossom festival is held. Mozart Bowl (pic.) is natural amphitheater. Main hy. runs through San Geronio Pass bet. Mt. San Jacinto & Mt. San Geronio, usually snow-capped. 138. INDIO, RR. center & tourist center, as well as trading point for surrounding irrigated reg. 140. US99 branches (S) from J. with US60-70 (see). 143.5. COACHELLA, in valley of same name, which extends to N. shore of Salton Sea. Reg. produces dates, grapefruit, & cotton, & is irrigated by water from wells.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.111 (L) from Coachella, running below sea level, along Salton Sea (see below), through weird desert scenery & through grape- & date-producing region. In summer temperature often reaches 125°F. At 11^m Mecca (197') amidst date gardens.

Turn (L) from Mecca, on Shavers Canyon Rd. 3^m, to J. with Painted Canyon Rd., which leads (L) 3.5^m through Painted Canyon (no water). At 3^m, on Shavers Canyon Rd. take foot trl. straight ahead 2^m to Painted Canyon Pic. Grounds, where are int. multi-colored cliffs.

At 15.5^m on St.111, Caleb's Siding, where St.111 veers (S) toward Orocopia Mts. & Salton Sea. 20^m Date Palm Beach. 24^m Salton Beach (-22'; resorts. camp.swim.boat.). At 29^m (L) is visible Cahuilla Ind. Rock Mound, on which are petroglyphs & carved head of Ind. 36^m Bombay Beach (resort). At 57^m is J. with dirt Rd.

Turn (R) here 4^m to Dry Ice Plant, where dry ice is manufactured from carbon monoxide from wells in near-by Mud Pots area. At 5^m Mud Pots, 20 as. of boiling mud craters, geysers & mineral springs. In Mullet L., at N. end of this area, is Davis Mus. (O.ice), containing remains from L. Cahuilla, pre-hist. predecessor of Salton Sea, & old Ind. pottery. By foot trl. short distance (SW) from Mud Pots are Ind. Paint Pots, with weird colored incrustations caused by oxide springs.

152. SALTON SEA (−244' at surface), 30m long & 8-14m wide, created by overflow of Colorado R. when it broke out of bounds in 1905, is more or less on site of L. Cahuilla, created in pre-hist. times by Colorado R. Hy. now passes through date orchards. Ancient beach line of L. Cahuilla cuts an even whitish strip along sides of Santa Rosa Mts. (R). 161.5. TRAVERTINE ROCK, on which are petroglyphs. 187. KANE SPRINGS (−150'), oldest known water hole in Colo. Desert (service sta.restaurant). 209. BRAWLEY (−115'), largest city in Imperial Valley. Considerable percentage of pop. is Mexican. 223. EL CENTRO (−52'). Here is J. with US80 (see). Beyond El Centro route traverses alfalfa fields which yield 5 & 6 crops yearly. 234. CALEXICO (5') on MEXICAN BORDER opp. Mexicali. Here Mexican travel permits are avail. (No permits necessary to cross & return same day.) Rockwood Hall (rest.), on International boundary, is old adobe bldg. among date palms.

US 40—CALIFORNIA

CAL-NEV. LINE (13m from Reno, Nev.) (SW) to SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. 216.5. U340.

Via: Truckee, Auburn, Roseville, Sacramento, Dixon, Fairfield, Richmond, Berkeley, Oakland. S.P. RR. parallels Rd. bet. Nev. Line & Sacramento & at intervals bet. Sacramento & Carquinez Bridge. Bus lines follow route. Accom.: All types.

In Cal. US40 follows generally route taken by early explorers, pioneers & settlers across rampart of Sierra Nevada. Leaving Nev., it follows crag-enclosed Truckee R., traverses Donner Pass, scene of Donner Party tragedy (see below), & the canyon of Yuba R., cont. past hist. Emigrant Gap, descends into Amer. R. gold-mining reg. to Auburn, follows Amer. R. to Sacramento & turns across fertile Sacramento Valley. It then runs along S. side of Carquinez Strait & W. side of San Francisco Bay to Oakland. Route crosses Tahoe & Mendocino Nat. Fors. Accessible for. camps are noted along route.

Sec. 1: NEV. LINE to SACRAMENTO. 125.

US40, crossing Nev. Line 13m (SW) from Reno, follows Truckee R., crossing into TAHOE NAT. FOR. (c.600,000 as.), through which it runs for 50m. 20. TRUCKEE (5,820'), still resembling frontier town, resort of lumberjacks & herders. Here is J. with St.89. Good skiing in vic.; toboggan slide with power pullback & ice rink. Short distance (N) from Truckee is Truckee For. Camp (trlsr.ample facils.). 22.5. DONNER STATE MON. (L), small pk. comm. Donner Party of emigrants from Ill., who arrived here in Oct. 1846, & were caught in deep snows. Of 81 who had pitched camp in Nov., only 45 survived (see Nev.). In pk. is Pioneer Mon. Not far beyond (W) lies Donner L., which US40 skirts, in view of Cassel Peak (R) (9,139'). Rd. now begins to climb steep wall of Sierra, beneath Donner Peak (8,315') & Lincoln Peak (8,403'). 29. SUMMIT OF DONNER PASS (7,135'), where is U.S. Weather Bureau Observatory. 30. (L) VAN NORDEN L. & NORDEN (6,880';hotel), winter sports resort. 31.5. SODA SPRINGS (6,748';hotel & cabins). US40 now traverses canyon of S. Fork of Yuba R., passing vacation camps & inns &, at 37. & 41., for. camps. 49. J. with improved Rd. leading (L) 0.5m to Emigrant Gap (5,250'), f. & h. center for Tahoe Nat. For. (cabins,hotel). US40 runs along lofty ridge, through scenically int. region of gorges & fine forests, & drops down along gold-bearing Amer. R. 58.5 J. with improved Rd. leading (R) 3.5m to Dutch Flat (3,399'), sett. 1851 by gold miners of German origin. Spectacular hydraulic diggings in vic. 63.5. GOLD RUN TRADING POST, now mus. for pioneer relics. This reg. was rich gold-mining area from whose streams more than $15,000,000 was taken by hydraulic operations in 1870's & 1880's. 90.5. AUBURN (1,360'), on N. fork of Amer. R., was gold-rush town & some of its old bldgs. are still standing. It is now center of an orchard district. In Auburn is J. with St.49 running (S) through gold-mining reg. to conn. with US50 (see).

SIDE TRIP: Take St.49 (R) from Auburn. At 24m is Grass Valley (2,400'). On Gold Hill, near town, is Mon. to Geo. Knight, discoverer of gold-bearing quartz in Cal. Explotation of this type of ore is still continuing in this vic. Most important of mines are Gold Hill, Empire, Golden Center, Idaho-Maryland. At cor. of Mill & Wall Sts., is Lola Montez H. (1852-54). The fabulous Lola acquired an internat. reputation as dancer, became mistress of Louis I. of Bavaria with title of Countess of Lansfeld, & was banished during Rev. of 1848. Her soirées, frequented chiefly by younger miners, were famous. Lola Montez finally married into respectability & is buried in a Brooklyn cemetery (see N.Y.). Near-by is childhood Home of Lotta Crabtree, pupil of Lola Montez. After making dancing tour through mining camps, Lotta scored success in S.F. & other Amer. cities. 28.5m Nevada City (2,450'). This town had gold rush, after gold was discovered at Deer Cr. in 1848. It engaged 1st in placer, next in hydraulic, & finally in deep quartz mining. On Broad St., National Hotel (R) was important stagecoach stopover at whose bar miners paid for drinks in gold dust. Assayer's Office (R) on Commercial St. has its original furniture & iron safe. Through this office, it is said, $27,000,000 in gold passed. 44m North San Juan, now almost ghost town, but once, when San Juan Ridge was still being exploited, boom-town of 10,000. Some of old bldgs. are still standing. 58.5m Depot Hill, where is Joubert Hydraulic Mine, which has produced more than $1,850,000 in gold. 75.2m Downieville (3,000'), surrounded by steep mts., once had pop. of 5,000 when fortunes in gold were being made. Sierra County Cth. (1855), in whose yard is old mill wheel used for gold crushing. Behind Cth. on Piety Hill is old Town Gallows. On Main St., Meroux Mus. (O.Sun. & Hols.; keys with storekeeper wks.), containing relics. Also on Main St. (L), Costa Store (1853), in which are scales formerly used to weigh gold. St. Charles Hotel (1853, well preserved). 88m Sierra City (4,100') at foot of Sierra Buttes (8,600'), where gold was formerly panned from Yuba R. In Monumental Mine, in 1860's, 100-lb. gold nugget, valued at $25,000, was turned up. Some mines are still producing, & some bldgs. still survive from early days. 110m Sierraville (4,950'), at J. with St.89, formerly stage-coach crossroads. Turn (R) on St.89 to J. at 135m with US40 (see above).

From Auburn, US40 descends to floor of Sacramento Valley. 106.5. ROSEVILLE, at J. with US99E (see), is in rich plum, berry, almond, & grape-growing reg. 121.5. US40 crosses AMERICAN R. 125. SACRAMENTO (see US99) at Js. with US99W & US99E (see) & US50 (see).

Sec. 2: SACRAMENTO to SAN FRANCISCO. 91.5.

From W. end of Sacramento route crosses Tower Br., vertical lift span over SACRAMENTO R., Cal.'s largest R. US40 now crosses level, intensively cultivated Sacramento Valley. 14. J. with paved Rd. leading (R) 1m to Davis. Just beyond Davis is entrance to Davis Branch of College of Agri. of Univ. of Calif., with orchards, vineyards, poultry, pens, model dairy & pedigreed livestock. 23. DIXON, rural trading center. 43. FAIRFIELD, in whose plaza stands Statue of Francisco Solano, chief of all Ind. tribes (N) beyond Suisun & San Pablo Bays. He was baptized with Sp. name by fathers of Misión de San Francisco de Solano, aided Sp. in dealings with Inds., & was granted Rancho Suisun. US40 now climbs into American Canyon. As hy. leaves hills, there is panoramic view of Vallejo, Napa R. Valley & Mt. Tamalpais beyond San Pablo Bay. 59. J. with paved Rd. leading (L) to Benicia at 5m. (For Benicia & pts. of int. bet. Benicia & San Francisco, see San Francisco IV). 91.5. SAN FRANCISCO.

US 50—CALIFORNIA

CAL.-NEV. LINE (27m from Carson City, Nev.) (W) to SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. 239.5. US50.

Via: Al Tahoe, Placerville, Folsom, Sacramento, Elk Grove, Lodi, Stockton, Tracy, San Leandro, Oakland. S.P. RR. parallels route bet. Placerville & Oakland; W.P. RR. bet. Sacramento & Stockton. Accoms.: All types.

From Nev. Line US50 skirts S. shore of L. Tahoe; crosses Sierra Nevada, cutting through El Dorado Nat. For., & follows S. Fork of American R. to Placerville & Sacramento. It then, in a wide arc taking in Stockton, cuts across fertile Sacramento Valley & over Mt. Diablo Range to S.F. Bay. This early became an important overland route into Cal. After discovery of Comstock Silver Lode in Washoe Valley, Nev., in 1859, it was heavily used toll-road. In 1860 it was first used by Pony Express, whose riders made trip from St. Joseph, Mo. to Sacramento in 8 days.

0. LAKESIDE (6,225') is one of many resorts on L. Tahoe (R), largest in Cal. Walled in by snow-capped peaks, among which are Monument Peak (10,085'), Mt. Freel (10,900') & Job's Sister (10,820'), L. is more than 21m long & 12m wide.

2. EL DORADO CTY. PUB. CAMPGROUND on L. shore (6,300'; camp-pic.no trlrs.) 2.5. AL TAHOE (6,225'). 4.5. J. with St.89.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) along W. shore of L. through string of resorts, from which trls. radiate into Sierra. Overlooking Emerald Bay are Bay View & Eagle Falls For. Camps (no trlrs.) at, respectively, 7.5m & 8.5m. At 41.5m is Truckee at J. with US40 (see).

9.5. MEYERS (6,400'), with For. Ranger Sta. (info.concerning El Dorado Nat.For.) & Pony Express Mon. 12.5. ECHO SUMMIT (7,365') at top of Johnson's Pass. From Summit Lodge fine view. About 3m (S) from here is Alpine For. Camp (ample facils.no trlrs.). 13. FIRS FOR. CAMP (7,000'; ample facils.no trlrs.) near J. with Rd. leading (R) 1m to Echo L. in whose vic. are many camps from which ft. trls. lead into Desolation Valley Wilderness Area (41,388 as.) of Ls. & high peaks. US50 now descends W. slope of Sierra, past for. camps & resorts. 13.5. AUDRAIN L. FOR. CAMP (R) on Audrain L. Route now passes Horse Tail Falls (R), with Pyramid Peak (10,020') at some distance (NW) & then follows S. fork of American R. Lover's Leap (6,985'), sheer 1,285' (L) above R. 17.5. 45-MILE FOR. CAMP. 20.5. 42-MILE FOR. CAMP. 21. J. with gravelled Rd. leading (L) 0.5m to Strawberry H., formerly stage sta., now summer resort. 22.5. 39-MILE FOR. CAMP (for trlrs.only). 23.5. PYRAMID RANGER STA. (R) & PYRAMID PUB. CAMP (L). 25.5. ALDER CR. FOR. CAMP.

30. KYBURZ (4,700'). 47.5. BULLION BEND MON. where 2 stages were robbed same night in 1864. Bandit leader gave receipt for stolen cash, reading: "This is to certify that I have received from Wells Fargo & Co., the sum of $ cash for the purpose of outfitting recruits enlisted in California for the Confederate States Army. R. Henry Ingram, Captain Commd'g Co. C.S.A. June, 1864." 62.5. PLACERVILLE (1,848') at J. with St.49, strategically located on overland trail, was focal point of gold rush in 1848. Placerville was notorious for lawlessness & bandits who plundered miners. Lawbreakers were hanged from great oak that stood at cor. of Main & Coloma Sts. Town acquired unofficial name of Hangtown. Through Placerville passed Overland Mail & Pony Express; it became chief stop-over point during rush to Comstock (silver) Lode in Nev. Mark Hopkins, later railway magnate, began his career here peddling groceries. Philip D. Armour, of meat-packing fame, had butcher shop in town, & John Studebaker here began his automotive activities by building wheelbarrows for miners. Many old bldgs. are still standing on Main St., along Hangtown Creek. At lower end of Main St., is Old Hangtown Bell, which was used to summon vigilantes.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) Take St.49 (R) from Placerville. This route runs through heart of gold country, the Mother Lode reg. Gold rush began Jan. 24, 1848 with discovery by James W. Marshall of gold (see below), followed by trek of thousands of prospectors into reg. & mushroom growth of mining towns where reckless spending of quickly earned riches, gambling, brawling & lawlessness, occasionally tempered by vigilante justice, held sway. When placer mining gave out, mining corporations moved in to exploit region's gold, first with hydraulic & then with stone-crushing machinery. All along St.49 are strung abandoned ghost towns & workings, although here & there some of early settlements have survived & considerable mining activity is still in evidence. 8m Coloma, near S. Fork of American R. Here is Mon. (L) marking Site of Sutter's Saw Mill, where Jas. W. Marshall first discovered gold in 1848. Marshall failed to profit by his find, as did his employer, John A. Sutter (see Sacramento, US99); he was ousted from his claims by prospectors.

Take uphill Rd. (L) from Coloma. 0.5m to Marshall State Mon., in which are Statue of Marshall & Marshall Cabin (rest.), where he lived, 1848-68.

St.49 now runs bet. mt. ridges & through deep gorges. 24.5m J. with improved Rd.

28m Auburn at J. with US40 (see).

(B) Take St.49 (L) from Placerville. At 5m is El Dorado (1,610'), first known as Mud Springs, because of near-by watering hole for cattle, which became mining camp. 20m Plymouth. Here are located Plymouth Consolidated Mines which produced about $15,000,-000. 23m Drytown, whose surrounding gulches—Blood, Murderer's & Rattlesnake—produced fabulous amounts of placer gold. 28m Sutter Creek, still busy quartz mining center with a few int. old bldgs. 33m Jackson, in a deep quartz mining area. Jackson in early days was troubled by usual lawlessness which, during reform wave, led to stringing up of 10 men from great oak on Cth. Hill. Amador County Cth. (c.1850). 40m Mokelumne Hill (1,500'), on high ridge bet. Mokelumne & Calaveras Rs., was once one of Mother Lode's roughest towns. Legend has it that one man was killed each week end for 17 weeks.

running & 5 men in one week. St.49 passes Golden Eagle Hotel & Sturges Store (both 1854); old Ledger Hotel (1856) & former Calaveras Cth., now hotel annex. Near-by is little White Ch., built with contributions levied upon miners by a determined woman of religious convictions. Route runs (S) from Mokelumne Hill through Chile Gulch, where American & Chilean miners battled over claims in 1849. 50m San Andreas. In Calaveras C. of C. Mus. (L) is coll. of relics, incl. famous bandit Murreta's red sash. 52m Altaville, (1,500'), in which are old Inn (L) & Prinz Store (R), both dating from 1850's. 55m Angels Camp (1,500'), where Mark Twain is said to have heard story of "Jumping Frog." Every May, Angels Camp has Jumping Frog Jubilee contest with prizes for winning frog. Some old bldgs. still standing. At S. end of town (L) is Model of Undershot Water Wheel, used for ore-crushing.

Take St.4 (L) from Angels Camp to Murphys, 9m, with int. old Mitchler Hotel (1856).

At 25m is Calaveras Grove of Big Trees (Sequoia Gigantea). Destruction of this grove has been threatened by lumber companies, but recently there has been movement to set it aside as St. reserv.

60m Carson Hill (1,400'), another ghost town. $20,000,000 in gold was taken out of Mother Lode in this vic., mostly from Morgan Mine, in which was found, 1854, gold nugget weighing 195 lbs., largest ever turned up in U.S. 63.5m Melones, which took its name from gold nuggets shaped like melon seeds, found by Mex. miners in Stanislaus R. 65.5m J. with paved Rd. leading (L) to Jackass Hill, once, as Mark Twain noted, site of prosperous town of 3,000. On summit is Mark Twain's Cabin (rest.), where he met prototype of Dick Baker, of "Roughing It." 71m J. with paved Rd. leading (L) 2m to Columbia (2,200'), best preserved (now State Hist. Mon.) & once richest & roughest of Mother Lode camps. $87,000,000 have been taken out of this vic. In 1850 Dr. Thaddeus Hildreth & party were caught here in thunder shower; one member did some prospecting while waiting & struck gold. On town's S. edge is St. Anne's Church (1856), with altar murals by Jas. Fallon. On main St. are old Fallon's Hotel, Wells Fargo Office (O.fee), "Stage Drivers' Retreat," old Knapp Grocery Store, old Firehouse, with antique engines & buffalo-hide hose, & Pioneer Saloon. 73.5m Sonora (1,850'). Largest pocket mine in Mother Lode is Big Bonanza on Piety Hill (R). Some old bldgs. have survived: St. James' Ch. (1860); Bauman Brewery on Washington St., which supplied town's 40 saloons; Gunn Adobe (1850 adds.), now Hotel Italia.

77.5m Jamestown (1,500'), which grew prosperous from rich Table Mt. mines where Humbug Mine produced more than $4,000,000. 87.5m Chinese Camp (1,400'), which figured in Bret Harte tales as "Salvado." Here at one time as many as 5,000 Chinese were mining gold & here in 1856 occurred tong war which resulted in 4 deaths. 93.5m J. with St.120, branching (SE) to Yosemite Nat. Pk. (see) & cont. to J. with US395 (see). 108m Coulterville (1,675'). Surrounding slopes yielded fortunes in gold. Some old adobe bldgs. survive. Still functioning is Old Jeffrey Hotel (L) & in Plaza stands oak tree from which "bad men" were hanged. St.49 now climbs to Hell Hollow at 123.5m. Fine view. Near-by are Pacific Mines, where quartz veins are still being worked. 125m Bear Valley (2,100'), now ghost town, was built by Frémont as hqs. for his Mariposa mines. After years of litigation & then disappointing returns, Frémont exclaimed: "When I came to California I hadn't a cent. Now I owe $2,000,000!" 131.5m Mt. Bullion (2,100'), named for Frémont's father-in-law, Sen. Benton, nicknamed "Old Bullion" because of his many controversies concerning currency. Marre Store (L) supplied goods, at one time, to more than 2,000 miners.

Take Rd. (R) from Mt. Bullion 13m to Hornitos (1,000'), camp which was celebrated for its fiestas, fandango halls, gambling halls, & brawls. Facing Plaza (R) is Fandango Hall. On an upper street is Hornitos Hotel (1860). Here also is old Jail in which Chinese, who had shot miner was killed by mob.

137m Mariposa, at J. with St.140 (see US99), running (E) to Yosemite Nat. Pk. (see) & (W) to Merced on US99 (see).

From Placerville US50 follows old Carson Emigrant Trl. used by Forty-niners to Sacramento. 92. FOLSOM, known in gold-rush days as Negro Bar on old Rio de los Americanos Ranch, which was owned by Wm. A. Leidesdorff, whose heirs sold it to Capt. Jos. L. Folsom in 1848 just before gold rush. Take Rd. (R) here to Folsom State Penitentiary on American R. in which J. N. McNamara, convicted of L.A. Times bombing, & Warren K. Billings of Mooney-Billings case were confined. Above the penitentiary are dam across Amer. R. & power plant. 110. SACRAMENTO (see US99), at Js. with US99 (see) & US40 (see). Bet. Sacramento & Stockton US50 & US99 unite (see US99 for this sec.). 153. STOCKTON (see US99). From Stockton US50 passes (S) through what was formerly Rancho Campo de los Franceses, granted in 1844 to Wm. Gulnac, who had married Mex. girl & become Mex. citizen. In 1845 he sold entire ranch for $60, amount of grocery bill he owed. 166. Rd. crosses SAN JOAQUIN R. (boat.f.). 205.5 DUBLIN at J. with St.21. For towns & pts. of int. bet. & incl. this pt. & SAN FRANCISCO, 239.5., see San Francisco V.

116.5. UKIAH (Ind., deep valley), is situated in narrow valley of orchards, vineyards & hop farms. Internat. Latitude Observatory (O), one of 5 located at widely distributed points on same latitude (39° 8'N.), for special astronomical observations. From Ukiah, Rd. leads (R) 4m to Vichy Springs (resort). Another Rd. leads (R) 8m to The Terraces, where grows coll. of native Cal. & foreign botanical specimens. 127.5. BLACK BART ROCK (R), named for famous bandit, who operated in this reg. 1875-83. He lived in S.F. as respectable mining engineer & was trapped there & jailed at San Quentin. 186. COOLIDGE REDWOOD PK., where arch has been cut through redwood big enough for an automobile to pass. US101 now cont. through gorge forested with redwoods, climbs to canyon rim & LILLEY REDWOOD PK. at 194., in which is Quadruped Tree, 250' high, 101' circum. 202. RICHARDSON GROVE ST. PK. (cabins, camp, swim, pool). 227.5. Rd. now skirts sheer bluffs of narrow gorge of S. Fork of Eel R. 240. FOUNDER'S GROVE, in which is World's Tallest Tree, redwood, 364' high. US101 now passes HUMBOLDT ST. PK. 256.5. SCOTIA, so-called because its settlers, nicknamed "blue noses," came from Nova Scotia. Here is Redwood Lumber Mill (O) producing 1,500 kinds of wood articles & lumber, largely from Sequoia wood.

US101 now crosses Eel R. at 262. to CANYON PK. (O. fee), noted for its many varieties of ferns & mosses, & cont. along Eel R., which it re-crosses, then turns (N) along Humboldt Bay. 287. EUREKA was named by James Ryan when he drove his vessel onto mudflats, shouting "Eureka." Redwood mills are town's dominant industry. Overlooking bay, Ft. Humboldt where Pres. Grant was stationed in 1854; it is said he spent much of his time drinking in Ryan's Saloon. Hqs. of Commissary Dept. still stands & contains relics. On Indian L. in bay, Feb. 25, 1860, occurred massacre of Ind. women & children by white settlers. Ind. men had been away hunting. Bitter war of revenge followed. Bret Harte, who was editor of local paper, denounced outrage & was forced by threats to return to S.F. In 1885 anti-Chinese feeling in Eureka came to head & resulted in expulsion of Chinese from Humboldt Cty., of which Eureka is seat. Stump H., on Broadway, is built of huge redwood logs & stumps, & contains coll. of redwood curios. In Sequoia Pk. (pic. recr.) are redwoods, lake & zoo. 292.5. ARCATA (Ind., "where boats land"), formerly known as Union Town. Here Bret Harte worked as compositor & assistant to editor of "Northern Californian" & as agent for Wells Fargo & Co. On hill, Humboldt St. Teachers' College.

297. J. with US299, running (E) to J. with US99 (see). 306.5. LITTLE RIVER BEACH ST. PK. 309.5. TRINIDAD, formerly mining town, at J. with Rd. leading (L) 1.5m to Trinidad Head on which is Cross, replacing one erected in 1775 by Sp. explorer, Heceta. 315. LAGOON PK. (resort). 341.5. PRAIRIE CR. ST. PK. (6,467 as. camp, recr. f.), located high above surf; fine views. Rd. now descends & crosses Douglas Mem. Bridge over Klamath R. to KLAMATH at 349.5. Klamath R. in summer is much frequented by sports fishermen. In Klamath is Shaker Ch. where Inds. hold noisy services. This sect is not related to Shakers elsewhere. Hy. now cont. bet. ocean (L) & DEL NORTE COAST PK. (R) 368.5. J. with narrow Rd. leading (R) 8^m to Hiouchi Redwood St. Pk., containing Frank A. Stout Mem. Grove, distinguished by its variety of flowers & plants, especially giant Woodwardia fern. 370.5. CRESCENT CITY, shipping center for lumber, dairy products & fish. 371. J. with US99 (see US99, Ore.), leading (R) past Ore. Caves Nat. Mon. to J. with US99 (see) in Ore. 379. WEBBER GROVE, northernmost for. of redwoods. 385. SMITH R. (f.h. auto & trlr.camps). 392.5. ORE. LINE.

US 99 (N)—CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO, CAL. (N) to CAL.-ORE. LINE (22^m from Ashland, Ore.). 296. US99

Via: Roseville, Marysville, Chico, Red Bluff, Redding, Dunsmuir, Mt. Shasta City, Weed, & Yreka. S.P. RR. parallels entire route. Accomms.: All types, camp. sites in N. counties.

US99 runs (N) from Sacramento through vast, fertile Central Valley, follows Sacramento R. & other gorges through mts., skirts Mt. Shasta & threads through wild canyons to ramparts of Siskiyou Mts. on Ore. border. Old Cal.-Ore. Trl., in its day, followed direction taken by this tour. It was first used by scouts & trappers & later by emigrants in their covered wagons. Still later, turnpike Rd. was built from Portland to Sacramento & stage coaches travelled it on regular schedules. Finally RR. was brought up from S., more or less paralleling route to Portland.

0. SACRAMENTO

Through RR. & Bus conns. Municipal Airport, 5^m (S) on Freeport Blvd. Info.: Cal. St. Automobile Assoc., 1700 L St.; C. of C., 917—7th St. Mem. Auditorium, symphony & choral concerts. Sacramento, capital of Cal., is handsome residential city lying in loop of Sacramento R. near its J. with Amer. R. Although politics is chief industry, city is also very busy market town handling large percentage of all vegetables & fruits grown in Cal. Besides canneries, it has many other important industries. R. channel provides water transport to San Francisco Bay. Sacramento was founded in 1839 by Capt. John Augustus Sutter, Swiss ex-army officer, who obtained grant from Mex. Gov. of 50,000 as. He named settlement New Helvetia. It was Sutter's boss carpenter, James W. Marshall, who on Jan. 24, 1848, while building mill near Coloma (see US50) on S. Fork of Amer. R., discovered gold. Rush of prospectors swamped Sutter's baronial domain & ended in his ruin. Bet. 1849 & 1853 three disastrous floods & a fire wrecked town. In 1852 legislature met here, sitting on "hot ashes." In 1854 city was officially declared capital.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) Bet. 10th & 15th St., Capitol Pk., with coll. of more than 1,000 varieties of trees & shrubs from all over world. (2) In pk. is Cal. St. Capitol (1860-73.Class.), topped by golden dome. Ball surmounting lantern of dome is 237' above ground. On walls of rotunda are 12 murals depicting state hist. In rotunda's center is statue, "Columbus before Isabella," by Larkin G. Mead. Excellent view from 2nd balcony of dome. 10th St. bet. (10) 26th & L Sts., Sutter's Fort (O.10-4 wks.), which is restoration on orig. site of Sutter's ranchh., workshops, home & fort (erected 1839). Bldg. contains colls. of early Cal. relics. Ind. Mus. contains 40,000 Ind. articles illustrating culture of Cal. Inds. (11) 2nd Ave. & Stockton Blvd., St. Fair Grounds, where Cal. St. Fair is held. At Sacramento is (E) J. with US40 (see), (N) J. with US50 (see), & J. with St.24, conn. with US395 (see). From Sacramento (N), tourists may choose bet. US99E & US99W, paralleling each other (N) to Red Bluff. Present route follows 99E, longer but scenically & historically more int.

SIDE TRIP: Take US99W (L) from Sacramento to Woodland, 21^m, trading center of rich area growing sugar beets & other crops. US99W cont. (N) through vast, flat grain and rice-growing area. 61.5^m Williams is center of huge irrigated sec. One of West's biggest privately owned irrigation systems pumps water from Sacramento R. & distributes it over 60,000 as. in vic. 103^m Orland, in irrigated grain-growing area. 118.5^m Corning, center of olive-growing belt. 135^m Red Bluff, at J. with US99E (see below).

Bet. Sacramento & ROSEVILLE, 18., US99E is united with US40 (see). 28.5. LINCOLN, grain & fruit-growing center, with big pottery works. 53. MARYSVILLE, at confluence of Yuba & Feather Rs., is hist. Gold Rush town, in 1851 St.'s 3rd largest, now center of rich peach-orchard reg. & hydraulic gold-mining area. Hist. bldgs. incl. Sisters of Notre Dame Convent (1856), 7th & C Sts.; Ramirez H. (1850's), 220-222 5th St.; Yuba County Cth. (1855-56), 6th & D Sts.; & Firehouse (1855-56), 4th bet. B & C Sts. 54. YUBA CITY, peach-growing center, laid out 1849. 64.5. SUTTER BUTTES (L) juts from flat valley floor. 80. J. with paved Hy.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) 8^m to Oroville, which sprang up 1849-50 as Ophir City when gold was discovered. It became Butte City, & was 5th largest in Cal. in 1856. During 1870's had State's largest Chinatown. N. Cal.'s first important orange grove planted near-by 1886. Cal. gold dredging began here 1898, with floating of 1st successful bucket elevator dredge. Butte City. Pioneer Mem. Mus. houses relics of gold days. Oroville is at J. with St.24, leading (NE) through picturesque Feather R. Canyon to J. with US395 (see). Turn (R) from Oroville on Berry Creek Rd. to Bidwell's Bar, 9.5^m, on S. Fork of Feather R., where John Bidwell found gold July 4, 1848. Town of 2,000 sprang up but population stampeded away when diggings were exhausted. Cal.'s First Suspension Br. (1856) spans R. At its S. end is Old Mother Orange Tree, planted 1856, whose seeds started N. Cal.'s 1st citrus belt.

100.5. CHICO, chief trade center of N. Sacramento Valley, among grain fields & fruit & almond orchards, founded on pioneer horticulturist John Bidwell's Rancho Chico. Two-story stone Bidwell Mansion is now one of bldgs. of Chico St. College. At E. edge of town is 2,400-acre Bidwell Pk. (where "The Adventures of Robin Hood" was filmed, 1937), containing Hooker Oak, said to be world's largest, 1,000 yrs. old, 110' high, with 28' circum. & 147' in diam. 141.5. RED BLUFF, situated on heights overlooking Sacramento R. In 1850's paddle-wheel steamers travelled as far as this pt., but with introduction of irrigation, drawing large amounts of water from Sacramento R., water level fell too low for navigation. Pine & Washington Sts., in City Hall, is Wm. B. Ide Mem. Mus.; pioneer, Ind. & Chinese relics. 135 Main St., John Brown Family H., built for John Brown's widow & three daughters who lived there until 1870. In Red Bluff is J. with US99W (see) & J. with St.36.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) from Red Bluff, climbing into mts. 48.5^m J. with St.89; on which route turns (L). 56.5^m Lassen Volcanic Nat. Pk. (103,270 as. f. winter sports), at S. end of Cascade Range where it joins Sierra Nevada. 58.5^m Sulphur Works Checking Sta. Rd. now skirts (L) Black Butte Mt. (9,288'), Brokeoff Mt. (9,232'), Diamond Peak (7,969'), Diller Mt. (9,086'), Eagle Peak (9,211'), all remnants of prehistoric Mt. Tehama Crater. At 59.5^m Sulphur Works, with int. hot mud cauldrons & sulphur springs. 64^m Emerald L. (no fish.). At 64.5^m, just before reaching Helen L., J. with trl. leading (R) 1.5^m to Bumpass Hell, impressive geyser, mud springs, & fumarole area. At 65^m on St.89 is Helen L. (8,000') surrounded by high peaks. 66^m Summit (8,512') of Lassen Peak Loop (parking.). Trl. leads (L) here 2.5^m to Lassen Peak (10,453') with magnificent view. This mt. is still an active volcano whose last eruption occurred in 1917. 70.5^m Kings Creek Meadows (pub.camp.). Trl. leads (R) here 1.5^m to Kings Creek Falls. 75.5^m Summit L. (camp.recr.fish.). From here trls. run to Chain-of-Lakes district in E. sec. of Pk. Just beyond Summit L., on St.89, is Summit L. Ranger Sta. (info.). St.89 now traverses very int. volcanic area past Chaos Crags (8,458') (R) & Raker Peak (7,466') (L). 87^m Manzanita L. (5,845'; recr.accoms.camp. f.). Here is May Loomis Mem. Mus. containing material concerning Mt. Lassen region. St.89 cont. bet. Reflection & Manzanita Ls. 88^m J. with St.44, leading (L) 49.5^m to Redding (see below) at J. with US99.

142.5. J. with paved Rd. leading (R) 1^m to adobe Gen. Wm. B. Ide H. (1849). Ide was Pres. of shortlived Bear Flag Republic (see Sonoma), 1849. 167.5. Clear Cr., at J. with dirt Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take dirt Rd. (L) to Reading's Bar, 11^m, where, in Mar. 1848, Pierson Reading found 1st gold in Shasta Cty. Reading's Bar became booming settlement of 1,000 inhabitants, known as One Horse Town, with 14 saloons; destroyed by fire in 1868.

173. REDDING, on Sacramento R., center of important agric. dist. & starting pt. for hunters & fishermen. Here is (S) J. with US299.

SIDE TRIP: Take US299 (L) from Redding, ascending into Trinity Mts. along old Trinity Trl. of 1840's, 6^m Shasta, once center of roaring wide-open mining town through which mule pack trains from N. mining reg. passed. Here are First Masonic Hall in Cal. & Litsch General Store (1853), housing Litsch's Free Mus. of Hist. Pioneer Relics. Joaquin Miller lived among Inds. of reg., who were notorious for horse stealing, & was once lodged in town jail, from which, however, he managed to escape. At this time he had an Ind. wife & half-Ind. daughter. From Shasta US299 ascends (W) to summit of Shasta Divide (1,390'). 10 8^m Whiskey Town (1,091'), so named because barrel of whiskey dropped into Rd. here from pack mule. In 1853 a bartender was lynched in town after shooting fray 17^m Tower H. (1852), former stagecoach sta. Rd. presently enters Trinity Mts. & then descends to Buckhorn (2,500'; auto camp), in fertile Grass Valley at 29 5^m. 42^m Douglas City (1,700') on Trinity R. 47.5^m Weaverville (2,407'), once boisterous mining town whose hist. was punctuated by frequent shootings & summary hangings by vigilantes. Weekly Trinity Journal Office (1856) where "Weekly Trinity Journal," one of 4 oldest newspapers in state, is still published. In St. Mem. Hall is coll. of relics incl. Ind. scalp. Chinese Joss H. (O) is survival of time when there were 3,000 Chinese in town, who in 1854 amused white miners by staging lively tong battle. US299 cont. past a number of for. camps. At 147^m J. with US101 (see).

175. (N) J. with US299, running (E) to J. with US395 (see). 180. CENTRAL VALLEY, at J. with paved Rd. leading (L) 6^m to Shasta Dam, impounding Sacramento, McCloud, & Pit Rs., chief unit of Central Valley Project, world's 2nd highest & 2nd biggest in mass content, 560' high & 3,500' long. Construction begun 1938. 187. PIT R. BR., world's highest double-decked bridge, carries hy. & RR. 560' above R. bed. US99 climbs mt. divide & then skirts 29,500-a. SHASTA RESERVOIR, Cal.'s 2nd largest lake, at 203. (N). At 211.5. SHI-LO-AH MINERAL SPRINGS (cabins. trlrs.camp.store). Hy. cont. along canyon to J. with dirt Rd. at 220.5. leading (L) 3.5^m to base of Castle Crags rising sheer 6,000' above fors. Here June 26, 1855, battle bet. Modoc Inds. & settlers took place. Settlers were victorious. Joaquin Miller has described battle. 222. CASTLE CRAGS ST. PK., 50-sq.-mile recr. region (camp.pic.f.). 226.5. DUNSMUIR, RR. division pt. & sportsmen's supply center, in gorge of Sacramento R. 229. J. with paved Rd. leading (L) short distance to Shasta Springs (2,556'; resort), located above narrow canyon of Sacramento R. Here bubbling Shasta water is bottled. Near-by are beautiful Moss Brae Falls. 237.5. MT. SHASTA CITY (3,554') at base of Mt. Shasta (14,161'). Here is Shasta Nat. For. Hqs. for huge reserve of 1,656,477 as., stretching (E&W) along US99 for 60^m.

SIDE TRIP: Take Alma St. (R) 3^m to Shasta Trl., which runs to Summit of Mt. Shasta. Trip can be made on foot or, in part, on horseback. Season: July-Sept. Round trip from lodge (see below) requires 8-10 hrs. Climber should carry full mt.-climbing equipment. At 8^m on trl. is Shasta Alpine Lodge (7,992'; firewood & blankets avail.). Summit is reached at 12^m. Mt. Shasta, 6th highest mt. in Cal., but more impressive than highest, Mt. Whitney, because it rises alone, was discovered 1827 & first climbed 1854. It is an ancient volcano with five glaciers. Snow-covered in all seasons, it dominates landscape for 100^m around. Descent of E. side of Mt. is feasible to J. with Pacific Crest Tr.

Leaving Mt. Shasta City, US99 skirts Black Butte (6,044') & cont. through cut-over forest land to WEED (3,466'), lumber town, at 244. Here is J. with US97 (see). 273. YREKA (prob. corruption of Ind., Wai-ri-ka, "mountain"). In 1851 gold was discovered at Black Gulch Camp by Abraham Thompson, which accounted for town's 1st boom. Early settlers narrowly escaped massacre by Inds., when pioneer woman, Klamath Peggy, travelled 20^m across mts. to warn them of impending attack. From Yreka US99 twists (N) through narrow gorge of Shasta R., crossing it back & forth as it proceeds. 281. US99 crosses KLAMATH BR. where Klamath R. joins Shasta R. US99 cont. (N) with views of Mt. Shasta (S) & Black Mt. (E) (5,270') in wild Siskiyou Range to ORE. LINE, 296.

US 97—CALIFORNIA

WEED, CAL. (N) to CAL.-ORE. LINE (21^m from Klamath Falls, Ore.). 57. US97 Via: Macdoel, Dorris. S.P. RR. & bus lines parallel route from Weed to Klamath Falls, Ore. US97, most direct route to pts. of int. in Cascade Range in Ore., branches (R) from US99 (see) at Weed & runs (NE) over volcanic lava-encrusted plateau, overshadowed by Mt. Shasta (S).

12. J. with poor dirt Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) 3.5m to J. with dirt Rd.

Take latter (L) 0.5m to trl. (not well marked) leading 0.5m to entrance of Pluto Cave, series of impressive underground lava caverns.

57. ORE. LINE.

CAL.-ORE. LINE (14m from Lakeview, Ore.) (S) to SAN DIEGO, CAL. 822.5 US395

Via: Alturas, (Susanville), (Reno & Carson City), Bridgeport, Bishop, Independence, Inyokern, Brown, San Bernardino & Escondido. RR. parallels route from Ore. Line to Ravensdale, from Litchfield to Susanville, from Doyle to Carson City, Nev., & from Nev. Line & Inyokern. RR. conns. in San Bernardino, Riverside & San Diego. Accoms.: In larger towns; otherwise limited.

This route, in its N. sec., traverses semi-arid reg. walled in by high mt. ranges to Nev. Line. It dips into Nev., via Reno & Carson City, returns to Cal. at Topaz L. & cont. along E. side of High Sierra Ridge. US395 makes J. with only two hys. (St.108 & St.120), crossing latter to San Joaquin Valley, but gives access to stub Rds. & trls., to passes & peaks of High Sierra & to Yosemite & Sequoia-Kings Canyon Nat. Pks. (W). It also conn. with Rds. to Death Valley Nat. Mon. (E). Then it crosses Mojave desert to San Bernardino, whence it cont. through rich, citrus-growing area & finally across low barren ranges, with access to Mt. Jacinto reg., to San Diego, on coast.

US395 crosses from Ore. into Cal. at PINE CREEK (4,900') 14m (S) from Lakeview, Ore. Route skirts (R) Goose L., usually dry, & (L) Warner Mts. (15,000'-10,000'). 14.5. SUGAR HILL with fine view of Goose L. 43.5. ALTURAS (4,446'), ranchers' trading center. There was considerable Ind. warfare in this reg. On Main St., hqs. of Modoc Nat. For. (1,500,000 ac. camp. deer h.f.), extending (N) from Alturas.

SIDE TRIP: Take US299 (R) from Alturas. 18m Canby, named for Gen. E. S. Canby, of Modoc war fame. 18.5m J. with St.139.

Take St.139 (R). 25.5m J. with dirt Rd. Turn (L) on this (travel advised May-Oct. only; carry extra tire). At 31m is entrance to Mammoth Cave (R), short distance from Rd., marked by jumble of lava rocks. 32m J. with unpaved Rd.; turn (L) on this. At 36m turn (R) on another Rd. At 38m boundary of Lava Beds Nat. Mon., rectangular area 10m long & 8m wide, dedicated 1925. It consists of labyrinth of caves & chasms, in which molten lava has hardened into strange shapes—arched bridges, fantastically sculptured rocks, some resembling animals. Caves, of which more than 100 have been explored, were formed when surface of lava hardened & still molten core drained away. In many of these underground galleries, delicate, lacelike traceries, & Ind. pictographs in red, green, or yellow-ochre decorate ceilings & walls; in some of deeper ones, frosted crystals, frozen waterfalls, or rivers of ice appear. This lava-covered reg. was formerly stronghold of warlike Modoc Inds. For 5 months in 1872-73, a band of warriors, never numbering more than 60, held off some 1,200 soldiers. During fighting 83 whites lost their lives, incl. Gen. E. R. S. Canby, commander, treacherously killed during truce parley, by Capt. Jack, Modoc chieftain (see Ft. Klamath, Ore.). 42m Indian Well (camp-ground & adm. hqs. for Mon. info. available from ranger during summer) is starting pt. for exploration (gasoline lanterns for use in caves avail.; in larger caves, guide line of strong twine should be fastened at entrance & unwound as exploration progresses; stout hiking boots essential). Opp. Adm. Hqs., at entrance to Labyrinth, a two-mile maze of tunnels, is Devil's Mush Pot, huge kettle of rock from which molten lava once flowed. Opp. entrance to Catacomb Cavern is Crystal Cave. At 43.5m is J. with unpaved Rd., narrow & winding, pitted with sharp lava fragments, which loops around Mon. (advised only for experienced drivers, with good tires) to chief pts. of int.: Big Painted Cave, Little Painted Cave, Skull Cave, Ship Cavern & White Lace Cave, Frozen R. Cave, Jack's Ice Cave, Fern Cave, Hospital Rock, Canby Cross, Gillier's Graveyard, Schonchin Butte, Bearpaw Cave.

From J. with St.139, US299 follows Pitt R. & then swings (S) across it to Canby Br. Camp (For. Service) & then ascends into Adin Mts. 28m For. Camp (R) at Adin Pass Summit (5,196'). 33m Indian Springs (fuel camp.). 40m Adin. Here is Big Valley Ranger Sta. Near-by are several For. Camps. 50m Basset Hot Springs. 61m Fine view of Bieber Ridge, snow-capped Mt. Shasta, Lassen Peak & Mt. Burney. 74m Fall River Mills (3,307'). Here, from diversion dam on Fall R., canal & tunnel direct the flow of water from Pitt & Fall Rs. to Pitt R. Canyon above Pitt Power H. No. 1 (see below). 78m J. with dirt Rd. leading (L) 1m to Pitt Canyon H. No. 1, in deep canyon, of Pacif. Gas & Elec. Co. From tunnel (see above) water is dropped through steel turbines 454'. Power is transmitted from here to Bay area. 83.5m J. with dirt Rd. leading (L) 3.5m to Cassel (2,050' store). Near-by dwell members of

Take latter (R) 7m to McArthur Mem. (Burney Falls) St. Pk. (335 as.camp.f.), surrounding 128' Burney Falls, where Lost R. plunges into mossy, pine-shaded gorge on way to near-by L. Britton.

90m Burney (3,159'). 96m Hatchet Mt. Lookout, with splendid view (4,368'). 141m J. with US99 (see).

US395 cont. (S) from Alturas. 63. LIKELY (4,500'). From here US395 climbs through pass bet. S. Fork Mt. & Tule Mt. (7,136') & then along Tule L. Reservoir. 128. HONEY L. VALLEY, walled in by lofty Sierra Nevada. 147.5. J. with St.36.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.36 (R) along Susan R. 4.5m Susanville (4,195';1853), lumber & cattle center. Isaac N. Roop & Peter Lassen discovered gold here, 1854, & settlement became typical mining camp. Settlers est. short-lived independent commonwealth here in 1856 which they called Nutaqua & which they later attempted to have incorporated with Nev. Cal. set up claim to reg. & result was armed clash in 1863; finally settled peaceably. Ft. Defiance, Weatherlow St., is still standing. This was Roop's cabin, later occupied by embattled advocates of annexation to Nev. In Susanville are hqs. of Lassen Nat. For.

St.36 cont. (W) to J. at 43m with St.89, with which it unites to J. at 66m (see US99), where St.89 branches (N) into Lassen Volcanic Nat. Pk. (see US99).

157. BUNTINGVILLE. Beyond (S) stretches vast Honey L., usually dry. 205.5. STOY JUNCTION at inters. with St.24.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.24 (R). At 2m Beckwourth Pass (5,220'), beyond which (S) lies Mt. Ina Coolbrith (8,311'). 17m Beckwourth. 34m Blairsden (4,500'), in winter sports area. Take Rd. (L) here 1.5m to Mohawk (all-yr.hotel, sulphur springs). 42m Jackson Cr. For. Camp (4,200';trlrs.). 59m Quincy, hst. mt. town, sett.1854.

Take Rd. (L) here 8m to Meadow Valley (accoms.summer) & at 17m Bucks (accoms. summer) on Bucks L. (5,071'). Here is Bucks For. Camp. (trlrs.).

60m Quincy For. Camp (3,500';trlrs.). St.24 soon traverses deep Feather R. Canyon, following N. Fork of R., magnificently picturesque. 73m Twain. 74m Hallsted Flat For. Camp (3,000';no trlrs.). 87m Belden, where is Belden For. Camp (2,500';trlrs.). 136m Oroville (see US99), at J. with paved hy. leading 7m to J. with US99 (see). St.24 turns (S), following Feather R. 165m Marysville at J. with US99E (see).

Sec. 2: NEV. LINE back to CAL. LINE. 83. For this sec. see US395 Nev.

Sec. 3: CAL. LINE to SAN BERNARDINO, 391.

0. TOPAZ L. Hy. enters Antelope Valley, crossing at 4. WALKER R., named for Capt. Jos. Walker, its discoverer (1834), who was 1st to cross Sierra Nevada westward. 16. Boundary of TOIYABE NAT. FOR. 20.5. SHINGLE MILL PUB. CAMP. 24. CHRIS FLATS PUB. CAMP. 28.5. J. with St.108.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) across Sierra Nevada through scenically magnificent reg. by way of several resorts, for. camps & mining towns. At 15m is Sonora Pass (9,642'). At 53.5m Strawberry (resort), at J. with dirt Rd.

Take latter (L) 2m to Pine Crest For. Camp on Strawberry L., near Eleanor L., both dominated by lofty cliffs. Also near Strawberry L. is Meadow View For. Camp (ample accoms., trlrs.).

64m Longbarn (5,000'.hotel.summer & winter resort). 83m Sonora (1,924'), at J. with St.49, conn. with US50 (see).

32. FALES HOT SPRINGS (accoms.). 40.5. HUNTOON PUB. CAMP. Route begins to climb again through fine country with views of snow-capped peaks. 45.5. BRIDGEPORT, former mining town & tourist center. 59.5. VIRGINIA L. JUNCTION (8,138'.gas sta.cabins). 69. MONO L. (supplies), whose waters are salt & alkaline. Its 2 ls. are remnants of former volcanoes. On shore is Monoville (resort), formerly boom mining town. 72. LEEVING. Just (S) of village is J. with St.120 (see Yosemite Nat. Pk.), which crosses Tioga Pass into Yosemite Valley. (S) of Leevining are to be seen Mono Craters (L). 99.5. J. with dirt Rd., at CASA DIABLO HOT SPRINGS.

SIDE TRIP: Take dirt Rd. (R) here 4m to Mammoth P. O. Just beyond is J. with another dirt Rd.

Turn (R) on latter 11.5^m to Devil's Post Pile Nat. Mon. (ranger sta. camp.), in which are volcanic cliffs of unique formation. Near Mon. (N) are Banner Peak (12,933'), Mt. Ritter (13,153') & dark, granite pinnacles known as Minarets & (S) lofty Rainbow Falls of San Joaquin R.

At 8^m on the main side Rd. is J. with another dirt Rd. Turn (R) or (L) here to Mammoth Ls. (8,931'f.), in former gold rush reg., now resort area. There are several For. Camps in vic. of Ls.

103. J. with dirt Rd. leading (R) 2.5^m to Convict L. (7,583'.resort.f.), dominated by Mt. Morrison (12,245'). On L. is Convict L. & Cr. For. Camp (7,600'.trlrs.). L.'s name derived from fact that some escaped convicts took refuge here, but were caught after gun battle. 111. J. with Rd. leading (R) to Rock Cr. L. (lodge), where is Rock Cr. For. Camp. 131.5. BISHOP (4,147') on Owen R., business center of valley & near-by mines (tungsten), also starting point for fish. & pack trips into Sierra.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.139 (R) from Bishop to J. with S. Fork Rd., 11^m, leading (L) 7.5^m to South L. (trout). St.139 cont. to L. Sabrina (trout) at 15^m.

At Bishop is J. with US6 (see), with which US395 unites for 123^m. US395 now traverses Owens Valley. 148. BIG PINE (4,002'), outfitting pt. for mt. trips.

SIDE TRIP: Take Big Pine Cr. Rd. (R) from Big Pine to Glacier Lodge, 12^m, & to trl. at 14^m leading to Palisades Glacier, 20^m.

163. ABERDEEN, starting point of $23,000,000 L.A. Aqueduct, extending 233^m (S). 176.5. INDEPENDENCE (3,925'). Here is E. Cal. Mus. (O.wks.), in basement of Cth., containing coll. of hist. documents, old newspapers, Ind. relics & natural hist. items. 192.5. LONE PINE (3,728'), starting pt. for Mt. Whitney & trls. to numerous lakes of the reg. (trout f.).

SIDE TRIP: Take St.190 (R) from Lone Pine along Lone Pine Cr. through Hunters Flat (accoms.h.) at 10^m. At 14^m Whitney Portal, end of motor Rd., & beginning of pack trl. Near here is Whitney Portal For. Camp (8,300'.trlrs.ample accoms.) At 18^m Outpost Camp (10,300'), dominated by lofty cliffs. Trl. now passes waterfalls. At 19^m Mirror L. From here trl. ascends through magnificent scenery & snowfields to Summit of Mt. Whitney (14,495') highest in U.S. (exclusive of Alaska), at 24^m. Magnificent view. From summit High Sierra Trl. cont. (W) 62^m to Crescent Meadow in Sequoia-Kings Canyon Nat. Pks. (see).

195. (S) J. with St.190, leading (L) to Death Valley Nat. Mon. (see). 201.5. BART-LETT on Owens L., important borax mining center. 217. OLANCHA, at J. with Rd. to Death Valley Nat. Mon. (see). 255.5. US395 branches (L) from US6 (see). 256. BROWN (2,400'). 265.5. INYOKERN (2,442'), whose pop. increased from 29 to 10,000 during World War II, due to its having become center for U.S. Navy experiments with new weapons. Here is J. with Trona Rd. to Death Valley Nat. Mon. (see). 290.5. J. with paved Rd. leading (R) 1^m to Randsburg, gold-mining center. Ore in Yellow Aster Mine, now "glory hole" 1,200' deep, yields abundant tungsten, as well as gold. 293. RED MT. (3,530'). Silver was discovered here in 1919, by a miner taking shelter from snow storm in a dugout. US395 soon crosses into Mojave Desert. At 363.5. J. with US66 (see) with which US395 unites to SAN BERNARDINO at 391. (For this stretch of Rd. & San Bernardino see US66.)

Sec. 4: SAN BERNARDINO to SAN DIEGO. 135.

Route from San Bernardino runs through rich citrus producing reg. 10. RIVERSIDE (see US60) at J. with US60, with which US395 unites for 5^m. 26. PERRIS (1,456') at J. with St.74.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.74 (L) to Hemet at 16^m near which are int. aboriginal rock paintings.

(1) Take State St. (R) from Hemet 2^m to Ramona Bowl, where is held annual pageant (Apr.&May), adapted from novel "Ramona."

(2) Take San Jacinto Ave. (L) from Hemet 2.5^m to San Jacinto, near Lakeview Mts. & Mt. Rudolph (2,629'). At 7^m is Gilman Hot Springs (resort). At 35^m J. with paved Rd. Turn (L) here to Idyllwild (5,300'.mt.resort.accoms.guides) at 39^m. In Idyllwild is For. Ranger Sta. & near-by (W) is Idyllwild For. Camp (5,300'.trlrs.). Beyond Idyllwild (N) on Idyllwild Rd. are For. Camps at 46^m, 54^m, 59^m, 63^m respectively (no trlrs.). At 67^m, Idyllwild Rd. makes J. near Banning with US60-70-99 (see).

St.74 cont. to J. at 70^m with St.111, running (L) 12^m to Palm Springs (see US60-70-99).

38. ELSINORE (resort). On Elsinore L., which during dry season shrinks considerably. 51. J. with Hawthorne St. leading (L) 3^m to Murrieta Hot Springs (resort.accoms). 56.5. TEMECULA. 58. J. with St.71.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.71 (L) 14^m to J. with St.79; turn (R) on latter. At 23.5^m, Old Grove Stage Coach Sta. (adobe), now tavern. 24^m Oak Grove Pub. Camp with fine oaks in Cleveland Nat. For. 29.5m Warner's Ranch, first stopover after crossing Colorado Desert in stagecoach days. It was owned by Juan José Warner, Connecticut Yankee, who acquired local Inds. after secularization of missions, with ranch; they worked for him, but not always of their own free will. 38.5m Warner Hot Springs (resort.accoms.). 42m J. with dirt Rd. leading (L) 1m to old Hqs. of Warner's Ranch & at 2m Old Butterfield Stage-Coach Sta. 52m Santa Ysabel Chapel on site of earlier one erected by Misión San Diego. 61m J. with good Rd. leading (R) 2.5m to Pine Hills Resort (accoms.). 61.5m Julian, once gold boom town, now center of resort area. 69.5m Cuyamaca St. Pk. & Lake. 82m J. with US80 (see).

58.5. J. with improved Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) through Pechanga Canyon to Pala (Ind. for water) at 9m, center for Pala Ind. Reserv. La Asistencia de San Antonio de Pala was est. here for Misión San Luis Rey. Ch. (O.fee.rest.) is still standing & has some int. Ind. murals & old statue of St. Anthony carved in wood. At 18m, Rincon, Ind. trading post, at J. with Rd. leading (R) 2m to Rincon Ind. Reserv., where is held 3-day Fiesta Aug. 24. Main Rd. cont. (L). At 23m is J. with "Hy. to the Stars."

Take latter (L) 7m to Crestline (camp.), at J. with dirt Rd. leading (L) 3m to Palomar St. Pk. (camp.). N. of Crestline, Hy. to the Stars ascends steeply & reaches Palomar Observatory, on Palomar Mt. (6,126'). Observatory, 128' high, contains famous 200" telescope, world's largest, costing more than $6,000,000, given by Rockefeller Foundation, which will make it possible to photograph stars & nebulae hitherto unknown.

US395 cont. to OCEANSIDE, J. at 80.5. with Mission Rd., leading (R) to Misión San Luis Rey, c.5m & to J. with US101 (see). 85. J. with St.78, leading (R) short distance & then (R) again to old Couts Adobe H. (1853) of Rancho Guajome, described in H. H. Jackson's, "Ramona." 98. ESCONDIDO (hidden valley). Here in Sept. is held Grape Day celebration. In Escondido is J. with St.78.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) 7.5m to San Pasquale Battlefield Mon., where occurred battle in 1846 bet. Brig. Gen. Kearney's forces & those of Gen. Andres Pico. At 54.5m Anza St. Pk. (400,000 as.). At 60.5m J. with Borego Valley Rd.

Take latter (L) to Palm Canyon Playground (camp.). An hour's walk up Palm Canyon leads to groves of Cal.'s only native palm, said to date back to pre-historic times. At 91.5m on St.78 is J. with US99 (see).

103. HODGES L. (boats.f.). 112. BIG STONE PK. (pic.fee per auto), scenically int.; there are many Ind. rock paintings in vic. 126. J. with dirt Rd. leading (L) c.0.5m to Misión San Diego Del Alcalá (O.fee), founded 1769 by Fray Junípero Serra & removed here from Presidio Hill, San Diego, 1774. It was 1st of missions built by Franciscans in Cal.; destroyed by Inds. in 1775; rebuilt in 1780. Ch. was ruined by earthquake, 1803, but bldgs. were rest. & enlarged by 1818. With secularization after 1835, mission declined. Present bldg. is restoration dating from 1931. Mus. contains relics & int. records, incl. Mss. of Fray Serra. 135. SAN DIEGO at J. with US101 (see).

Frank Norris, himself a San Franciscan, once wrote: "There are just three big cities in the U.S. that are story cities—New York, of course, New Orleans, & best of the three, San Francisco." What he probably meant was that S.F. had an undeniable & particular flavor of its own which derives less from unusual location & bigness than from picturesque history & has left its mark not only on the city, but also on the character of the people. Splendors of S.F. Bay, crowded with shipping from every quarter of globe, scenically rivalling Rio's harbor, have been described times without number. S.F. is center of vast communications system & financial heart of W. Coast, as New York is of E. Hundreds of factories line its metropolitan water front. Tall skyscrapers top its hills. Mighty bridges & tunnels link together municipalities of Bay reg., whose combined pop. exceeds 2,000,000, a pop. as cosmopolitan as that of N.Y. But what gives S.F. its peculiar quality & has left an unmistakable mark on its people is amount & variety of hist. it has managed to crowd into its scant 100 yrs. of existence.

In 1841, 30 families comprised entire pop. of village of Yerba Buena, near end of peninsula on which city now stands. Not until discovery of gold on Amer. R. in 1848 did tiny settlement burst its dingy chrysalis & begin its march, through sensational booms & busts, toward cosmopolis. Since then S.F. has never had one dull decade; its life span, covering not much more than three generations, has been more exciting than that of E. seaboard towns three times as old. All phases of Western life have been kaleidoscoped into that short period: the pioneer gold-rush, with its accompaniment of gambling joints, brothels, fabulous saloons & deadly brawls; vigilantes restoring order among free-shooting pop.; upsurge of Comstock & RR. millionaires, breaking out into rash of gaudy mansions on city's hill-tops, & equally gaudy social functions; spectacular feuds bet. financial robber barons, followed by equally spectacular crashes; periods of extravagant corruption alternating with energetic reform waves, accompanied by considerable gunplay; bitter labor wars, incl. disastrous bomb-explosion & at least one general strike; an influx of immigrants from every part of country, of gold miners, of Chinese imported to build RRs., of Swedes, Germans, Italians, Jews, French flooding in to benefit by city's phenomenal expansion; a literary & journalistic flowering that for short time in late 19th cent. threatened cultural primacy of Boston & N.Y.; a succession of devastating fires culminating in holocaust of 1906, after earthquake; phoenix-like resurgence & more recent period of great public works.

San Franciscans, as result of this motley experience, have some of traits of people inhabiting much older communities. They do not suffer from that disease of youth, an almost irresistible urge to brag. They take their city for granted & assume that visitors will appreciate its good points without being "boosted" into admiration. They also, probably because of their inheritance from pioneer days, have a quiet belief in the right of individual to live as he pleases. S.F., even today, cherishes its eccentrics &, in old days, odd characters—"George Washington" Coombs, self-styled Father of his Country, "The Great Unknown," "Emperor Norton," & street beggars of special vintage, "Old Misery" & "Old Rosy", to name only two—were cordially tolerated. Nor has Puritanism ever taken root in this community that once proudly boasted itself "the Wickedest City in the World." Old Barbary Coast, famous "Red-light," gambling & hoodlum district, was finally suppressed & S.F. is probably as "clean" as any American town of comparable size. But crusades to regulate public's morals & censorship of literature & art are not encouraged. Social snobbery could scarcely develop, either, in town where today's millionaire might be tomorrow's roustabout. Comstock Lode & fortunes acquired & lost with meteorlike rapidity are scarcely foundation on which to build up an exclusive social set.

S.F. is city at world's cross-roads. You can hear every language spoken along its busy sts. It has country's most int. Chinatown & a teeming Italian quarter in N. Beach sec. Its eating places are just as famous & much more varied than those of New Orleans. In S.F. you can eat at reasonable prices practically any kind of food you care to try. Like other great cities, it is home of distinguished educational, scientific, & cultural institutions. Although heyday of its literary glory has passed, there is still considerable group of writers & artists working in comparative independence of N.Y.

Finally, S.F. has special climate of its own. There are no extremes of heat or cold. Temperatures vary from a mean of 50°F. in Jan. to mean of 61.5° in Sept. But climatic paradox is that summer frequently has cooler weather than winter. High fogs make it advisable to have topcoat handy in Aug. Despite rainy season, which occurs bet. Oct. & May, city has plenty of sunshiny days, about as many as N.Y. But it offers no rebates to tourists for rainy or foggy ones. If you must have more sunshine, you can get it in suburbs which lie beyond fog belt, a few miles (S) down S.F. peninsula.

S.F.'s geographic location somewhat resembles that of Manhattan I. It has been built at tip of finger-like peninsula into which its 750,000 inhabitants are crowded by surrounding bodies of water—Pacific Ocean (W), Golden Gate through which Pacific pours its waters (N), & S.F. Bay (E). Consequently, although like Manhattan it has spilled over in all directions onto mainland, it has also been pushed skyward. It is city of medium-sized skyscrapers, many of them built on survivors of 21 hills which originally punctuated rough terrain that was city's site. Today, serrated towers of San Francisco, seen from Bay approaches, give it skyline rivaling that of Manhattan.

Physical obstacles to expansion have been even greater than Manhattan's. In addition to imprisoning bodies of water on 3 sides of peninsula, high hills within it have presented serious barriers to spread of population. These hills had to be tunnelled to give elbow-room. The peninsula, itself, had to be linked with mainland. Ferries conn. with cities on E. shore, Richmond, Berkeley, Oakland, Alameda & San Leandro, soon proved inadequate to growing traffic. Bridges were flung across S. arm of Bay. Finally, in 1930's, world's longest bridge was built from downtown district to Oakland & longest single-span suspension bridge erected across Golden Gate, conn. Presidio with Marin peninsula (N), to break last links of chain that imprisoned S.F. Oakland, on its part, had to be joined to Alameda by tunnel under Oakland Estuary, which separated these two cities. And wall of mts. that borders metropolitan area (E) had to be pierced to give access to back country.

But with its islandlike conformation, S.F.'s similarity to Manhattan ends. S.F.'s natural setting far surpasses that of N.Y. Ranges of mts. are visible on three sides: N., E., & S. Bet. mts. & ocean sprawls metropolitan district with long, narrow finger of peninsula separating Bay from ocean. Along Bay's E. shore, facing peninsula, extends an almost unbroken series of cities. Yerba Buena I. serves as footstool for S.F.-Oakland Bay bridge. At N. tip of peninsula, heights of Presidio face those of Marin opp., & both are connected across deep 1.5^m wide gap of Golden Gate by Golden Gate Br. Sinister Alcatraz & Angel I. lie beyond (E) where Golden Gate debouches into Bay. Along W. side of peninsula, Presidio heights are cont. (S), high above Pacific. Hys. running (S) from city along ridges of San Bruno Mts. afford panoramic views of surrounding country. Toward Bay (E), peninsula slopes down to low ground, once mud flats, today water-front district of piers & warehouses, edged by Embarcadero.

From city's hills—Telegraph Hill, which in pre-Morse era flashed semaphore signals to mainland, & which later became heart of Latin quarter; Russian Hill; Nob (short for Nabob) Hill, formerly covered with fantastic palaces of Comstock millionaires; Twin Peaks (S) & Mt. Davidson (SW)—views of metropolitan amphitheater are magnificent.

S.F. vic.'s first recorded discoverers were party of Gaspar de Portolá's expedition of 1769, which got as far as S.F. Bay. Portolá, himself, never saw it & reported that he could find no good harbor N. of Monterey. The Sp. royal standard was not raised on peninsula until 1776, when Juan Bautista de Anza arrived with group of 30 soldiers & their families. Presidio & mission were laid out, latter by Fray Junípero Serra. For 70 yrs., the little harbor settlement of Yerba Buena, at peninsula's tip, was all there was of today's great city. When new Republic of Mexico took over Alta Cal., Yankees began to drift into Bay reg. in considerable numbers. Due to growth of Russian threat from Ft. Ross, 100^m away (N), Amer. Gov. became concerned for future of Mexican province which was already coveted by our expanding republic. Andrew Jackson offered $3,500,000 for it, but offer was spurned by Santa Ana. Shortly after outbreak of Mex. War, in July 1846, Amer. frigate, "Portsmouth," landed marines on peninsula itself, & hauled up Stars and Stripes over Yerba Buena, which was promptly re-christened San Francisco.

The future metropolis had at this time a pop. of about 50 or 60. Now, even before gold rush, began influx of immigrants from E. Sam Brannan brought in group of Mormons, founded newspaper, speculated & grew rich & became an influential citizen, although he ended, in true S.F. pioneer style, as roustabout & disreputable drunkard. Discovery of gold on Amer. R. in 1848, emptied city of every able-bodied male. Following that first frenzied migration, came flood of gold-seekers from all over nation. Village metamorphosed almost over night into frontier town, with usual trimmings—gambling, prostitution, brawling, gun-play & devastating fires. Portsmouth Sq. & Barbary Coast were centers of uncontrolled vice & hoodlumism, which flourished in partnership with corrupt politics.

In 1851, more conservative elements organized a vigilance committee, which hanged worst offenders & drove out rest. But like most Amer. reform waves, this one soon ebbed & had to be revived in 1856 to deal with new accumulation of lawlessness that culminated in shooting of U.S. Marshal & a courageous editor who demanded that assassin be brought to justice. Reforms were inaugurated & vice & corruption were somewhat toned down but by no means altogether suppressed. S.F., with its Barbary Coast, still remained a "wicked" city, with flourishing red-light traffic & scandalous misgovernment. Character of political corruption, however, gradually changed. With rise of great speculative figures who fought for control of rich Comstock mines, RRs., & other sources of wealth, politicians became tools of big business. Period of terrific speculation, known as "Golden Era," set in, followed, inevitably, by equally sensational deflation. Failure of Bank of Cal. in 1875, burst bubble, & boom finally petered out altogether by 1877. Succeeding years of unemployment & discontent gave birth to Workingmen's Party, which went all out for reform. This movement culminated, in true S.F. manner, with shooting of an editor, DeYoung, who opposed reform leader, Isaac S. Kallach. But special interests, particularly S.P. RR., maintained their grip on city. Not until after earthquake & great fire of 1906 did crusaders succeed in prying them out of politics. Abe Ruef, head of corrupt political "system" which was in partnership with corporations, & his puppet mayor, were convicted & sentenced, & thereafter St. legislature finished clean-up job.

Most tremendous catastrophe S.F. ever experienced was, of course, earthquake & fire of 1906. There had been many devastating conflagrations before which destroyed sizable portions of town when it was still struggling out of its pioneer swaddling clothes, but at time of great fire, S.F. had reached maturity & was city of 450,000. Conflagration which followed earthquake destroyed some 497 blocks & 30,000 buildings. Not since Chicago holocaust had any Amer. city suffered misfortune of equal magnitude. But S.F. refused to be prostrated. Characteristic were placards on streets reading: "Don't talk earthquake. Talk business." Task of rebuilding began almost immediately. It was during years following fire that great public works, mighty bridges, tunnels & Hetch Hetchy development, to supply city with water & electric power, as well as most of skyscrapers were constructed. In 1917, by state law & city action, Barbary Coast was finally liquidated, & S.F. lost its most colorful, although least desirable, tourist attraction.

City's labor history has perhaps been almost as turbulent as its political. High point of early labor activities was movement, sometimes breaking out into violence, against cheap Chinese labor at time when Chinese comprised almost half S.F.'s factory workers. Process of organization continued vigorously from that time on, with early development of seamen's & water-front unions. Employers put up stiff opposition. Workers countered by entering politics, not always with fortunate results. In 1906, Union Labor Party succeeded in electing as mayor, Eugene Schmitz, member of Musicians' Union; but Schmitz became tool of Abe Ruef, corrupt political boss, & both were indicted during reform wave following fire. In 1916, longshoremen struck for higher wages. While strike was on, explosion of bomb during Preparedness Day parade occurred, killing a number of people. Two labor leaders, Mooney & Billings, were accused, convicted & jailed. After more than two decades of agitation, based on firm belief that these two had been "rail-roaded," they were finally pardoned by Gov. Culbert Olson.

However, labor had suffered serious setback. Employers, banded together in Industrial Assocs., succeeded in curbing growth of unions & breaking strikes. With enactment of Nat. Recovery Act, in 1934, labor movement revived. In same year, longshoremen's strike, led by Harry L. Bridges, ended by involving all workers in general work stoppage which completely paralyzed city. In 1938 labor once more demonstrated its political power, when Culbert Olson, backed by Unions as well as other elements, was elected Gov. World War II brought truce between employers & workers in S.F. as elsewhere; & since the war there have been perhaps fewer labor disturbances, aside from nation-wide strike of maritime workers, than in other great industrial regs.

Most of city's more important cultural institutions post-date 1850's. Univ. of S.F., founded under Catholic auspices, was est. in 1855, but was not chartered as univ. until 1859. Stanford Univ., founded & richly endowed by that Horatio Alger product of "Golden Era," Leland Stanford, was est. in 1885 at Palo Alto, one of city's southern neighbors; Univ. of Cal., growing out of an earlier local college, est. in 1855, was chartered in Berkeley across Bay, 1869. Several women's colleges, notable among which is Mills, in Oakland, had their beginnings in 1850's.

Literary upsurge was delayed until late 1860's & succeeding decades. Roster of writers of this era, native or adopted San Franciscans, is impressive: Bret Harte & Mark Twain; Joaquin Miller; Frank Norris, whose early novel, "McTeague," deals with local scene, & whose "The Octopus" is concerned with state-wide struggle of farmers against S.P. RR.; Jack London, who, while working in Oakland cannery or as an oyster pirate, developed special social philosophy that inspires his books; Gertrude Atherton, who wrote whole series of works about Cal. scene; Henry George, who migrated to Cal. in 1858, became editor of S.F. newspaper & wrote his epoch-making "Progress & Poverty," in S.F.; Ambrose Bierce, who wrote his bitter column, "The Wasp," in "The Argonaut" and "S.F. Examiner," & did most of his work in S.F., until his mysterious disappearance in Mexico; Wallace & Will Irwin, who celebrated S.F.'s Chinatown; Kate Douglas Wiggin, who was one of founders of city's 1st kindergarten; Rbt. Louis Stevenson, who spent some time in S.F. & haunted Merchants' Exchange, from whose exciting speculations he derived material for his "The Wreckers." Many of these were not native San Franciscans; others deserted city & state when they achieved fame. But their output was to great degree concerned with S.F. & Cal. backgrounds, & bore regional stamp & flavor.

S.F.'s achievements in graphic arts have been, perhaps, less exciting than her literary flowering. But from days of the Cal. School, which specialized in vast panoramic landscapes, to our own times, a great variety of work has been turned out, much of it, derivative, some of it distinguished by originality. Today S.F. has a group of honest & independent artists expressing themselves in original terms rather than those derived from foreign sources. City has produced several outstanding sculptors, among them, Douglas Tilden & his pupil Rbt. I. Aitken, who executed many public mons.; Ralph Stackpole, considered leader of contemporary school of sculpture; & Beniamino Buffano, S.F. art world's most controversial figure, whose stainless steel "Sun Yat-sen" stands in Chinatown. Cal. Institute of Fine Arts is principal art school. Various other institutions present exhibs. of classic & contemporary art. Civil Works Administration & Federal Art Project, 1934-42, furnished considerable stimulus to development of local art, & were responsible for fine mural decorations in a number of public bldgs., notably in Coit Tower & Aquatic Pk. Casino Lobby. Golden Gate Internat. Exposition of 1939, notable for its murals & sculpture, also provided stimulus.

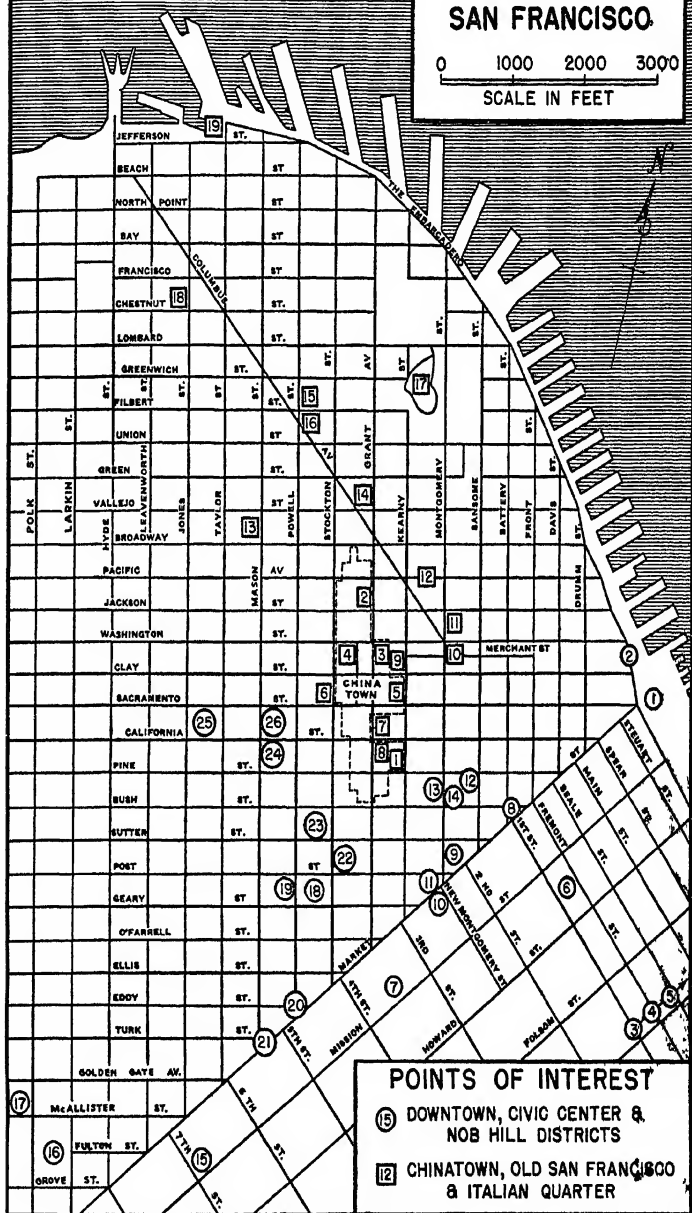

S.F. has in its day had a rich theatrical history. David Belasco served his apprenticeship in old Baldwin Theater. Isadora Duncan was born in S.F. & did her first dancing here. But living drama, as elsewhere, has been killed by mass production of movies. There are several non-professional groups producing new plays. City has an excellent symphony orchestra, municipally subsidized, & a grand opera season, as well as frequent concerts & recitals.

CHINATOWN, OLD SAN FRANCISCO, & ITALIAN QUARTER: Chinatown is roughly bounded (S) by Bush St., (N) by Pacific St., (E) by Kearney St., & (W) by Powell St. Grant Ave. cuts across it (N & S) & is its main shopping thoroughfare. Orig. Oriental city was destroyed several times by fire, but 1906 conflagration wiped it out completely. New "town" with its native architecture & glitter of lights is more attractive than old settlement, although it no longer has glamor of opium dens, "slave girls" & tong wars. Chinese originally came to S.F. during gold rush & following decades, until Chinese Exclusion Act in 1882 ended immigration. In old days quarter enjoyed sinister reputation for picturesque crime & vice. By 1927, however, settlement had been cleaned up & today is bustling Oriental city of 16,000 comprised, in about equal numbers, of old Chinese clinging to ancient customs & young people of Amer. birth adapting themselves to Amer. ways. In this area of not much more than 12 square blocks are crowded shops with variety of Chinese goods, restaurants whose menus offer strange dishes, markets crammed with exotic food stuffs & "joss" houses, still centers of quarter's religious life. Chief festival, which lasts 17 days, is that of New Year. On 7th day takes place Dance of Dragon, spectacular parade along Grant Ave.

Oakland, on E. side of S.F. Bay, is important port & industrial city, although many of its inhabitants commute to S.F. With Berkeley, San Leandro, Hayward, Emeryville, Piedmont & Alameda, it forms one solid city on Bay, backed by Berkeley Hills, along whose ridges runs Skyline Blvd., one of most int. scenic drives of vic. In city's heart lies L. Merritt (salt water) surrounded by Lakeside Pk. & Peralta Pk. City's pop. is of highly diverse origins, incl. Portuguese, Italians, Mexicans, Negroes, Chinese & Filipinos. Oakland stands on former Rancho San Antonio, granted Luis Maria Peralta in 1820. During gold rush many of immigrants from E. squatted on rancho lands. In early 1850's Horace W. Carpentier acquired considerable holdings within what are now city's limits, including entire water front; it was not till 1910 that, after extensive litigation, title to these properties reverted to city. During two World Wars, Oakland's industries developed greatly & today it is one of chief industrial centers & ports of Cal. City is connected by S.F.-Oakland Bay bridge with S.F. & by tunnel with Alameda (S).

Berkeley is situated on E. shore of S.F. Bay. At E. end of city is campus of Univ. of Cal. Berkeley, although many of its citizens work in S.F., is also industrial center. City is located on former Rancho San Antonio, granted to Peralta family, 1820. In 1923, considerable portion of sec. lying N. of Univ. campus was destroyed by fire. Berkeley's council-manager form of government is regarded as model in mun. administration.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) Univ. of Cal. Campus of 530 as. extends from Oxford St. (E) to hills & from Hearst Ave. (S) to Bancroft Way. Campus affords fine views of Bay. Univ. had its beginnings in 1853 in Contra Costa Academy of Oakland, founded by Henry Durant, which in 1860 became College of Cal. In 1860, charter was granted & in 1869 Univ. was actually opened. It is coed. & has one of largest enrollments of Amer. univs. Newer bldgs. on campus are for most part neo-Class. Especially noteworthy among bldgs. on Lower Campus are: Wheeler Hall (arts & sciences); Life Sciences Bldg. (neo-Class. by Arthur Brown) containing, in addition to laboratories, Mus. of Vertebrate Zoology & Herbarium; Agric. SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) to Mill Valley, 2m, at base of Mt. Tamalpais. Cont. (L) from Throckmorton Ave. in Mill Valley, on Cascade Ave., to J. with Muir Woods Rd. at 4.5m.

Take latter (L) 1.5m to Muir Woods Nat. Mon. (427 as. pic.), grove of redwoods in Redwood Canyon. Some of trees are 2,000 yrs. old & 250' high. In addition to redwoods, there is rich variety of other Cal. trees & plants. Pk. was named for John Muir, explorer of Cal. mts. & advocate of establishment of Nat. Pks.

At J. with Muir Woods Rd. (see above), main side trip swings sharply (R) along abandoned roadbed of Mt. Tamalpais & Muir Woods RR., known as crookedest in world. At 9.5m Panorama Gate, whence toll Rd. turns (R). At 10.5m, Mountain Theater, on slope of Mt. Tamalpais, in forest of redwoods. Fine view of S.F. Bay & Ocean. Plays are produced here on 3rd Sun. in May (fee). Toll Rd. cont. along slopes of Mt. Tamalpais' three crests to Tamalpais Tavern at 12.5m. Here magnificent view. Although mt. is less than 3,000' high, it appears much higher because it rises directly from sea level. Entire mt. is game refuge; deer graze on its slopes.

13.5. GREENBRAE

SIDE TRIP: Take Rd. (R) here 2.5m to San Quentin Prison (O.9-2:30 wks. to persons entitled to visit prisoners, guided tours Thurs.). San Quentin's most famous prisoner was Tom Mooney, accused of & sentenced for 1917 Preparedness Day explosion in S.F., pardoned 1939.

16. SAN RAFAEL, S.F. suburb which owes its existence to Misión de San Rafael Arcangel, founded 1817, 20th of the missions. Present mission bldgs. are restorations. 38. PETALUMA (Ind. "beautiful view") has sometimes been called Chickaluma because it is center of chicken & egg producing reg. In Petaluma's scientific chicken farms, eggs are hatched in mechanical incubators & chicks raised in heated brooders. Largest establishment has yearly output of 1,800,000 fledglings. On city's main st., Chicken Pharmacy, devoted to sale of poultry remedies.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.12 (N) 3.5m to Sonoma, est. by Sp. as frontier protection against advance of Russ. colonization. Here in June 1823, Padre José Altamira chose site for Misión de San Francisco de Solano. Pueblo was built around plaza by Alferez Mariano Vallejo, 1835. On June 14, 1846, band of three dozen armed gringos acting, probably, on orders from U.S. Capt. Fiemont, broke into town & proclaimed Republic of Cal., raising hastily improvised homespun strip of red flannel on which was painted star & grizzly bear, emblem of new commonwealth. Insurgents were not aware of fact that war had already been declared on Mexico. On July 9, Amer. flag was raised in town. In 1856, Hungarian immigrant, Agoston Haraszthy, planted vineyards near town, which thereafter became wine-growing center. On plaza, besides modern Cth. & City Hall, is Big Bear Flag Mon., by John MacQuarrie, sculptor. Adj., Misión de San Francisco de Solano, now St. Mon. (O.rest.1910-14.int.exter.&inter.), containing pioneer relics & specimens of Ind. handicraft. At 217 Spain St. E., Blue Wing Inn, built in early 1840's, reputedly oldest hotel (N) beyond S.F. Spain St. E. & 1st St. E., Sonoma Barracks (1836.adobe). Next door, Vallejo H. (adobe), home of Gov. Mariano Vallejo. At Spain St. W. & 1st St. W., Hotel Eldorado (1848-49 adobe.wooden 2nd story add.). SW. cor. of Plaza, Fitch H., built by Vallejo's brother-in-law, Jacob P. Leese. Main St. W., frame & adobe Ray H., in which U.S. army officers lived.

Turn (R) from Sonoma on 3rd St. W. 0.5m to Vallejo H. (O.St.Hist.Mon.), built by Vallejo, 1851. He called it Lachrymae Montis (tears of the mt.) because its water supply came from mt. spring. Near-by is Vallejo Mus. (O.1850) containing hist. relics. St.12, known as Valley of the Moon Hy., cont. From a sleepy little Mexican village of 1,850, Los Angeles, in less than a century, has grown to be 3rd largest city in U.S. & one of nation's greatest ports & industrial centers. Metropolitan area of L.A. Cty. has total pop. of more than 3,000,000. Angelenos boast that city has doubled in size every decade. In its amoeba-like growth it has spread in all directions, until today it reaches from ocean to ft. of coastal ranges, incl. within its limits, 451 sq. miles. Adj. to it, in wide periphery, are a number of considerable municipalities which really constitute part of metropolitan complex.

Founded late in 18th cent. by Sp., it is one of oldest cities of W. Coast &, because of its meteoric expansion, also one of youngest. Out of 1,000 Angelenos you meet, probably not one has been born in L.A. Pop., although comprised of elements from all over globe, has been recruited for most part from various secs. of U.S. If New York is melting pot of Europe, L.A. is melting pot of U.S. During last 50 yrs., people from all over country have streamed into city. This immigration has, paradoxically, reversed usual Amer. pattern. First immigrants belonged to better-to-do classes, people who wanted to build themselves new homes in an all-year-round pleasant climate, invest in development of resources & speculate in real estate. They came, not in covered wagons, but in Pullmans. Next wave of immigrants consisted of businessmen & people in middle circumstances, to great extent retired farmers from Middle W. Only in later period came workers attracted by job opportunities in new industries. A large number of Negroes were part of this last migration, as well as many farm families evicted by drought in "dust bowl." Possibilities of jobs in factories & on great fruit & truck ranches also attracted flood of Mex. Today, L.A. has pop. derived from every St., incl. 150,000 Negroes. Mex. element, made up of a few descendants of orig. settlers but mostly more recent arrivals, numbers some 300,000. There is still a small Chinatown & Japanese, who were evicted during World War II, have recently returned.

L.A., probably because of heterogeneous character of its people, has always been famous as nursery of strange cults & fads, mushrooming overnight to nation-wide proportions & frequently withering as rapidly: Krotana, est. as home of Occultism in 1911, in heart of what is today Hollywood; "New Thought" movement; Aimee Semple MacPherson, who accumulated 30,000 followers, built $1,500,000 temple & maintained broadcasting station that cost $75,000; the great "I Am" movement, with nation-wide following of 300,000 in 1930's; & "Mankind United," founded in 1934. Social Utopias have flourished here as luxuriantly as region's flora under irrigation: Townsend Old Age Pension Plan which was to insure older people a large monthly income; "Ham & Eggs" movement, which was to give everybody a weekly $30 pay envelope—in "scrip"—a movement whose program narrowly escaped adoption by voters; & Upton Sinclair's EPIC movement, which was built more rationally on social ideology & almost elected its proponent to governorship in 1934.

Although general public still thinks of L.A. as setting for Hollywood, the film capital, actually L.A.'s host of other industries—oil exploitation, food processing, airplane & tire manufacturing, auto assembly plants, textile & furniture factories & shipping—are beginning to overshadow movies. City's industrial growth has been something of a miracle. Southern Cal. possessed no natural resources whatsoever—no lumber, no minerals, no coal. Hinterland was desert. It was not strange, therefore, that cinema should have been 1st industry, since it required nothing for its development exc. maximum of sunshine. The other orig. industry was conn. with exploitation of climate. Thousands of newcomers were attracted by intensive advertising campaigns extolling S. Cal.'s sunshine & scenery. However, two essentials to industrial & agricultural development were at hand. Early settlers made the desert in immediate vic. of city bloom by using water from L.A. River for irrigation. Later, artesian wells tapped underground sources, & diversion of streams has further contributed to irrigation of semi-arid lowlands. Today, city is center for one of richest agricultural regs. of country. Impounding of rivers by great dams, most recently by Boulder Dam, 400^m away, has supplied city not only with water but also with electric power. This power has been richly supplemented by oil discovered after 1st decade of century. When World War II broke out, L.A. had means at hand out of which was created tremendous industrial boom. Since 1940, pop. has almost doubled. Although city originally had no port, the Gov., in cooperation with municipality, has built one of finest harbors in country at San Pedro, which is becoming one of nation's most important shipping centers.

L.A. was founded in 1781 by Sp. Gov. Felipe de Neve & Fathers of San Gabriel Mission. They christened new settlement "El Pueblo de Nuestra Senora, la Reina de Los Angeles de Porciuncula," which is quite a mouthful in comparison with the current, "L.A." The new pueblo grew slowly, although surrounding lands were quickly distributed in great blocks to missions & a few favored individuals. Yankee traders began to filter in during early 19th cent. & their economic penetration continued on increasing scale, after Mex. revolution & right down to Amer. annexation. Secularization of missions in 1835, resulting in division of vast land holdings, probably stimulated city's growth. During Mex. War the "Californians" put up stiff resistance to Amers., capturing an Amer. garrison in the city & driving off attacking force of U.S. troops. It was not until several bloody battles had been fought that "Stars & Stripes" were permanently hauled up over the pueblo.

Like most pioneer towns of West, L.A., in era following Mex. War, developed reputation as "wide open" city, where gambling, prostitution & trigger vindication of private rights generally prevailed. Ind. workers, coming in from vineyards over weekends, were victims rather than instigators of lawlessness. Grog shops in San Gabriel, which they frequented, did smashing business. "By four o'clock on Sun. aft., L.A. streets would be crowded with a mass of drunken Inds., yelling & fighting . . ." Three or four revellers were murdered each wk. Finally, Inds. would be herded by marshall into a compound to sleep off their spree. Then they were sold for another week, into peonage, & their surplus earnings would be paid once more at the week-end, in aguardiente. Chinese also were victims of local persecution & violence, culminating, Oct. 24, 1871, in one of worst race riots of Amer. hist. Nineteen Orientals were lynched & Chinese shops & homes were thoroughly looted. This appears to have been last actual lynching in city. (L.A. Chinatown, during 1st decade of 20th cent., played important role in organization of Chinese Rev. Homer Lee, Lt. Gen. in Imperial Chinese Reform Army, was one of most picturesque figures in city of 1900-11 period, & was responsible for establishment of Western Military Academy which trained officers in U.S. for future Chinese Rev. Army. His hqs. were at Lankershim Hotel. Sun Yat-sen visited L.A. several times. Lee went with Sun to China after outbreak of 1911 Rev. He returned for visit in 1912 & died there same yr.)

Coming of RRs. in '70's & '80's precipitated 1st great boom. As result of rate war, Santa Fe reduced its passenger fares from Missouri to $1.00. Terrific land speculation followed, which ended in disaster, c.1888, when values nose-dived & lots that had sold for thousands reverted once more to desert sage brush. Said one ruined speculator: "I had half a million dollars wiped out &, what is worse, $500 of it was cash." Other minor booms succeeded. Campaign of advertisement of S. Cal. continued. Millions of pieces of literature were sent out to lure immigrants. The reg. was played up not only as summer, but also as winter, resort. Increase in irrigation turned desert into a garden. Oil was discovered & city sprouted derricks even in residential districts; finally derricks had to be excluded from grounds of public bldgs. by ordinance. Hollywood sprang up as movie capital of world. Next major boom occurred during 1920's. Most gaudy of oil speculators of period was Col. Chauncey C. Julian, whose fraudulent wildcat companies crashed in 1927, wiping out $150,000,000 contributed by 40,000 investors. The 1929 nation-wide depression merely climaxed "bust" of 1927. The suicide rate went up alarmingly. From bridge in Arroyo Seco, 79 people jumped to death, till finally structure had to be enclosed by barbed wire. Early 1930's were punctuated with scandals which sent former financial tycoons to San Quentin jail. Most recent boom has been that of World War II, which added more than 650,000 to city's pop. & has transformed it into an industrial beehive.

L.A. is situated on a semi-arid plain about 25^m from sea, flanked on E. by magnificent coastal ranges. Dry countryside has been transformed to fertility—anything will grow here—by irrigation. Problem of water has, of course, been perennial & large projects for making supplies available have been undertaken. Owens R., 250^m away, has been tapped. This enriched owners of San Fernando Valley land but ruined farmers of Owens Valley, whose ranches were deprived of R.'s water, a loss for which they were never compensated. More recently, L.A. has gone 400^m (E) to Boulder Dam for new water supply. Nevertheless, need for water will continue as major problem. Artesian wells have dangerously lowered level of sub-surface supplies. Destruction of plant coverings on mountainsides results in floods during rainy season & tends to lessen available water during dry season.

Unplanned expansion has been curse of L.A. as it has of many Amer. municipalities. Few steep hills that punctuate its more crowded sections have been preserved as parks; many of these hills have been horribly gashed by bulldozers gouging out streets & hys. These eminences might have afforded splendid vistas of city's magnificent mt. backdrop. But no amount of careless expansion could destroy L.A.'s lovely environment. A short drive will take autoist to Griffith Pk., N. of Hollywood, from whose heights are glorious panoramic views. Somewhat longer excursions will take him into San Gabriel Mts. & to Mt. Wilson (7,510'), or through San Gabriel & N. Fork Canyons to Crystal L. (5,700'). A somewhat more extended drive, through citrus groves of San Gabriel Valley, will transport him into San Bernardino Nat. For., past lofty peaks & lakes, to San Bernardino Mt. reg. (10,666'). With climate in direct competition with Miami's (Angelenos chuckle with delight when Florida frosts are reported, the 6-inch snow of Jan. 1949 is regarded as an irrelevant anomaly), out-of-doors life becomes a habit & tourism is one of important local sources of income.

L.A., like many Amer. cities, suffers from traffic congestion which is considerably enhanced by fact that there are no subways or other rapid transit facils. It is city of magnificent distances in which one must have an auto to get around easily. On the other hand, lack of these facils. has had beneficial effect. It has broken up city into a number of autonomous shopping centers. L.A. really consists of a group of cities—Hollywood, Wilmington & San Pedro, within municipal limits, & Long Beach, Pasadena, Glendale, Santa Monica & Beverly Hills crowding in from suburban periphery. L.A.'s unprecedentedly rapid growth has resulted in a considerable architectural hodgepodge—late Vict. & Grant period, before 1900, & universal rash of Sp. Missions in next decades, as well as demented aberrations of individual fantasy related to no style at all. More recently, however, trend toward modern functional has contributed a note of sanity. The bungalow & its off-shoot, the bungalow-court, are welcome & pleasant features of L.A.'s architectural scene. One would have expected that a municipality, largely product of 20th cent., would have suffered from conspicuous-waste disease of the skyscraper. But a sensible zoning law restricting bldg. heights to 150' has kept this source of congestion to minimum. There is only one real skyscraper, City Hall, 32 stories high.

L.A., because of its slow early development, but also because reg. at first depended on cheap labor of Inds., Chinese & Mexs., developed labor movement rather late in its hist. Continuous influx of immigrants was probably an additional reason for non-success of first attempts at union organization. Strikes occurred intermittently from 1890 on. But wages remained from 30 to 40 percent lower than in S.F. Merchants & Manufacturers Assoc., an amalgamation of two earlier employers' organizations, under leadership of Harrison Gray Otis, owner of L.A. Times, built up strong front against labor organizers. In 1909, city adopted drastic anti-picketing ordinance which led to serious clashes bet. workers & police. Then in Oct. 1910, during strike at L.A. Times, occurred disastrous bomb explosion. Sentiment, even after the explosion, was swinging toward strikers. In mun. election, socialist candidate, Job Harriman, received impressive vote. But when strike leaders, the McNamara brothers, confessed that they were responsible for bomb explosion, bitter reaction set in & till 1930's, Otis & Merchants & Manufacturers Assoc. could boast that L.A. was "white spot" of the country. From 1920-24, Merchants & Manufacturers Assoc. ruled despotically. State criminal syndicalist laws were invoked with crushing effect against radicals. Even as late as 1933-34, L.A. listed only 30,000 union members as against S.F.'s 200,000. Real strength of movement only developed after 1936, with creation of NRA. Since then, due in part to growth of industries that have already been well-unionized elsewhere, the picture has changed & union membership compares favorably with that in other great cities. Today even movie industry is organized, with membership of more than 12,000. Not unrelated to labor situation, & certainly somewhat in old pattern of city's behavior toward foreign racial elements, were anti-Mexican, so-called "Zoot-suit" riots in 1943, during which gangs, without interference from police, attacked Mexicans, Filipinos & Chinese. Riots lasted several days.

Mexs. pose a serious problem. They are, for most part, recent immigrants, unassimilated. They live in incredible slums; equal employment opportunities have at times been denied them; they benefit too little from city's social welfare organizations. Negroes, who are also discriminated against, & Mexs. combined add up to some 500,000.

Intelligentsia which migrates seasonally to Hollywood, tempted by inordinate salaries, has spread abroad the prevailing impression that L.A. is a dizzy metropolis composed of great movie studios run in weird confusion; sensational film "openings"; famous "hot night-spots," gaudy restaurants, & fabulous palaces of movie stars & magnates; "Bar-B-Q" open air eateries, crazy cults & equally fantastic architecture. But, by & large, this is a distorted picture. Bulk of city's pop. lives & works soberly, just as most Amers. do elsewhere. Nor are L.A. & cities that constitute its metropolitan area, by any means a cultural desert. There are several excellent orchestras; "Symphonies under the Stars" in huge Hollywood Bowl are famous. There are art museums with fine colls. & frequent exhibits of classic & contemporary art. Public school system is excellent; in city itself & in near-by centers are many outstanding institutions of higher learning. Notable among these are Univ. of Southern Cal., Univ. of Cal. at L.A. & Cal. Technological Institute, several of whose faculty members have been Nobel Prize winners. City has fine hospital & medical facils. & beautiful pks. & recr. areas.

In middle of 19th cent., Boston regarded N.Y. much as Easterners today regard L.A. Later it was N.Y. which sniffed at Chicago's uncouth manners. Today older communities E. of Miss. R., as well as San Francisco, display a certain annoying condescension toward their youngest rival. That is an attitude that L.A., prosperous & still expanding, can probably afford to ignore.

Coliseum (by John & Donald Parkinson), seating 105,000, here various sport events take place; in 1932, 10th Internat. Olympiad was held here.

HOLLYWOOD: District, N. of Wilshire Sec. (see above), is bounded (W) by Beverly Hills, (E) by L.A. proper & (N) by Santa Monica Mts. Hollywood Blvd., running E. & W., is main thoroughfare & midway along it, at Vine St., are shops, booking agencies, hotels, "hot spots," restaurants & theaters. Along W. Sunset Blvd. is what is known as "the strip" where there are more theater agencies, night clubs & expensive specialty shops. Although Hollywood is movie capital of world, most of large studios have migrated to near-by suburbs & many of film celebrities have their luxurious homes in Beverly Hills & elsewhere. Until 1911, city was just L.A. suburb. Then came the movie studios. Town boomed incredibly during 1920's. Today, Hollywood's pop. is largely dependent on film industry & broadcasting companies, which have established stations here. But city is also important music publishing center, making transcriptions of musical reviews for radio programs & millions of records. Recently, it has also become a leader in women's styles.

Valley (3,985'), only fraction of pk's. area, but most visited, is U-shaped trough 7m long with average width of 1m. It lies 3,000' below rim of pk. Merced R. flows through valley. Two main canyons bisect pk. (E & W): Yos. Valley in S. sec. & Grand Canyon of Tuolumne R. in N. sec. During Ice Age, glaciers jammed Yos. Valley & gouged out river canyons. Great Rs. of ice, 2,000' thick, advanced through Little

Yos. Valley & Tenaya Canyon to form trunk glacier at head of valley, 3,000' thick, that filled chasm with slowly grinding mass of ice reaching to El Portal. When Ice Age ended, glaciers melted & left deep L. 5^m long in Yos. Valley, dammed by terminal moraine near El Capitan (see below). Streams & melting glaciers above it soon filled Valley with debris & sand, forming present valley floor. In 1864 Congress granted Yos. Valley & Mariposa Grove to Cal. as St. Pk. In 1890 it established Yos. Nat. Pk. & in 1906 Yos. St. Pk. was incorporated in it.

Sequoia-Kings Canyon Nat. Pks. are notable for some of finest Cal. "big trees" (Sequoia gigantea). They have, in addition, fine scenic features, of which most sensational are Kings & Kern R. Canyons. They extend from Kings R. headwaters (N), encompassed in Kings R. Canyon sec. of pks., to Tule R. headwaters (S). Tallest peaks of High Sierra, barely dominated by Mt. Whitney (14,495'), highest pt. in continental U.S., bound them (E) & foothills of Sierra (W). Bisecting pks. (N.&S.) is jagged granite ridge, Great Western Divide, on W. side of which are pks.' major accoms. & most popular attractions, motor Rds., & shorter trls. Here, at 4,000-8,000' elevations, are groves & forests of Cal. "big trees." Paralleling Great Western Divide for 25m, about half-way bet. it & crest of Sierra, is 3,000' deep Kern R. Canyon. Even more spectacular is Kings R. Canyon, 10m long, 2,500'-5,000' deep, which, with Middle Fork, runs through N. sec. Latter has been preserved as wilderness area, reached only by trls. In E. sec. of Pks. are high mt. lakes of glacial origin & mountain sides of exposed rock & great, irregular granite ridges, cleared of earth & vegetation by ice thousands of years ago.

First official exploration of reg. began c. 1861, in N. sec. In 1873 Mt. Whitney was climbed for first time &, in 1885 an attempt was made by group which planned to found socialist community to stake out claims within what are now pks.' boundaries. Gov. suspended entire district from entry & in 1890 created Sequoia & Grant Nat. Pks. by act of Congress. For 15 yrs. both pks. were administered by military officers in face of considerable opposition from sheep & cattlemen who had been using reg. for grazing. In 1914 civilian administration took over. In 1926 Mt. Whitney-Kern district was added. In 1940 an act of Congress combined Sequoia & Grant Nat. Pks. under present name. One of chief attractions of pks. are groves of Sequoia gigantea, so named to distinguish this tree from related coast species, Sequoia sempervirens. Gigantea never exceeds c.330' in height & its extreme diameter above root swellings averages c.27'. It is estimated that age of largest living specimens range from 1,500 to 3,000 yrs. Its foliage somewhat resembles that of incense cedar. On mature trees bark is from 1' to 2' thick, separated into long parallel ridges that give trunk appearance of immense fluted column. There are 32 "big tree" groves within pks.

SEQUOIA-KINGS CANYON TOUR

ASH MT. ENTRANCE to CEDAR GROVE. 70. Generals Hy. & St.180.

0. Pk. boundary (37.5m (E) from Goshen Junction at US99 via St.198). 1. ASH MT. PK. HQS. 3. CAMP POTWISHA, former Ind. village, with mortar holes in which Inds. ground meal, visible in flat rocks below Rd., & well-preserved pictographs on cliffs above. Rd. now follows Middle Fork of Kaweah R. At 5. HOSPITAL ROCK CAMP (all yr.cabins.camp.). Bldg. houses Mus. in which are some Ind. artifacts & relief map of pks., showing all major Rds. & trls. In front of main bldg. of Giant Forest Village is sec. of Sequoia tree, estimated to have been c.1,705 yrs. old.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) Take ft. path (L) from Village, short distance to Beetle Rock, from which fine view.

(B) Take Rd. (R) from Village. At short distance from latter is J. with another Rd. Take latter (L) 0.5m to Bear Hill (bears fed daily at 2:30 ranger nature talk at 3). This Rd. cont. past Hazelhurst Pic. Area (see below) to rejoin Generals Hy. At 1m, Auto Log, huge fallen big tree onto which auto may be driven. Just beyond, on this Rd., Trinity Cor. Here main route goes (R) 1.5m to Morro Rock (6,719'); magnificent view from summit, especially at sunset. At 2m J. with paved Rd.

Take latter (R) 0.1m to Parker Group, small grove of giant Sequoias. Main side Rd. ends in parking area at S. end of Crescent Meadow at 3.5m, surrounded by Sequoias.

(1) Take trl. (R) from Crescent Meadow 0.5m to Tharp's Cabin (1858), large hollow log converted into living quarters by Hale Tharp, who pastured cattle here.

(2) Take High Sierra Trl. 62m from parking area to Summit of Mt. Whitney. This requires an average of 14 days as round-trip hike, leading through scenically spectacular country to Sierra's highest peaks. Overnight camps are maintained during summer at c.10^m intervals. Trl. cont. from summit to J. with Rd. conn. with US395 (see).

(C) Take Alta Trl. (foot & bridle) from Giant Forest Village (L) c.1.5^m to Keyhole, big tree, fire-hollowed with openings resembling giant keyholes. Just beyond Keyhole on Alta Trl., at J. with Rum Rock Trl., stands Lincoln Tree (R), 259' high & 31' in diameter. At 1.5^m on Alta Trl. is J. with trl. leading (R) short distance to Circle Meadow, where are Founders Grove, Congress Group, & President Tree (250').

Generals Hy. cont. (E) from Giant Forest. At 17. J. with graveled Rd. leading (R) short distance to Lower Corral (horses avail.) &, at 0.5^m, Hazelwood Pic. Area, 17.5. J. with trl. leading (L) through Sunset Rock Camp, 0.5^m, to Sunset Rock (fine view). 18.5. J. with oiled Rd. leading (R) short distance to parking area. Here is Gen. Sherman Tree, largest living thing, 272.4' high, bet. 3,000 & 4,000 yrs. old. At 21. on Generals Hy. J. with graded Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) short distance to Lodge Pole Campground. (swim.trlrs.camp.).

(1) Take trl. (foot & horse) 2.5^m (R) from Lodge Pole Camp to Tokopah Falls, scenically fine hike.

(2) Take Twin Ls. Trl. (foot & horse) 5^m (L) from Lodge Pole Camp to Clover Creek. At 7^m Twin Ls. (9,750'.trout f.), dominated by Silliman Shoulder (10,500').

At 27.5. on Generals Hy., Pic. Area. 31.5. DORST CR. CAMPGROUND (L) on Dorst Cr. At 32.5., LOST GROVE RANGER STA. Hy. cont. at an average of 6,500' through magnificent forests & scenery to S. ENTRANCE RANGER STA. of Grant Grove sec. of Sequoia-Kings Canyon Nat. Pks. at 46. Just beyond latter is J. with St.180, running (W) 53^m to Fresno at J. with US99 (see). 47. ADM. HQS. (cabins.camp.store.church.horses). Here is J. with Rocking Rock Rd. leading 2.5^m (R) to Rocking Rock & near it, Panorama Pt. (7,500'), with magnificent views of Kings Canyon. 47.2. J. with oiled Rd. leading (L) 0.1^m, then (R) 1^m to Grant Grove, largest of which is Grant Tree, 267' high with diam. of 40.3' at base. About 0.5^m beyond Grant Grove is wonderful North Grove & beyond that at 4^m on same Rd., Sequoia L. (5,300'.trout & bass f.).

Generals Hy. cont. (N) from Adm. Hqs. to SEQUOIA-KINGS CANYON NAT. PKS. BOUNDARY at 48.5., where it becomes St.180. At c. 53.5. is J. with Rd. leading c. 2^m (R) to Hume L. At 61. hy. reaches S. Fork of KINGS R. CANYON, which it follows (E) to CEDAR GROVE at 70. Near latter are 3 For. Camps., from which trls., radiating into Kings Canyon sec. of Sequoia-Kings Canyon Nat. Pks., a wilderness area of breath-taking scenic beauty, lead to Kanawyers, on Copper Cr., 8^m; Paradise Valley, 13^m; Vidette Meadows, 20^m; Kearsarge Pass, 28^m; Simpson Meadows, on Middle Fork of Kings R., 28^m. Other trls. through Kings Canyon area radiate from For. Camps at terminus of Rd. leading (E) from Shaver L. on St.168, which conn. with US99 (see) at Fresno.

Death Valley Nat. Mon., est. 1933, covers 2,981 sq. miles, 500 of which are below sea level. It is enclosed (W) by Panamint Range (6,000'-11,000') & (E) by Grapevine, Funeral & Black Mts. (4,000'-8,000'). Valley was once bed of ancient L.; at end of glacial period, water gradually evaporated. Badwater in valley's salt beds, -279.6' below sea level, is lowest spot in Amer. Mt. Whitney, highest in Continental U.S., is visible from Dante's Peak in Black Mts. In summer, valley is unbearably hot, with temperature as high as 134° in shade; but in winter, when mts. are lightly snow-clad, climate is sunny & delightful. Valley has minimal rainfall, in wet yr., 2" to 5". Barbaric colors of rocks & cliffs vary from hour to hour in changing light & mitigate harsh desert monotony. Death Valley, especially after rain, has considerable desert-type vegetation. Upper reaches of mts. have variety of trees. There is some animal life: bushy-tailed antelope, ground squirrels, lizard & birds. Rattlesnakes are rare. Death Valley, in pioneering days, took serious toll of prospectors & emigrants attempting to cross it. Its name derives from tragic experiences of emigrant train caught in its sandy wastes, 1849, some of whom perished.

DEATH VALLEY TOURS

I. W. ENTRANCE at Towne's Pass to E. ENTRANCE in Furnace Cr. Wash.; 56. St.190.

St.190, conn. with US395 at Lone Pine, descends E. slopes of Panamint Mts. to Death Valley, runs (S) bet. vividly colored high bordering ranges, then cont. (E) to Furnace Cr. Wash.

0. Mon. boundary (63^m (E) from Lone Pine), at summit of TOWNE'S PASS (5,500'). St.190 crosses Panamint Range & descends Emigrant Wash 7.5. to RANGER STA. at J. with Emigrant Canyon Rd. leading (R) through Emigrant Canyon 5^m to Emigrant Springs (4,045'). 11.5^m J. with Rd. leading (L) 6^m to Auguerreberry Pt. (6,000'). From here fine view. In distance, Charleston Peak (11,910') in Nev. (see). From Ranger Sta. (above) St.190 descends, passing Grapevine Mts., banded in red & black (E). 17. STOVE PIPE WELLS HOTEL (sea level). 25. J. with Ubehebe Crater Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) paralleling Grapevine Mts. & climb gradually. 33.5^m J. with dirt Rd.

Take latter (R) 3^m through Grapevine Canyon to Scotty's Castle (O.adm.Sp.), which cost $2,000,000. Death Valley Scotty lived in valley more than 30 yrs. & achieved renown during his spectacular 45-hour trip in 1905 from L.A. to Chicago & for his spending sprees—without known resources.

At 36^m on Ubehebe Crater Rd. is J. with short, one-way loop Rd. leading (L) through low mud cliffs & cinder hills to lip of Ubehebe Crater (2,900'). E. wall of this 800'-deep crater is striped in brilliant red & orange.

St.190 cont. (SE) to J. at 31. with Daylight Pass Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) 10.5^m to Hell's Gate (2,263') with fine view. Rd. cont. through canyon, circling Corkscrew Peak (5,000'), striped in gray & red bands. At 17^m Ranger Sta. (4,317'). 17.5^m Mon.'s boundary at Cal.-Nev. line, 13^m from Beatty, Nev. (see) on US95.

At 38.5. on St.190 is J. with oiled Rd. leading (L) 0.5^m to Death Valley Nat. Mon. Hqs. 40.5. Visible (R) are ruins of Harmony Borax Works, from which borax was hauled by mule-team to Mojave, 160^m distant. Works were closed because borax was more economically mined in Mojave Desert. 42. FURNACE CR. RANCH, small oasis irrigated from Furnace Cr. Wash. Here is Death Valley Airport. Just beyond ranch is Furnace Cr. Camp (gas & service). 42.5. J. with Rd. leading (L) 0.5^m to Texas Springs Pub. Campground (water, fireplaces). 43.5. J. with E. Hy. (see Pk. Tour II). Near here is Furnace Cr. Inn (sea level, garage, serv. sta. store). 46.5. J. with oiled Rd. leading (R) 0.3^m to Zabriskie Pt., with fine view. 50.5. J. with one-way loop Rd. leading (R) through Twenty-Mule Team Canyon to rejoin St.190 at 4.5^m. St.190 cont. (E) past brightly colored Funeral Mts. with Pyramid Peak (6,725') at E. end of range. 54.5. J. with Dante's View Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) through canyon with views of vari-colored Black Mts. to J. at 2.5^m with oiled Rd.

Turn (L) here 2^m to Ryan (2,500'). Sightseeing trains run to borax mines 7^m distant. Dante's View Rd. cont. (R) to Dante's View (5,220'; best in morning) at 14^m, overlooking, from summit of Black Mts., Death Valley, Mt. Whitney (W) & nearer, Telescope Peak. White salt areas in valley below show up strikingly.

55. RANGER STA. registering incoming cars. 56. St.190 crosses boundary, & cont. 17^m to Death Valley Junction, at J. with St.127, leading (N) 17^m to J. with US95 in Nev.

II. FURNACE CREEK JUNCTION (see above) to SARATOGA SPRINGS. 63. East Hy.

Oiled surface, bet. Furnace Cr. J. & Ashford J.; remainder graded dirt Rd. This route traverses E. side & extreme S. part of Death Valley Mon., passing Salt Beds & lowest pts. in N. Amer. W. Hy. is alt. to this route, paralleling it on somewhat higher ground; it branches (SW) from E. Hy. at pt. c.6 5^m (S) from Furnace Cr. Junction, also crosses Salt Beds, & rejoins E. Hy. at Ashford J., 39^m

0. FURNACE CR. JUNCTION (see Pk. Tour I). From here E. Hy. runs (S) along foot of Black Mts. 5. J. with unpaved, one-way Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) up through brightly colored hills & then down bet. steep walls. At 3.5^m it becomes Artist's Dr., & climbs again to Lookout Pt., from which fine view of Death Valley. At 9^m it rejoins E. Hy.

17. BADWATER (—279.6', lowest pt. in N. Amer.). 63. J. with rough Rd. leading (L) 2^m to Saratoga Springs. Here, in pools, are tiny "Kill" fish, survivors of era when Death Valley was L. Near latter J. is Mon. boundary, from which E. Hy. cont. 27^m to meet St.127 at Death Valley J. (see Pk. Tour I above).

152.5. ASTORIA.

Airport: 3m (SW) on US101. Piers: 14th St., ferry to Megler, Wash. (frequent daily trips); 11th St., steamers to Portland. Accoms.: all types incl. auto courts. Info.: C.of C., 14th & Exchange Sts. Swim.: in near-by beach resorts & Columbia R. Good f., salmon & trout, in Columbia & other streams & at ocean resorts. Guides & boats available. End of Aug. beginning of Sept. famous Annual Astoria Regatta & Salmon Derby.

Astoria, located near mouth of Columbia R., is an important shipping center & has many industries: sawmills, grain elevators, salmon canneries, agric. processing factories. It is also home port of large f. fleet.

In 1805, Lewis & Clark Expedition ended its long trek at pt. across bay. City was founded April, 1811, by John J. Astor's partners, Duncan MacDougal & David Stuart, who had come around Horn on "SS Tonquin." First settlers were reinforced in Feb. of next yr. by party coming overland from the E. Astoria, like many other Amer. settlements in the NW. was involved in struggle with Brit. Hudson's Bay Co. for trade & control of NW.reg. Astoria passed briefly into hands of Brit., who called it Ft. George. In 1824, however, Dr. John McLoughlin, chief factor of Hudson's Bay Co., moved his hqs. from Astoria to Vancouver, Wash. As immigration set in, coming both by ship & overland, Astoria began to boom. Its 1st industry was salmon f., since developed along with salmon canning to considerable proportions. Expansion was temporarily checked in 1922 by fire that wiped out many bldgs. Astoria also depends on farming in hinterland & on tourist traffic. Forty beaches in vic. & excellent salmon & trout f. attract vacationists.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) Exchange & 15th Sts., Site of Old Ft. Astoria, indicated by broad painted outline. (2) Exchange & 16th Sts., near City Hall, is boulder & plaque marking Site of Original Settlement. Fish-packing & processing plants are O. on appl. as is (4) Pillsbury Astoria Flour Mill, largest plant of its kind in Ore. (5) Uniontown (Bond St.) is foreign quarter (worth visit). Also Port of Astoria with mod. terminal facils. Waterfront is int. for seafaring activities. (6) Shark Rock, bet. 7th & 8th Sts. at Niagara Ave., is carved with initials of survivors from Amer. sloop of war "Shark," wrecked 1846. (7) Shively Pub. Pk., end of 16th St.; fine view. (8) Astor Column, in Astor Pk., decorated by frieze illustrating discovery of Columbia R. & early hist. of Astoria; observ. platform (O.sm.fee) at top of column affords splendid view.

US 99—OREGON

ORE.-CAL. LINE (23^m from Yreka, Cal.) (N) to ORE.-WASH. LINE (8^m from Portland, Ore.). 344.5. US99

Via: Ashland, Medford, Grants Pass, Roseburg, Cottage Grove, Eugene, Junction City, Albany, Salem, Woodburn, Oregon City & Portland. S.P. RR. accessible all along route; Ore. El. RR. bet. Junction City & Portland; interurban electric RR. bet. Portland & Ore. City. Accoms. all types.

This route runs through many of Oregon's larger cities & its most populous reg., especially Willamette Valley. In S. sec., US99 crosses, at considerable alt., magnificent Siskiyou range, after which it runs successively through Rogue, Umpqua & finally Willamette R. Valleys. It is flanked (E) almost continuously by Nat. Forests, accessible from various main cross-state tours branching off US99 & cutting (E) across recr. area of Cascade Range to conns. with US97 (see). US99 also passes Siskiyou & Siuslaw Nat. Fors. (W). Several hys. running across coastal range connect US99 with US101 (see), main coastal route. Much of reg. traversed by US99 was rich gold mining country; with exhaustion of mines, agric., & particularly fruit growing, displaced gold mining. Ore. sec. of this hy., like Cal. sec., roughly follows route of old stagecoach Rd. from Sacramento to Portland.

Sec. 1: CAL. LINE to JUNCTION CITY. 230. US99.

US99 runs (N) from Cal. Line at considerable alt. to SISKIYOU (Ind. piebald horse) PASS (4,522') at 5.5. 18. ASHLAND (sett.1852) on Bear Cr. at S. end of Rogue R. Valley, lumbering, canning & farmers' market center. Town plaza has fountains spouting lithia water. There is an Elizabethan Theater (Shakespeare festival in summer) resembling old Globe Theater of Shakespeare's day. Lithia Pk. (recr.tourist camp) has zoo, grottoes, fountains & Elizabethan Garden. S. Ore. College of Education (est.1869) has rodeo grounds for horse shows.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.66 (R) from Ashland. At 15.5^m, Green Springs Mt. Summit (4,551'). At 19^m, Tub Springs St. Pk. (pic.). 63^m Klamath Falls at J. with US97 (see).

LOOP TOUR: (S) from Ashland to Mt. Ashland (7,535'), with near-by Highland Park For. Camp. & return.

26.5. PHOENIX (sett.1850.accoms.). Old Stage (Colver) H. (1855), now apartments, used formerly as fort for defense against Inds. 30. MEDFORD (sett.1883) on Bear Cr., in Rogue R. Valley. City's growth has been based on development of fruit packing, shipping & lumber industry. There are several plants (O) where large-scale fruit-processing may be observed. In Medford is J. with St.62 (Crater L. Nat. Pk. Hy.) running (E) to J. with US97 near Ft. Klamath (see US97).

SIDE TRIP: Take St.238 (L) from Medford to Jacksonville, 5^m, former gold mining town. Here are old bldgs.: Brunner H., in which is mus. of early mining relics; U.S. Hotel, in which are pioneer relics; Meth. Ch. (1854), which legend asserts was built with one night's income from gaming houses; Beckman Bank (1862), which shipped gold to Crescent City. St.238 cont. to J. with US99 near Grant's Pass (see below).

44. GOLD HILL (1,108') in former gold mining district.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.234 (R) from Gold Hill 9^m to J. & turn (R) here 2.5^m to marked Table Rock Treaty Site. Here in 1853 Ind. conciliator Gen. Jos. Lane made treaty with Rogue R. Inds. In this reg. much of Ind. fighting took place. St.234 cont. to J. with St.62, Crater L. Nat. Pk. Hy. (see above) at 17^m.

52. ROGUE RIVER (accoms.trlrs.camp.) on R. of same name (good f.). 56. SAVAGE RAPIDS DAM, up which salmon & steel-head trout leap. 61.5. J. with US199.

SIDE TRIP: Take US199 (L) through forested, picturesque mt. reg., crossing Applegate & Illinois R. Valleys, to Caves, J. with St.46 at 30^m.

Take latter (L) 20^m to Ore. Caves Nat. Mon. (O.May 29-Oct.15.lodge O.all-yr.cottages, no camp.pic.guides) in Ore. Caves Game Refuge in Siskiyou Nat. For. Bus from Berkeley, Cal., weekly; stop-over at Caves, Caves Chateau (accoms.). Ore. Caves, outstanding scenic pt. of int., were discovered in 1874. They are hollowed out of Elijah Mt. (7,000'), one of Siskiyou Range, & consist of series of chambers, conn. by corridors, fantastically carved out of marble. Searchlights play over weird formations. In one cave is Niagara Falls, great cataract in marble; in another, huge vaulted Joaquin Miller's Chapel, named in honor of poet's visit, 1907; & in another, Dante's Inferno.

US199 cont. to Cal. Line at 42m & (S) traverses redwood for. & passes 5 for. camps. (ample facils.) on way to J. with US101 near Crescent City (see Cal.US101).

62. GRANTS PASS (accoms.), on Rogue R. & S. P. RR., is still mining & lumbering center; also market town for Grants Pass Irrigation District. It is starting pt. for h. & f. trips in Rogue R. reg. Mineral coll. in Grants Pass Assay Office. City Pk. (reer.) is on Rogue R. (f.bath.boat.). Siskiyou Nat. For. Hqs. are located in town. In vic. grows rare Ore. myrtle, found elsewhere only in Palestine. 67. J. with Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take Rd. (L) here along Rogue R. through old gold-mining reg. At 17m, Galice, former mining town. 21m Alameda, ghost mining town where is U.S. Ranger Sta. Alameda, which formerly figured in Rogue R. Ind. fighting, is in center of wild & picturesque Rogue R. district (good f.&h.) with fine gorges & canyons. 25m Grave Cr. Bridge. Here auto Rd. turns away from Rogue R., back to J. with US99. Travel down-river is by trl. Horses, guides available at Galice (above) & Illahee & Agness (below). Trl. leads from Grave Cr. Bridge, along Rogue R., passing several For. Guard Stas. & camps to Illahee at 55m where Rd. runs (N) past several for. camps to J. with St.42 (see below). Trl. cont. along Rogue R., passing Waters Cr. For. Camp (ample facils.), to Agness (resort) at 63m. From Agness boats conn. with Gold Beach on US101 (see).

US99 now ascends through SEXTON MT. PASS near Sexton Mt. (3,865'). 80. SUNNY VALLEY. Here some Ore. men were killed in battle (1855) with Inds.

87. WOLFCREEK, where is Wolf Cr. Tavern (c.1857). US99 cont. (N) along Canyon Cr., in Umpqua Nat. For., traversing Umpqua R. Valley. 111. CANYONVILLE, on Canyon Cr., was formerly gold-mining center. 134. COOS. J. with St.42.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.42 (L). At 15m, Camas Mt. Pass. Here is Camas St. Pk. Route now descends through fine stretch of country to Coquille R., 49.5m.

Take Rd. (L) 18.5m to Powers, then Rd. (S) into Siskiyou Nat. For., passing by or near 5 for. camps, around Bald Knob Mt. (3,614'), & through Illahee on Rogue R. (see above) to Agness, at 54.5m (see above).

From Salem, state capital (sett.1840) on Willamette R., Coast Range is seen (W) & at distance, lofty Cascade Mts. (E). Salem (Hebrew for Peace) was founded by Jason Lee. Lee came to Northwest in response to "Macedonian Call," by group of Ore. Inds. in 1828, who traveled to St. Louis to ask that missionaries be sent to instruct them about the Great White God. In 1834, Lee & some companions arrived & est. themselves among Flathead Inds. Finally, mission was moved to site of Salem, where missionaries founded Ore. Institute, later to become Willamette Univ. Salem played part in struggle to obtain Ore. Territory for U.S. Like Albany, town lost large part of pop. to 1849 gold rush. In 1851 it became capital. In 1861, much of city was destroyed by floods of Willamette R. Since then, Salem has expanded, not only because it is state political hqs., but also because it is center of considerable agric. district & of industrial development.

Oregon City (sett. 1829-30) on Willamette R., whose falls (42' drop) here generate electric power, is near pt. where Clackamas R. flows into Willamette. Clackamas Inds. had Long House near mouth of Clackamas. First settlement was under jurisdiction of Hudson's Bay Co., of which Dr. John McLoughlin was redoubtable Chief Factor. As immigrants from E. arrived, there ensued sharp conflict bet. the Co. & Amers. In 1844, legislature of provisional gov. set up by Amers. met in hall over granary of Meth. Ch. In 1849, city was designated capital of Ore. Territory & cont. as seat of gov. till 1852. Edwin Markham, poet who won fame with his "The Man With the Hoe," was born in Ore. City (1852). Most of town's varied industries are powered by electricity generated at Falls.

ORE-CAL. LINE (57.5m from Weed, Cal.) (N) to ORE-WASH. LINE (1m from Maryhill, Wash.). 305. US97

Via: Klamath Falls, Bend, Biggs. S.P. RR. parallels route bet. Cal. Line & J. with St.58; Gt. No. RR. bet. Klamath Falls & Redmond; U.P. RR. bet. Bend & Biggs. Accomms. in towns, elsewhere limited

This route cuts (N) across Ore. along E. edge of snow-capped Cascade Range, with easy access to some of most int. scenery of state, incl. Crater L. Nat. Pk. & Mt. Hood. In its (S) sec. it traverses high, often semi-arid plateau, devoted for most part to sheep raising, although considerable areas are irrigated. In its S. middle sec., bet. J. with St.58 & Bend, it traverses region of craters & lava fields of great geologic & scenic int. In its N. sec. it passes through more fertile countryside of cattle ranches & wheatfields.

Sec. 1: ORE. LINE to BEND. 161.

Almost immediately after it crosses Ore. Line, US97 cuts through KLAMATH L. BIRD RESERV., in bed of what was formerly lower Klamath L., which dried up when its waters were shut off by Klamath Basin Irrig. Proj.

17. KLAMATH FALLS (sett.1866).

RR. Stas.: Park & Springs Sts. for S.P. RR.; 1340 S. 6th St. for Gt. No. RR. Info.: 323 Main St., C.of C. & Ore. St. Motor Assoc. Swm.. Hot Springs Natatorium & New Klamath Natatorium (fees). July 4th weekend, Buckaroo Days celebration, with rodeo.

Klamath Falls is located on Link R. & S. end of Upper Klamath & Ewauna Ls. Early development of Klamath Basin was retarded because of Ind. hostilities. First settler, Wendolin Nus, was killed during Modoc War. George Nus est. first ferry across Link R. (1867). As late as 1872, inhabitants of new settlement were terrorized by Inds. With ending of these troubles, city began its real growth. But boom did not come until construction of Klamath Irrigation Proj., which brought valley into rich production, & arrival of RR's. Main industry is processing of lumber, brought in from forested hinterland. Klamath Falls is also shipping center for agric. products of irrigated Klamath Basin. White pelicans & other birds, migrating by thousands in summer to near-by Ls. & Link R., are one of sights of town. Geese congregate here in great numbers. There is good bird h., as well as deer h., in vic. Some hot mineral springs in city feed 2 swimming pools & heat homes. In city are Weyerhaeuser Timber Co. & other large lumber & wood-processing plants (worth visiting).

SIDE TRIPS: (A) Take St.66 (R) from Klamath Falls. At 5m, J. with St.39.

Rd. turns (S) past Dead Indian Soda Springs For. Camp (trfiers.community kitchen) to J. with St.62 (Crater L. Hy. see below), at Eagle Pt.

46. AGENCY L., arm of upper Klamath L. In 1846 Capt. John C. Frémont's company was attacked here by Inds. His forces later wiped out Ind. village in retaliation.

49. KLAMATH IND. AGENCY for Klamath Ind. Reserv. (1,000,000 ac.), set aside by treaty (1864) for Klamath, Modoc & Yahooskin Snake Inds. It is larger than R.I. & contains extensive grazing lands & great forests. From lumber cut, alone, each Ind. receives about $400 per annum. Inds. living on reserv. have their own tribal organization. Take Rd. (R) from Agency, 5m to Chiloquin. Ind. village.

54. SITE OF OLD FT. KLAMATH (L), where are buried 4 Inds., incl. Capt. Jack, who were hanged during Modoc War for killing Gen. Canby & 2 associates coming with flag of truce to negotiate peace. Just (N) beyond Ft. Klamath Site, on US97, is J. with St.62 (Crater L. Hy.).

SIDE TRIP: Take St.62 (L). At 1m Ft. Klamath (accoms.skiing). 6m Ft. Klamath Pic. Grounds. 7m Wildcat For. Camp at (S) boundary of Crater L. Nat. Pk. 18m Annie Spring Camp (registration for autos.fee $1.) at J. with St.209 (see Pk.Tour below).

CRATER LAKE NATIONAL PARK.

Best season: July 1 to Sept. 20. Bus, July 1 to Sept. 19, from Grants Pass (see US99) & Klamath Falls (see US99) to Rim Village. Accoms: Near Rim Village, Crater Lodge (European & Amer.plan & cabins.); in Rim Village are cafeteria & store facils.; 4 free camp grounds. Guide Service (free) by Pk. naturalists. Boat Trips daily to Crater L. Info. Bldg. (W) of Crater L. Lodge. Fishing: 12 fish per day per person; tackle can be purchased in village. No hunting. Tourists who intend to camp should bring camping outfits & blankets, since nights are cold even in summer. Pk. is also frequented by winter sports enthusiasts.

Crater L. 6m wide & 1996' deep, is set in lofty crater of prehist. Mt. Mazama, which before its eruptions probably attained alt. of 14,000'. Basin, filled by L., resulted, scientists say, from mt.'s collapse & subsidence after eruptions. This strange body of water has no inlets & apparently no outlets. There are 2 ls., both of volcanic origin: Phantom Ship & Wizard. When first discovered by white men in 1853, there were no fish in L.; since then trout have been planted by Gov. Crater L., with its weird island craters, surrounded by precipitous, snow-capped peaks beautifully reflected in its brilliant blue waters, is one of Nation's scenic wonders, ranking with Grand Canyons of Colorado & Snake Rs. Pk. is full of game which, because hunting is forbidden, is fairly tame. Its valleys & slopes are clothed with magnificent forests & its meadows & marshes are rich in flowering plants. Inds. believe that Gods lived on mt. heights & in L.'s deep waters, which latter, they imagined to have special, purifying properties.

PARK TOUR: Take St.209 (R) from J. with St.62 (see above) 6m to Rim Village on L. Near-by are Crater Lodge & Pub. Campground, (1) Here take trl. (L) from Village to Sinnot Mem., comm. US 30—OREGON

ORE.-IDAHO LINE (64.5m from Boise, Idaho) (NW) to ASTORIA, ORE. 512. US30

Via: Ontario, Baker, Union, La Grande, Pendleton, Biggs, The Dalles, Hood River, Cascade Locks, Bonneville, Portland, St. Helens, Rainier. U.P. RR. parallels route to Portland; S.P. RR., bet. Portland & Astoria. Accoms. all types; camping facil. This route is known as Columbia R. Hy., because it follows course of Columbia R.

US30 follows, roughly, route of Lewis & Clark Expedition, which later became Ore. Trl., one of main hys. for settlers coming from East, although both these explorers & later travelers proceeded by boat when they reached Columbia R. itself. US30 is one of finest hys., scenically, of Pacific Coast region. From Ore. Line it runs (NW) through beautiful Whitman & Umatilla Nat. For. regions, making J. with Rds. that branch off to scenically magnificent Joseph Cr. Canyon, Wallowa L. & Grand Canyon of Snake R. (deeper than Grand Canyon of Colorado) & Blue & Wallowa Mts. regions.

Beyond Pendleton, US30 reaches Columbia R. & for c.300m follows R. gorge. Panoramic views of deep cleft carved out of Columbia plateau in prehist. times & lofty waterfalls plunging from canyons of tributary streams mark route at frequent intervals. As hy. proceeds (W), Mt. Adams & Mt. St. Helens loom into view (N), & Mt. Hood (S). To these natural wonders must be added man-made marvel of Bonneville Dam, which creates 40-mile L. in Columbia R., reaching from Bonneville (E) beyond The Dalles. This installation has made R. navigable for deep-draft vessels to The Dalles.

Tourists arriving at Portland who wish merely to follow Columbia R.'s course, may take US30 (E) from Portland & then cross R. at Biggs & return via US830 in Washington along (N) bank to Vancouver, Wash., whence bridge will take them back to Portland.

Sec. 1: ORE. LINE to PENDLETON. 188.

US30 crosses Snake R., which forms Idaho Line, to ONTARIO (2,153') at 1.5. in heart of Owyhee & Malheur Projects, irrigating some 300,000 as. At 17. J. with US30 (N).

Pendleton is on Umatilla R. in wheat-growing reg. Important industry is flour milling. In addition, city has plants processing other agric. products & some lumber mills & wood-working establishments. Pendleton is on Old Ore. Trl. & was settled in early 60's. It escaped attacks by Chief Joseph of Nez Percé during his revolt of 1877. From rough, wide-open cattle-range town Pendleton gradually changed its character as surrounding region turned to wheat & other types of farming. City was named for Geo. W. Pendleton, Dem. Pres. candidate, 1868. World War II brought considerable boom, very nearly doubling pop.

PTS. OF INT.: Taylor Pk., with equestrian statue by A. E. Proctor, comm. T. D. Taylor, former sheriff, killed while attempting arrest of several bandits. Vert Mem. Bldg. (O.wks.), civic center, houses coll. of Ind. & pioneer relics & little theater. On Jackson St., Pioneer Pk., in which is burial ground of early pioneers. On W. The Dalles, at narrows of Columbia R., was named by Fr. fur trappers, it is claimed because of imagined resemblance of local rock formation to flagstones ("dalles") of Fr. towns. City is picturesquely situated. Its bldgs. run from low-lying R. banks up very steep hillsides which reach at pts. an elevation of more than 1,000'. The Dalles was formerly mart for Inds. travelling Columbia R., coming from all directions to fish & buy from local tribes. Because of its location at rapids it became also focal pt. for fur traders who had to break their through trips here. In 1849 Ft. Lee was built on site. During 1860's, short-lived gold rush brought sudden boom which cont. afterwards due to growing stream of immigration. The Dalles was pt. of transshipment to avoid rapids. Building of Cascade Locks in 1896 &, more recently, of Bonneville Dam, below city, has greatly increased its importance as port, since deep-draft vessels can now come to its docks.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) 320 E. 3d St., First Cth. (1859.removed here from orig.site), now in private ownership. (2) Trevitt & 6th Sts., The Dalles Mission Mon., comm. Meth. US 20—OREGON

ORE.-IDAHO LINE (53m from Boise, Idaho) (W) to NEWPORT, ORE. 458.5. US20

Via: Vale, Burns, Bend, Sisters, Lebanon, Albany, & Corvallis. Almost no service sta. for c.140m bet. Burns & Bend. On remainder of tour, accoms. in towns, limited elsewhere. Hy. occasionally blocked by snow in Cascade Mts. in winter. U.P. RR. parallels route from Vale to Burns; S.P. RR. from Corvallis to Newport.

This route presents extreme contrasts. Bet. Vale & Bend, it runs at high alt. across fairly barren plateau of sage brush & lofty buttes, broken occasionally by irrigated farmlands. From Vale, route runs (W) along Malheur R. for c.60m & then skirts secs. of Malheur & Ochoco Nat. Fors. From Bend, US20 climbs (W) into Cascade

reg. through Deschutes & Willamette Nat. Fors., passing Ls. & high peaks to Santiam Pass (4,817'). On W. side of Cascades, US20 descends rapidly, following S. branch of Santiam R. into Willamette Valley. It then crosses Coast Range, through Siuslaw Nat. For. to Newport on Pac. Coast.

Sec. 1: ORE. LINE to BEND. 267.

20.5. VALE (2,243' accoms.), in center of Vale Irrigation Proj. bringing large area under cultivation. In Vale is natorium fed by mineral springs. 43.5. Hy. enters fine MALHEUR CANYON. 77.5. JUNTURA (2,953'). In old days cattle baron Henry Miller had his great ranch in this reg.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) Take Rd. (R) from Juntura 16^m to Beulah Reservoir, impounded by Agency Dam, part of Vale Irrigation Project.

(B) Take Rd. (L) from Juntura 22^m to Riverside, at Warm Springs Reservoir & Dam, also part of Vale Irrigation Project.

133. J. with US395 (see), which unites with US20 for 29^m. 135. BURNS, center for cattle ranches of reg. Within city limits is small Paiute Village, sett. after so-called Bannock War (1878).

SIDE TRIP: From Burns, St.205 which branches off St.78, c.1.5^m (S) of Burns, runs (S) into Malheur & Harney Ls. reg. in which is Malheur's Migratory Bird Refuge.

162. J. with US395 (see) which branches (S). 175.5. SQUAW BUTTE LIVESTOCK EXPERIMENT STA. of U.S. Dept. of Agric. Bet. 184. & 195. US20 passes GLASS BUTTES (6,385'), which rise abruptly several thousand feet above plateau. These buttes furnished Inds. of many tribes throughout country with obsidian arrow tips. 203.5. HAMPTON (4,416' accoms.), overshadowed by lofty Cougar Butte. View of Hampton Butte. 245. DRY RIVER. On cliff walls here are great number of Ind. pictographs (accessible from hy. on foot only). 266. PILOT BUTTE ST. PK. (3,400') of volcanic origin, rising abruptly from plateau. Portland, metropolis of Ore., known as City of Roses, is situated near pt. where Willamette R., which bisects city, flows into Columbia R. Across R. (N) lie high peaks of Cascades—Mt. St. Helens & Mt. Adams—and near-by (E) looms snow-capped Mt. Hood. Portland's business sec. lies along W. bank of Willamette R. Hills (W), along whose slopes have grown up residential districts, rise to height of 1,000'. However, majority of Portland's pop. still resides on E. side of R. Chief scenic landmarks of this sec. are Rocky Butte & Mt. Tabor. New industrial development is taking place along Willamette R. (NW.). Portland was sett. later than some other cities in Willamette Valley & therefore played no part in setting up of provisional gov. in 1843 at Champoege. First white habitation on city's site was built before 1830, by member of Hunt's Overland Expedition of 1812, but was soon abandoned. Thereafter, several log cabins were erected, but these attempts at settlement achieved no permanence. It was not until 1844 that Asa Lawrence Lovejoy & Wm. Overton located 640-a. claim covering part of present city's site. Lovejoy transferred part of his claim to Overton & balance to Francis Pettygrove, who decided upon name for proposed town by toss of coin. Overton wanted to name it Boston, for his native city, & Pettygrove, who came from Portland, Me., favored Portland. Pettygrove won.

City's location at confluence of 2 navigable rivers early attracted commerce & immigration. Establishment of hqs. of Hudson's Bay Co. at Vancouver contributed to its rapid growth. Shipbuilding & lumbering were earliest industries. Then came Cal. gold rush, which emptied Portland of practically all its male pop., only 3 men remaining. Upon return of miners with gold in their knapsacks, short-lived boom ensued. In 1850, "Weekly Oregonian" was founded. It is said to be oldest surviving newspaper W. of Iowa & Mo., with exception of "Deseret News" in Salt Lake City. Not until quite some time later was Portland conn. by wire service with outside world. During 1860's, stagecoaches had to bring latest news from Yreka, Cal., nearest telegraph terminus, 400^m, 4½ days away. Town cont. for some time in rather primitive stage of development with unpaved streets in which, during rainy season, mud was knee deep. Stumps of trees, which had been cleared away to make room for town site (orig. name of settlement was "Stump Town"), were painted white so that people would not bump into them. About time of Civil War, discovery of precious metals in E. Ore. & Idaho stimulated another gold rush & boom, & 3rd boom came with discovery of gold in Alaska during last decade of 19th cent. But Portland's growth depended upon more permanent factors: lumber, salmon fishing, shipping, RRs. & handling of wheat from fertile back country. Lewis & Clark Centennial Exposition of 1905 considerably spurred city's expansion, as did World Wars I & II.

Portland, only 110^m from Columbia's mouth, with terminals capable of handling ocean-going steamers, has become one of principal seaports of Pacific coast. At same time, it is considerable inland port, since Columbia has been made navigable (E) to Umatilla. With completion of MacNary Dam at Umatilla, river will be made navigable to Pasco & ships will be able to use Snake R. from Pasco to Lewiston, Idaho. As result of these advantages, & its excellent rail conns., city is bound to become one of most imp. transportation & shipping centers of country.

Portland already has considerable industry. Abundant timber resources of Ore. have stimulated establishment of lumber & woodworking plants. Exploitation of rich agric. hinterland has led to establishment of flour mills & plants for processing of agric. products; vast cattle & sheep ranges, sending their products to Portland, have encouraged building of stock yards & slaughterhouses, & considerable annual export of wool. Fisheries of Columbia R. & W. Coast have created a large fishpacking, canning & freezing industry. Many shipyards have sprung up along river front. World War II brought Portland an enormous boom & considerable expansion of industry. Cosmopolitan character of city's pop. has been accentuated by influx of wartime jobseekers. Negro residents, alone, have increased from c.2,000 in 1940 to 12,000 in 1947 & for first time in its hist., Portland has something of a race problem. In 1939, c.19,000 persons were employed in manufacturing while in 1944, number swelled to 159,000. Near-by Bonneville Dam has developed abundant cheap electric power. When Grand Coulee Proj. is completed, entire area E. of Portland will have at its disposal tremendous hydro-elec. power sources.

City is also important tourist center, since it is starting pt. for Columbia R. Gorge, Mt. Hood & coast resort regns., & has developed as cultural center, being seat of Univ. of Portland, Lewis & Clark College, Reed College, Univ. of Ore. Medical College & N. Pacific College of Ore. Jr. Symphony Orchestra is one of best of its kind on W. coast. There is an excellent civic theater. Although the old town is crowded, there are 55 pks. (1,600 as.) with fine recr. facils.

MT. HOOD in Mt. Hood Nat. For. is perhaps most outstanding scenic feature of Ore. It lies some 65^m (E) from Portland & some 25^m (S) from Columbia R. Gorge. Its snow-capped peak, rising more than 11,245', can be seen from Portland's hills & from Columbia R. Hy. (US30) & pts. (N) in Washington. Mt. is Ore. climax of Cascade Range, which drops sharply from Mt. Hood almost to sea level at Columbia R. From Mt. Hood reg. beautiful Olallie Ls. & Mt. Jefferson areas of Cascades (see US97) are easily accessible by Rd. from Mt. Hood Hy., St.50. Fine Clackamas R. reg. lies (SW) near Mt. Hood & is reached by Rd. branching off St.50 to Eagle Cr. Mt. Hood, scientists tell us, resulted from series of volcanic eruptions; indeed, mt. is still active. As recently as 1859 & 1868 volcanic activities were observed & even today there are vents from which gases & fumes are emitted. Following volcanic period, glaciers formed on mt. & in their slow, relentless descent scoured out deep R. & cr. canyons, which today stir wonder & admiration of visitors. Because of its volcanic origin, Mt. Hood has figured in Ind. legend, which variously attributed its creation to conflicts bet. gods for affections of mt. goddess, or bet. giants & demons hurling fire & brimstone at each other. Later, with white man's arrival, folklore invented tale that John Bunyan, piling rocks & debris on his campfire, after night's camping, was responsible for creation of mt. First recorded account of Mt. Hood was given by members of Lewis & Clark Expedition, in 1805. First hy. into area was Barlow Toll Rd., over which, for years, wagon trains from E. travelled "trail." First ascent of mt. was not made until July 11, 1857.

Several streams, some of which have gouged out their courses through deep gorges, have their sources in higher mt. area: Sandy R. (W); Zigzag & Little Zigzag Rs., flowing through deep canyons (SW); Salmon & White Rs. (S); Hood R., fed by precipitous creeks flowing (N). Many lovely lakes lie hidden in remote mt. valleys. Around Mt. Hood itself rise several lesser peaks to alts. of 5,000' or more. Fors. of reg. are for most part evergreen, with Ponderosa pine most striking. However, there are many types of deciduous species as well: chinquapin, alder, aspen, & dogwood. Undergrowth is luxuriant & in spring & summer fors. & meadows are brilliant with blossoming plants. Rhododendron are especially fine, & colorful heather carpets mt. meadows. Flowers bloom nearly to snow line. Many varieties of birds populate forests, & deer, especially blacktail variety, bear & lesser mammals roam reg. in considerable numbers. Wolves & mt. lions are rare; coyote & special variety of NW. beaver, plentiful. Salmon, steelhead, cutthroat & other varieties of trout afford fine f. In spring smelt crowd up Sandy R. to spawn. Main Rd. approaches to Mt. Hood region are St.50, which runs (E) from Portland skirting S. side of Mt. Hood to Cow Canyon J. with US97 (see), & St.35, which runs (S) from near Hood R. on US30 (see) along E. side of Mt. Hood to J. with St.50 near Gov. Camp. Clackamas R. reg. is reached from St.50, via St.211.

I. St.50 from PORTLAND to COW CANYON J. 123.

This hy. roughly follows old Barlow Toll Rd. built by Sam Barlow, over which passed immigrant stream into upper Willamette Valley. St.50 after leaving Portland runs through fertile farm reg. & then begins to climb Cascade Range into Mt. Hood Nat. For. St.50 skirts S. shoulder of Mt. Hood, then turns (S) through fine mt. scenery & then precipitously (SW) down to Deschutes R., & follows R. canyon (S) to J. with US97 at Cow Canyon J. This hy. & St.35, which it intersects on E. side of Mt. Hood, form what is known as Mt. Hood Loop Hy.

26. SANDY, at J. with St.211 & Bluff Rd.

SIDE TRIPS: (A) Take St.211 (R) to Estacada, 12^m & from here turn (L) into Mt. Hood Nat. For. along gorge of picturesque Clackamas R., fine f. stream. At W. boundary of Mt. Hood Nat. For., is N. Fork For. Camp (2,500' trlrs.).

(2) Near N. Fork For. Camp, For. Rd. branches off (L), traversing fine mt. & stream country, with for. camps at intervals, to J. with Breitenbush-Olallie Ls. Rd.

(B) Take Bluff Rd. (L) along Sandy R. Canyon. At 3.5^m J. with another Rd., leading (R) 2^m to Dodge Pk. (pic.swim.camp.), where trls. radiate to lookout pts. affording fine views. Bluff Rd. cont. & rejoins St.50 at 7.5^m.

Here is J. with St.12 running (E), via Rainbow Falls St. Pk., to Chehalis, J. with US99 (see).

83. ABERDEEN (sett.1867) at J. with US410 (see), & adj., HOQUIAM (sett.1859). RR. Sta. in Aberdeen. Accoms.: All types. Info.: C. of C. in Aberdeen & Hoquiam. Bath. in Gray's Harbor & Aberdeen L. (3^m E. on US410). Annual 4th of July Splash, with Ind. water festival.

Aberdeen & Hoquiam are today one continuous community on Gray's Harbor, discovered by Capt. Rbt. Gray (1792), at mouths of Chehalis & Hoquiam Rs. When Gray's ship arrived offshore, great numbers of canoes filled with Inds. came alongside to trade furs for blankets, etc. First settlement took place c.1860. In midst of its prosperity as a roaring lumber town, Aberdeen was swept by destructive fire, Oct. 16, 1903, but was quickly rebuilt. Besides lumber industry with its pulp, plywood & wood-working factories, there are oyster & salmon canneries. Large fishing fleet makes Gray's Harbor its base. During World War I, Gray's Harbor shipyards turned out wooden ships. Like most pioneer towns that depended on sailors & loggers for much of their business, Aberdeen had its "wide-open" period. It boasted of resorts with such names as "The Harvard," "The Yale" & "The Columbia." Loggers learned it was wise to "bunk" some of their bunk rolls with trustworthy shop- & saloon-keepers before going on a "toot," but not all those trusted were worthy. Bentley Gohl, who had his establishment above Pioneer Saloon, seems to have "disposed" of many who left money with him; 43 corpses turned up in R. Gohl was convicted, sentenced & then committed to insane asylum.

PTS. OF INT.: (Aberdeen) Samuel Benn Pk. (pic.tennis). (Hoquiam) 28th & Cherry Sts., Olympic Stadium & Recr. Field seating 10,000. Port of Gray's Harbor is a large port development. Lumber, wood & fish-processing plants of both cities are well worth visit.

US 99—WASHINGTON

WASH.-ORE. LINE (at Vancouver, Wash. across Columbia R. from Portland, Ore.) (N) to CANADIAN BORDER (32.5^m from Vancouver, B.C.). 295. US99

Via: Kelso, Castle Rock, Chehalis, Centralia, Olympia, Tacoma, Seattle, Everett, Mt. Vernon, Bellingham & Blaine. RRs. parallel route throughout. Bus conns. Accoms.: Plentiful.

US99 runs along N. bank of Columbia R., travels N. along Cowlitz R. through sparsely populated reg., once heavily forested, & then traverses fertile agric. sec. At Olympia US99 reaches Puget Sound & follows its E. shore through some of chief pop. centers of Wash. to Canada. Route is paralleled (E) by lofty Cascade Range, to Brit. Columbia Line. As hy. swings (N) from Columbia in S. sec., Mt. St. Helens (9,671') & Mt. Adams (12,307') loom into view (E). Farther (N), as Rd. approaches Puget Sound, Mt. Rainier (14,408') to (E) becomes outstanding landmark. Olympic Range (W), in which is Mt. Olympus (8,150'), can be seen across Puget Sound. Puget Sound Is. lie offshore. In extreme N. sec. of this route, Mt. Baker (10,827') & Mt. Shuksan (9,038'), NW. outposts of Cascade Range, are to be seen (E).

Sec. 1: VANCOUVER to OLYMPIA. 123.

This sec. of US99 roughly follows N. extension of old Ore. Trl. from Portland. Pioneers went by boat up Cowlitz R. from Columbia R. to Cowlitz Landing near present-day town of Toledo & then by trl. to Puget Sound. Trip was arduous & required more than 3 weeks. This route developed into a rough hy. Later San Francisco-Olympia stagecoach route roughly followed today's US99.

0. VANCOUVER

RR. & bus conns. Accomms.: All types. Info.: C. of C. & Auto Club of Wash. (A.A.A.), Evergreen Hotel, 604 Main St. Hunt. in vic.; fish. in Columbia R.

Vancouver (sett. 1825), across Interstate Bridge from Portland on Columbia R., named for Capt. Geo. Vancouver, who explored Columbia R. in 1792, is important port & industrial town. In old days it was main outlet port for Ore. Trl. & during 1st half of 19th cent., young settlement figured in struggle bet. Brit. & U.S. for sovereignty of Ore. reg. Hudson's Bay Co., under aggressive leadership of Dr. John McLoughlin, est. at this pt., depot & fort to counterbalance John Jacob Astor's post at Astoria (see Ore.). David Douglas, famous botanist, sent out by London Royal Horticultural Soc., came to Vancouver in 1825 & here made his hqs. while engaged in botanical investigations.

City had development typical of NW.—several gold rush booms, lumber boom which brought lumber & paper mills to town & finally development as center for processing agric. products of hinterland & as port for deep-water shipping.

PTS. OF INT.: (1) New Clark County Cth. (1941). (2) In Esther Short Pk., Pioneer Mother Statue (by Avard Fairbanks) & Mill Wheels brought around the Horn to grind grain. Olympia (sett.c.1848), state capital, is situated on Budd Inlet at S. end of Puget Sound & mouth of Deschutes R. Looming beyond city are Mt. Rainier (SE), high Cascades (E & NE), & Mt. Olympus (NW). City is built on fairly flat land, although capitol stands on fine bluff overlooking Sound. First settlement of Olympia followed soon after that at Tumwater, now practically suburb. In 1845, E. Sylvester & L. L. Smith, young divinity student, filed for land covering part of present city's site. When Smith was drowned, Sylvester took over his claim. He put up cabin of cedar logs, midway bet. what are today State & Olympia Aves. Next year (1848), Oblate Fathers built St. Joseph's Mission on Priest's Pt. (now city pk.). Gold rush of 1849 emptied new settlement of most of its men; even Sylvester could not resist lure of gold. In 1850 town was formally founded, & following yr. U.S. Customh. (1st frame bldg.) was run up. In 1852 1st newspaper in Wash., "The Columbian," appeared. Meanwhile, tentative names of Smithfield & Smithster (latter combination of names of town founders) were discarded for more grandiose Olympia, inspired by snow-capped Mt. Olympus. In those days Squaxin Inds., probably branch of Duwamish, whose chief was famous Seattle (see Seattle), had winter settlement on Budd Inlet. They were described in contemporary diary as "a filthy, fish-eating, flat-headed lot!" Inds. worked for pioneers (not too enthusiastically) & received cotton handkerchief for day's labor & "hickory" shirt for week's toil. No Rds. connected new settlement with outside world in 1st yrs. Pioneers had to use canoes from Columbia R. up Cowlitz R. to Cowlitz Landing & then break trls. for their wagons & animals through swamps & virgin fors. Gradually trl. was developed as Rd. In 1853 Congress set up Wash. as separate territory. Olympia's early industrial development was based largely on lumber, & ever since, lumber & woodworking have dominated its economy, together with government & politics. Oysters from near-by Puget Sound waters are famous. Packing oysters & clams is considerable source of employment. Fine natural harbor, improved by dredging, & construction of excellent terminal facils. have attracted shipping.

Tacoma is dominated by Olympic Range (NW) & Cascades (E), rising to Mt. Rainier. City is important RR. & industrial center, with pop. of mixed origins—native Amer., Irish, Scand., Greek, German, Swiss, Armenian, Polish, Filipino, Chinese. Its harbor is one of best on W. coast. Municipally-owned hydroelectric plants & near-by coal mines afford cheap power & fuel.

Water-front dist., with busy factories & docks, has been built largely on filled-in land. Business district, with several skyscrapers, lies behind it & better residential secs. climb the heights. Downtown area is laid out in grid pattern modified by exigencies of local topography. When this layout was adopted in 1873, city fathers rejected much more imaginative plotting submitted by Fred. Law Olmstead, famous N.Y. landscape architect, as being too picturesque & providing for too many pks. Nevertheless, city today is provided with ample pk. areas, 27 in number & 1,617 as. in extent. Largest, Pt. Defiance Pk., on Commencement Bay, has fine bath. facils. Shore front drives, on either side of bay, afford excellent views of city & vic. First settlement in reg. was by Hudson's Bay Co., which est. Ft. Nisqually c.17^m (S) in 1833. It was not till 1852, however, that 1st settlers arrived—among them Nicholas De Lin, Swede, who built sawmill at Old Woman's Gulch, later filled in to afford site for present-day stadium. Next yr. came 1st wagon train from E., after experiencing terrible hardships in crossing Cascade Mts. In those early days Steilacoom rather overshadowed little hamlet of Chebaulip, as Tacoma was then known. U.S. Gov. built Ft. Steilacoom, around which grew up settlement, where inhabitants of Chebaulip took refuge during White R. Ind. raids of 1855. Puyallup Inds. had their village, which they called Ta-Ha-Do-Wa ("welcome") at head of Commencement Bay. Early pioneers used to tell of seasons when bay was covered with canoes of salmon-spearng aborigines & of gathering of 4,000-6,000 Inds. near Amer. L. in spring, who met to celebrate with gambling, horse-racing & religious rites. After White R. uprising, military executed some of Ind. leaders & attempted to prosecute white settlers married to Ind. women, who were accused of giving rebels aid. Tacoma's real growth began with arrival from Portland (1868) of elderly M. M. McCarver, energetic town promoter, who vigorously boomed sale of lots. At same time name of Chebaulip was finally discarded & that of Tacoma, Ind. designation for Mt. Rainier, adopted. (Tacomans made great but unsuccessful efforts to have this name adopted for mt.) Tacoma's struggle against Seattle for rail conn. ended in 1873 when N.P. RR. built its line to Commencement Bay. Finally, in 1888, completion of same RR.'s tunnel through Stampede Pass across Cascade Mts. brought direct tie-up with E. In next decades other transcontinental lines entered city. Tide of immigration now set in & town grew by leaps & bounds from mere sawmill hamlet to city of 36,000 by 1900. Even after 1900 Tacoma preserved its general character of W. coast frontier town. Practically every saloon was a gambling joint. Says Hunt, Tacoma historian: "In passing along the streets even as late as 1905, one would hear the sing-song of the Keno dealer: 'Forty-four, sixty-eight, twenty-nine, thirty-six.' The winner shouts 'Keno' & from disappointed players comes the monotonous wail of 'O-o-h Hell!'" Drunks & loggers (even when not drunk) were regularly "rolled," & there were occasional murders. "Harry" Morgan was boss of vice district. To fight reformist press, he started newspaper of his own, "The Pierce County Globe," which, like his other ventures, proved a financial success. But eventually the vice district was closed down. Reform wave went to rather extravagant lengths when city fathers enacted an "anti-treat" ordinance that imposed penalty on man who sold liquor rather than man who was standing treat. Last lynching occurred in 1873. During 1880's, Chinese, some of whom had worked on building N.P. RR. & who competed in labor market with white man, were driven out of city when anti-Chinese movement swept entire W. coast. Labor became active in late eighties, & went into politics as Union Labor Party, which advocated, among other reforms, municipal ownership of public utilities. Coalition of conservatives defeated Union Labor Party in 1888, but public-ownership idea took hold & eventually resulted in acquisition or building of municipally owned power plants. Tacoma's chief industries are still connected with wood products: lumber, plywood, pulp, furniture, barrels & kegs. But it also has important shipyards, large smelting plant, aluminum mfg. plant, electro-chemical works & coking plants which process coal from near-by coal fields, as well as many industries processing farm products.

Everett is situated on landlocked Gardner's Bay, with fine views of Olympics (SW), Mt. Baker (NE) & Mt. Rainier (SE). In 1792 Vancouver took possession of Puget Sound reg. for Britain, landing at pt. near present-day Everett's site. Although 1st settlement dates back to 1862, no expansion occurred at Gardner's Bay until 1889 when Rucker Bros. (later Everett Land Co.) began exploiting for. wealth of Snohomish R. country. Gt.N. RR. arrived about this time, & Rockefellers invested in near-by Monte Cristo mines. Then boom set in. In 3 months the new town had 3,000 inhabitants. Everett had its stormy frontier days, with usual wave of robbery & murder. Among its dives was Bucket of Blood Saloon, built over Snohomish R., with convenient trapdoor in floor of its back room, through which, legend has it, loggers who had been robbed were dropped into R. Finally, true to frontier pattern, Committee of Twenty-One summarily ended crime wave. Near-by Snohomish was eager to become city seat, & planned to send expedition to steal court records from Everett. Luckily, Snohomishites never came, for Everett people had planted dynamite under bridge over which invaders would have had to pass.

Town's early boom collapsed with closing down of various enterprises & 1893 depression. But with acquisition by Weyerhaeuser interests of great lumber tracts, it became lumber processing & shipping center. However, in recent yrs., due to exhaustion of timber resources, industrial emphasis has shifted to pulp wood, of which there is still plenty in for. Everett's most sensational labor trouble resulted from I.W.W. agitation in 1916. Members of I.W.W. were generally known as "Wobblies," word said to be derived from lingual difficulties of Chinese storekeeper with name: Industrial Workers of the World. When Wobblies tried to speak on streets, they were arrested & jailed. Finally, new invaders were beaten brutally & in some cases forced to run gauntlet. In Nov., two ships loaded with Wobblies sailed from Seattle into Gardner's Bay, but were warned not to land. Shooting affray ensued in which several Wobblies & sheriff's men were killed & many wounded. Everett is excellent pt. for trips to Whidbey I. in Puget Sound, to beach resorts, & to high Cascades. In Snohomish Cty. are more than 140 Ls. & many streams affording fine recr. & f. Larger industrial plants of city may be visited.

Bellingham is situated on Bellingham Bay, opp. Lummi I., with view of San Juan Is. Whatcom Cr. cuts through city. Bellingham is considerable port & industrial center with pulp & woodworking mills, canneries & salmon packing plants—some of world's largest. Coal & other minerals are mined in vic. Bellingham Bay was discovered by Sp. explorer, Eliza, 1791, & rediscovered by Whidbey, of Vancouver's expedition, next yr., but was not settled till after internat. boundary, some 18m (N), was fixed by treaty, 1846. Early settlers did not suffer from Ind. troubles of 1855-56, although, anticipating trouble, they built fort & stockade. Lummi & N. Coast Inds. were friendly. Nearest thing to Ind. trouble occurred somewhat later, when local sheriff arrested Lummi Chief & his son, who had killed another Ind. Band of Lummi came down to rescue their fellow tribesmen, but were driven off after fight on beach. In 1858 town was temporarily depopulated by short-lived Fraser R. gold rush.

Toward turn of cent. Bellingham finally came into existence as city when four orig. towns, Sehome, Fairhaven, Whatcom & New Whatcom, merged. Near-by coal mines were early source of prosperity; however, because quality of coal was poor, mines were temporarily abandoned. Exploitation of firs. in back country has been basis of city's prosperity, together with salmon fishing, vegetable & fruit-raising & dairying.

Spokane (sett.c.1871) likes to refer to itself as capital of "Inland Empire." With completion of Grand Coulee project only 92^m away, city hopes to become center of vast irrigated area of more than 1,000,000 ac. & to have access to great new sources of cheap hydroelectric power. Even before building of Grand Coulee project, Spokane benefited from almost 300,000 h.p. produced by hydroelectric plants. Consequently, during World War II, there was considerable development of lighter metals industries, especially aluminum & magnesium. City is within short distance of some of greatest remaining lumber reserves of country, & lumber & woodworking mills play important part in its economy. It is also center of important mining reg. Rich surrounding land, much of it irrigated, produces quantities of agric. products, with trend away from wheat farming to more intensive cultivation. Spokane straddles Spokane R. at pt. where latter makes its impressive 150' drop, known as Spokane Falls. Latah (Hangman's) Cr. circles city (W) & Coeur d'Alene Mts. make fine scenic backdrop (E). Spokane is hub of great recr. area. In vic. are more than 76 lakes & (N) Mt. Spokane (5,808'), mecca for winter sports enthusiasts. First settlement at Spokane was not made until 1871, despite its favorable location (salmon could not climb falls of Spokane R.). But in 1810, Northwest Fur Co., soon taken over by Hudson's Bay Co., had est. post 10^m from site of present city. Spokane H., as this outpost was known, was famous throughout NW. for hospitality to trappers & Inds. Next year, Astor est. his Pacific Fur Co. at same pt., but was forced to sell out to his Brit. rival because of War of 1812. By 1838, mission was est. at Tshimakain. Missionaries admitted that, after 9 yrs. of effort, they had failed to make a single convert. It is recorded that one Ind. remarked: "Forget religion, have plenty tobacco." Nevertheless, these white men earned respect of the tribes. When they moved to Ft. Colville, Inds. went along to see them safely to their destination. Spokane Inds., under leadership of Chief Garry, converted to Christianity, turned friendly, which unfortunately for them did not prevent their being pushed off their lands by flood of settlers from E. It is recorded that in his later yrs., Chief Garry was reduced to begging for food in city streets. For short period in 1877, Nez Percé uprising created panic & many settlers came scurrying to take refuge on Havermale I. at Spokane. But now a stream of immigration set in. First newspaper, "The Times," was founded in 1879; its printing plant had to be laboriously hauled in from Portland. With arrival of N.P. RR. in 1883 & gold rush to Coeur d'Alene district in same yr., the boom was on.

Despite temporary set-back in 1889, when 32 sq. blocks were destroyed by fire, city's expansion continued pretty steadily. 1891-92 was memorable for strikes & resulting violence in Coeur d'Alene dist., when strike-breakers were employed by mine owners. Depression of 1893 led unemployed to organize contingents for Gen. Coxey's armies, which failed to reach their destination because of transportation difficulties. In later years I.W.W. invaded city. They were forbidden to speak on the streets by ordinance. Six hundred were sent to jail, which became so overcrowded that ordinance had to be repealed. Cheap "colonist rates" in 1902 brought additional floods of emigrants. It was around turn of the century that Lord Sholto Douglas, who was passing through Spokane, ordered city's bars to dispense free "booze" to all comers, which resulted in memorable Sun. celebration.

(15) In Spokane also is Whitworth College (1883).

SIDE TRIPS. (A) Take US195 (S) from Spokane through vast spreading wheat fields of "Inland Empire." 33^{mi} Rosalia, farmers' community. 34 5^{mi}, short distance (E) from hy. is Steptoe Mem., comm. battle (May 17, 1858) in which Col. E. J. Steptoe was forced by Inds. to withdraw his troops. At 52^{mi} is J. with Rd. leading (R) 5^{mi} to Steptoe Butte St. Pk. 61^{mi} Colfax (sett. 1870), wheat growers' trading center. 78^{mi} Pullman, grain storage & shipping pt. Here is St. College of Wash. (opened 1892), with notably large College Lab. & College Mus. with nat. hist., hist. & Ind. colls. It is 2nd largest educational institution in Wash. At 100^{mi} is Idaho Line, near J. with US95, 10^{mi} N. of Lewiston, Idaho at J. with US410 (see).

(B) Take Seven-Mile Rd. from Spokane 9^{mi} to impressive Deep Cr. Canyon &, at 10 5^{mi}, Nine-Mile Dam, with Spokane power plant. Near here stood Spokane H.

(C) Take US2 branching (R) from US10 at W. city limit of Spokane. 12^{mi} Spokane Battlefield St. Pk., with mon. where, in 1858, Amer. troops commanded by Col. Geo. Wright defeated band of Inds. & avenged Col. Steptoe's defeat (see above). 37^{mi} Davenport, center of considerable wheat growing & mining area. At Davenport is J. with St.22 running (N) along Roosevelt L. to J. with US395 near Kettle Falls.

At 66^{mi} on US2 is Wilbur. 66.5^{mi} J. with St.4.

Take latter (R) 3^{mi} to J. with St.4C & turn (L) on this to Grand Coulee, 25^{mi}, near Grand Coulee Dam, boom town, which sprang up during construction of Grand Coulee Project. Near here is U.S. Gov. West Conservation Pt. with splendid view of dam. In bldg. is large model of project. Dam is located at pt. where Columbia R. flows through deep & comparatively narrow gorge. Dam is one of the largest constructions ever created by man—550' high, 4,137' long, 500' thick at its base, 3 times bigger than largest Egyptian pyramid. It backs up L., extending 151^{mi} into Canada. Elevated some 280' above L., is GRAND COULEE, huge trough scoured out of surface of plateau by action of R. Grand Coulee is some 50^{mi} long, with average depth of 800' & width varying 2^{mi} to 5^{mi}. Gov. engineers have thrown earthen dams across this trough, enclosing sec. 27^{mi} long. Water is pumped up from L. below into basin thus created, which is filled during periods of high water when Columbia R. is at flood. Stored water is released from this reservoir as required for irrigation, & flows by gravity through main canal for distribution over formerly parched lands of plateau. Land to be irrigated, some 1,200,000 as., about equal to area of Delaware, lies for most part S. of Columbia R. Project also, by regulating water flow of Columbia R., permits increased power output at Bonneville & other pts. & provides greater navigation depths during low-water periods. Grand Coulee is but one of several projects planned for development of Columbia R.'s resources. Present dam's use only 27 percent of R.'s power capacity. Other dams, 10 altogether, will be built to utilize these resources up to 92 percent.

US2 cont. (W) to J. with St.7 at 99^{mi}.

Take latter (L) 1.5^{mi} to Dry Falls St. Pk. (pic. camp. boat. f. no h.). Here is Vista H., overlooking cliffs of canyon, 417' deep & 3^{mi} wide, through which in prehist. times Columbia R. plunged into valley below. This canyon is extension of Grand Coulee. Cont. on St.7 through canyon past scenically fine Park L., Blue L. (recr.), Lenore L. & Soap L. to J. with US10 (see below) 53^{mi}.

US2 cont. through impressive Moses Coulee. 150^{mi} Orondo. Ferry across Columbia R. to Entiat at J. with US97 (see). From Orondo, hy. runs (S) along E. bank of Columbia R., which it crosses, finally, to Wenatchee, 168^{mi}, at J. with US97 (see).

At Spokane is J. with US395 (see), with which US10 unites (S) for 70^{mi}. 32.5

32.5, FOUR LAKES, with mon. on Site of Battle of Four Lakes (1858) bet. c.5,000 Inds. & small U.S. Army force led by Col. Geo. Wright, resulting in U.S. victory. At Four Lakes is J. with Rd. leading (R) to Silver L. (f.) at 3.5^{mi} & Medical L. (resort) at 5^{mi}. 38. CHENEY, home of E. Wash. College of Education. Near SPRAGUE, 63., is Colville L., 6^{mi} long. 87. RITZVILLE, wheat milling & shipping pt. At 89., US395 (see) branches (S). US10 turns (W) across high plateau area. 133. MOSES L., 16^m long. At 135. MOSES L. ST. PK. (R) (pic.swim.boat.). 161. J. with St.7 (see above). 174. US10 bridges COLUMBIA R. which cuts rocky gorge deep through plateau. 176.5. GINKGO PETRIFIED FOR. ST. PK. (5,979 as.) containing fossilized ginkgo trees & 75 other prehist. species, 10,000,000 yrs. or more old. Adm. Bldg. exhibits specimens & mineral coll. 202. ELLENSBURG (sett.1867), dairying, farming & gold- & coal-mining center, with Central Wash. College of Education (est.1890), at J. with US97 (see), with which US10 unites to Teanaway.

Sec. 2: ELLENSBURG to SEATTLE. 107.

US10-97 follows Yakima R. (NW), entering at 12. picturesque gorge. 20. TEANAWAY. Here US97 (see) branches (N). US10 cont. (NW) into Cascade Mts. 24. CLE ELUM. At 25. is J. with St.2E.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) to Roslyn, 3^m. Here is Northwest Mine (O), Utah & N. 2nd Sts., Log Cabin (1880). Rd. cont. through picturesque reg. to Cle Elum L. (resort) at 8^m, L.'s waters are impounded by high dam & are used for irrigation.

US10 cont. (W) to EASTON with RR. Js., at 38. At 39.5. is J. with Rd. leading (R) 1^m to Kachess L. (2,231'), on whose W. shore is Kachess For. Camp (2,250'; facils.f.).

48. KEECHIE L. (resort), impounded by dam, is hemmed in by steep, forest-covered mts. Hy. now passes ROCKY RUNS FOR. CAMP. (2,530'; trlrs.boat.f.) at 52. on L. shore. At 55.5. is HIYAK (resort). Take trl. 2^m (L) here to Snoqualmie Ski Bowl (accoms.ski-lift). 57.5. SNOQUALMIE PASS SUMMIT (3,004'). Near here is Snoqualmie Pass For. Camp (facils.). Short distance beyond is J. with trl. (L) to Seattle Ski Club. Short distance farther is trl. (L) to Mun. Ski Lodge, operated by City of Seattle (ski runs & lift).

US10 now begins downward course, along W. slopes of Cascades. 78. NORTH BEND at J. with paved hy. leading (R) 3^m to Snoqualmie & Snoqualmie Falls, 270' high which is used for generation of electric power, at 4^m. 90.5. J. with US10 Alt. to Seattle via Renton. US10 cont. straight ahead (W), passing L. Sammamish (resort, recr.camp.f.) & crossing L. Washington by L. Washington Bridge (see Seattle) to reach SEATTLE (see), 107, at J. with US99.

US 410—WASHINGTON

WASH-IDAHO LINE (1^m from Lewiston, Idaho) (W) to ABERDEEN, WASH. 450. US410

Via: Clarkston, Pomeroy, Dayton, Walla Walla, Pasco, Kennewick, Prosser, Grandview, Sunnyside, Yakima, Enumclaw, Puyallup, Tacoma, Olympia, McCleary, Elma & Montesano. Rd. occasionally blocked by snow in Cascade Mts. RRs. parallel route bet. Clarkston & Yakima; Auburn & Aberdeen. Bus conns. throughout. Accoms.: All types in large centers. Camp. facils. in Cascades.

US410 is main cross-state hy. In its E. sec., it crosses high tableland of cattle & sheep ranges, then traverses fertile Walla Walla R. Valley & cont. into more arid reg. as it approaches Columbia R. This sec. gives access through side Rds. to Grand Canyon of Snake R. & Blue Mts. area. From Pasco, near confluence of S Snake & Columbia Rs., hy. turns (NW) through orchard & farm reg. rendered fertile by great irrigation projects, following Yakima R., & then climbs along Naches R. into high Cascades, cuts across N.E. sec. of Mt. Rainier Nat. Pk. & descends, along White R., into well-watered farmlands of Puget Sound reg. In its final sec., US410, circling (S) around Sound, runs (E) through Chehalis Valley to Aberdeen on coast.

Sec. 1: WASH-IDAHO LINE to YAKIMA. 229.

Bridge crosses S Snake R. from Lewiston, Idaho, at J. with US195 (see US10) into Wash. 0.5. CLARKSTON (accoms.), flanked (N) by high hills, is in fertile irrigated area at bend where Clearwater & Snake Rs. meet. Town was originally known as Jawbone Flats. From Spirit Hy., N. of city & 2,000' above valley, there is magnificent view.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.3 (L) from Clarkston along S Snake R. to Asotin, 6^m, where picturesque Asotin Cr. debouches from canyon into S Snake R.

Take unimproved Rd. (L) here 16.5^m to Buffalo Rock, overhanging Grand Canyon of Snake R. On rocks of Wash. side are int. pictographs. Cont. on unimproved Rd. (S), paralleling S Snake R., with magnificent views of peaks & canyon itself, to Rogersburg, at 22.5^m, where Grande Ronde R. flows into S Snake R.

Cont. on St.3 from Asotin to Anatone, 25m, encircled by Blue Mts., & to Field's Springs St. Pk. (23 as.camp.pic.community kitchen.skiing). At 38m Grande Ronde R. in beautiful mt. reg. Branch of St.3 cont. its picturesque course to Ore. Line 43m & (S) past scenically fine country, through Paradise, Ore., to Enterprise, Ore., at J. with Ore. St.82 (see Ore. US30).

8.5. SILCOTT, near which (NW) Snake R. drops into canyon 2,000' deep. 27.5. PATAHA, beyond which hy. runs through Pataha Cr. Canyon. 30.5. POMEROY, once boom town on stage route to Lewiston, tough miners' & cattlemen's hangout. SIDE TRIP: Take St.3K (L) from Pomeroy At 7.5m turn (R) on fairly good Rd. into Umatilla Nat. For. At 18m J. with Rd. running (L) short distance to Rose Springs (resort). Cont. on main Rd. through scenically fine Blue Mts. At 43m is Ore. Line & at 50m, Troy, Ore., from which various Rds. lead to Js. with Ore. St.82 (see Ore. US30), approaching Grand Canyon of Snake R.

52.5. DELANEY

SIDE TRIP: Take Rd. (R) from Delaney along Tucannon R. At 16.5m Lyon's Ferry across (R) Snake R. At 21m, J. with poor Rd., on which route turns (R) to J. at 22m with trl., short distance up which is Palouse Falls, where Palouse R. drops from great height & then flows through deep chasm to J. with Snake R. Near here is Palouse Falls St. Pk. (95 as.).

67. DAYTON (sett.1855), situated bet. Touchet R. & Patit Cr. Inds. camped here, as did Lewis & Clark & Bonneville expeditions. Dayton became important stage-coach stop & center from which prospectors started out on their hunt for gold in mts.

71.5. LEWIS & CLARK TRL. ST. PK. (35 as.camp.community kitchen) on Touchet R. where Lewis & Clark camped in 1806.

97. WALLA WALLA

RR. & bus conns. Airport. Accomms.: All types. Info.: Auto Club of Wash., Marcus Whitman Hotel, & C. of C., City Hall. In Sept., SE. Wash. Fair.

Walla Walla (Ind."many waters"), situated on R. of same name, in fertile valley threaded by numerous streams, is dominated to (SE) by Blue Mts. City is in hist. territory, just N. of Old Ore. Trl., travelled by Lewis & Clark. At near-by Wallula are ruins of Astor's Old Ft. Walla Walla. Only 6m from city is Whitman Nat. Mon., marking site of massacre of Waiilatpu missionaries by band of Cayuse in 1847 (see below). Gov. Stevens had his great powwow with 5,000 Inds. of E. Wash. at Walla Walla. He finally induced them to sign treaty. Stevens had an indestructible faith in utility of these pacts; but, as usual, soon after this one was signed, Inds. revolted again & War Dept. closed entire reg. as being too disturbed for settlement. It was not reopened until 1859, whereupon 3rd & last Ind. war promptly broke out. Meanwhile Walla Walla had been founded as Steptoeville. Col. Steptoe was commander of U.S. troops which narrowly escaped annihilation by Inds. (see US10). Building of Mullan Military Rd., at this time, from Ft. Benton, Mo., to Ft. Walla Walla, helped immigration, though its chief purpose was military. In 1861 discovery of gold at Orofino, Idaho, transformed little settlement into roaring mining town. Joaquin Miller is said to have become pony express rider bet. town & mines. Local lawlessness was tempered eventually by vigilante committees. In these early days when prospectors flooded into town, wooden frames were run up & covered with muslin. These were known as "muslin houses" & street on which they stood as "Muslin Row." In dance hall, where beside dancing, drinking & gambling went on, dance girls were organized in teams of four girls, presided over by "chaperons." Walla Walla's more recent growth has depended on agric. City ships out most of wheat grown on some 200,000 as. of surrounding countryside, & processes local vegetable & fruit crops, specializing in green peas of which 5 million cases are packed annually. When Columbia R. improvement projects are completed, vessels of fairly deep draft will be able to reach Pascoe, only short distance away. It is distinguished as birthpl. of Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Bataan.

PTS. OF INT.: Main & Colville Sts., plaque marking Site of Second Ft. Walla Walla. Isaacs Ave., Whitman College (1859.coed.), which has attendance of c.600 students. Here is Whitman Mus. (O.appl.) with colls. of NW. Americana, nat. hist. & anthropology. On campus is Chief Lawyer Mon., comm. Nez Percé friend of Gov. Stevens. 103.5. J. with Rd. leading (L) 0.5^m, then (R) 0.5^m to Whitman Nat. Mon., where stood bldgs. (to be rest.) of Waiilatpu Mission, est. 1836 by Marcus Whitman. Cayuse Inds. massacred Whitman, his wife & 12 others here in 1847. Stone marks burial place of missionaries. 126. J. with US395 (see), with which US410 unites to Pasco. 127. J. with unsurfaced Rd. leading (L) to Walla Walla, 0.5^m, & (L) here 1.5^m to ruins of Ft. Walla Walla (1817-18) built by Northwest Fur Co. as strategic pt. near J. of Walla Walla & Columbia Rs.

US410-395 now runs N. along Columbia R. & at 139. crosses Snake R. At 139.5. is J. with Rd. leading (L) 2^m to Sacajawea St. Pk., comm. Ind. woman guide of Lewis & Clark Expedition. 143. PASCO, on Columbia R. near its J. with Snake R., is small industrial center & market town for extensively irrigated reg. which will be considerably expanded with completion of Grand Coulee Project. Near site of Pasco, Lewis & Clark camped in Oct. 1805 & bought food & supplies—among other items, 40 dogs—from Inds. Later David Thompson of Northern Fur Co. put up sign at location pt. of Pasco, claiming reg. for Great Britain. City was officially born at completion of RR. bridge across Snake R., 1884. Construction hqs. were at near-by Ainsworth which developed reputation for gun play, vigilante justice, & quick hanging. But after job was finished, Ainsworth vanished almost over night. During World War II Pasco enjoyed its biggest boom. Population doubled, due largely to establishment of army depots & naval air sta. in neighborhood.

At Pasco, US395 (see) branches (N) & US410 crosses (L) Columbia R. 145. KEN-NEWICK. Grapes are grown in vic., as well as cherries & other fruits. Rodeo held here around July 4 attracts many visitors. 149.5. J. with Rd. leading (R) across R. 4^m to Richland, before World War II, mere hamlet, now gov.-controlled city of 15,000, working on atomic projects, at S. edge of huge Hanford Project, U.S. Military Reserv. (N.O.). Community boasts it is crimeless, has empty jails, no one on relief rolls & no unemployment. US410 now follows (S) bank of Yakima R. past Horse Heaven Hills (see US97). 178. PROSSER, on Yakima R. In City Pk. is Petrified Sequoia whose only habitat today is Cal. US410 crosses to N. Bank of Yakima R. from Prosser. 229. YAKIMA (sett.c.1861), on Yakima R., center for irrigated reg. of c.500,000 ac. In harvest time it is flooded with hundreds of seasonal workers who arrive to harvest crops.

PTS. OF INT.: 415 N. 2nd St., Janeck H. (O.appl.) containing large coll. of Ind. material. Adj., int. rock garden. 1408 W. Yakima Ave., McWhorter H. Mus. (O. appl.); coll. of Ind. material. Various plants which dehydrate & pack fruits may be visited on appl. (see C. of C.). In vic. is Ft. Simcoe (see US97). At Yakima US97 (see) branches (N).

Sec. 2: YAKIMA to OLYMPIA. 174.

US410 follows Naches R. from Yakima ascending gradually into Cascades. At 5. is J. with S. Naches R. Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) few hundred yds. to J. with trl. leading (R) few rods to cliff on which are Prehist. Ind. Pictographs. Cont. on S. Naches R. Rd. At 2.5^m Eschback Pk. (fee.swim.pic.). Rd. cont. & at 12^m rejoins US410.

US410 now enters impressive Naches R. canyon. 13.5. NACHES, fruit-packing center. 18.5. J. with St.5.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) 20^m through Tieton Gorge to Tieton Dam, impounding Tieton Reservoir, 21^m in Tieton Recr. Area (Snoqualmie Nat. For.), reg. of high peaks, lovely l.s. & precipitous streams, incl. Goat Rocks Wilderness Area, whose outstanding feature is Goat Rocks (8,201'). Rd. cont. to Clear Cr. Reservoir, impounded by Clear Cr. Dam, 27^m, near which is Clear L. For. Camp (3,000'; ample facil.).

At 47. on US410, Indian Flat For. Camp (ample facil.f.h.). 47.5. J. with Amer. R. Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (L) along Amer. R. short distance to Amer. R. Lodge (accoms. winter sports.ski bowl). Take Rd. (L) here, passing several for. camps & Goose Prairie (small resort), dominated by Goat Peak (6,494'), to Bumping L. at 11.5^m, on which are tiny hamlet & Bumping I. For. Camp (f.h.boat.swim.).

US410 cont. (W) past Fife's Peak (6,954') to CHINOOK PASS (5,400') at 56. (fine view of Mt. Rainier), named for mild winds that blow from Columbia R. reg. where Chinook Inds. used to live. These winds melt heavy snows in very short time. At 66. TIPSOO L. (5,400'). 69. J. with St.5 which runs (S) to Ohanapecoh Entrance of Mt. Rainier Nat. Pk. (see). 72.5. J. with Rd. to White R. (Yakima Pk.) Entrance of Mt. Rainier Nat. Pk. (see). 79. SILVER CR. RANGER STA. Near-by are Fish Hatchery, Parkway P.O. (cabins), & Silver Springs For. Camp (trlsr.sample facils.f.). US410 now parallels White R. 92.5. GREENWATER (resort) & GREEN-WATER FOR. CAMP on White R. 105. J. with Rd. leading (L) 2^m to Mud Mt. Dam, allegedly highest earthen dam in world. Fish will be raised by ladders to spawning grounds in artificial L. created by project. US410 descending rapidly W. slopes of Cascades, reaches ENUMCLAW at 111., bet. White & Green Rs. 1453 Cole St., Rochedale Cooperative Dept. Store, run according to Rochedale system, one of few enterprises of its kind on West Coast.

SIDE TRIP: Take St.5 (S) here 4^m to Buckley, at J. with branch of St.5.

Take latter (R) 2^m to Puget Sound Power & Light Co. Canal, which runs from L. Tapps Reservoir near-by. Hydroelectric plant develops 82,600 h.p. Ladders permit fish to climb to spawning grounds. Ingenious rotary screens, largest in world, return fish that have wandered into power canal to White R.

At 23^m on St.5 is Carbon R. Entrance to Mt. Rainier Nat. Pk. (see).

120.5. J. with Rd. Take latter (R) short distance, then (R) 1^m & (R) again to Ind. Graveyard, in Muckleshoot Ind. Reserv. 127. AUBURN, important RR. division pt. & repair center. 132. DIERINGER, where is Puget Sound Power & Light Co. Plant (O) which derives power from near-by L. Tapps Reservoir (see above). 135. SUMNER, shipping & processing center for bulbs, berries & other agric. products of vic. 138. PUYALLUP. One of attractive features of Puyallup countryside are hundreds of as. of daffodils whose cultivation is important industry. In Mar. is held daffodil festival. In Pioneer Pk., statue by V. A. Lewis of Ezra Meeker, early pioneer & founder of the city. 321 E. Pioneer St., Ezra Meeker H. Puyallup celebrates "Days of Ezra Meeker" festival in Aug. & W. Washington Fair in Sept. City's various plants, mostly canneries (O). 145. TACOMA at J. with US99 (see) with which US410 unites to OLYMPIA (see US99) at 174.

Sec. 3: OLYMPIA to WEST J. with US101. 47.

Leaving Olympia, US410 skirts Budd Inlet to E. J. at 5. with US101 (see). 31.5. SATSOP, at J. with Rd. leading (R) 8.5^m to Schaefer St. Pk. (pic.recr.f.) on Satsop R. 37.5. MONTESANO (sett.1854; good salmon f.), on Chehalis R., one of oldest towns in Wash. At 1st & Broad Sts., Gray's Harbor County Cth., in which are murals depicting hist. events & typical Wash. scenery, by F. Rohrback & F. Bieberstein. There is plaque in bldg. comm. Collin McKenzie & A. V. Hilmer, who were killed by John Turno, lawless character who for years infested reg. & finally killed these 2 men, who as sheriffs were hunting him after he had escaped from insane asylum. He was finally killed in fight with 2 other sheriffs. In cth. took place Centralia Massacre trials (see US99). Take 3rd St. (R) from Montesano 1.5^m to Sylvan L. St. Pk. (pic.) on L. of same name. 47. J. with US101 (see), 0.5^m from ABERDEEN (see US101).

US 830—WASHINGTON

MARYHILL, WASH. (at J. with US97) (W) to JOHNSON'S LANDING, WASH. 212. US830

Via: Bingen, North Bonneville, Camas, Vancouver & Longview. RRs. parallel route bet. Maryhill & Longview. Bus serv. throughout. Accom.: All types. Good Rd.

This route runs along (N) side of magnificent Columbia R. Gorge & affords int. return trip to Portland for tourists who have traveled US30 along (S) side of R. Aside from gorge itself, chief features of this route are side trips, which branch off into Mt. Adams & Mt. St. Helens reg. of Columbia Nat. For.

Sec. 1: MARYHILL to VANCOUVER. 104.

0. MARYHILL, at J. with US97 (see). Ferry crosses from Maryhill to Biggs, Ore., at J. with US30 (see) & US97 (see). Stonehenge Mon. (see US97) is 0.5^m (W) from Maryhill. 4. Take Rd. (L) here short distance to Maryhill Castle (O.pic.), built by Sam. Hill, son-in-law of RR. tycoon, Jas. J. Hill. Castle contains mus. in which are 50,000 items incl. Roumanian royal jewels; personal possessions of King Albert of Belgium; relics of Napoleon & Queen Victoria; relics from the "Mayflower"; paintings & sculptures, incl. coll. of terra cotta & bronzes presented by Rodin; Ind. relics. 9. Take Rd. (L) to Wishram & then trl. leading to Celilo Falls of Columbia R. 18.5. Take Rd. (L) here 3^m to North Dalles, where ferry runs to The Dalles, Ore. At this pt., R. plunges through very narrow gorge. E. of North Dalles c.2^m at Spearfish are Ind. stone paintings. US830 now skirts lava formations of Paha Cliffs. 26. LYLE. 27. (R) on Rd. along Klickitat R. Canyon, 1,000' deep, to Klickitat Falls 3^m. 37.5. BINGEN, J. with St.8D.

SIDE TRIP. Take latter (R) to White Salmon 1.5^m.

Take Jewett St. (N) from White Salmon 3.5^m to Northwestern L. (resort.swim.boat.f.). Cont. (N) on St.8D from White Salmon. At 22^m Trout Lake (supplies).

(1) Take Rd. (L) from P.O. here 2^m to Guler, where is Ranger Sta., & cont. to Ice Caves, 6^m in which are int. ice formations. Here is Ice Caves For. Camp. Rd. cont. (W) & then (N), & passes number of for. camps to J. with Cispus R. Rd. to Randle (see Mary's Corner, US99).

(2) Take Rd. (R) from Trout Lake to Bird Cr. Meadows For. Camp (6,100';facils.), starting pt. for ascent of Mt. Adams (12,307'). Multicolored cliffs & dazzling white glaciers accentuate peak's grandeur.

39. WHITE SALMON-HOOD R. TOLL BR. to Hood Rd., Ore., at J. with US30 (see). 56.5. J. with St.8C.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) via Carson at 1^m & along Windy R. Valley, with view of Mt. Adams (NE) & Mt. St. Helens (NW) to J. at 10^m.

Seattle, which boasts of having some 600,000 people within metropolitan area & of being one of great ports & industrial beehives of country, is youngest of Big Four of West Coast. 6 yrs. younger than Portland. First settlement was at Alki Pt., modestly called New York, in 1851. City was named for friendly Chief Seattle, who made noble but ineffective speech at powwow held in 1855 by Gov. Isaac I. Stevens. Finally, Inds. were induced to sign treaty, ceding millions of ac. of land to whites. Nevertheless, white settlers had Ind. troubles. There was a massacre at White R. late in 1855, but due to lucky presence of U.S. sloop-of-war, whose guns barraged attackers, Seattle escaped with minimum damage in Jan. 1856.

Seattle is that exceptional Western phenomenon, a boom-town whose boom did not derive directly from gold rush—at least not till 1897. Lumber, still basic industry, provided boom stimulus. Henry Yesler put up sawmill in 1853 & his first order was for piles to be used in "Frisco", which was gold rush town. After that, for., seemingly inexhaustible, accounted for Seattle's astounding growth, slow at first, & then increasing by geometric leaps & bounds.—43,000 in 1890, 80,000 in 1900, 237,000 in 1910. Fish processing, which started with an unsuccessful venture about same time as Yesler's mill, & shipping were other 2 early industries. Alaska gold rush boom did not materialize until 1897. In 1909, town celebrated new Alaska era by putting on, with considerable pomp, Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. Seattleans have always been enterprising. In early days, bachelors of town far outnumbered eligible females—one account says, by ratio of nine to one. Live-wire entrepreneur of Frisco's Barbary Coast came up & built, in 1861, next to Yesler's, "house" whose occupants were mostly Ind. women. Asa S. Mercer, brother of Thos., who is notable for having brought 1st team of horses to town, undertook to protect local morals. He made two trips E., bringing back eligible spinsters each time. On last occasion, he was stuck in S.F., with his cargo & no money, but finally managed to ship through those girls that weren't snapped up locally, & most of these survivors were happily married to Seattle bachelors. Asa was made president of territorial univ. (which Seattle captured away from its rival, Tacoma), probably because he had worked clearing new campus & helped run up first bldg.; also probably, because he was an extremely moral young man & recent college graduate. His brother, Thos., meanwhile, had taken up claim on lake in N. part of city, which he called Union, because he foresaw that a canal would eventually be built to join Puget Sound, through this lake, with larger L. Wash.

Yesler's & Skid-Rd., as it was known (today, Yesler Way), became center to which gravitated loggers, buckers, roustabouts, sailors & other elements of floating pop. Hiring halls, cheap hotels, lodging houses & "joints," mushroomed to accommodate them. Although fire of 1889 levelled old bldgs., as it did almost entire business district, Yukon gold rush gave quarter new & gaudier lease on life. Fabulous saloons such as "Horseshoe," whose sign was solid silver horseshoe studded with gold nails & "Our House," which snobbishly made its patrons take calks off their shoes before entering & luxurious bawdy houses—one of them spent $200,000 on tapestries & plush fittings—appeared almost overnight. Today, after this short flare-up, Pioneer Sq. is still surrounded by cheap lodging houses, employment offices & "joints" & is center to which gravitate transient elements.

Seattle had advantages, fine harbor & magnificent for. resources at its back & salmon running in its Rs. But it needed conns. with outside world. Citizens didn't wait for gov. help. Surmounting considerable construction difficulties, they built Rd. across Snoqualmie Pass to E. They also needed RR. conns. Tacoma took N.P. RR. from them by making more attractive offer. Then Seattle began building its own line to Tacoma. Henry Villard, who about this time took over N.P., finished link for them & then went bankrupt. New owners of N.P. refused to give Seattle a break. Seattleans thereupon started another line, along Puget Sound's E. shore, to conn. with Canadian Pacific, which brought N.P. to terms. Subsequently three additional transcontinental lines came into city & bottleneck was burst wide open.

Seattle, partly because it was young, optimistic & radical, early tried mun. ownership. It built its own hydroelectric plant at Cedar R. & small steam-generating plant. Then it went in for mun.-owned electric power production in big way. City Light Dept. started great development on Skagit R. When completed, project will deliver some 1,120,000 h.p. Result: although privately-owned companies exist, local electricity rates are among lowest in country. There are also coal mines not far from city & these supply gas & fuel. Seattleans had good harbor, but they have made it better. They dug out channel of Duwamish R. in S. sec. of city to take freight steamers. Much of their industry is located there. They induced Fed. Gov. to realize Thos. Mercer's dream. In 1916, canal conn. Puget Sound & L. Wash. was completed, so that now they have huge inland harbor as well. Later they constructed great new terminal on Smith Cove, N. of city, & here are yards of their old foe, N.P. RR.

City was built on 7 hills, like Rome. But hills were nuisance & Seattleans levelled those most obnoxious to expansion, sluicing them out with hydraulic rams (an idea derived from Yukon) using resulting mud to fill in flats along water front.

Record would make it appear that city has had harmonious, peaceful development. But fact is that Seattle's hist. has been colorful with troubles & some violence. Last lynching, triple one, occurred in 1882. In 1886 there was an anti-Chinese riot in which at least 1 man was killed & several wounded. Thousands of coolies who had worked on Villard's RR. had, when that undertaking was done, become menace to white workers' jobs. Mob forced several hundred Orientals to ship for S.F. In 80's & 90's, Populism & socialism flourished & radical laws, such as recall & referendum, were adopted. Migratory character of lumber camp & sawmill workers & frequent ups & downs of lumber market produced bitter unrest. In late 19th cent., Knights of Labor made Seattle its hqs.; then, in early decades of 20th cent., revolutionary I.W.W.'s centered there. I.W.W.'s won better hrs. & working conditions in lumber camps, but their victory was temporary. In clash with armed deputies at Everett, number of Seattle I.W.W.'s were killed & wounded, & soon after, in Mar. 1918, 74 of them were indicted for murder; however, test case brought to trial resulted in acquittal & release of all accused. Early in 1919 occurred famous general strike which was successful for a few days, but collapsed because strikers didn't know where to go from there. During depression of 30's, A.F. of L., with its Central Labor Council, became powerful. Core of its strength was control of teamsters' unions. Later in decade, C.I.O., which had longshoremen, lumber & maritime workers' unions, became equally important. In 1938, occurred Newspaper Guild Strike which attracted nation-wide notice.

Seattle is beautifully situated. When you come in from the Sound, around Magnolia Bluff, with Alki Pt. closing in harbor (S), city lies before you, tiering up on hills against backdrop of high Cascades & snowcapped Mt. Rainier. When you are in city itself, on one of hills, you look (W) across island-studded Puget Sound & Kitsap Peninsula to snowy Olympics. Bordering Seattle (E) is 20th long L. Wash. with high Mercer I. in its center, anchor for bridge which conn. city with mainland. Business district is crowded; residential areas have been pushed, for more elbow room, toward L. Wash. along which runs handsome blvd., & to heights above Sound. Poor live in flats of S. industrial district. Many people live on houseboats, mostly in vic. of Union & Wash. Is.; some of these boats are luxurious, but many are slum tenements.

Klondike gold rush & two world wars boomed Seattle tremendously. Lumber & woodworking industries, shipbuilding, airplane manufacture, aluminum fabrication, f.-processing & processing of agric. products are among industries that have experienced great expansion. Seattle, because of convenient location, has become considerable tourist center.

ROAD & TRAIL APPROACHES

Rd. & trl. approaches branching from US101 (see), which skirts W., N. & E. sides of pk., are listed in succession, beginning at pk.'s SW. sec. & ending at SE. sec.

I. EAST FORK QUINAULT RD., branching from US101 at Quinault along Quinault L. & following E. Fork of Quinault R. 20^m. Near Rd. terminus are Camp-ground (trlrs.) & Graves Cr. Inn. At terminus (horses.guides) trl. cont. along Quinault R. to Enchanted Valley Lodge, 13^m.

II. NORTH SHORE QUINULT RD., branching from US101 3^m (N) from Quinault & following N. Fork of Quinault R. 23^m to N. Fork Ranger Sta. (horses, guides). Here a trl. cont. 18^m to Low Divide Chalet (hotel, horses, guides) & across pk., with side trls. branching to various pts. of int., to J. with Hurricane Ridge Rd. (see below) at 43^m.

III. QUEETS RIVER RD., branching from US101 18^m (N) from Quinault L., extending 12^m up Queets R. to Kelly's Dude Ranch (accoms, horses, guides) just outside pk. Here trl. leads up Queets R. to Quinault R. At 3^m on this trl. is largest known Douglas fir tree, over 17' in diam.

IV. HOH RIVER RD., branching from US101 14^m (S) from Forks & following Hoh R. 18^m to Jackson Ranger Sta. in "rain forests." From Jackson Ranger Sta., Mt. Olympus Trl. leads to Olympus Ranger Sta., 9^m, & summit of Mt. Olympus (7,941'), 21^m.

V. BOGACHIEL RIVER RD., branching from US101 6^m (S) from Forks & following Bogachiel R. short distance from which trl. leads to J. with trls. conn. with Soleduck & Hoh R. Rds.

VI. SOLEDUCK HOT SPRINGS RD., branching from US101 37^m (W) from Port Angeles & following Soleduck R. 12^m to Soleduck Hot Springs (cabins, supplies, swim, horses, guides). Deer Lake Trl., from end of Rd., leads 4^m to Deer L. & 8^m Bogachiel Peak (5,474'). Roosevelt elk occasionally are seen. From peak, magnificent panorama is spread—Pacific Ocean with hist. Destruction I. (W), Mt. Olympus from across mile-deep Hoh R. Canyon (S), Juan de Fuca Strait & Vancouver I. (N).

VII. LAKE CRESCENT TRLS. branching from S. shore of Crescent L. on US101: (1) Storm King Mt. Trl. leads from near Storm King Fish Hatchery & Rosemary Inn to Storm King Mt., 2.5^m. Mt. goats are occasionally seen along this trl. (2) Marymere Falls Trl. leads from near Rosemary Inn along Barnes Creek to Marymere Falls, 0.7^m.

VIII. HURRICANE RIDGE RD., branching from US101 9^m (SW) from Port Angeles & extending 25^m to Obstruction Pt., affording excellent panoramic view of Mt. Olympus, Bailey Ridge, Mt. Anderson, Juan de Fuca Strait, Vancouver I. & Port Angeles. At 9^m Elwha R. Trl. branches (R) to Elkhorn Sta. at 12^m; Hayes R. Ranger Sta. at J. with Dosewallips—Hayden Pass Trl., 17^m, & Low Divide Chalet (see above), 27^m.

IX. OLYMPIC HOT SPRINGS RD., branching (R) from Hurricane Ridge Rd. 4^m (S) from latter's J. with US101 & extending 8.5^m along Elwha Canyon to Olympic Hot Springs (hotel, cabins, swim, horses, guides). Here trls. run to various scenic pts. of int.

X. DEER PK. RD., branching from US101 5^m (E) from Port Angeles & extending 18^m to Deer Pk. (5,400'), winter sports area.

XI. DOSEWALLIPS R. RD., branching near Brinnon from US101, 28^m (N) from Hoodport & extending along Dosewallips R. 15^m, ending in Douglas fir for. with wildflowers & plants of transitional zone. From end of Rd. extend trls. to various scenic pts. of int. One trl. runs (R) 4^m to Constance L. at foot of Mt. Constance (7,735'). Graves Cr. Trl. runs to J. with E. Fork Quinault Rd. (see above), 32^m.

XII. DUCKABUSH R. RD., branching from US101 22^m (N) from Hoodport & extending 6^m to trl. leading to Duckabush Camp, 17^m, from which run trls. to various scenic pts. of int.

XIII. N. FORK SKOKOMISH RD., branching from US101 near Hoodport running to L. Cushman, at 5^m. At 10.5^m J. with Trl. (R) to Mt. Elfinor. Main Rd. cont. along Lake to Staircase Resort (cabins, supplies, horses, guides), near beautiful Staircase Rapids, at 19^m. Skokomish R. Trl. runs (N) here to Enchanted Valley, 30^m. Another trl. branches off (W) to Graves Cr. (see Trail I. above) at c.20^m.

Mt. Rainier Nat. Pk. is one of chief scenic features of NW. Pk. (241,524 as.) was created by Act of Congress in 1899. The creation of the pk. caused controversy since it consisted largely of land originally owned by RRs., land which they exchanged for some of the best for. tracts owned by U.S. Gov. Mt. Rainier (14,408'), one of highest peaks in Cascade range, covers c.one-fourth of pk's. area. Its snow-covered summit is visible from cities on S. arm of Puget Sound & is particularly impressive as seen from Seattle. Like Mt. Hood, Mt. Rainier was thrown up by volcanic disturbances & later glacial action gouged out pk's deep R. canyons. Today, only some hot springs & steam-emitting vents give evidence of volcanic origin. Summit of mt. was not conquered until 1870, although number of attempts had been made before that to achieve ascent. Mt. Rainier has 3 peaks, Liberty Cap (14,112'), Pt. Success (14,150') & Columbia Crest (14,408'), of which 1st two form part of huge crater-like rim & Columbia Crest part of smaller but more perfect crater, some 1,200' in diam.

Although Mt. Rainier is chief feature of pk., there are many other scenic attractions—rugged peaks, 26 glaciers, precipitous gorges, cliffs, lovely Ls. & equally lovely waterfalls. Trls. give access to most pts. of int. Valleys of pk. are crowded with great firs. & dense luxuriant undergrowth. Woods become more open on mt. slopes, gradually thinning until they disappear at timberline. Reg. is noted for variety of its flora & fauna. Great mt. cedars, often 11' in diam., occur mostly in Ohanapecosh district. Mt. goats, seen only at high elevations during summer, descend to low ridges in winter & are often seen on Rd. bet. Nisqually Entrance & Glacier Bridge.

PARK TOURS

I. OHANAPECOSH ENTRANCE to J. with US410

Ohanapecosh Entrance is reached by branch of St.5 running (W) from US99 (see) at Mary's Corner. St.5 cont. (N) along E. side of pk., past OHANAPECOSH HOT SPRINGS on Ohanapecosh R., at which is The Lodge (accoms.). Forest H. has exhibits. Trls. radiate from here to various pts. of int. St.5 cont. to SILVER FALLS & then to STAFFORD FALLS, at 9. At 11.5. it reaches Pk. Serv. Cabin. Trl. here runs (L) to White R. Rd. (see below) at 6m. St.5 cont. to J. with US410 (see & No. III below) at 13.

II. NISQUALLY ENTRANCE to PARADISE VALLEY.

waterfalls & (R) to Klapatche Pk. At 15^m, Puyallup R. Canyon & views of Puyallup Glacier. Rd. terminates here at J. with Wonderland Trl. (see below).

Cont. on main Rd. (R) to LONGMIRE at 6.5, where are pk. hqs. Here are Nat. Pk. Inn (accoms.), Pub. Campgrounds & Nat. Pk. Mus. (O) containing coll. of flora & fauna of pk., maps, etc. In mus., info. about trls. is avail. Trips to various pts. of int. are organized by mus. staff. Longmire is starting pt. of Wonderland Trl., 95^m long, which makes complete circuit of Mt. Rainier, conn. with numerous side trls. to pts. of int. From Longmire, numerous other trls. radiate to various pts. of int. Main Rd. cont. from Longmire to CHRISTINE FALLS at c.11., where trl. runs (L.) past lofty waterfalls to Van Trump Pk., 1^m. At c.12. on main Rd., NISQUALLY R. BRIDGE, with fine view of Nisqually Glacier, to which short trl. runs (L.). At 16., beautiful NARADA FALLS. At 17.5. INSPIRATION PT.; fine view. At 20., PARADISE VALLEY (5,400') at foot of Mt. Rainier. Here are Paradise Inn (accoms.), Paradise Lodge (accoms.) & Pub. Campgrounds. Also Community H. (exhibits) where excursions are organized with guide serv. & info. about trls. is avail. From Paradise Valley starts trl. to Summit of Mt. Rainier, traversing magnificent scenery—craggs, cliffs & glaciers. Two days are necessary for this trip—4-5 hrs. to Camp Muir (10,000'), where overnight stop is made; c.11 hrs. for balance of ascent, begun before dawn of 2nd day; & 4-8 hrs. for descent. Guides & Climbing equipment are essential. Climb is difficult & arduous. Numerous other trls. radiate from Paradise Valley to various pts. of int.

III. WHITE R. ENTRANCE to YAKIMA (SUNRISE) PK.

White R. Entrance is reached by Rd. branching (W) from US410 (see). At 1.5. on this Rd. is Entrance Sta. where auto permits ($1) must be obtained. Rd. cont. past FRYINGPAN GLACIER. At 5.5. WHITE R., with fine views. At J. with Rd. leading (L) 1^m to White R. Campgrounds, whence trls. run to Emmons Glacier & Yakima Pk. (see below). At c.13. on main Rd., SUNRISE PT. (6,120' fine views), where trls. radiate to various pts. of int. Main Rd. cont., ascending to YAKIMA (SUNRISE) PK. at 15.5. Here is Sunrise Lodge (accoms.). At Camper's Shelter are exhibits. Fine view of Emmons, Fryingpan & Winthrop Glaciers. Numerous trls. radiate to scenic pts. of int.

IV. CARBON R. ENTRANCE

This entrance is reached by branch of St.5 running (S) from Fnumclaw at J. with US410 (see). At 15.5. on St.5, turn (L) 23. to Entrance, at Ranger Sta. where tourists must register & obtain permits if they wish to use trls. & camps. No auto permits required. Visible (S) is Tolmie Peak (5,939'). Rd. cont. 5^m from Entrance to Ipsut Cr., where trl. leads (R) to Eunice & Mowitch Ls. Main Rd. ends at 6^m. From here trls. run to various pts. of int. & J. with Wonderland Trl. (see above).

PUGET SOUND ISLANDS

PUGET SOUND, joined to the Pacific by the broad Strait of Juan de Fuca, is a great, island-studded inland sea which stretches N. into Brit. Columbia & S. to Olympia. Its S. extension is split into two arms by Kitsap Peninsula. The E. arm lies bet. peninsula & mainland along which are strung Olympia, Tacoma, Seattle & Everett. Its W. arm is known as Hood Canal & separates Kitsap from Olympic Peninsula. In the E. arm are VASHON & BAINBRIDGE IS., lying roughly bet. Seattle & Kitsap Peninsula, & several smaller Is. in the S., the latter reachable from Olympia or Tacoma by boat. Vashon & Bainbridge Is. are most easily accessible from Seattle from which ferry makes round trip run. with buses to chief pts. on Is. These are really suburban summer resorts (excellent bath., boat & f. facilities). On Vashon I. is Vashon St. Pk. (pic.). On Bainbridge I., named for Wm. Bainbridge of "Constitution" (Old Ironsides) fame, is Fay-Bainbridge St. Pk. (pic.), recently est. WHIDBEY, largest of all Puget Sound Is., closes in E. arm on the N. & extends roughly from Everett to Mt. Vernon. Just N. of it lies FIDALGO. Both Is. have been described in US99 (see). Opposite the mainland, bet. Mt. Vernon & Bellingham, & for the most part W. of Fidalgo I. lie 172 SAN JUAN IS., & still further W. lies huge VANCOUVER I. in Brit. Columbia.

The San Juan Is., belonging in part to U.S. & in part to Canada, are a picturesque group, mountainous, with rocky, jagged coastlines & separated from each other by narrow straits. Most Is. have a comparatively heavy rainfall & are thickly wooded.

There are trout in fresh-water Ls. & salmon offshore. The 3 largest of this group are Lopez, Orcas & San Juan, reached from Anacortes on Fidalgo I. by ferries (autos) of Black Ball Line, Colman Ferry Terminal, Seattle. Busses run regularly from Seattle to Anacortes. Smaller Is. are conn. with larger by boat. Passengers may cont. to Sydney, Victoria, B.C., from Friday Harbor, on San Juan I. Airline service conn. largest Is. with mainland. Bus service to pts. of int. on the Is. Accom.: Summer. Island trip itself is picturesque, since steamer threads its way through narrow, rocky passages, past numerous Is., stopping en route at Lopez, Shaw & Orcas, finally reaching Friday Harbor on San Juan I.

LOPEZ I., 1st stop, some 12^m long was named for Lopez de Haro, supposedly its discoverer. Landing is at rugged Upright Head. Info. at Lopez I. Commercial Club. Odlin Pk. is near ferry (pic.bath.facils.good h.& salmon f.community kitchen). ORCAS I., 3rd stop, is 11.5^m long from E. to W., & 8.5^m from N. to S. Steamer lands at Obstruction Pass. Several impressive peaks punctuate I. contours—Mt. Constitution (2,450'), Mt. Entrance (1,200') & Turtleback (1,497'). Ls. provide excellent trout. Salmon fishing offshore is exceptionally good. At 4.5^m from the landing is Moran St. Pk. (4,803 as.pic.community kitchen.camp.boat.bath.facils.f.skiing). Here is J. with Rd. leading (R) short distance to Cascade Falls. At 5^m J. with Rd.

SIDE TRIP: Take latter (R) 1.5^m to Mountain L. (camp.f.boat.), dominated by Mt. Pickett. At 5^m from J., summit of Mt. Constitution. Magnificent view from Observation Tower, of Cascades to NE., Olympics to S. & Puget Sound & Victoria I.

Resorts on seacoast are at Doebay, Lawrence Pt., Olga, North Beach, Eastsound & Deer Harbor. At Eastsound is W. R. Griffin House Mus. (O) with coll. of fossils.

SAN JUAN I., 15^m long & 9^m wide, is 4th stop. The boat lands at Friday Harbor. This town annually packs thousands of cases of salmon caught offshore on the famous Salmon Banks. Near town are Univ. of Wash. Oceanographic Labs. (grounds O.wks.). At 10^m from Friday Harbor is J. with Rd. leading (R) 0.5^m to English Blockh., once occupied by Brit. Near-by, Mon. & Davis House Mus. with coll. of relics. At 21^m from Friday Harbor is J. with Rd. leading (R) 5^m to Amer. Camp which was Amer. center of opposition to Brit. claims in boundary dispute that resulted in the "pig war." An Amer. settler shot a pig belonging to Hudson's Bay Co. & Brit. insisted that the offender be sent to Victoria, B.C. for trial. U.S. troops under Capt. G. F. Pickett (later of Gettysburg fame) were sent to protect Amer. interests. Boundary dispute was settled (1872) by arbitration. At Roche Harbor, on N. end of Island, is Roche Harbor Lime Plant, of considerable proportions. Other pts. of int.: Lime Kiln Lighth., San Juan Pk. & Sportsman's L. (f.).

THE PACIFIC CREST TRAIL

THE PACIFIC CREST TRAIL extends 2,156 miles from the Canadian to the Mexican border. It is for the W. Coast reg. what the Appalachian Trl., running from Mt. Katahdin, Me., to Ga., is for the E. However, the PCT is of more recent origin, begun only in 1932. It has incorporated several already existing trls., the Ore. Skyline Trl., the John Muir Trl., along the High Sierra in Cal., & others. Only 600 miles of new tris. had to be built. By 1937, the entire PCT had been rendered usable. Since then great stretches have been worked upon & improved, so that today it is in good shape throughout. The PCT System Conference, Hotel Green, Pasadena, Cal. has been largely responsible for stimulating the work of creating the trl., & has cooperated with the Nat. For. & Pk. Serv. in its management & operation. The conference has published a book, "The Pacific Crest Trailways," compiled by Clinton C. Clark, its President, which gives detailed descriptions & maps of the route throughout its entire length; in addition, the Conference publishes a series of bulletins giving detailed info. concerning various secs. of the trl. Most of the PCT demands high altitude climbing experience. Parts can be covered by horse pack-trains. Much of it can be negotiated only by "backpacking," the hiker carrying his own outfit. Except in the most N. sec. of the PCT, from the Canadian border to Glacier Peak, Wash., & in the sec. S. of L. Tahoe to Walker Pass in Cal., camp. facils. on the trl., or easily accessible from it, are reasonably frequent. The Wash. & Ore. secs. of the PCT are marked with PCT signs; the Californian sec. with local signs. The PCT follows the upper ridges of the continental backbone through Wash., Ore. & Cal., to the end of the High Sierra in Cal. Then it crosses the Mojave Desert & ascends into the S. Coastal ranges, which it follows to its final descent to the Mexican border. Except for the desert sec. & when it crosses river canyons, it seldom drops below 3,000' & for some 300 miles in the High Sierra, never descends below 8,500'. In its course it traverses some of the country's finest scenic areas through an almost trackless wilderness of lofty mts., deep canyons, plunging rivers & beautiful ls. It crosses a string of Nat. Fors. 5 great Nat. Pks.—Mt. Rainier, Mt. Hood, Crater L., Mt. Lassen Volcanic, Yosemite & Sequoia-Kings Canyon—and some 19 Wilderness & Wild areas, from which commercial exploitation has been excluded. It skirts the mightiest peaks of the W. To name only a few: Glacier Peak (10,436'), Mt. Rainier (14,408'), Mt. Adams (12,307'), in Wash.; Mt. Hood (11,245'), Mt. Jefferson (10,495'), The Three Sisters (10,354'), in Ore.; Mt. Shasta (14,161') & Mt. Lassen (10,453'), N. of L. Tahoe, in Cal., & in the High Sierra, a whole series of peaks ranging bet. 13,000' & 14,000', climaxing in Mt. Whitney (14,495'), highest in the continental U.S. In the Coastal Range of S. Cal., it passes near Mts. San Antonio, San Bernardino, San Geronimo & San Jacinto, all more than 10,000' in altitude.

In Ore. & Wash., the PCT is paralleled fairly closely on the E. by US97, & at a greater distance, by US99 on the West. These 2 hys. are conn. by main E-W. Rds. crossing the Cascades Range. In the mt. passes traversed by these hys., occur Js. with the PCT. Stub Rds. off main hys. also give frequent access to the trl.

In Cal., US99 parallels the PCT at some distance to the W. & US395, in a general way, parallels it on the E. To N. of St.120, a number of E-W. main routes & Rds. branching off them, give access to the PCT. But bet. St.120, which crosses Yosemite Nat. Pk. from Manteca to Leeving, & St.178 which crosses the High Sierra reg. from Bakersfield to Freeman, there are no such E-W. hys. In other words, for a distance of about 185m, the PCT can be reached only by trls. branching off stub Rds. which in turn branch off of main N-S. hys. In the S. Cal. sec., the PCT makes numerous Js. with main & secondary hys.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

This brief reading list only suggests the wealth of available literature on life in the United States, past and present. An attempt is made, however, to include books of durable worth that will give the reader a comprehensive view of the country's historical, natural, social and cultural backgrounds. Fiction and biography, regrettably, are not included, although some of the most vivid and significant material on various localities and historic periods is found in regional novels and the lives of famous men and women. The Federal Government publishes many books of descriptive and informative nature, and state departments bring out bluebooks, historic marker books and other valuable material. For local detail, there are many attractive and authoritative books and pamphlets published by state historical societies, automobile and tourist associations, chambers of commerce and other organizations.

Of special note are the "Series" books, well illustrated and of high literary merit that are being issued by leading publishers. Foremost among these is The American Guide Series, compiled by the Federal Writers' Project. Among some 4,000 guides in the series are handsome volumes on each state and the larger cities, regional guides and other uncommon items. Other important "Series" are: American Customs (Vanguard), American Folkways (Duell, Sloan & Pearce), American Lakes (Bobbs-Merrill), American Mountains (Vanguard), American Trails (Bobbs-Merrill), Look at America (Houghton Mifflin), Rivers of America (Farrar & Rinehart), Society in America (Dutton), and Visage of America and The American Landmarks (Hastings House).

INDEX

Most points of interest in large cities have been listed in the index. For the less important points of interest, see each city. Points of interest belonging to definite categories—courthouses, churches, etc.—are listed alphabetically when they have a specific name—"Old South Church," or "Albemarle County Courthouse." When they have no specific name, they are listed by categories.
